Statesboro up, county down in population

According to population figures collected by the Georgia Planning Commission, the population of Statesboro has been revised upward, and approximate 1,000 people will be added to the population of the county.

New tax program for city to go into effect

Statesboro's long-awaited tax equalization program will be put into effect in January, Mayor W. A. Bowen announced this week.

"After more than two years of searching and planning," Mayor Bowen said, "the city of Statesboro is ready to put into effect a tax equalization program."

The mayor's announcement was made at a special meeting of the city council held Tuesday night. The mayor said the equalization program will be adopted "to meet the needs of the city of Statesboro, and to provide a fair and equitable method of collecting taxes."
