Our college now enters great new era

We join the teachers in this section of Georgia in applauding the action of the Board of Regents authorizing Georgia Teachers College to grant master of education degrees in seven fields of education.

The decision opens another great era in the history of the college which began in 1906 when the General Assembly of Georgia, under the recommendations of Governor Joseph M. Terrell, passed an act to establish and maintain in the First Congressional District an industrial and agricultural school. The school was to be located in Statesboro and it opened in 1908.

In 1924 the General Assembly passed an act under which the school became The Georgia Normal College and a branch of the University of Georgia. In 1929 an act was passed by the General Assembly changing the name to South Georgia Teachers College and then in 1939 it was given its present name, Georgia Teachers College.

Under each name the college performed a wonderful service in the field of teacher education. And beginning next summer its field of service will become wider. In the surrounding counties to Bulloch it is estimated that more than two thousand teachers will benefit from the new program. The decision of the Regents to make Georgia Teachers College a graduate school for teachers comes after many years of intensive effort on the part of many people who love this college and this community. It did not just happen so. It has been the dream of our community leaders for a long time. And now that it is an accomplished fact credit must be shared by many. Though we cannot ignore this opportunity to express, on behalf of the college and community, appreciation for the leadership given the movement by Senator Everett Williams, member of the Board of Regents, Dr. Zach Henderson, president of the college, Dr. Jim Park, and Dean Paul Carroll of the college. Every member of the faculty of the college contributed to the effort which resulted in the decision of the Board of Regents and share the credit.

It's a great day for the college and every citizen in our community should throw up his hat and feel a new pride in our Georgia Teachers College and the graduates who go out from it and the faculty members under whom our youth learn to become better teachers. A new era in the history of our college is about to begin.

Go, go, Blue Devils!

The Statesboro High School Blue Devils will play one more game after this is being written. They will have played Swainsboro on Tuesday night as we go to press with our editorial page. But regardless of the outcome of that game our Blue Devils are Region 2-A Champions and will play Region 1-A Champions, Fairview in Dade County, on Friday night, December 6 at 8 o'clock, in the Rossville Stadium in Rossville, Ga., in Chattoosa County.

A day of thanksgiving

Take time out this morning, Thanksgiving Day, to attend the Thanksgiving service at 9 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. This annual service is sponsored by the Bulloch County Ministerial Association.

Regardless of how you view the months in the past, there are many, many things for which you must be thankful and it is most fitting that you join your friends and neighbors at this special Thanksgiving Service to express your thanks.

For Thanksgiving Day is an annual time for saying grace at the table of eternal goodness.

Good will gesture

When you see a brand new Chevrolet Station Wagon with the sign on its side reading, "Department of Recreation of Statesboro," know that it represents the attitude of the Franklin Chevrolet Company toward the community's recreation program for the young people of Statesboro and Bulloch County.

Join the Farm Bureau!

Have you renewed your Farm Bureau membership for 1958 yet? If not, then do so before Saturday, November 30.

As of Saturday, November 16, the Bulloch county membership was at 1,034, with membership committees of the several chapters in the county reporting that this figure will be higher before the close of the Farm Bureau year.

Bulloch county has led the state in Farm Bureau membership for many years and county leaders allow as how the 1958 total will again lead the state.

THANKSGIVING PRAYER

THANKFUL - FOR WHAT? It happened in a small town post office one November when the postmaster was tacking up the notice, "Closed—Legal Holiday—Thanksgiving." As he hammered the last tack home, he heard a voice behind him mutter, "Thankful for what?" That sarcastic and disgruntled question should make us stop and think!

This one holiday to America is fighting for its existence to-day. Oh! we'll always have the holiday, but Thanksgiving in its highest meaning is a death-duel with the crass commercialism of the coming Christmas season. Even before we can observe this special American holiday, we are caught up in the mad rush to "do our Christmas shopping early."

If we could only remember as easily as we can forget! The first colonists used a singular method to keep their minds refreshed as to the bounty of God's blessings. It was after that first, devastating year of pioneer life that the Pilgrims gathered in the remnant of their group together to give praise and thanksgiving to God for seeing them through the year.

G.T.C. President is very happy

Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of Georgia Teachers College, said "The news I received on last Friday concerning the college was as thrilling as any news that I have had since I started working with the college in 1927." "It has been my privilege to see the college move from a Normal School to South Georgia Teachers College to Georgia Teachers College and now to a college offering the masters degree."

Spotlight on Statesboro B.P.W. Career Women

Annie Mae Shealy, who is employed at Henry's, says you don't have to have that down-at-the-heels look. She agrees with a shoe designer, that heels are an indication of character. If you wear fairly sturdy heels, you're the conservative type. If you wear the new tapered heels you're right in the fashionable swing of things—all of life, if not a spirit of adventure. She will tell you that the new pointed toes and pointed heels shoes dictated by fashion, she will tell you that for the other half there's the open toe, open heel shoe, to be worn regardless of the weather.

Mrs. Shealy is a busy and cheerful woman. She gives a great deal of time and attention to her home life and family, but finds time to do things for others. She loves people and loves to do things for them. If she knows you are coming, she will "bake you a cake." And such wonderful cakes they are!

An active member of the Statesboro Business and Professional Women's Club for ten years, Mrs. Shealy has made valuable contributions of service.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

WE'RE HAPPY just as we are, with just what we have. But deep down we are just a bit envious of those young people who are about fifteen years old this month. For to them the next fifty years will be the most exciting and challenging era man can conceive.

We made a fast two-day trip to Detroit, Michigan, last week as the guest of Georgia Power Company to inspect the world's largest atomic "breeder" power reactor installation, located at Monroe, Michigan, 40 miles from Detroit.

Called the "Enrico Fermi Atomic Plant" after the late Dr. Enrico Fermi, famed Italian-American scientist who was a pioneering work led to the first controlled release of nuclear energy, the installation is a co-operating development of a private enterprise to provide atomic power for peaceful use by our nation's expanding industry.

Forty-six of the nation's industries and electric power systems banded together under the title of Atomic Power Development Associates, Inc., are spending more than $45,000,000 to make this great atomic power plant on Lake Erie a reality. Included in the group are the Georgia Power Company, Mississippi Power Company and

And the story is—they sat down that first Thanksgiving day, not to a sumptuous meal of turkey and ham, rice and gravy, dressing and cranberry sauce, but to a plate that held only five grains of corn. And they earnestly thanked God for His mercy, protection and love because they enjoyed the meal of wild turkey with all the trimmings.

I would like to make a proposal to our nation today. A proposal that as we gather together to visit, renew friendships, and sit down to a tempting meal, that before we eat, the hostess will place in our plates five grains of corn. It seems to me that a moment of silence and meditation upon the meaning of the first Thanksgiving would be helpful, followed by an earnest prayer of thankfulness.

Thankful—for what? To that disturbed brother in the post office and to the countless number of thoughtless and thankless persons across our land, I would offer this solution to their problem. Let the five grains of corn symbolize that for which you are thankful. It works!

It Seems to Me...

If the Congress of the United States is interested in the preservation of this Democracy and if the Congress of the United States is interested in the preservation of these United States and the people in them, then it would do well to assemble itself in joint session in January and take a serious look at this government by proxy as it is carried on by the Eisenhower Company.

NEVER in a time in the history of our nation has there been so much indecision, so much doubt, so much unrealistic thinking, and so many "brains" in government contributing nothing.

Eisenhower is less than a puppet for those who influence and manipulate his every action. He is a president without the courage to face the newswomen of this country, much less the real issues of our time. He is held in virtual seclusion by those who have placed him on his pedestal and hides behind the television cameras to make his report, prepared by someone else, so that his statements cannot be questioned by the press in order that they may be in some manner translated for the people.

WHILE IT is common knowledge that his every action is influenced by those who follow him around the golf courses of the nation, nevertheless he is directly responsible for every decision which is issued from the White House.

I have never in my lifetime made an improper remark concerning the President of the United States. For that great office there can be nothing but respect on the part of those who love America and her ideals. Nonetheless I am sick to my stomach of the man who continues to lead us down the road of indecision and doubt, relying on his wartime leadership popularity to influence the people of this nation to adopt principles which are foreign to the United States. For that great office there can be nothing but respect on the part of those who love America and her ideals.

There are those in high places who say that Mr. Nixon is now calling the shots in important areas of foreign and domestic affairs which include foreign aid, defense and civil rights. Not wishing to blame the President who is carefully clothed in his sanctified armor, many have blamed Brownell for the sending of the federal troops into Little Rock. Those in position to know say that Mr. Nixon's close friend, William P. Rogers, then Deputy Attorney General, now Attorney General, made the infamous decision after discussion with the vice president.

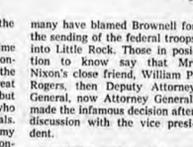

by four Rolls-Royce jet-type turbine engines, which provides air travel in living-room quiet and comfort with the luxury touch. Mr. Ed Y. Wodele, representative of Capital Airlines, made the trip with us, and under his watchful eye the service was superb.

I. S. Mitchell, assistant to J. J. McDonough, president of the Georgia Power Company, went along to see that all the questions that the newspaper people had to ask got answers. They were the perfect hosts, providing the ultimate to us as their guests.

Mr. George Tuttle of the Detroit Edison Company, one of the cooperating power systems, supplemented the hospitality of the Georgia Power group. And Walker L. Claier, president of the Atomic Power Development Associates set the theme of the meeting in the briefing session at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel and Alton P. Donnell, general manager of the group, headed the group which told us of things to come.

It was a most revealing experience and we say thanks to all who had a part in it.

I would certainly suggest to Mr. Eisenhower that he begin now to write the history of his administration so that he can influence the printing of it before leaving office. Following his farewell, for the next election, the people are going to be given a true picture of his great accomplishments. They are going to be told of the way in which we tucked our tail in Korea and backed out of every moral obligation which we had assumed under the guise of promoting peace for the world. They are going to be told how the United States became the laughing stock of half the nations of the world who were once listed as our friends. They are going to be told how we spent billions of dollars on defense on the advice of a hound dog comedian and now find we may wind up with no defense at all.

This history of eight years of Republican misrule and indecision are certainly going to be a masterpiece. The major problem will be to find someone foolish enough to want to read it.

FOR THE BIBLE, like our Pilgrim forefathers, we are thankful. Without it we would be unversed in God's ways. His expectations of us, His promises to us, His plans for our lives, His great gift of Christ to us, so for the Bible we praise God.

FOR LITTLE CHILDREN, too, we are thankful. For our own children, yes, but for all the children we thank God, the Father of us all, who has made us children without her children!

This Is The Story of Bulloch County

By BROOKS and LEODEL COLEMAN

Statesboro

Editor's Note: This week we continue "The Story of Bulloch County" which we began on August 29. This week we continue describing the early business community here.

Cotton was moved from the market here by two railroads. Shipping reports by the railroad officials reveal that 12,000 bales of cotton were shipped from here during the 1902 season, which at that time, was one-eighth of the entire cotton crop of the world.

One of the biggest cotton operators of this decade was the late Raiford Simmons. A newspaper publisher of that time wrote of him, "not having been born with a bale of Sea Island cotton in one hand and a stock of goods in the other, but as handling many of them since. Rafo Simmons has been worth thousands of dollars to the farmers of Bulloch County. He has been responsible as much as any man for the establishment and maintenance of our great cotton market, a market that furnishes the farmer a half cent more on the pound for his cotton than any other market in the state. Mr. Simmons has always been a boomer of prices and has kept the local market up to the boiling point."

During the same period there was a great market here for the sale of buggies. It was an acknowledged fact that more top buggies were sold in Bulloch County than any other county in Georgia. A writer of the day suggested that "if this be doubted one should visit a Baptist Association meeting in the county and see for himself." The writer continued, saying that the average young man of that decade was not satisfied until he got himself a red-wheeled top buggy. Buggy dealers said that they sold twice as many high priced buggies here as they sold cheap ones.

Statesboro ranked second to Atlanta as a market for mules. In the early 1900's there were three large stable yards here with each one handling hundreds of mules and horses every year. The leading dealers were W. T. Smith, J. W. Olliff, R. Simmons and B. T. Outland. It was said that mules and horses, moved into Statesboro from Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri, were sold cheaper than in any other section of the state. Dealers here sold to out-of-state buyers as well as people in neighboring counties.

And so Statesboro began shaping up into the city it was to become. The steady increase in its population was established during this decade when the number of citizens here increased from 1,150 in 1900 to 2,630 in 1910.

G.T.C. Profs to open 1957-58 season on road

A rebuilding Georgia Teachers College Prof's basketball team will open their 1957-58 season with three road games in four days over the coming weekend.

G.T.C. will play Rollins at Winter Park, Fla., on Friday, December 6; Stetson at Deland, Fla. on Saturday, Dec. 7; and Mercer at Macon on Monday, Dec. 9. The first home game will come against Johnny Brantley of Pikeville College team on Wednesday, Dec. 11.

Old man graduation has removed the last of the starters who made it to the second round of the N.A.A. tournament at Kansas City two years ago. Only four lettermen return and only one was a full time regular last year.

Chester Curry, the bombright jump-shooter from Wheelwright, Ky., is the returning starter. The 6-2 sophomore scored 251 points last year for a new G.T.C. record, or 13 more points than Chester Webb scored as a freshman in 1953. The date calls for Ronnie Rush, the 6-6 center captain-elect from Savannah shared the pivot post with two others last year, and in his previous lettering year ran second string to Webb.

Other monogram winners are Walker Cook, Pineview forward, and Bob Belton, Eustis, Fla. forward. Belton earned his letter two years ago. A tougher schedule makes it highly unlikely that Coach J. B. Seacore's squad will equal last year's record of 18 wins and seven losses. The date calls for 14 of the 26 games to be played on the road, and road games are always tough to win. Last year's team had a 14-1 record, but could win but four of 10 away from home.

Two newcomers to the squad are currently holding first string berths following a month and a half of practice. They are Don (Whitey) Verstraete, a 6-3 forward, and a transfer from the University of Iowa, and Cary Moore, LaCenter, Ky., junior transfer from Mercer.

The Rev. George Lovell, a former pastor, will be the guest minister at the First Baptist Church for both morning and evening services, Sunday, December 8.

Rev. Lovell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Conway, South Carolina, served the First Baptist Church as pastor for five years before going to Conway.

Bulloch County cotton growers to get acreage allotments soon

Bulloch County growers will receive official notice of their 1958 farm acreage allotments for cotton in the next few days. The notices are now being mailed by the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Cotton acreage allotments for Bulloch County farms have been determined by the County A.S.C. Committee in accordance with the law and the regulations issued by the Secretary of Agriculture. They are based upon the national total of 17,554,528 acres available for establishing upland cotton farm allotments for 1958.

The national total is first apportioned among states and the county allotments are then distributed among farms on which cotton was planted in any one of the past three years, with the allotment to be made up of specified acres.

Farmers who do not intend to operate a farm for which a 1958 cotton allotment is established should immediately return the official notice to the County A.S.C. office so that it can be returned to the person who will operate the farm next year. Cotton allotments are established for specific farms and may not be transferred by the operator to another producer from one farm to another.

NAIA basketball tourney to be at G.T.C. in March

Dates and sites have been named for the 1959 District 25 NAIA basketball tournament to be held at Georgia Teachers College for the third straight year. J. I. Clements Jr. will again be tournament manager.

The tournament field is selected by Dunkel ratings for the national tourney. It is held at the new district office, 25 N. Main Street, Statesboro, Georgia.

The present tax digest is at $8,800,000. It will return the city $121,000 in ad valorem taxes. He states that the new digest will reach 10,000,000 which at the new 6 mill rate will return the city only $60,000 more in taxes. The amount of the new digest is approximately $3,500,000 to the digest.

He stated that there will be 300 or 400 citizens whose taxes will actually be reduced under the new digest and new low tax rate.

He said that "if you have been turning in your property for tax purposes at a fair value, your tax, under the new rate, will not be raised. The members of the Council want it definitely understood that this is a "money-raising" program. It is strictly an attempt to really equalize taxes in our city."

The city also announced that next year's ad valorem taxes will be set up so that every property owner will be paying taxes on a more equitable basis.

He stated that the tax equalizers, Charles E. Cone and Howard Christian, working for over a year have done "a zoot job." He said that they have found many instances of discrepancies, even some cases where property had never been returned.

Following his talk the Chamber of Commerce endorsed unanimously the action of the mayor and Council in their tax equalization program and all sewerage improvement program.

He also urges the use of the free labels obtainable at the post office which read "All for Local Delivery" and "Part for Local Delivery."
