'A Bunch of Beggars'

(From the Thomaston Times)

Atlanta's Mayor Hartsfield has started an open, all-out attack on the county unit system in Georgia and "all other forms of discrimination against urban areas."

As the Atlanta mayor declared Monday in Atlanta, "We have opened Pandora's box. We must either control this unfair system of government or be controlled by it."

And with the exception of the word "unfair" we about agree with the Atlanta chief executive.

We firmly believe that he and those who control things in the metropolitan area would like to extend their controls to all of Georgia.

Look further at what Hartsfield had to say: "Legislative appropriations in Georgia are weighted against the cities, just as taxation is weighted to take an unfair share from urban dwellers. And now they have created authority to spend your money. They are going to authority you all over the lot and bust this state if you don't watch out."

What in thunderation in William Hartsfield talking about?

He speaks of "legislative appropriations in Georgia" being "weighted against the cities." If he is talking about roads and schools and welfare and health, then he should take another look.

Take road appropriations. Almost every road in Georgia leads to Atlanta where they charge you to park your car, enforce the strictest of traffic regulations and then lure you into their stores and shops to spend your country dollars. Every road appropriation in Georgia from Rabun Gap to Tybee Light eventually takes rural dollars to the metropolitan areas.

And school appropriations in Georgia are spent on good, country boys and girls who, in a large percentage, eventually go to the cities to attend colleges (with rural dollars) and eventually become the city population. Their country school background and way of life make of them business successes and leaders in all phases of life that make a city.

Welfare and health are about the same. True, the proceeds of welfare appropriations have little chance of getting to the cities. But look at it in another light. Welfare appropriations keep more of the needy type in rural Georgia where it is cheaper to keep them up. The more welfare cases that stay away from Atlanta, the less Atlanta taxpayers will have to pay for slum clearance, for medical care and other welfare subsidy. Mr. Hartsfield, the welfare appropriations to rural counties of Georgia are like a subsidy to the big cities in saving them from this additional expense and tax burden.

Health appropriations can be seen from a rural point of view, also. Take the large Eugene Talmege Memorial Hospital in metropolitan Augusta. Doesn't that take a healthy bite of the health appropriation, Mr. Hartsfield? And don't Atlanta folks go to that institution and to the large County Health Department, which must receive appropriations in direct proportion to the smaller counties?

And what about the state mental institution, the tuberculosis hospital, the detention homes and the state prisons? Are appropriations from the state to support these institutions primarily for rural Georgians? Without statistics to back us up even, we will say without fear of contradiction that the unhealthy atmosphere of the cities result in more TB than the open air of rural Georgia; the pressure of the city creates more mental disorders per capita than in the easy way of life we enjoy in the country; and the crime rate is heavier in the city areas, both among juveniles and adults, than in rural Georgia where moral standards are higher.

And how in thunderation does Mr. Hartsfield arrive at the fact that city taxpayers pay more state taxes than us country folks? Per capita our automobile tags cost the same, we pay the same sales tax, the identical gasoline tax, license fees and the same rate on income tax.

He says that "We are ruled by 150 pieces of geography, not by people." And, yes, Mr. Hartsfield, if the folks of North Georgia diverted their cool mountain streams and slowed down the flow of water in the Chattahoochee you would go thirsty in Atlanta. And where is the power generated that makes Atlanta an industrial giant? In rural Georgia, of course. And where do the city dwellers turn for hunting, fishing and boating? Not Piedmont Park, we'll tell you, but to "150 pieces of geography" you make such a sarcastic reference to.

And you say Georgia is ruled by "medicants." We looked up that six-bit word and it means you have called the good people of rural Georgia a bunch of "beggars." Why, you carpet-bagger, self-styled leech, if the people of rural Georgia stopped buying supplies from your Atlanta distribution center, quit shopping with your Atlanta stores, stopped supporting your cultural and entertainment ventures in Atlanta and moved OUR state capital to rural Georgia you'd howl like a stuck pig.

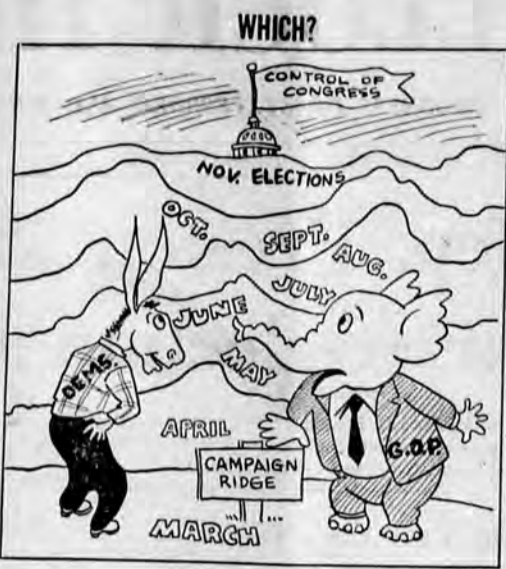

Hartsfield declared in Atlanta that "I'm getting tired of being told nothing can be done about all this. Something can be done. We can educate. We can work for the abolition of the county unit system or at least for its amendment."

We're glad that Hartsfield has come out in the open with some of his ultra-liberal ideas. That he can't see his biting the hand that feeds him is no concern to us.

The folks outside the city and urban areas of Georgia can be on the alert for a no-holds-barred fight by William Hartsfield and his Atlanta and urban followers on our county unit system.

Aside from economic reasons we have outlined, we must protect our county unit system in rural Georgia if we are to maintain our way of life, have a voice in electing our officials and remain independent thinkers.

Fire away, Hartsfield, we're ready for you.

This Week's Meditation

By The Rev. L. E. Houston Jr.

THINKING WILL MAKE IT SO!
On the bulletin for the First Methodist Church, Valdosta, Georgia, for March 16 was an eye-opening commentary on present day thinking. It was entitled—"The Man by the Side of the Road."

A man lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs. He was hard of hearing so he had no radio. He had trouble with his eyes so he read no newspapers.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale said in the introduction to his best-seller, THE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING, "You can permit obstacles to control your mind to the point where they are patterned and thus become the dominating factors in your thought pattern. By learning how to cast them from the mind, by refusing to become mentally subservient to them, and by channeling spiritual power through your thoughts, you can rise above obstacles which ordinarily might defeat you."

A sports writer in analyzing the victory of Pancho Gonzalez in the national tennis championship several years ago, concluded that the factor which won for him the championship was staying power and the fact that "he was never defeated by the discouraging vicissitudes of the game."

It seems to me that life is a game and the stakes are high. Evil is competing with good; the moral is competing with the immoral. Christian democracy stands against atheistic communism. Now is the time for staying power in our lives, and positive thinking sparked by the spirit of Christ can help to bring it about.

So, the father cut down on his meat and bun orders. And no longer bothered to stand whereupon his father thought, "Well, my son has been to the radio, and he ought to know."

So, the father cut down on his meat and bun orders. And no longer bothered to stand

March 23-March 29 is National Future Homemakers Week

By MRS. SUE WARREN
F.H.A. Advisor, Marvin Pittman School

This week is a very special week for all the Future Homemakers of America. This is known as National F.H.A. Week. In this week all the Future Homemakers of America Chapters are recognized throughout the world. Here is some of the information about the club and who can be a member of it.

It is a national organization of girls studying homemaking in junior and senior high school. Homemaking teachers and state supervisors are their advisors. This became a national organization in 1945. This club is sponsored by the American Home Economics Association and by the Economics Education Service, and the Federal Security Agency. In 1945, the F.H.A. was organized with a total of 92,516 members in 2,487 chapters. It has grown in membership to 447,252 in 9,541 chapters.

To me it has been a great thrill to work with such fine girls as I have worked with at Marvin Pittman High School. It has really been a pleasure for me to work with Miss Carol Jean Collins, or candidate for state president of F.H.A. We the members of Marvin Pittman Chapter of F.H.A. and of the school feel like Carol has a good chance of winning. It has been a great experience for me to work with Carol Jean.

Since I am a homemaking teacher and also F.H.A. advisor I personally recommend this club for any girl that is taking home economics. I think each girl that has the privilege of being a member of such a club should not turn it down.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

MR. FRANK WILLIAMS died on the night of March 15, and Bulloch County lost a good man. To us Mr. Frank lived a very satisfactory life. He was dedicated to his church. It was his principal interest. He was devoted to his family. He lived to know that he was the father of a fine son who became a community leader. He lived to know that he was the father of a fine grandson with a bright future. What more recollection a man ask of life on this earth?

OUR EDITORIAL last week on the little girl whose puppy was poisoned drew a reaction which we want to expand on here in our Uneasy Chair.

We were moved by the mother's account of her little girl's distress upon seeing the child's little four-month-old puppy die of poison. We expressed our opinion that there are better ways for people to handle the dog nuisance situation.

One of our readers contends that there is the other side of the problem—the side of those who do not own dogs, and to whom the natural habits of stray dogs are a worrisome nuisance. We're on our reader's side. Dogs can be a worrisome nuisance. They will dig in flower beds, they will trample over vegetable gardens. They will turn over garbage cans and drag garbage across lawns. They will cavort and push over small children when they are in the midst of children playing. And there is the ever present danger that a dog might bite a child, or a person. And with the rabies situation being what it is in our county this is a serious danger.

Those who own a dog should protect their neighbors from these nuisance habits that are so natural with dogs. But when those who neglect or refuse to provide their neighbors such protection it becomes necessary that their neighbors take whatever steps they can in their family's behalf.

But there are ways other than resorting to poison. We suggested to our reader that a call to the police would be effective.

THERE ARE so few of us who realize the value of recreation as concerns the vital role it plays in the living of our lives. There are those who are expert in this area of human growth and development who tell us that recreation plays a major part in the "balanced diet" of everyday living. The church, the home, the school, recreation and work are classified as the major five factors to be considered in the living of the life.

OF REAL concern to those who are active in the recreation program are some thoughts concerning adult recreation. There are so many adults who have never considered the values involved in planning for leisure. Those who do plan so oftentimes plan activities which fall far short of the expectations for which those plans were made.

As we make our plans for recreational and leisure activities, we must be well made and must be thought about in terms of the years which lie ahead. There are many pitfalls involved in such planning if we do not take the time to consult with those agencies and leaders in the field who have an understanding of the values involved in such an undertaking.

Thru the P's of Virginia Russell

A group of Bulloch County teachers and principals set out for Atlanta last Wednesday, (March 15). We left on the minute in our particular group. As for the other people in the car, I can't speak. But for me that is an accomplishment. Once we are on our way, I fare well enough, but the night before leaving, there is a sudden attack of "butterflies" in my stomach and I wonder why I ever plan to leave home.

ARRIVING IN Atlanta at the Piedmont Hotel, one of the first persons we saw was Stansboro's lovely Linda Poirer who was in Atlanta to receive an honor for having been chosen one of ten Future Teachers of Georgia. She was there with her mother and teacher. (It is thrilling to see Linda's type going into the teaching profession.)

Early Thursday morning we awoke to a busy day. At nine the committee to which I was assigned began its work. BECAUSE OUR family is apt to joke about the most serious, as well as the light, a little fun had been poked at me about my "Necrology Committee." My committee, I was told, was a "grave" one. Even the members of the committee tried to assume a light feeling but soon we could no longer fool in the matter and we admitted that it was assigned to me. I was told, we were, "Finally, in comparing he said "I'm from Ty Ty." One teacher said "Are you sure you know how to get around up here?" That question set him on fire and he proceeded to show us he did know how. I was scared so stiff I couldn't unbend to get out of the taxi.

ANOTHER TIME I stood in the snow with one or two people waiting on a shopper's bus. I was watching the bus come up the street and was greatly surprised, as it drove up to a stop, to find twenty-five or thirty people shoving me around. They had emerged from a drug store. When the bus left, I was still standing on the sidewalk in the snow waiting for another shopper's bus. Ah, our country folks don't know how to get along in the city.

There were talks—some good, some bad, some inspiring, some uninspiring. There were good meals and poor ones. But all over Atlanta there were friendly teachers. They were there for many different meetings but all the meetings had one purpose in mind—that one being to improve the quality of teaching in Georgia.

AS THE committee worked we soon learned that in the last

Mr. Sid Smith has returned to his home after undergoing surgery at the Warren Candler Hospital in Savannah. The Sunbeams met at the church on Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Laurice Perkins and Mrs. Bernice Connor as leaders. Mrs. Blois Prosser spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Georgia Brannen and other relatives in Savannah.

Mr. and Mrs. Blois Prosser had as supper guests last Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fordham and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lee of Brooklet. Joe Connor Jr. of Savannah spent the weekend at home. Mrs. Edgar Joiner is ill in the Bulloch County Hospital. We all hope she will soon be well again. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kane of Savannah, spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blois Prosser. Eighty-five guests called during the evening.

Funeral services for Mrs. Brooks were conducted at 11:30 Tuesday morning, at H. M. Patterson Funeral Home, Atlanta, by Bishop Arthur Moore of Atlanta, assisted by the Rev. Oscar Bell, pastor of the Sanderville Methodist Church. Interment was in the family plot at the Forsyth, Georgia cemetery.

When loved ones and friends gathered around her bier to pay the last tribute of love, the beautiful floral offerings were symbolic of the love and sweetness that her life had breathed upon the lives of others. She loved her master's beauty, and she went to sleep peacefully in His embrace. She has not gone, but lives on in the wonderful love that loving others brings. The love that was hers reassures us of God's love, and an enduring endurance, apt to outlast Bishop Moore's closing words to the loved ones of the deceased.

—Mrs. John A. Robertson, sister of Mrs. Brooks.

Should I sell my trees for poles or for saw timber? is the question

POLES AND SAWTIMBER?

"Should I sell my trees for poles or saw timber?" That is a question often pondered by landowners who have well-stocked, even-aged stands of trees suitable for either poles or sawlogs. Recently I received information that will help in deciding this question. As Ted Walker, Extension forester points out, the answer to this question depends upon several considerations.

With trees suitable for poles the prices for poles always should be compared with prices for saw timber or pulpwood. Selling the trees as poles may not always be the most profitable thing to do. This might be true for poles of the longer and better classes, but for short poles, (35, 40 and 45 feet) for which demand is greatest, saw timber prices often will exceed pole stumpage prices.

Pulpwood stumpage prices usually are not competitive with pole prices, but for smaller size trees prices should be compared. Landowners should insist on selling their poles on a marked woods-run basis. If the pole producer is given a free hand many trees might be removed that would be more valuable as saw timber. It would be best to compare the value of each tree as a pole and as saw timber and then decide whether to sell.

If you are considering selling any trees as poles I can give you a table to determine the pole classes of standing trees and another table giving a comparison of pole and saw timber prices.

PRODUCING CLEAN EGGS

Cold weather can be responsible for a lot of dirty eggs in hen houses. When houses are closed to protect birds from the cold, often ventilation isn't adequate to remove moisture. Litter gets wet and eggs get dirty. This can be a serious problem when you are selling to a buyer who will not permit eggs to be washed. This is often the case in hatching egg production.

Extension Poultryman Milton Y. Dendy says egg producers can lick the dirty egg problem by: (1) Keeping the floor litter dry through adequate ventilation; (2) providing plenty of nests filled to proper depth with clean, dry nesting material; and (3) gathering eggs frequently.

When litter begins to get wet or "crust over," provide more ventilation. It may even be necessary to remove the crust that forms and haul it out. Mixing new and old litter in winter months often causes it to "heat" or "sweet," causing a bad floor condition. This means that it is better to have enough litter in the beginning so that you can remove an inch or two and still have plenty left.

Farmers are getting their land ready for annual spring planting

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS

At long last the farmers are getting their land prepared for spring planting.

However, some of them still have some breaking to do. Some of the farmers may get a little planting done before April, but I am thinking it will be April before they really start to plant very much. Very few, if any, will have tobacco set out in March. So tobacco setting, at least is a month late this season. But let's hope that when they finally get the crops started it will be an abundant one of good quality. Let's hope for the best of luck to the farmers.

RED LETTER DAY!

LAST THURSDAY—at midnight—power began to flow from Allatoona-Buford-Clark Hill dams to Georgia's rural electric systems under a contract signed last October by the co-ops, the government and the power company.

SEVEN YEARS of negotiation—spearheaded by the co-ops—preceded settlement of the knotty problem of fair distribution of benefits from this federally generated power to all the people of Georgia. As a result the consumers served by 47 city-owned electric systems will also enjoy these benefits.

UNDER THE ABC CONTRACTS the co-ops and cities get this low-cost federal power—about one-third of their present needs—over the lines of the Georgia Power Company. The government pays a "wheeling fee" of $65,000 a month for this service.

DELIVERY OF THIS POWER marked a red letter day for everyone in Georgia. The ABC contracts will tend to keep power costs—already low—on a level keel in our state. And this was all accomplished by the determination of the Georgia electric co-ops to bring the benefits of low-cost power to all the people—not the few!

Another reason why we say...

CO-OP ELECTRICITY IS GOOD FOR GEORGIA!

says tobacco grower W. E. Fulford, Farmville, N. C.

TREATED

UNTREATED

Mr. Fulford reports the difference nematode-killing D-D Soil Fumigant made in his field. "The crop I treated with D-D Soil Fumigant shows good quality tobacco. The untreated rows have wilted leaves, smaller than the treated rows and the tobacco will never be as good quality."

You, too, can help your tobacco plants thrive by clearing your soil of nematodes with D-D Soil Fumigant. Apply liquid D-D Soil Fumigant with pressure-feed or gravity-flow equipment directly into the soil. There it becomes a penetrating gas which spreads, killing nematodes as it goes.

This season, knock out destructive nematodes with D-D Soil Fumigant and see the big difference in bigger, better-quality leaf at harvest. D-D Soil Fumigant is available from your pesticide dealer. See him today.

Plymouth carries more... does more... provides more family fun than any other wagon in the low-price 3 because it's BIGGEST IN THE LOW-PRICE 3. You can't buy bigger at any price!

Maybe you're a station wagon family right now. More Americans are each day! But do you know all the really astonishing facts about the Plymouth wagon... how much more it gives you than other wagons, at a low budget price?

You simply can't get 'em anywhere else in the field. And once you try them... learn how little the year-ahead Plymouth wagon costs... you'll never settle for less! Why should you? Your Plymouth dealer has the money-saving story, and he's waiting for your visit.

5 big reasons why your wagon should be a Plymouth:

RED LETTER DAY!

LAST THURSDAY—at midnight—power began to flow from Allatoona-Buford-Clark Hill dams to Georgia's rural electric systems under a contract signed last October by the co-ops, the government and the power company.

SEVEN YEARS of negotiation—spearheaded by the co-ops—preceded settlement of the knotty problem of fair distribution of benefits from this federally generated power to all the people of Georgia. As a result the consumers served by 47 city-owned electric systems will also enjoy these benefits.

UNDER THE ABC CONTRACTS the co-ops and cities get this low-cost federal power—about one-third of their present needs—over the lines of the Georgia Power Company. The government pays a "wheeling fee" of $65,000 a month for this service.

DELIVERY OF THIS POWER marked a red letter day for everyone in Georgia. The ABC contracts will tend to keep power costs—already low—on a level keel in our state. And this was all accomplished by the determination of the Georgia electric co-ops to bring the benefits of low-cost power to all the people—not the few!

Another reason why we say...

CO-OP ELECTRICITY IS GOOD FOR GEORGIA!

STATESBORO, GEORGIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1958

B. & P.W. revises program of service for year

At the March meeting of the Statesboro and Professional Woman's Club the revised program for the club's 1957-58 program was presented.

The new program was designed to help meet the five major problems confronting women in this new space age, said Mrs. Minnie Lee Johnson, club president.

"The problems as listed by the club are: "We must know the requirements of trained womanpower in our community." To work on this problem the club plans to establish a register of trained women who could be made available for full time or part time work in the fields of science, math, education and teaching.

"We must utilize and expand research and educational opportunities and facilities." The club plans to catalogue and publicize educational facilities; sponsor youth forums to interest and encourage high school students to enter scientific fields; and organize adult courses.

"We must work to ensure the safety of our community." The club plans to train every member in the latest civil defense methods; stimulate action for local government to provide similar training courses for all citizens.

"We must take an active role in promoting peace." The club plans to organize groups to study our foreign and domestic policies and spread "Peace to People."

"We must be spiritually, mentally, physically and emotionally prepared." Plans are to sponsor forums, panel discussions under professional guidance.

At the March 17 meeting the membership committee presented the initial program under the revision. Mrs. Ester Gross, chairman, introduced Miss Maude White, who said that "the door of membership in our Federation must be opened wider. An organization never stands still. That it is our duty and privilege as members of this choice Federation to advance, that we can advance only as far as we, the members, desire our organization to go."

Miss White said that from her observation at the recent board meeting in Columbus, all clubs, in their reports, indicated progress, but the greater progress is now essential; that every member and prospective member should be vitally interested in the Federation's new "crash" action program, that fully developed, will make the pace for our organization, and that will focus the attention of men and women in our community on the forward progress of our organization.

Business conducted at the meeting included the appointment of Miss Maude White, Miss Penny Allen and Mrs. Matilda Turner to the nominating committee, and election of the following delegates and alternate delegates to the state convention to be held in Albany, Georgia, on May 16-17-18, 1958: as delegates—Miss Zula Gammage, Mrs. Nell Goebe, Mrs. Mattie Tanner, Miss Sylvia Zetterower, Miss Shirley Purser, and Miss Alma Hopper; as alternate delegates—Miss Grace Gray, Miss Katie Repass, Mrs. Gladys Ware, Miss Martha Moses, Mrs. Camilla Lanier, and Miss Ann Willford.

"We must take an active role in promoting peace." The club plans to organize groups to study our foreign and domestic policies and spread "Peace to People."

"We must be spiritually, mentally, physically and emotionally prepared." Plans are to sponsor forums, panel discussions under professional guidance.

At the March 17 meeting the membership committee presented the initial program under the revision. Mrs. Ester Gross, chairman, introduced Miss Maude White, who said that "the door of membership in our Federation must be opened wider. An organization never stands still. That it is our duty and privilege as members of this choice Federation to advance, that we can advance only as far as we, the members, desire our organization to go."

Miss White said that from her observation at the recent board meeting in Columbus, all clubs, in their reports, indicated progress, but the greater progress is now essential; that every member and prospective member should be vitally interested in the Federation's new "crash" action program, that fully developed, will make the pace for our organization, and that will focus the attention of men and women in our community on the forward progress of our organization.
