The Editor's Uneasy Chair

There lurks in every family a man-eating dog. The facts of the case are in the hands of the police. There is a sense of dread among the neighbors who have 10 children. But in this family there is a sense of joy and elation as the man-eating dog is to be trained to catch the children. This man-eating dog is a breed of which the name has not yet been determined. It is said to be a cross between a large bulldog and a small terrier. It has a fearsome appearance and is known to be dangerous. The police are on the alert and will be ready to act if the dog should escape.

This Week's Meditation

It seems to me...

The man who has been convicted of murder in the trial of the John Doe case has been found guilty of first degree murder. The jury deliberated for several hours before reaching a verdict. The defendant was charged with the murder of a man who was found dead in a deserted house. The defense argued that the defendant was acting in self-defense. The prosecution presented evidence to show that the defendant was guilty of premeditated murder. The judge instructed the jury that they must decide whether the defendant acted in self-defense or if he intended to kill the victim. The trial continues and a decision is expected soon.
