Rockwell vice president outlines employer-employee policy in Statesboro division

EDITOR'S NOTE: In a speech made at the Statesboro Rotary Club on Monday of this week at the club's annual "Employer-Employee Day" Mr. Lloyd A. Dixon Jr., vice president of Rockwell Manufacturing Company outlined the twelve basic points of policy in the company's industrial relations program. He stated that these policies are in writing "because we feel that if they are worth following, they are worth putting down where they cannot be overlooked or forgotten," he said.

Here are the twelve basic points as outlined by Mr. Dixon:

The first policy on the list is that of securing the most capable employees for all positions. We expand that policy to point out that we will follow a promotion-from-within program, a careful interview and selection procedure and by all recognized means make sure that the employees who are working for us are the kind of people that their fellow workers and the members of your community or any other similar community can accept with pride.

The second policy is that of declaring that we will pay fair and adequate wages and salaries—rates that are consistent with area conditions and in line with competitive rates in so far as we are able to pay them. To carry out this policy, we very carefully analyze wages, hours and working conditions in each area in which we operate to make sure that we are doing a good job of carrying out the policy and we continue to check these conditions to make sure that we are not falling behind in this area.

Our third broad aim is to provide job security consistent with business conditions. Put a little more plainly, it means that we will analyze our markets, get our production and sales departments together and do all possible planning we can to make sure that our employees have steady employment. We will build for stock during slack periods so that we will have plenty of inventory when there are peak demands. In this way we can provide for continuity of employment and eliminate as much as possible the frequent layoffs and recalls which are found in some industries. I guess you have to be a sooth-sayer to really do a successful job, but we try to the best of our ability to anticipate our needs and to keep our employees at work on as much of a full-time basis as we possibly can.

Our fourth basic policy is to provide a safe and orderly working place. Those of you who are familiar with our activities at the Statesboro Division know that we are most careful about safety. Our program of eye protection, our requirement that all persons wear safety shoes, our insistence on good housekeeping, all point to the fact that we are most interested in keeping our employees safe from industrial injuries which can sometimes lead to tragic consequences for the workman's family and which most certainly are of great concern to us as employers.

Our fifth basic policy is that of providing training facilities to help our employees progress in the company's service. I think the Statesboro Division is a most satisfactory example of this program. We have brought in people who, to the best of our knowledge, had never before worked in a similar manufacturing plant. Through a training process we are trying to turn untrained people into machine tool operators and we have been able to in turn train some of these people to such an extent that they are now supervising our activities in several areas. You can be sure that this process will continue in Statesboro. We hope at sometime in the future that this plant will be completely running with Rebels rather than being staffed with some Yankees as it is now. Just as an aside, there is a question in my mind as to whether we will be training local people or whether your local people will have so completely trained our transferees that they will make Southerners out of them long before we have our training job completed.

Our sixth policy is that of providing fair and reasonable working hours and working conditions. As you probably know, when Rockwell came to Statesboro, we had some ideas about how we would handle such things as the normal work week, the matter of vacations, paid holidays, overtime hours of work, lunch hours and other such matters which fall in-line with the area of hours and working conditions. We had no complete and fixed notions but preferred to survey conditions in this area so that we would neither bring conditions into the area which were not acceptable to local management people, nor would we be in the position of failing to provide conditions which were commonly found in the area. Again it is our policy to continue to check these conditions to make sure that we are keeping up with the parade. We will continue to do so in Statesboro.

Our seventh policy is one concerning communications. We believe it very important that our employees and the community be informed of matters affecting employment. There are many ways that we do this job and as a matter of fact we so strongly about it that we have a complete program outlined for our general managers so that they can follow it. Meetings, letters to the employees' homes, bulletins, employee publications, talks like mine today, visits to the plant, newspaper stories, these and many other forms of communication are constantly used to let our employees and the community "in on the know" as much as possible.

Our eighth policy is that of providing a method for our employees to discuss freely with company executives those matters concerning the employee's welfare or the company's interest. Many of you have heard of the "open door policy" where the president of the company pompously proclaims that he is never too busy to see any of his employees. Basically that's a sound idea, but practically it doesn't always work. The bureaucrats in Washington give our top management too much to do. Our general managers try to talk with employees if they can and if the employees so desire it. But we have found it much more practical to have a flow of communications which begins down the line and which really works. Our program starts with the foreman. We encourage our employees to bring their problems to their foremen or supervisors and we make every effort to train our foremen and supervisors to handle those problems promptly and efficiently. If, for some reason, there are conflicts, those problems can be brought up to the next level of supervision, to the personnel manager or to the general manager himself. Our employees know our policy. I hope. At least we try to put that point across to them constantly and we feel sure more prompt solutions of their problems result.

Our ninth policy is to aid our employees and help them prepare for unseen emergencies by providing a program of group insurance benefits. We have one of the finest plans in existence and one which we are constantly reviewing to make sure that it meets the needs of each community in which it operates. We could go into detail on the plan, but it is so complex and there are so many benefits available in it that we feel it more advisable just to highlight it by saying we have a group life insurance plan, an accidental death and dismemberment program and we provide for medical, surgical, hospital and disability insurance, for which the company pays a substantial part of the cost. Under this general policy heading we don't just stop with a group insurance plan and take the attitude that we have fulfilled our moral responsibility. We take a great deal of pride in giving personal attention to our employees' problems. It is that personal attention that changes the coldness of a group in-

This Week's Meditation

By The Rev. L. E. Houston Jr.

A STRANGE YET WONDERFUL PEOPLE
Driving back from Atlanta last Tuesday, a minister friend and I stopped near Conyers to visit the Trappist monastery. The official name of this fascinating institution is Our Lady of the Holy Ghost Abbey which was established in Georgia in 1946.

The monks who make up this religious community are known as Trappists. Their history goes back to the Order of St. Benedict. TUESDAY WAS my second visit to this very different type of religious activity, and it was as fascinating as before. The monks who live on the rolling hills near Conyers are different from other men of seclusion. They take the vow of silence and speak to each other only by sign language. They eat neither meat, fish or eggs, and they do all the chores of farm life themselves.

IF YOU SHOULD ask one of them the purpose of his life he would say: "I am committed to a life of penance, mortification and work." People have often asked the question: "If the monks do not eat meat, fish or eggs, what do they eat?" The answer is simple. They eat quite a bit of whole wheat bread which they grow and bake themselves. Fruit and vegetables are also a part of their diet along with a type of wheat coffee. As one Trappist expressed it: "The monk eats to sustain himself and not for pleasure." That is certainly a far cry from the reason most of us present ourselves before the dinner table!

Insurance plan into the warmth of an employee relations program which has depth and a consideration for an individual's need. Our tenth policy is to cooperate with our employees in carrying out social, athletic and recreational activities. I am sure that many of you have heard that our employees picnic this summer was a howling success, that they are interested in their recreational activities such as softball and basketball.

We reason, rightfully we think, that when our employees have learned to play together we provide a definite sum of money each year so that they might be supported.

Our eleventh policy is to recognize and encourage loyalty and company pride through the creation of a spirit of friendly cooperation. This may sound like little highfalutin, but I might explain that we feel that each of our employees is an individual and entitled to the respect, friendship and fair treatment which any one of us has a right to demand in this country of ours. Our employees are not just numbers; they are individuals. We try to make our places to work where each of our employees is known by name. However there is a fine line to be drawn. We like to create a friendly spirit of cooperation in the plant, but we do not believe in sacrificing efficiency by accepting poor standards of discipline. We believe in recognition for loyal service and properly recognize that service on the part of our employees.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

WE COMMEND the Statesboro Jaycees on the method they are using in handling the circus which is scheduled to come to town on October 23. They are making it absolutely plain that any participation of the local merchants in the usual promotion of ticket sales for underprivileged children will be on its own merits.

It works like this. Before the circus date a representative of the merchants in the yellow pages of the telephone directory asking them to buy tickets to the circus to be distributed to underprivileged children. Your response is entirely at your discretion. The Jaycees are not asking you to do this. If you like the idea of buying these "charity tickets" do so, but do so, because you want to and not because the Jaycees are sponsoring the circus.

The Jaycees do make this suggestion: If you like the idea of buying a circus ticket for some underprivileged kid, then buy the ticket direct from a member of the Jaycees organization, then let the Jaycees turn the ticket over to the Welfare Department here for proper distribution. That makes the whole deal local with the Jaycees, the children and you in on the benefits.

BEALY SMITH, our friend in Atlanta, allows as how what he calls "the cartoon" and what we like to think of as a caricature which heads this column, is a little out of date. He thinks an artist should take some of the half our head and enlarge the size of our nose. We generally accept such comments with a grain of salt unless detecting a tinge of jealousy beneath them.

THE NEED for a commission on the state level is greater at the present time than it has been to my knowledge in the past ten years. It may be wise to think back for a few years and give our folks a brief look at the recreation picture, discuss with them the need for such a commission, the duties of the commission, and point out the progress which has been made. As late as 1948, here in Georgia, we had only nine full-time recreation programs. These of course were found in the major cities. Now, just less than ten years later we have some forty full-time programs. Many of these programs are found in communities the size of Statesboro, Maclean, Vidalia, Lyons, Swainsboro and Waynesboro. The people in Georgia realize the value of recreation and are commencing to state are working feverishly to develop full-time programs in their community.

THE NATIONAL RECREATION ASSN. has provided invaluable aid in helping our communities with their problems. In our program here in Statesboro we had no less than three requests which we were unable to fill just last week. Small communities which realize they cannot hope to finance full time recreation programs can and want badly to inaugurate sound planning for summer programs. Many of these programs have the support of local and county boards. Here in Bulloch County, Brooklet already has such a program which is outstanding and will serve as a pattern for other communities in our area.

THOSE WHO understand human life have time and again underscored the importance of recreation in the lives of our people. These people tell us that recreation plays a role equal to the other three important factors in human growth and development. These are: religion, education and work. To these I would add an additional factor and I would say that determine what the individual will become and what he will remain. These are: the home, the church, recreation, school and work. No one influence is more important than the other unless it is the home which should always play the major role.

Next week I will outline for you the duties of a Recreation Commission, what we feel should be done to set up of it, what it will cost the people of Georgia, and what progress has been made in recent months.

MISS ANN WILLIFORD and Professional Women's Clubs held in Boston, Mass.

Spotlight on Statesboro B.P.W. Career Women
Practically everybody in Statesboro knows Ann Williford. She is the very efficient cashier at Georgia Power Company. Miss Williford came to Statesboro in 1936. Her previous service with Georgia Power served as an excellent initiation into the office at Statesboro. And she loves her work. She is the sort of woman who gives of herself to her friends, her business and her community.

In March of 1957, Miss Williford honored by officials of the Georgia Power Company, and she was presented with a service emblem pin for her thirty years with the company. A charter member of the Statesboro Business and Professional Women's Club, and partly responsible for its organization in 1947, Miss Williford has been an asset to the club and federation. She is loyal and enthusiastic for B. & P.W.

At State Federation level, Miss Williford served one year as state membership chairman. She served also on the state nominating committee. In 1952, she was one of the elected State Federation delegates to the 11th Biennial Convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs held in Boston, Mass.

During the years 1948-49 and 1949-50, Miss Williford served the Statesboro B. & P.W. Club as president. During her presidency, the club received a Citation of Excellence from the Georgia Federation, and a Sponsoring Citation for the organization of two clubs during the year 1949-50. She was the club's delegate to the Southern Regional Conference held in Washington, D. C., in 1951.

Miss Williford has contributed a great deal to her community and her church. She is a member of the Pittman Park Methodist Church. Miss Williford is a native of Warrenton, Georgia. However, she calls Statesboro her "home." She lives at 110 Donaldson Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Martin with to express their appreciation to the W.S.C.S. of the Nevils Methodist Church for the nice cards and beautiful flowers they sent to Mr. Martin who has been confined to the Bulloch County Hospital for the past several months. May God's richest blessings be upon each and everyone that had a part in this great deed.

Danelyn Lee is outstanding F.T.A. in district
It was announced late Tuesday afternoon that Miss Danelyn Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lee of Siltson, has been declared the most outstanding Future Teacher of America in the First District and will represent the district in Atlanta tomorrow in the final competition to select the most outstanding member of the Future Teachers of America in Georgia.

Miss Lee is a student at Southeast Bulloch High School. The selection is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Georgia Bankers Association, the South-eastern Fair Association, the First National Bank of Atlanta, and the Georgia State Department of Education.

The local Jaycees will present Miss Lee with a plaque at a meeting soon, according to Donald McDougald, president.

Mr. Farmer, remember when I was out of the livestock auction for two years under contract not to go back in within two years, think and ask yourself if you got anywhere near the price for your livestock and remember, some 500 or more farmers asked me to go back in the livestock auction when my time was up. This I did and I believe most of the farmers will tell you Parker's Stockyard gets you more money and makes the farmers from $100,000 to $200,000 per year.

Parker's Stockyard adds a new feature—You can sell every day at Parker's Stockyard, Mr. Olliff Akins, manager, or myself will be there to give you the very top prices.

So if you cannot sell your livestock every Wednesday at Parker's—Regular 2 o'clock auction or Parker's regular Friday graded hog sale. Bring in any day except Sunday for the very top prices.—REMEMBER

PTA of S.E.B.H. meets Oct. 24

Announcement is made this week that a symposium, under the direction of Miss Bertha Freeman of the elementary educational department of Georgia Teachers College, will be held at the regular meeting of the Southeast Bulloch High School P.T.A. on Thursday afternoon, October 24, at 3:30 in the school library.

Mrs. Raymond G. Hodges, Mrs. Walton Nesmith and Mrs. Teel Nesmith will have charge of the program. Mrs. J. H. Griffin is program chairman.

The symposium will be on the state theme, "Let's Know" and the participants will be Miss Gladys Waller who will discuss, "Let's Know the Child"; Miss Marjorie Crouch, "Let's Know the Teacher"; and Mrs. J. H. McCormack, "Let's Know the Parent."

Mrs. H. H. Godbee is president of the Southeast Bulloch High School organization and will preside at the meeting.

Chooses woman member

The Bulloch County Negro Chamber of Commerce at its meeting last Wednesday accepted the first woman member into its membership.

Director Luetta Moore of the Blitch Street Center accepted membership and was accepted by unanimous vote.

The membership further voted to suspend the payment of her yearly dues as recognition of her being the first female member to seek membership.

The Negro Chamber is supporting 100 per cent the Blitch Street entrance. Reasonable supervision of Superintendent Max Lockwood of the Statesboro Recreation Department and directed by Director Luetta Moore.

SPONSORS SCHOLARSHIP

The Negro Chamber is also sponsoring a work scholarship for a senior high school male student at the William James High School for this year. This boy will assist Director Moore at the Blitch Street Center during the school months and will continue on full time during the summer. This group is spearheading a drive for funds for the building of a swimming pool for Negro youth on the grounds of the Blitch Street Community Center.

Farm Bureau meetings held at Ogeechee, Warnock and Sinkhole

Farm Bureau meetings were held in the Ogeechee, Warnock and Sinkhole communities during the last week with good attendance, and as usual, a good job was done by the supper committees.

Membership campaign reports indicated a good membership for 1958, and all the membership committees made plans to contact all the farmers in these communities soon. These committees however, requests all persons who have not renewed their membership in Farm Bureau for the coming year to get in touch with some of the community Farm Bureau officers or committees and renew their membership during the next week.

The annual Georgia Farm Bureau convention will be held in Macon this year November 11-13 and all the community chapters in Bulloch are urged to select official delegates and then make hotel reservations before it is too late to secure rooms. Convention headquarters will be at the Hotel Dempsey.

Beef should be aged about a week at 38 to 40 degrees before freezing it.

Weed-Free Tobacco Beds

Here's how to do it. Sprinkle VAPAM on your seed beds now. In the next 30 days it kills all those weeds and grasses, germinating weed seeds, soil fungi and those invisible nematodes. Some seeding time you have the healthiest soil in the state! You get more seedlings per square yard — up to twice as many. VAPAM on your seed beds. And only a few — if any! — weeds. Your seedlings are really strong and vigorous. You can transplant fast for the best crop you've ever seen.

Result is hundreds of dollars saved in back-breaking work and weeding costs. Yet VAPAM costs only a penny per square foot. Make more profit next year! Don't share your crop with weeds and soil borne diseases. Put VAPAM on your seed beds now for best results. Approved by the Department of Agriculture for all food and fibre crops.

MEMBERS OF THE STATESBORO ROTARY CLUB

got a close look at "how it's done" at the Rockwell Statesboro Corporation plant here when they visited the plant on October 14 as part of the club's annual Employer-Employee Day after hearing Rockwell Vice-president, Lloyd Dixon Jr. addressed the club. Shown here are four photographs taken during the Rotary visit showing the plant in four phases of production. At the TOP LEFT is shown the tool room with personnel at work repairing dies and fixtures to close precision. Those in the picture are Dickey Landers, Wesley Krissinger, Robert Brannen, Charlie Schopper and Paul Martin. TOP RIGHT: Bobby Crosby is shown checking a Rockwell meter prior to shipment. LOWER LEFT: Foran E. E. Keeler and O. Hewson are shown advising Jean Deal and Betty Sue Parrish on the assembly of the clock mechanism in the parking meter assembly section. In the background, left to right, are Hazel Holloway, Mildred Allen and Jackie Diceson. LOWER RIGHT is the machine shop under the supervision of F. S. Henry. A. J. Dotson is shown operating a lathe while Julian B. Rushing services a machine and lathe operator Eugene Minney secures additional parts. While at the plant Rotarians were told that the plant now has a payroll of $1,200,000 annually with an additional one-quarter of a million dollars going for local purchase of supplies. The overall investment in the plant is $4,000,000. With employment now at 325, the investment represents a per capita investment of $16,000 per employee. Rotarians learned that ninety percent of the employees are from Bulloch County and that forty per cent of the investment represents a per capita investment of $16,000 per employee. ### Midgets to play Swainsboro

The Swainsboro Midget Varsity will travel to Swainsboro Saturday afternoon of this week. The local Midgets are undefeated in games and tied one. The team is under the supervision of the coach by Gil Cone and Tom Browne.

More than 400 fans turned out on Saturday night of last week to see the Midgets play Millen to a 13 to 13 tie in Memorial Stadium. One of the highlights of the game was the moving onto the field of the Miles and Midgets, some 130 boys in uniform. Those missing the opportunity to see these little thrills in action missed a real treat.

Blue Devils whip Blackshear; play in Sylvania Friday night

By JOE AXELSON

Statesboro's Blue Devils scored their third period touchdowns Friday night and turned an important Region 2-A game into a rout, as they defeated Blackshear, 33-6.

The win, coupled with Sylvania's 25-7 defeat of Sylvania, sets up Friday's Statesboro-Sylvania clash as a potential region champion determinant.

Blackshear broke in front on a 30-yard run by fullback Jimmy Batten. The conversion run failed and minutes later scout-back Lehman Franklin turned in a 75-yard touchdown gallop. Art Janson made the placement attempt at 1:30 p.m. in the afternoon. The rest of the game in complete domination.

The Ogeehope District consists of Boy Scout troops in Screven, Bulloch, and Toombs counties and Scout troops in the cities of Claxton and Ellabell.
