Editorials

It took courage, but it's worth it

Under the banner of "Drinking is your business, Sobriety is our business" a group of people here in Statesboro is quietly going about the business of helping themselves and others like them lick the problem of alcoholism.

"Alcoholics Anonymous" is a fellowship of men and women who share their experience, strength and hope with each other that they may solve their common problem and help others to recover from the scourge of alcoholism.

The only requirement for membership is an honest desire to stop drinking. "Alcoholics Anonymous" has no dues nor fees. It is not allied with any sect, denomination, politics, organization or institution, it does not wish to engage in any controversy, neither endorses nor opposes any causes.

Its primary purpose is to help each other stay sober and rebuild the lives they may have wasted and put a new foundation under their home and the love of their own.

We commend those with the courage to organize "Alcoholics Anonymous" here and our sincerest admiration for those who make up its local membership.

A special day

On Monday of next week members of the Statesboro Rotary Club will share with their employees the meeting which will feature one of the top officials of the Rockwell Manufacturing Company and their visit to the plant of the Rockwell Statesboro Corporation located here.

It's an annual affair when each Rotarian invites one of his employees to attend with him a special Employer-Employee Day program.

"This one is sort of a special one since Mr. Lloyd A. Dixon Jr., a vice president of Rockwell from Pittsburgh will be the principal speaker and afterward Sam Brown, assistant to Mr. Dixon and manager of the Statesboro plant, will be host at the plant on a conducted tour to observe production activities.

It is events like this one which characterizes the progress of our community and reveals the friendly relations which exists between the business men in it.

Let's help them

The Statesboro Blue Devils won the hearts of their fans here last Friday night when they defeated a strong Dublin football team 12 to 6 in a last ditch touchdown drive on a wet field.

Let's continue supporting these young boys and help them into another championship.

Hire the handicapped

Have you ever discretely turned down an application for employment submitted by a person with a physical handicap, just because of his handicap, even after learning that all his other qualifications were satisfactory?

Are you like some employers to whom the mere mention of hiring the handicapped results in almost automatic resistance motivated by the feeling that the person would be unable to do the job because of his handicap?

We suggest that you get the facts before you allow yourself to be influenced by the sight of a handicapped person applying for a job.

Experienced personnel managers have come to know that handicapped employees can and do make fine workers. Those with the courage to apply for a job in spite of their handicaps can be depended upon to apply themselves more diligently and with more loyalty to prove that they can do the job just as well as the next one.

The term "physically handicapped" does not mean an unattractive, hopeless and helpless individual. Some of the most attractive people we know are handicapped. These people, when properly fitted in jobs for which they are qualified, are no longer handicapped. They become one of this nation's great work forces.

This is "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" and it is used to focus attention on those people who can still be of great service to their communities.

Hundreds of handicapped workers over the state of Georgia are seeking employment.

So, before giving one the cold shoulder, if one should apply for employment with you, learn more about him and his qualifications.

And consult your local employment service on North Main Street. They can be of service to you.

A better time?

It seemed to be a strange time to be painting the walkway lines at the intersection of North and South Main Streets with East and West Main Streets at the traffic light.

Monday morning at 10 o'clock members of the street force were busy painting the white lines across the street at the light completely oblivious of the constant stream of traffic.

Seems there is a better time of day to do this job when it would not slow down our already too heavy traffic through the business section of town.

This Week's Meditation
 By The Rev. L. E. Houston Jr.
 "I SAT WHERE THEY SAT"
 BY THE TIME you read these lines, my wife and I will have undergone another "first" in the experiences of parenthood. Our oldest daughter will have entered the hospital for the first time since her birth, and will have experienced a tonsilectomy. I strongly suspect, however, that both mother and Daddy will have also experienced something new.

AS A PASTOR in this community, it is my responsibility to visit in our hospital those persons who are recovering from some illness or surgery. And more than once, I have entered the room where a mother and father were bravely trying to comfort their child whose tonsils had just been removed. It has never been a strain for me to try and say a comforting and consoling word to them. Yet, I wonder if I have ever really sympathized with them.

Once in a former pastorate, I made a call upon a person who had just lost a loved one. She thanked me for coming, but then she "shook me up" by saying: "I can't really expect you to know how to sympathize with me, you have never lost a loved one." And she was right!

I AM SURE my sympathy for parents who face tonsilectomies will be heightened by this new experience. Maybe we need more tonsilectomies, or better yet, a more conscious effort on our part to understand the peoples and the nations of our world.

WHEN TO ASK FOR A RAISE—The time for teachers to ask for a raise is right after parents have had their children indoors for a rainy weekend, says a fellow who knows.
 IF YOUR CHILD ISNT GOING TO COLLEGE—Your State Department of Education has two very fine trade schools where your child can learn a paying trade, if he isn't going to college. If you want more information, write H. O. Carlton, director of North Georgia Trade School at Clarksville, or Horace Odum, director of the South Georgia Trade School at Americus.

WORDS ON THE SUPERINTENDENT'S DESK On the right hand corner of the desk of Dr. M. D. Collins, State Superintendent of Schools, there is a little blue card under a glass, that says this:
 The World's Greatest Need "The greatest want of men, men who will not be bought or sold; men who in their inmost souls are true and honest; men who do not fear to call sin by its right name; whose conscience is as true to duty, as the needle to the pole; men who will stand for the right though the heavens fall."

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

WE COULD TELL by the twinkle in his eye that he is only kidding when he said "not for publication." What with his training in journalism and being a radio journalist he unconsciously knew that it "was for publication." And he was only being modest. Anyway if he screams, we can fix it up with him, for Mike McDougald is an understanding sort. Mike has been made a "Kentucky Colonel" by Governor Happy Chandler of Kentucky. Mike has his "commission" all ready sealed and legal. So both mother and Daddy will be addressed as Colonel McDougald.

 While Mr. Eisenhower has been trying to improve his golf and while his Secretary of Defense has been spending much of his time in competition with Bob Hope in his "hown dog" speeches and while his army has been busy fighting the battle of Little Rock, the Russians have quietly perfected the first satellite to circle the globe in orbit space.

IT DOESN'T make too much difference that the Russians perfected this new idea first for we can gain as much information from the flight of the big orange ball as they. The serious part of it all, of course, is the fact that this is more or less proof that they have also perfected a way to guide an intercontinental missile. Our scientists say that the new space station is under controlled flight. If this is true then it is just a matter of time before the Russians can control the flight of missiles from continent to continent.

SOME have even suggested that the Russians already have perfected such a weapon and that as of today our cities across America are under the danger of atomic attack.
 CERTAINLY WE KNOW that the only reason the Russians haven't gone ahead with world war III is simply because the western powers have thus far maintained superiority in the

There was a time in Statesboro when parents of young children would wake them at 2 o'clock in the morning to allow the children to see the snow falling softly in the Bulloch County. By morning there was no snow but the children were assured that the snow had been real. They thought they had been dreaming. It was years before there was anymore snow flakes. Then last winter for five or ten minutes a few snow flakes flew around.

WELL, DID YOU hear about the parents who rushed to find their children to show them the sun's rays Sunday morning. Someone said that it was rumored that Noah had just enrolled in the industrial arts department at the college. He seems to have been a little late getting started if this is true.
 THE YOUNG daughter had begged that a gentleman be contacted who might teach her to ride a horse. But each day that was planned to see him the rain continued. Finally her daddy told her that the man had traded his horses for sea horses and he would start riding lessons at once. Perhaps canoeing would be a better hobby than sea horse-back-riding.
 Most homes where there are children have taken on a new look—underwear, socks, blue jeans, dresses, slips, and the like hang from light fixtures,

BANKS-AKINS VOWS

The Register Baptist Church was the setting Sunday, October 6, of the marriage of Miss Eva Banks to Carl Emory Akins.

The ceremonial setting was lighted by branched cathedral candles with a background of stately waldoria palms and white fluted columns holding white mums and white gladioli.

Mrs. Akins is the daughter of Mrs. Gordon Riggs and the late Mr. Lonnie Banks. Mr. Akins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pleasant R. Akins of West Palm Beach, Florida.

Miss Melrose Kennedy presented a program of traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Jan Futch, soloist, who sang "Oh, Promise Me" and "Because."

The bride, Miss Carl Emory Akins, was dressed in white lace and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Joyner and Miss Peggy Akin, wore dresses identical to that of the bride.

Bill Blankenship, of West Palm Beach, was best man for his cousin, Usher-groomsman.

Mrs. Riggs chose for her daughter's wedding an ice blue satinet creation which was designed with boat neck and shirred sleeves.

The long and tapered sleeves came to points over the hands. Deep ruffled tiers of the graceful skirt swept down the back into a chapel sweep train.

Mrs. Akins, the groom's mother, selected a starlike blue design of orlon and rayon, which

MRS. CARL EMORY AKINS encircled in white lace.

Mrs. Lewis Heath of Augusta was her sister's matron of honor.

The wedding cake was a three-tiered wedding cake embossed with white rose buds and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The lovely cake was flanked by silver candle holders holding white candles. An exquisite arrangement of pom-pom chrysanthemums, gladioli was placed on the serving table.

Mrs. L. R. Anderson greeted the guests as they arrived to the reception and presented them to the receiving line which was composed of the mothers of the bride and groom.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third installment of Chapter III of "The Story of Bulloch County," and is the seventh in the series which began on August 29. This week we continue with the social going-ons of the people of early Bulloch County.

Another interesting wedding account quoted from "Out of the Past" by Maude Brannen Edge follows: "My great grandfather, John F. Brannen, lived very near Lower Lotts Creek Church on the old Burkhalter Road. His daughter, Amelia Ann, married a Tootle from Tattall County."

"On the day of the wedding it began to rain and when the feasting was over the guests couldn't go home. It rained for a week and the guests remained for the entire time."

"The sad part, the infare was to be held next day at the groom's home over in Tattall. This infare was a great occasion—almost like a second wedding. The groom's relatives all came bringing gifts and they would feast for sure."

"The gifts from both sides of the family were feather beds and pillows, pillow cases and shams, homemade quilts, iron kettles, pots and pans, a skillet, a spider, flat irons, and a bread tray of fine wood."

"One father would give a mule and wagon. The groom's father would give land for the new home. The neighbors would gather for the log rolling and that was a time of great rejoicing. The women barbecued whole pigs, and had all the good things to eat. When the land was cleared and the trash burned in a great bonfire the foundations and frame for the new home were laid. Solid logs were cut from the long-leaf pine."

"Often the father of the bride gave the daughter a maid for full measure."

The log houses gradually gave way to houses built out of dressed lumber from the saw mills. The Geo-

This Is The Story of Bulloch County

Senator John L. Milledge, passed an act to authorize John London to clear and keep in repair at his own expense a road from his landing on the great Ogeechee to John Everitt's saw mill.

An inventory of Arthur Bain's property made at his death in 1827 lists, 4 kegs of blue paint, a demijohn of turpentine, a box of Spanish whiting, part of a barrel of Spanish brown, a lot of window glass, a paint stone, lamp black, 1 lot of folding blinds, 1 lot of old sashes, partly glazed. He was no doubt one of the earliest house painters of the county.

By the 1820's the well-to-do families of the county were buying more expensive items of furniture for their homes. Some of the items mentioned are mahogany beds, mahogany tables, side boards, buffets, writing desks, bookcases, Windsor chairs, arm chairs, common chairs, chests with drawers, candlesticks and snuffers, wash stands, looking glasses, china ware, crockery, glass ware, kitchen furniture and pot ware, dressing tables, andirons, tongs, fenders and bellows, waiters, glasses and decanters, silver table spoons and silver teaspoons, knives and forks which were not silver, an occasional lot of silver plate, rather much pewter, and in one instance a bathing tub was mentioned.

The plantations were almost self sustaining. Food was grown in abundance. Every plantation had a fine fruit orchard and enough sugar was made from the sugar cane to supply their wants. Cotton was grown and each place had a number of sheep. In one inventory as many as five spinning wheels are listed. Also looms appear among the household goods. The slaves did a lot of this spinning and weaving. There are still in the county some fine old bedsprades woven by slaves.

These people were beginning to find what they had sought when they came as pioneers into a wilderness in the 1780's and 1790's, a life that was bountiful, pleasant and rewarding.

The small lots contained one-half acre and were sixty-six feet by 132 feet. The streets were also laid out in two sizes. The large ones were sixty-six feet wide and the small ones were thirty-three feet wide.

The County Commissioners, at the time the town was laid out, were T. Kennedy, Hustus Studstill, James Williams and John Everett.

USE OF TREES IN LANDSCAPING

In using trees in a home landscaping program, T. G. Williams, landscape specialist, Agricultural Extension Service, offers these recommendations: use native trees, do not plant trees in rows on the home lawn (group plantings are more natural looking), plant shade trees where they do the most good, do not "top" trees, do not fill in around the base of trees, do not overplant trees, and use hardy flowering trees for color.

Written, signed and sealed and delivered in the presence of JOHN HAMILLE, GEORGE WALTON, Judge; Lewis Lanier, Justice Inferior Court.

Signed by GEORGE SIBBALD. "Recorded the 30th Day of July, 1804. William Kennedy, Clerk Superior Court, Bulloch County."

Evidence of the impenitency of the land holdings of this George Sibbald is revealed in the October 4, 1806 issue of The Columbian Museum and Savannah Advertiser, a newspaper published in Savannah. It printed a "Lands for Sale" ad concerning 1,049,908 acres of land in Georgia belonging to George Sibbald to be sold for taxes by the state on November 26, 1806. An item in this advertisement states that 523,874 acres, including 319,874 acres in Bulloch County are described in a pamphlet called "Notes and Observations on the Pine Land of Georgia" by George Sibbald. This told that on the tract in Bulloch County a summer residence had lately been formed by a number of gentlemen from Savannah.

Josiah Everett, the county surveyor, drew up a plan for the town of Statesborough which is recorded

Weed-Free Tobacco Beds. Here's how to do it. Sprinkle VAPAM on your seed beds now. Come spring, you get more seedlings per square yard — up to twice as many. And only a few — if any! — weeds. Your seedlings are really strong and vigorous. You can transplant fast for the best crops you've ever seen. Make more profit next year! Don't share your crop with weeds and soil borne diseases. Put VAPAM on your seed beds now. No special equipment needed. It's so easy and safe to sprinkle on. You get stronger seedlings, weed control and more profit. Do it now for best results. Approved by the Department of Agriculture and leading growers for all food and fibre crops.

Here's how to do it. Sprinkle VAPAM on your seed beds now. In the next 30 days it kills all those weeds and grasses, germinating weed seeds, soil fungi and those invisible nematodes. Come seeding time you have the healthiest soil in the state! You get more seedlings per square yard — up to twice as many! — And only a few — if any! — weeds. Your seedlings are really strong and vigorous. You can transplant fast for the best crop you've ever seen.

Result is hundreds of dollars saved in back-breaking work and weeding costs. Yet VAPAM costs only a penny per square foot. Make more profit next year! Don't share your crop with weeds and soil borne diseases. Put VAPAM on your seed beds now. No special equipment needed. It's so easy and safe to sprinkle on. In the northeastern tip of Bryan County is the site of old Fort McAllister, the famous Confederate earthwork fort that withstood attack after attack before its surrender in 1864. It was one of the principal defenses of Savannah during the War Between the States. Bryan County land was also a part of the 70,000-acre model community Henry Ford developed during the depression, and so well did the famous Ford like the area, he built a beautiful and impressive home in Bryan County which served as a retreat. Pembroke is the county seat.

District prize will be given by the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation supervisors. Paul Nesmith is supervisor from Bulloch. State prize will be donated by the daily newspapers operating in Georgia which are co-operating. Any high school student who desires to enter this contest may obtain information from his or her principal or at my office. Material may be obtained at my office also.

It is hoped that many students will enter this very worthwhile contest. Anyone attending the Southeastern Fair in Atlanta should certainly make a point to see the conservation exhibit on "Georgia Today for Tomorrow." It's an experience you won't soon forget. It depicts Georgia as a vast reservoir of power which gives lift to everything from plants to people to great cities and industry. Thunder and lightning and full lakes are very realistic.
