The jail and clerk's office need improvements

In their presentations at the October term of the Superior Court, members of the Grand Jury recommended that the County Board of Commissioners do something about improving the county jail and make provisions to relieve the crowded conditions in the clerk's office.

Not many of us have occasion to use the jail and so it's problem is a little remote to us. But the need for improvement is nevertheless acute. The problem has been before the county for some time and several Grand Juries have urged action. Now the October Grand Jury recommends that "work be started as soon as possible on the jail." The conditions in the office of the Clerk of Bulloch Superior Court is one that is evident to all who use it. Records have filled completely the vault and conditions become crowded if more than two people try to work in there at one time. Provisions must be made for the proper storage of records and for making them easily available to the public.

We commend the Grand Jury for its positive action and it now becomes the responsibility of the County Commissioners to act upon the recommendations of the county's strongest body.

Vote December 5

Three members of the City Council will be elected in the city election on Friday, December 6. And if you were registered and eligible to vote and voted in the General Election on November 6, 1956, you are eligible to vote in the city election December 5. If you were not eligible for the November 6, 1956 General Election, it is too late to register to become eligible to vote in the coming city election.

We admit our negligence in checking on the final date for registration. While we had no official notification that November 5 was the registration deadline, that does not excuse our overlooking this important information.

There are many new residents in Statesboro who should have been "given the word" so that they could register, if they had not already done so.

If you are interested in becoming a candidate for a place on the City Council you must qualify by 12 o'clock on November 20.

The three places to be filled in the election are those now held by A. B. McDougald, Tommy Rushing and Osborn Banks.

City elections are important. They are as important as state, county and national elections, but interest does not reach the pitch in city balloting as in the other three. Of course there may be reasons for this—the city electorate may be satisfied and happy with their city fathers and thus endorse them by not going to the polls.

But it is important that you take advantage of your right to vote and we urge you to do so on December 5.

Teacher's Day Prayer

"Keep us, Oh God, thankful for our teachers, with their untrifling efforts and unselfish devotion to our children.

"Let us be done with criticism of today's education and devote our time and efforts to helping the teachers with their heavy responsibilities.

"Help us to put away pride and selfishness and to meet the teachers more than half way with only the teacher's problems at heart.

"May we never be hasty in judgement and always remember the teachers are devoting their lives' work for us.

This Week's Meditation

ON VISITING THE SICK Just yesterday I visited a sick person who had had too much company. He told me that he had told and re-told the story of his accident until he was completely exhausted. And he said this about his friends: "I love and appreciate every one of them, but this has been too much for me."

If you have ever been ill and in the hospital, you know how he felt. It boosts a person's morale to have his friends show their personal interest, yet, on the other hand, it may damage one's time table of recovery.

Of course, one answer to this problem is to have our hospitals clamp a tight control on visiting hours, etc. Yet, I suspect we would then begin to complain about the rigid hospital discipline and clamor for more freedom in visiting our relatives and friends.

Perhaps the best solution is to remember some guidelines for visiting the sick. It seems to me the first should be Respect for Visiting Hours. It must be difficult for the hospital personnel, nurses and doctors to carry out a schedule of treatment for a patient when their own consciences are ignored by friends.

A second guideline would be Secure Proper Information from the receptionist so that a visit can be made without interfering with the nurses. (Those angels of mercy stay busy all the time.)

A third might be Quietness. There is always enough necessary noises in any hospital without unnecessary and loud conversation on the part of visitors. One could conceivably try to walk softly and converse in a low voice.

Spotlight on Statesboro B.P.W. Career Women

Grace Gray, tiny, slim and soft-spoken, says "When the telephone rings, you never know who's in trouble, and how quickly they must have help."

This is the exciting situation in which Miss Gray's position places her. She is receptionist and bookkeeper in the dental office of Dr. John L. Jackson, where she racks her brain to figure out who comes and when.

Active in the First Baptist Church, Miss Gray works in the Junior department in Sunday School, and is a member of the choir. Miss Gray lives with her aunt, Mrs. H. F. Hook at 201 South Main Street, Statesboro.

MISS GRACE GRAY "If you have a job, learn all you possibly can about the business and make yourself valuable to your employer," is the advice given by Miss Gray. She has been in the same office eighteen years. Unconsciously, her pleasure in her work expresses itself when she makes

Our reference to the "Old Walnut Tree" in our October 31 chapter of "The Story of Bulloch County" stirred the memories of many people in the county.

They recalled the great emotion that resulted in the cutting down of the old tree that night of February 28, 1917. Wright Everett, the son of the late John B. Everett, former mayor of Statesboro, and Mrs. Everett of Statesboro, called on him from his home in Metter to see the tree.

According to Wright, his father was chief of police at the time and the City Council instructed him to have the tree cut down. He said that he remembers his father telling him, in the greatest secrecy, that it was to be as chief of police, who had the tree cut down.

A little additional research confirms Wright's statement. The minutes of the City Council meeting on February 13, 1917 reveal that a motion was made by Joe Ben Martin that Chief J. B. Everett have the Walnut Tree cut down and moved. The motion was seconded by A. J. Franklin.

Members of the council voting for the motion were W. H. Kennedy and Edwin Groover. Condemnation reigned in Statesboro this morning when early risers found the old Walnut Tree, which stood on the corner of the courthouse square, missing, and only a scattering of yellow earth showed where its roots had been.

An oil painting by Mrs. Ethel Mitchell Floyd of the old tree hangs on a wall at the Statesboro Regional Library. It was presented to the library by Mrs. Floyd and Miss Hattie Powell on June 20, 1950.

Many citizens of the city were opposed to the action of the city. The local chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy vigorously opposed the removal of the Walnut Tree which had stood for so long a life of Statesboro moved about it.

That's the story of the old Walnut Tree. It is just as well that it was cut down in 1917 for had it not been removed it would have been doomed to the ax later—in the name of progress.

"Whatever his history, the tree is now out of the way, and its going gives general satisfaction." An account of the affair appeared in the Bulloch Times the next morning, March 1, 1917. It reads: "Consternation reigned in Statesboro this morning when early risers found the old Walnut Tree, which stood on the corner of the courthouse square, missing, and only a scattering of yellow earth showed where its roots had been."

What a story! It was permitted to remain because of its supposed history. It is claimed by some to have been moved by Hernando DeSoto on his march from Florida to Mississippi. Others claim that it was planted as a landmark by one Primrose who formerly claimed large tracts of land under the name of the King of England, the title to much of which is still in dispute.

Among officials from the State Department of Education and power companies to be present for the clinic are: Lamar T. Wansley, manager National Division of Georgia Power Company, and L. C. Wessinger, rural engineer, Phillip A. Rowland, special teacher from the State Department of Education; Cleo Miles, manager Excelsior R.E.A., and K. K. Cook, engineer with R.E.A.

The short course will get under way Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 7:30 o'clock at the Middle-ground School when those taking part in the clinic meet to make plans and study practical wiring problems.

The purpose of the clinic, states Rowland, is not to make electricians but to help farmers to better solve their electrical problems from the standpoint of safety, economy and convenience. At the same time useful and practical skills may be learned in simple wiring.

Panels will be set up for the Monday night meetings which switches will be installed, circuits run and outlets placed. During the day Wednesday those taking part will divide into groups, and under the direction of an engineer from the power companies view all the buildings, except the residence, at the home site of Mr. Hodges.

Graveside services for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Gay were held Saturday, November 9, at 3 p.m. conducted by Elder T. Roe Scott.

In addition to the parents, survivors are the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Wilson, Statesboro.

Smith-Tillman Mortuary was in charge.

Short course on electricity set for Nov. 18-20

Middle-ground community, Bulloch County, is one of the sites selected for a farm electricity short course sponsored by the State Department of Education and under direct supervision of local school officials.

The electric clinic will come to a climax Wednesday, November 20, when the farm of Mr. W. C. Hodges, located in the Middle-ground community will be completely wired by local farmers participating in the clinic, and under the supervision of State Department of Education.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Branch and daughter, Brenda of Garden City visited relatives here last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Cribbs and daughters, Barbara and Vickie of Savannah, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Shurling and Mrs. Fannie E. Cribbs.

Mrs. Lavern Sanders of Garden City spent the weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Shurling and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sanders.

Mrs. Fannie Northcutt of Statesboro spent Sunday visiting Mr. Allen Kirkheart.

Mr. Ernest Attaway is on the sick list. Mr. Allen Knight was on the sick list last week. Little Kimberley Blitch was on the sick list last week with measles.

We sincerely hope these folks will soon be feeling just fine.

ADULTS NEED MILK TOO According to Health Specialist Miss Lucille Higginbotham, Agricultural Extension Service, it is just as important for fathers, mothers, grandmothers, and grandfathers to have a glass of milk at mealtime as it is for children. Milk adds nutrients necessary to good health that may not be provided in other foods.

The I's of Va.

learning about the background of the children we teach, by accepting children as they are, by helping them accept themselves, by helping them to accept each other, by providing a climate that is stimulating and by insisting that children maintain high standards for themselves, and, by placing emphasis on creative activities.

TO READ about this meeting it doubtless sounds dry but it was full of helpful down-to-earth, stimulating suggestions and aids.

The meeting went far to accomplish its national theme, "Quality Teaching—Keystone of Progress." For there were over three hundred teachers drinking at these fountains of knowledge.

ALPHA OMEGA CHAPTER AT FORMAL PARTY
On Monday evening, November 4, the Alpha Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held its pledge ritual and ritual of new members at the home of Mrs. James Sikes on Grand Street.

A very impressive candlelight ceremony was held with the following rubrics: Pledging Beta Sigma Phi: Mrs. Billy Sandlin, Mrs. Tommy Powell, Mrs. W. M. McGlamery, Mrs. Harry Warren, Mrs. Harold Darden, Mrs. Bucky Akins, Mrs. John Black and Mrs. Bill Lewis.

After the ceremony was completed they were served dinner in Mrs. Bryant's party room.

TEEN ENJOYS HOT DOG PARTIES
The members of the Teen Club this year enjoyed a hot dog party at the center. This was fun night and several contests were enjoyed. The members of the club are enjoying the newly installed public address and record playing system which has added much fun to the meetings. Lynn Storey and Randy Simmons were elected "Couple of the Week" and received two tickets to the Georgia Theatre.

HAPPY GO LUCKY CLUB TO COMPLETE INITIATION
At their regular meeting this week the members of the H.G.L. Club completed plans for their final initiation of new members. With some seventy members in the club big plans are being made for the event. During the Statesboro-Sandersville game on Friday night the new members will wear special dresses and will be given some assignments as a part of their initiation. The initiation will end with a victory for Statesboro but will continue should the Devils be defeated.

QUEEN OF HEARTS
Mrs. E. W. Barnes was hostess Thursday afternoon to her bridge club at her home on Lydia Lane.

A cornucopia of colorful fruit and berries was used in her decorations. Peach short cake topped with whipped cream was served with coffee and nuts.

Those winning prizes were Mrs. Edward Cook, Mrs. Wadell Rockett, Mrs. J. B. Williams and Mrs. Ed Cook.

Other players were Mrs. Frank Aldred, Mrs. W. M. Adams, Mrs. W. C. Huggins, Mrs. Jones Lane, Mrs. Hal Macon Jr., Mrs. E. A. O'Connor and Mrs. Jack Tillman.

Arrangements were taken to the Garden Club center at the Bulloch County Library.

SPADE AND TROWEL CLUB HOLDS MEETING
On Tuesday, October 29, Mrs. Charles Hodges and Mrs. Lewis Hook were hostesses to the Spade and Trowel Garden Club in the civic room of First Federal Bank building.

Mrs. Charles Olliff, president, heard committee reports. Of interest was the announcement that the rose bushes which had been ordered will arrive December 4, and would be delivered on December 4 and 5.

Over $1,000 worth of fine roses were sold. The money made will be used for the club project which is landscaping the grounds of the Statesboro elementary schools. Mrs. Charles Olliff and Mrs. Lewis Hook got a big hand for selling the most roses.

Each member, prior to the meeting, had left flower arrangements which were judged. Mrs. Charles Olliff placed first. The St. Jack Smith's arrangement was second, Mrs. Joe Robert Tillman, third, and Mrs. Julian Tillman, fourth. Mrs. Charles Olliff and Mrs. Lewis Hook presented the program. Each discussed fruit and vegetable arrangements.

For refreshments the hostesses served chocolate pie, salted nuts and coffee.

Others present were Mrs. Jack Wynn, Mrs. Johnny Deal, Mrs. Sidney Dodd, Mrs. Albert Braswell, Mrs. Tiny Hill and Mrs. Mark Toole.

CHEROKEE GARDEN CLUB
Mrs. Billy Cone and Mrs. Aubrey Brown were co-hostesses Wednesday afternoon to the Cherokee Garden Club at the home on Lakeview Road. Cake, coffee and nuts were served.

Mrs. Ben Ray Turner, presided at a brief business session. The Cherokee Garden Club will sponsor the lovely new home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Parker Jr. for the Tour of Homes, scheduled for March, 1958.

Arrangements were brought to the meeting by Mrs. Ben Ray Turner and Mrs. Harold Jones who worked together. One was a composition arrangement in which dried materials, chrysanthemums and marigolds were used in a verticle line in a bronze pitcher on a bronze tray. Another was a small arrangement of lavender, chrysanthemums.

Those present were Mrs. Frank Farr, Mrs. W. M. Adams, Mrs. W. C. Huggins, Mrs. Jones Lane, Mrs. Hal Macon Jr., Mrs. E. A. O'Connor and Mrs. Jack Tillman.
