Mr. Josh Hagan to celebrate his birthday

Mr. T. J. "Josh" Hagan will celebrate his birthday on Sunday, August 24, at Red Bug Haven. Friends and relatives will join him in celebrating it at a picnic lunch, iced tea, plates, cups and forks will be furnished and in the present."

Mr. Hagan is one of the county's leading personalities. He has been close to the Bulloch County scene for a long, long time and his love for his people and his land runs deep.

Monroe Earns Doctor's Degree At U. of Florida

Dr. Shelby H. Monroe, associate professor of education at Georgia Teachers College, was awarded a Doctor of Education degree at the summer convocation at the University of Florida on Saturday, August 9.

He is the fifth member of the G.T.C. division of education to earn the doctor's degree. Others include Dr. J. D. Park, chairman of the division; Dr. Walter B. Matthews, Dr. Bill E. Weaver, and Dr. Georgia B. Monroe.

Dr. Monroe's dissertation was entitled: "Strengths and Weaknesses of Florida Teachers' Education."

He is a native of Savannah, and received his B.S. degree from the University of Florida in 1935, and a Masters of Education degree from the University of Georgia. Besides Florida, Dr. Monroe has done graduate work at the University of North Carolina and Ohio State University. He came to Georgia Teachers College faculty in September, 1949.

Dr. Monroe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Monroe of 1205 East 33rd Street, Savannah.

He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Delta Pi, and the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. He is currently a member of the Georgia Committee on Teacher Education and of the Pre-Service Committee of the Georgia Council on Teacher Education.

Two institutes set up for mission study

A Baptist Mission Study Institute for the eastern division will be held at the local Lions Club in Statesboro on September 11 and at Tallapoosa Church, 1427 East 37th Street, Savannah, on September 12. Meetings are scheduled for 10 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. Those attending will take sandwiches and the churches will provide the drinks.

The teachers for the institute prepared themselves at Mt. Pinnacle recently. All churches planning a Fall Mission Study are urged to send a sufficient number of teachers to the Institute in order that they may plan the program of the opportunity to learn how better to present their mission study back home.

Mrs. Mel Price, vice president, is hopeful that every church in the Eastern division will be represented at one or the other of the two institutes.

2 attend G. E. A. meeting at University of Ga.

Mrs. Helen G. Adams, president of the Bulloch County Education Association, and Mrs. Hazel Powell, membership chairman, attended the G. E. A. leaders' school of instruction held at the Center of Continuing Education, University of Georgia in Athens last week.

"Strengthening the local G. E. A. unit" was the theme of the workshop. Dr. Claude Pittard, state school superintendent, Randall H. Minor, president of the G. E. A., Frank Hughes, executive secretary of the G. E. A., were at the meeting. A closed circuit television show "Local Education" was presented, attended by more than 300 delegates.

A tuition will be charged. The participants will come on a volunteer basis.

Statesboro tobacco market leads again; sales hit 11,438,580 lbs. for $6,212,161

The Statesboro tobacco market led the Georgia-Florida fire-cured belt in sales for the 1958 season for the eleventh straight year when all the reports were in after final sales on Friday of last week.

The total will be pushed still higher tomorrow when a special sale day will be held in Brannen's Warehouse for low farmers with late tobacco to put it up for auction.

Total 1958 sales, as reported by the Statesboro Tobacco Board of Trade, were 11,438,580 pounds for $6,212,161.85 for the season.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's figures put Statesboro's sales at 11,523,210 pounds for $6,249,978 for an average of $54.24 per hundred pounds. The difference is accounted for, according to the local board, in a discrepancy in one

Editorials

It hit us like a ton of brick

How were we to know? The first time we saw him he was selling boiled peanuts. When we asked him how old he is he stretched out five fingers on the hand of his arm over which hung his basket of boiled peanuts. "Five years old?" we asked, before we noticed the one finger stuck out on his other hand. "Six years old?" we amended our question. He confirmed it.

That a child not yet six years old should be on the streets of Statesboro selling boiled peanuts appalled us and we commented on it in our August 7 issue of the Herald.

Friday morning of last week two children came in our office with Ralph Bacon, local attorney. The kids were happy and as frisky as a pair of setter pups. We thought they were coming in for a visit with us with Mr. Bacon. But it developed that they were in the custody of Mr. Bacon as probation officer of Bulloch County.

They had been caught by the local police for stealing. They had broken into the Westside Ice Company, entering through a window they had crashed at 4 o'clock Friday morning. They stole money. The arresting officer wisely had Mr. Bacon called.

After our visitors were in our office Mr. Bacon turned to the smaller one and said, "Tell me how old you are." "The little shaver, a handsome kid with a heart-tugging cowlick over his forehead, held up five fingers on one hand and one finger on the other.

Then it hit us like a ton of brick.

It was he! Our pint-size boiled peanut salesman.

His companion in the theft is a little Negro boy who said he is ten years old, but his size denies this estimate.

Attorney Bacon told us that he had talked to the six-year-old's mother and told her the circumstances. She wants to do better and promises to take better care of her son. There's still a question about the small Negro child.

In attempting to communicate with these two children we got the impression that they are not at all "sorry" they were caught for stealing. They admit freely, with laughter, that they stole the money. To them their brief excursion into the realm of petty thievery was a lark. We could not find in them any understanding of feeling of what is right and what is wrong. They could not see that it was strange that they went stealing at 4 o'clock in the morning.

We're not a child psychologist. We're not qualified to say what should be done, or what can be done in a problem like this one.

We could allow our imagination to run riot and read all sorts of community short-comings that contribute to this sort of problem.

We point with pride to our fine churches, our modern schools, our enlightened recreation program, our progressive city government, our wonderful community which we boast of as being a wonderful place in which to rear our children.

Yet, admitting our lack of qualifications to analyze the whys which surround this incident, we are moved to wonder if we are so preoccupied with all these many facets of community life that we may be delinquent in some of the more elemental problems as spotlighted by these two children caught stealing.

Happy motoring for the Labor Day weekend!

Vote September 10

Only eleven days until election! That's right — only eleven days until the September 10 primary. You're right, time flies.

Let's not let the primary slip up on us and find that we have lost interest in the business of electing Prince Preston, our congressman for another term.

Don't let's be maneuvered into the position of thinking that our man is going to have an easy time in winning this race and that we'll just stay home and let our friends go vote for him since he won't be needing our vote.

There's tragedy in that sort of thinking.

Let's help Congressman Preston by working under the assumption that he's having a rough time and that he's needing all the support and effort we can round up.

He is conducting a vigorous campaign. He is beating the bushes and his supporters are riding the woods and his friends are pushing doorbells.

It is important that we vote in this election. Mark your calendar and vote for Mr. Preston on September 10.

This Week's Meditation

By The Rev. L. E. Houston Jr.

"THAT CRAZY MULE!" ON AN EDUCATION examination this summer I was asked the following question: "What is cultural lag?" I answered it this way: "Cultural lag takes place when certain segments of society fail to develop as rapidly as other segments, or to put it another way, it is the failure of society to keep up with the facts." This part of the question was not too difficult, but then came the second part which demanded an illustration of cultural lag. I am quite sure that it was because in our society we have so many examples that it was overwhelmed and almost failed to think of even one illustration.

DURING MY intensive mental search, I happened to look out the window of the classroom and saw the American flag gently waving in the morning breeze. Below the "Stars and Stripes" was the new Georgia flag. I have, for some time, had a growing quarrel with our Legislature about this new state flag. In the first place, our flag was perfectly good, until someone suggested that we ought to return to the cross bars of the Confederacy. This was done and I think that it is a perfectly good example of a cultural lag.

NOW BEFORE you take me to task, let me explain that I had a grandmother who was a member of both the Daughters of the American Revolution and the United Daughters of the Confederacy. However, I firmly feel that we should relegate that part of our history to the classroom and move on to face squarely the present and the future.

A doctor friend told me this story the other day. A very intelligent male was carrying his master to a certain place before the days of paved roads and bridges. When he arrived at a creek he just gave a leap and jumped over it. Surely, he was a smart mule! Years later his master rode him over the same road and when he came to this particular place there was a nice bridge over the creek. But, instead of using the bridge, the mule gave a leap and jumped over the bridge and the creek. The story-teller then gave the punch line: "That mule was long on memory, but short on judgment."

THIS, IT SEEMS to me points up the problem for us today. We are tempted on every hand to revel in the past, and to let our memories of the past control our actions of the present.

Perhaps Jesus would approve of a beatitude that goes something like this: "Blessed is the man who learns from the past and proceeds to the future with his eyes open to the facts."

WE WERE impressed last Friday morning by Officer "Tuck" Tucker as he stood at the corner of East Vine Street on South Main Street with his policeman's cap in his right hand over his heart. He had held up traffic on South Main for the funeral procession of the late Frank Sammons which was moving out of East Vine into South Main. Such respect on part of a city policeman reflects with credit upon the individual, the entire department and our city fathers. It's part of the personality that is Statesboro's.

WE WELCOME Mr. Jim Brock, the new manager of the Statesboro Coca-Cola Bottling Company and say "well done" to Mr. J. F. Harbour upon his retirement. Attention has been called to the likeness common to Mr. Brock and Bob (Uncle) Bobby, late of WWSW Thompson. It's a likeness of which each can be proud.

WE HAD two ladies tell us last Friday how much they enjoy the Bulloch Herald. Now it's praise like this which keeps our two ladies down to less than our best.

WE WANT, HERE and now to do a bit of drum beating for the employees of the post office.

CHARLIE ROBBINS kicked off for the Robbins Packing Company a new sales effort in Brunswick recently. His "Lanky Franks" will be carrying the message that Statesboro is a growing community. We wish him luck in his new territory.

"COFFEE BRAKE" The Jaycees are calling it "Coffee Brake". We believe that tired travelers will become safer drivers if they should stop for a brief spell and drink a cup of coffee the members of the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce are going to set up at the Simmons Shopping Center during the Labor Day weekend and serve hot coffee to all tourists and travelers who will stop.

This is part of the Jaycees' "Drive With Safety Campaign". The custom was a big hit here last year and should prove popular with the people who are on the highways this weekend.

We commend this group of businessmen who are constantly on the alert to promote the community in which they live and this "Coffee Brake" idea is a honey.

A FINE CONTRIBUTION Those who may look for Senator Herman Talmadge's Report from Washington in this week's Herald will be disappointed.

Senator Talmadge notified us last week that with the adjournment of Congress he is suspending his "report," but will resume it when Congress reconvenes.

Senator Talmadge's report was a popular feature in the Herald and we are disappointed with its suspension. It was a definite contribution to our service as a newspaper in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Proctor spent last weekend in Statesboro with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powell.

Miss Sue Snipes and her mother, Mrs. Snipes of Thomasville, were supper guests last Friday night of Mr. and Mrs. Hamp Smith. Miss Snipes is instructional supervisor of the Thomas County Schools.

Coach George Roebuck of Southeast Bulloch High School, attended a Coaches' Clinic in Atlanta recently. He also attended the North-South basketball game.

Miss Naomi Driggers began her work this week as 6th grade teacher in the Marlboro School. Mrs. W. L. Beasley, Mrs. W.

I do know that all of us would be in bad condition in the world if we should find ourselves without friends. This leads me to the thought which I want to leave with you this week. Why is it that so often we so quickly let our heads speak for our hearts and in so doing lose those valuable friendships which we have made with years of trust and understanding? Why is it that we so often times will not humble ourselves even to the smallest degree to protect this very precious thing which we all must have to lead happy, useful lives?

IN FRIENDSHIP there must be love and trust. There must be room for give and take and for humbleness as well as nobleness. There must be mutual respect and feeling of affection, and for his opinions even though they may be vastly different from our own and a feeling of affection in times when one needs the love of friend's such as in times of sorrow.

Friendships can't be bought or sold. They must be earned as is an honest dollar. There must be hours of earnest effort given toward giving of ones self, not for gain or recognition but for the love of the wonderful feeling which comes with that sharing with someone of qualities of goodness such as in finding in helping one another.

Next he says, "A person on the same side in a struggle; ally: opposed to foe." Perhaps this allied of friendship is the feeling one has for those who are allied in politics or in warfare. Usually the friendship ends when the common cause for being bound together ends.

CONTINUING on Mr. Webster says, "A friend may be a person whom one knows well and is fond of; intimate associate." There are many people who are acquaintances of ours who could come under this category.

Next he says, "A person on the same side in a struggle; ally: opposed to foe." Perhaps this allied of friendship is the feeling one has for those who are allied in politics or in warfare. Usually the friendship ends when the common cause for being bound together ends.

If the thoughts have tried to enter your head, perhaps you ran to look at the buds that have formed on the camellia bushes, and refused to entertain them, because you believed they weren't welcomed thoughts. Or maybe you were one who opened your arms wide and embraced even a suggestion that well—what did you think?

Miss Kay McCormick honored at miscellaneous tea last Wednesday

BY MRS. JOHN A. ROBERTSON

Miss Kay McCormick, a bride-elect of September 7, was the honoree at a lovely miscellaneous tea given by Mrs. Raleigh Kennedy and Mrs. Hamp Smith, Wednesday afternoon, from 4 to 6 at the home of Mrs. Smith.

The guests were received by Mrs. Smith who introduced them to the receiving line, Mrs. J. H. McCormick, mother of the bride, Mrs. C. S. Proctor, mother of the groom, Miss McCormick, the bride, and Mrs. Kent L. Gillenwater.

The seated guest was Mrs. H. F. Hendrix, the bride's maternal grandmother of the bride.

The guests were shown by Mrs. Kennedy to the dining room where Mrs. W. D. Lee was hostess.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. O. Denmark arranged by Miss Marilyn Moore of Augusta, Miss Marie Lanier, Miss Mary Kent Killenwater, Miss Dot Knight and Miss Ruth Gillenwater. Doilies were passed by little Miss Dale McCormick.

From the dining room the guests were shown by Mrs. Guy Freeman to the gift room where the lovely gifts were displayed by Mrs. T. E. Daves and Mrs. John A. Robertson.

The bride's register was kept by Mrs. H. M. Robertson. During the tea musical recordings were in charge of Miss June McCormick.

The Story of Bulloch County

By BROOKS and LEODEL COLEMAN

EDITOR'S NOTE—This week we publish another installment of "The Story of Bulloch County" which we began on August 29, 1957.

Chapter VII - Installment 12

One of the strangest coincidences of the Civil War was told by B. W. Darsey, a soldier of the Confederacy from Bulloch County, who was a member of Company D of the famous Fifth Georgia Cavalry. Darsey tells the story in a booklet entitled "A War Story" which he wrote about 1901, more than thirty-six years after the close of the war. This is how he relates the story:

"I, with some others of my regiment (5th Georgia Cavalry) was captured near Murfreesboro, Tenn., and among the captives was Matthew Miller of Company E of our regiment, and who is a well known citizen in Bulloch County. Our horses were captured too, and of course became the property of the U. S. Government. This was the 6th day of September, 1864. We were carried to Camp Chase, near the city of Columbus, Ohio, and there held as prisoners of war until we were released by parole on the 11th day of June, 1865.

"Mr. Miller reached his home about the 25th of the same month, and to his great delight found his horse at home in his lot, the very identical horse which had been captured by himself by the enemy near months before. Now the question will naturally arise with some as to how the horse came there. Well it happened in this way.

"P. C. Hagins, a step-son of Mr. Miller, who was quite young then, had served a short time in the war and honorably discharged at the surrender, while on his way home through the county of Burke, this state, saw the horse and recognized him as being the same horse his step-father had rode to the war. One made inquiry of the man as to how he came in possession of him and was told that the Yankee cavalry had left him there as a broken down horse, and that he was now the proper owner. Cone laid claim to him but was refused.

"He came home and with the shrewdness of a man obtained witnesses, went and identified the horse and led him home to the great delight of the family. But while they rejoiced at getting the horse home again, they were grieved at not knowing the fate of the rider, his father and husband; neither did they know until Mr. Miller reached home the time above stated. Much kindness was lavished upon Jack (for that was his name) and soon became a serviceable horse again, and lived to do the family faithful work until he died at the age of 24 years. I doubt there being a survivor of the way, North or South, who can tell a similar tale and substantiate it by living witnesses."

CONSCRIPTION ACT

HENRY C. LEE

Under the conscription Act of the Confederate States of America passed in April 1862, provision was made so that men eligible for service or already in the Confederate Army might secure a substitute to serve for him in the army if he could satisfy all the requirements of the Act.

There is recorded in Bulloch County an instance of a soldier who was in the army and needed to be relieved who secured a substitute to serve in his stead.

The document affecting the substitution reads:

"Headquarters, June 27, 1862.

"To all whom it may concern:

"I hereby certify that Henry C. Lee, a private in Company C of the 47th Regiment of Georgia Volunteers, commander by Col. Williams, has this day provided John Timmerin as his substitute under the Conscription Act of the Confederate States of America.

"And I further certify that said John Timmerin has been examined by Sergeant John Rambo and pronounced sound and fit for military service.

"The above Henry C. Lee is 19 years of age, dark complexion, grey eyes, black hair, and about 5 feet four inches high.

"And I further certify that Henry C. Lee is not indebted to the government and is hereby honorably discharged from the service of the Confederate States of America by reason of having furnished a substitute in conformity with the Act of Congress.

"A. S. Canuet, Lt. Commanding Co. C, 47th Regiment, Georgia Volunteers.

"Approved: G.W.W. Williams, Colonel Commanding 47th Regiment, Georgia Volunteers."

Georgia and Bulloch County in 1861 must have seemed a very desirable place in which to live for Henry Well denominated his homestead in Wittenberg, Germany to become a citizen of the Confederate States of America. Whatever his reason might have been it is recorded in the early records of Bulloch County that Henry Well did become a citizen of Bulloch County.

The document declaring his intention of becoming a citizen of Georgia and this country read as follows:

"States of Georgia, Bulloch County, Confederate States of America.

"Be it remembered that on the 17th day of September in the year of our Lord, 1861, in person appears before the undersigned Clerk of Court of said county, being a court of record having common law jurisdiction, a clerk and a seal, Henry Well, who being sworn according to law, deposeth and saith that his name is Henry Well, that it is his bona fide intention to become a citizen of the Confederate States of America, that he was born in Wittenberg, in 22 years of age, that his allegiance is due to the reigning King of Wittenberg, that he emigrated and landed in City of New York in the State of New York, where he remained about 14 days which place he left and landed in City of Savannah in State of Georgia which state he has resided ever since on or about last of December, 1856, and he intends to settle in State of Georgia. And further deponeth saith he doth hereby renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince or potentate king or sovereignty, whatsoever and particular by reigning King of Wittenberg of which kingdom he was lately a subject before me this September 17, 1861.

"Signed by Samuel Harviel, Clerk of Superior Court of Bulloch County."

The paths which enveloped these people in these times is revealed in a letter in the possession of Mr. W. Linton McElveen of Arcola. The letter is dated October 19, 1861, and was written for a Negro slave woman named "Flora" by her owner to her daughter,

"Mariah," a servant of Nno. Slater of Bryan County. It reads:

"My dear daughter Mariah.

"I want you to come and see me soon. I can't live long now, I am old and feeble and can't stay long—should be more than glad to see you come more before I leave, say to your dear master to let you come. I know he will let you come to see your old and feeble mother who is now looking daily for that change that all must undergo.

E.M.C. to award medallions for good wiring

A Medallion Home Program aimed at raising living standards through increased residential electrification is being launched in this area by Excelsior E.M.C.

Cleo E. Miles, manager, announced today that Excelsior E.M.C. has joined with hundreds of other electric power suppliers throughout the country in sponsoring the program.

"Key element in the campaign," he said, "is a three-inch bronze medallion which we will award to builders for permanent mounting on new homes which meet or exceed our exacting lighting, wiring, and appliance standards."

He pointed out that in order to qualify homes for these medallion awards, builders must incorporate the latest electrical features and designs for healthy, comfortable living.

In the area served by Excelsior E.M.C., Mr. Miles said, these include ultra-modern incandescent and outdoor lighting and home wiring adequate to serve the electrical needs of a family today and in the future.

Also required for medallion certification, he said, is a full quota of time and work-saving electrical appliances. These include an electric range, refrigerator, quick-recovery water heater and kitchen ventilating fan, plus at least two additional electrical appliances from this list, dishwasher, dryer, automatic washer, freezer or room cooler.

To distinguish all-electric homes—the ultimate in electrical living—the Excelsior E.M.C. will award special gold medallions to homes which meet its lighting, wiring and appliance standards and are equipped with electric resistance heating or electric heat pump.

Mr. Miles pointed out that Excelsior E.M.C. is an exclusively empowered to certify homes for medallions in its service area as a part of the electrical industry's national "Live Better Electrically" Program.

"We feel," he said, "that this campaign will help to stimulate construction and sales of new homes which contain the electrical features most wanted by Georgia families for easier, happier living."

"This is the first home-building program ever to be jointly conducted by all segments of the electrical industry working together toward a common goal—better living for homemakers and homeowners. With the help of local builders, we hope to make the Live Better Electrically medallion a symbol of long-lasting value in this area.

"In the future when people

MISS BUTLER AND MR. MCCORKLE ARE WED IN PEMBERCO

The Pembroke Christian Church was the scene Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the wedding of Miss Terie Belle Butler and Thomas Arthur McCorkle of Statesboro.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Butler of Pembroke. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McCorkle of Statesboro.

Performing the double ring ceremony was the Rev. V. P. Bowers, retired pastor of the church. Baskets of pink asters and gladioli formed floral arrangements against a background of greenery and palms, flanked by seven-branched candelabra.

Music was presented by Mrs. Billy Stewart, pianist, and Willie Butler, soloist, both of Pembroke.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of imported lace and tulle. The bodice of lace was designed with long sleeves and a scalloped decollete neckline with an inset net yoke and high collar. The full, floor-length skirt was fashioned of tulle over light satin with lace points from waist to hip.

Her hair was a French lace hat encrusted in seed pearls attached to a fingertip veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and showered with white satin streamers and lilies of the valley.

Miss LaVern Lewis of Pembroke was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a dark-length dress of pink embroidered nylon organza over a waltz-length of taffeta. The wide cummerbund was tied at the waist in a large bow. On her head she wore a band of taffeta edged in sequins. Her bouquet was of pink asters and grapes entwined with white tulle.

Lester Smith of Statesboro was best man. Usher-groomsman were Carylie McCorkle, Claxton, and Dan Hodges, Mableton, both cousins of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mr. Butler chose a blue acetate and nylon sheath dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. McCorkle also wore a corsage of white carnations and matching accessories with her pink lace dress over taffeta.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Butler entertained with a reception in the church social hall.

The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with miniature bride and groom and centered a table which was covered with white organza over orchid taffeta. Silver candelabra on each side of the cake held lighted pink tapers. Baskets of pink flowers and greenery were used throughout the room.

Introducing the guests to the receiving line was Mrs. E. B. Owens. Serving were Miss Nan Waters, Miss Grace Williamson, Miss Shirley McCorkle and Miss Norman James McCorkle. Miss Rose Buckner kept the bride's book.

For her wedding trip to points of interest in the mountains, Mrs. McCorkle chose a navy rayon acetate dress with jacket of the same material. With her black and white feather hat, she wore matching accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

THE FLOYD HOME SCENE OF AFTER-REHEARSAL PARTY

Following the rehearsal of the Guarida-Chenau wedding, the bride and groom, members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests, were honored at a dinner party by Mrs. Valdo Floyd, Mrs. Leodele Coleman and Mrs. Virginia Evans at the lovely Floyd home on North Main Street.

Since the weather has been rather fickle, the hostesses took no chances. The rooms were charmingly decorated and made ready for serving should the rains come. The living room struck a key note of warm welcome with red roses on the mantle. The porch afforded glimpses of a fruit arrangement with greenery; rubrum lilies in the dining room were exotic and lovely.

Suddenly you saw the "secret garden" in the light of hurricane lamps on tall standards. The dining table was centered with an arrangement of pink altheas in a crystal bowl. Summer flowers were in the foyer on the buffet, arranged on individual tables where other guests were seated.

Rising dramatically from the buffet and table was a decorated table with a Sheffield silver candelabrum with twisted branches, holding three white candles. In the center an epergne was overflowing with coral vine, ivy and rubrum lilies, the focal point of the arrangement.

At one end of the table ice cream, in silver wedding slipper molds, were served from the silver tray. Another large silver tray held individual homemade cakes, embossed in pale green with white valley lilies.

Miss Trel Minick, Mr. and Mrs. Minick, a recent bride, wore blue chiffon with floral design.

Supper guests were Miss Madge Lanier, Joe Edwards Jr. of Claxton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Minick of St. Simons, Mr. and Mrs. James Lanier, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Tyrel Minick, Mr. and Mrs. Addison Minick of Columbia, S. C., Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Minick of Claxton, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Woodcock and Misses Carol and Carolyn Woodcock of Savannah.

AFTERNOON TEA FETES MISS LANIER
Mrs. Francis Cleveland Rozier and Mrs. John Franklin Spence were co-hostesses on Tuesday afternoon, August 10, at a lovely tea at Mrs. Rozier's home in Brooklet, honoring Miss Madge Lanier, bride-elect.

Mrs. F. W. Hughes met the guests and Mrs. J. H. Griffith introduced them to the receiving line composed of Mrs. Rozier, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. James Lanier, mother of the bride-elect; Miss Lanier, the honoree; Mrs. Joe Edwards of Claxton, mother of the groom-elect.

Mrs. Franklin Lee kept the bride's book which was on a linen covered table in the foyer. A silver bowl filled with purple and yellow iris centered the table.

The tea table was covered with an imported linen cloth with a crystal punch bowl at one end and from which punch was served by Mrs. C. E. Bohler and Mrs. Ed Wynn of Brooklet. Centering the table was a lovely arrangement of lavender, yellow and pink asters filled in with greenery in a silver bowl, flanked by silver candelabra with pink tapers.

Bridal cakes, embossed with pink, green and white wedding bells, were on silver trays. Nuts and pastel mints were served in silver compotes.

A fruit arrangement was on the buffet. Mrs. J. L. Minick and Mrs. Virgil McElveen of Brooklet assisted in serving. Miss Barbara Griffith mingled with the guests.

Miss Lanier was lovely in a rose organza over tulle with billowy skirt, worn with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Two hundred guests were invited to call between the hours of four and six.

MISS GENEVIEVE GUARDIA IS BRIDE OF MR. HENRY CHENAULT JR.

The marriage of Miss Genevieve Guardia to Mr. Henry Smith Chenaunt Jr. was solemnized Tuesday afternoon, August 19, at the First Presbyterian Church in Statesboro.

The Rev. Henry S. Chenaunt officiated at the wedding in a setting of candlelight and arrangements of woodwardia ferns and baskets filled with white gladioli, chrysanthemums and white asters. The Rev. Miles C. Wood, pastor of the church, assisted in the impressive double ring service.

A program of wedding music was presented by Jack W. Broeck which included "Traumer," "O Perfect Love," "I Love Thee" and "Meditation," wedding marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn.

Mrs. Chenaunt is the daughter of Mrs. John Edward Guardia and the late Dr. Guardia of Natchitoches, La.

The groom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Chenaunt of Richmond, Va.

THE BRIDE

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Charles Edward Guardia of Pittsburg, Kansas, wore a full-length gown of rose point Chantilly lace over tulle and satin, fashioned with a long fitted bodice with the Saltrina neckline sprinkled with iridescent sequins, long fitted sleeves of lace tapered to calla points over the hands. The bouffant skirt extended to a chapel train. The front skirt panel of tulle was encrusted with sequins. Her finger tip veil of illusion, thrown back at the end of the service, was attached to a dainty coronet.

ERNEST VANDIVER CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR
Speaks at VALDOSTA
SATURDAY, AUGUST 30th 4:00 PM

To the People of Bulloch County:

I am a candidate for renomination to the Georgia Legislature in the Democratic Primary to be held September 10, 1950. The confidence shown by you in allowing me to serve another term without opposition is deeply appreciated.

It has been a privilege and an honor to serve Bulloch County in the General Assembly during the past four years. The high type people composing the citizenry of Bulloch County has made it a pleasure as well.

I pledge to continue support of all legislation designed to improve state services, provide better schools and a more adequate highway system. I believe in requiring all phases of the state government to be operated on a sound businesslike basis with control of the state finances being returned to the people through their duly elected legislators.

I am proud to have played a part in the adoption of legislation which has served to combat the encroachment on the rights of our citizens, both from within and from without our state. I pledge to continue my support of legislation which will preserve the tranquil relations enjoyed by our people in all phases of economic, social and educational endeavors.

I respectfully seek your advice and counsel and want you to know that if at any time I can be of assistance, please feel free to call on me.

Sincerely,
Francis W. Allen

Beautiful, brilliant, and a bride, pretty properly describe the rehearsal of the Guardia-Chenaunt nuptials, Monday evening, August 18, in the banquet room of Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen.

Hostesses were Mrs. Don Thompson, Mrs. Percy Averitt, Mrs. Fielding Russell, Mrs. W. A. Bowen, Mrs. Stothard Deal, Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mrs. Bill Keith and Miss Marie Wood.

Seated at the table on the dais in the banquet room were Miss Guardia, the bride-to-be; Mr. Henry Chenaunt, the groom-to-be; Mrs. J. E. Guardia, brother of the bride, and the groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Chenaunt Sr.

The table was centered with an arrangement of rubrum lilies, interwoven with delicate tulle and English ivy, flanked by coral vine, blending pink and green in graceful beauty to the ends of the table. At each corner of the tables were lovely hoops of crisp white net with silvered clippers suspended from the bows.

Bride and groom place cards marked the places.

The color motif was repeated in the dinner menu from pink melon balls to the pink vanilla cream and cherry parfait for dessert. The main course offered Georgia broiled chicken with rice and giblet gravy, string beans, asparagus casserole, dried beef, and blueberry muffins and coffee.

Places were set for forty. The bride-elect appeared at this party in a cocktail gown of Pacific blue silk organza over rose taffeta. The left shoulder and full skirt were ornamented with ruffled flowers in rose tones. Matching her rose satin belt were Genevieve's rose sash pins and small beaded bag.

BRIDES ATTENDANTS
Miss Sylvia Bowen was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Gales, Lounsbury, N. C., Ann Burke Chappell, Hartford, N. C., Gail Yount, Belmont, N. C., and Mrs. Salerno Ford Johnson, aunt of the bride.

The attendants wore cocktail dresses of blush pink nylon organza over taffeta. The bridesmaids were styled with scoop necklines finished with wide hertha collars applied with Venice lace motifs. Full gathered skirts were posed over net and worn over George's crinolines.

Junior attendants, Brenda Bolin, sister of the bride, and Virginia Russell, sister of the groom, were dressed like the other attendants. All carried crescent bouquets of rubrum lilies.

Dr. Fielding Russell served as his son's best man. Ushers were Richard Russell IV, brother of the groom, and Gene Fletcher of Statesboro. Michael Bolin, brother of the bride, was a junior usher.

The bride's mother, Mrs. W. Manning Bolin was attired in Glen Joan original of Adele blue Chantilly lace combined with silk chiffon. Her hat was of matching blue sequins on lace. Her corsage was of glamelias.

Salvation Army to consider unit here

Mr. John D. Parker, service extension representative of the Salvation Army, Georgia, Div., has been in Statesboro for the past few days in conference with many of the local, civic, business, and club leaders with regard to setting up a local service unit of the Salvation Army.

Since there has been considerable interest shown in this phase of activity a meeting has been arranged to be held at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen Friday morning, September 5, at 7 a. m., at which time all who are interested in local emergency welfare and transient welfare problems are urged to be present for the presentation of the program of activity as outlined for the local service unit of the Salvation Army. Each visitor will defray his own breakfast expense.

TRACE ELEMENTS
Trace elements essential to plant growth are: copper, manganese, baron, iron, zinc and molybdenum. Extension agronomists point out that these elements are necessary for plant growth, but are required in much smaller amounts than the other elements.

Immediately following the wedding a reception followed in the church parlors with Misses Elizabeth and Naomi Johnson of Washington, D. C., and Miss Laura and Selvia Johnson of Belmont, N. C. as hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. William Russell left on a wedding trip to the coast. They will reside at 2119 H. Street, Washington 7, D. C.

Mr. Russell graduated from the George Washington University in June, and is presently employed in the United States Senate.

Mrs. Russell has attended the University of North Carolina for three years. Mr. Russell plans to pursue post-graduate work at George Washington University, and his bride will enter George Washington University this fall as a senior.

MISS VIRGINIA HENDRIX

to supervise county G. O. C.

Miss Virginia Hendrix of R. F. D. Portal has been appointed to supervise the new Bulloch County Ground Observer Corps (G.O.C.) post. Official announcement of the appointment was made by Max Lockwood, of the Statesboro and Bulloch County Civil Defense Director. The new post is located at Miss Hendrix's residence, twelve miles northwest of Statesboro on U. S. Highway 25.

Miss Hendrix is a native of Bulloch County and is currently employed as secretary-bookkeeper by Altman Pontiac Company, Inc., Statesboro. She is the daughter of B. J. (Buck) and Eunice Hendrix of R. F. D. Portal. She attended G.T.C. for almost two years where she began to major in home economics. She is a member of the Newell Creek Primitive Baptist Church.

Miss Hendrix named Miss Betty Jan Saunders to be the committee area Kermit Carr and W. D. Granger.

Bob Sanders, southeast Georgia representative told the group that an expanded program of the organization would also include arthritis and birth defects as new disease targets.

Sanders said that the National Foundation would be sponsoring an already large research program in attempting to find the answers to virus diseases and those affecting the central nervous system.

He pointed out that continued care would be necessary for the department, bicycle races and stunts. All riders will get safety tape for their bikes.

In the meantime, Mrs. Godbee and Mrs. Brinson dashed to the back porch and screamed to the men at the lake for help. When Mr. Brannen heard their frantic call he said to Mr. Godbee: "John R., rush on, these crutches are holding me back." Then unconsciously dropping

4-H Council holds meeting at Rock Eagle

The State 4-H Club Council, the largest meeting of the year for Georgia's more than 143,000 members, was held last week at the Rock Eagle 4-H Center.

This is primarily a leadership training conference, one of the highlights was the special ceremony to delegates to G.T.C. as a senior this year to complete her major in home economics. She is the daughter of R. Frank and Molly Saunders of R.F.D. Portal. Miss Saunders is a member of the Elam Baptist Church and during her free time enjoys reading, dancing, singing and fishing.

The objectives of the State 4-H Club Council meeting was to strengthen county 4-H Club programs, to promote opportunities for county club officers to develop skills and knowledge so they might more effectively assist with the planning and execution of county 4-H Club programs. To the visiting delegates attending from Bulloch County were Carol Godbee, Bobby Jo Cason, Betty Alice Belcher and Thomas Chester. Also attending were Mrs. J. Brinson, southeast district secretary, along with Extension agents, Mrs. Gertrude Gear and Jones Peebles.

At the back door stood Mrs. Brannen with a breach-loading gun. Mr. Brannen seized the gun and after quieting down the women, who had sought refuge in the house, he walked out on the porch. Soon he spotted on the ground to the left of his doorstep, the striped monster, coiled, with head sticking up, ready to strike.

As he faced the snake, Mr. Brannen started to load his gun. Horrors! the gun caught. The dramatic suspense was relieved after he had made two or three desperate jerks on the breech and adjusted the gun.

With steady aim he broke,

At his first shot, the backbone of a six-foot rattler with eleven rattles.

When there was no doubt the snake would strike no more, Mr. Godbee severed the venomous head from the body.

The hero of the drama, Mr. Brannen, had this to say: "It is harder to control women than to kill snakes."

Mrs. Brinson: "Spunky deserves a gold medal."

Mrs. Godbee: "I wish I had stayed in Indiana."

Mrs. Brannen: "Never a dull moment in the country."

Dr. Godbee: "Why didn't I roll pills today?"

The Georgia Crop Reporting Service estimates that Georgia's average corn production per acre will be 30 bushels for 1958.

Rites held for Jack D. Woods

Jack D. Woods, 28, died unexpectedly Saturday, August 23, at his home. He was a life-long resident of Bulloch County and made his home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom A. Woods near Portal.

Besides his parents he is survived by one brother, Grover L. Woods of Savannah; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Effie Aaron of Statesboro and his paternal grandfather, and step-grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Woods of Portal, several aunts and uncles.

Funeral services were held Sunday at 4 p. m. from the Poplar Springs Baptist Church with the pastor, Dr. Jimmy Bells officiating. Assisted by Rev. Billy Frank Woods. Burial was in the church cemetery.

The following cousins served as pallbearers: Durden Lanier, Jim B. Woods, Phil Cowart, Royace Taylor, Calvin Parrish and Alb Johnson.

Open house at Mock's Bakery September 9

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mock, owners of Mock's Bakery, today invite the people of this section to visit their remodeled bakery on West Main Street during their "open house" on Tuesday, September 9.

Mr. Mock states that they have doubled their facilities and have added a large refrigerator case to provide fresh cream-filled pastries. He states that they now carry a line of party and wedding accessories, napkins, paper plates, cups, place cards, etc.

A feature of the remodeled quarters is a lounge where they may confer with customers for special orders for weddings and parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Mock came to Statesboro and opened their bakery in 1950. He is a native of Screven County and Mrs. Mock is a native of Buchanan, Michigan. He has been in the making business since 1917. Both served in the U. S. Navy.

Refreshments will be served during the open house.

The Rev. Duncan here to work with Baptists

The Rev. Grady Wheeler, pastor of the Metter Baptist Church and chairman of the missions committee of the Ogeechee River Baptist Association, announced this week that the Rev. W. A. (Dub) Duncan Jr. has been named as the new missionary for the association.

The Rev. Duncan is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Duncan Sr. of East Point, retired pastor at the First Baptist Church of East Point for thirty years and a past president of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Association and now moderator of the Atlanta Association of Baptist Churches.

He and Mrs. Duncan and their two children, Chandler, age eight, and Malcolm, age 4, have already moved to Statesboro and are living at 4 Prentiss Street. They moved here from Vidalia where he was the associational missionary for the Daniel Association which included four counties.

He is a graduate of Mercer University and of the Southwestern Theological Seminary of Fort Worth, Texas. He has served as pastor of the church at Hahira, Georgia, and the church at Screww, Georgia.

Rev. Duncan urges the twenty-four churches in Bulloch County and the two churches in Candler which are members of the Ogeechee River Association to call upon him for any service which he can render.

Woman's Club sell snacks during election

Mrs. J. E. Bowen Jr., president of the Statesboro Women's Club, announced this week that the club will be selling snacks during the election on Wednesday, September 10, to cast his or her ballot. After you have voted, or while waiting to vote, patronize our snack bar refreshments. The proceeds of the sales will go into our fund for promotion of community progress. Mrs. Bowen said.

The operation will be under the direction of Mrs. Deaf Futch, chairman of the public affairs committee. Refreshments will be sold in-doors if the weather is bad, she said.

"The Senior Women's Club of Statesboro hopes that everyone in Bulloch County eligible to vote will come to the polls on Wednesday, September 10, to cast his or her ballot. After you have voted, or while waiting to vote, patronize our snack bar refreshments. The proceeds of the sales will go into our fund for promotion of community progress." Mrs. Bowen said.

WHEREAS, the United States of America is the stronghold of democracy in the world today, and

WHEREAS, the United States of America has been kept free and strong by its citizens throughout the years as they have resolved their issues and chosen their public officials by the power of the ballot box and

WHEREAS, only by true representative government may the United States of America continue to be strong and free, and

WHEREAS, the backbone of our precious democracy is in our local government, and

WHEREAS, true representative government can be continued only by the citizens of this country by the exercise of their cherished American right of voting, and

WHEREAS, the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce is encouraging all citizens of Statesboro to vote September 10, 1958, in the American way;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, W. A. Bowen, Mayor of Statesboro, commend the Junior Chamber of Commerce on its "Get Out the Vote" project, and hereby urge all citizens of Statesboro to take advantage of their citizenship by Registering and Voting.

Dated this 2nd day of September, 1958.

10,000 in Bulloch County eligible to cast vote in September 10 primary

Center of interest in Bulloch County primary

According to the Bulloch County Board of Registrars made up of Bruce R. Akins, Ziba Tyson and Mrs. Homer Simmons, approximately 10,000 citizens of Bulloch County are eligible to vote in the primary election here on September 10.

Mrs. Simmons, clerk of the board, stated that the list was approximately 12,000. "Under the new law which requires that names be cut off who had not voted in the past two years, we had to drop about 3,000 names. However, we registered approximately 1,000 new voters, making the net number of eligible voters about 10,000," Mrs. Simmons explained.

John D. Lanier, chairman of the Bulloch County Democratic Executive Committee, which will oversee the holding of the primary, stated that the polls here will open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. in Statesboro. The polls will be located in the courthouse.

The members of the committee are: L. S. Anderson and H. G. Anderson, Sinkhole District; C. Anderson and Reginald Anderson, Registrar; R. F. Saunders and B. A. Hendrix; Lockhart; W. L. McElveen and Francis C. Groover, Briar Patch; R. Evans and I. V. Simmons; Hagan; George M. Johnston, Bruce Oiliff, and Bruce R. Akins, Statesboro (120th); Arnold Parrish and W. E. Canfield; Bay; W. C. Cromley and J. H. Wyatt, Brooklet; W. W. Jones and U. L. Williams, Emi; J. E. Daniel and H. O. Giff; Blitch; John D. Lanier Jr. and Fred Woods, Portal; C. DeLoach and H. C. Burnard, Newell; John D. Lanier, chairman of the committee.

Interest in Bulloch County centers around the election of Congressmen Prince Preston, the incumbent is opposed by Elliott Hagan of Sylvania. Mr. Hagan opposed Mr. Preston in the 1956 primary and was defeated. The returns showed that Mr. Preston received 31,698 votes, Mr. Hagan, 20,879 votes, and Spence Grayson, a candidate in 1956, received 13,330 votes.

A race which will attract Bulloch County voters is the race for representative in the Georgia Legislature for the place now held by Wiley B. Fordham. John Paul Ellis is running against Mr. Fordham for that place.

Francis Allen is unopposed for the other representative.

Other races which interest local voters will be the governor's race in which three candidates are running: Ernest Vandiver, Bill Bodenhamer, and Roy Abernathy; the lieutenant governor's race which includes C. B. Broome, Garland Byrd, C. Colbert Hawkins, John D. Odum and Howell (H. E.) Smith Jr.

NO OPPOSITION

The incumbent state officers who have no opposition are: Ben Fortson, secretary of state; Eugene Cook, attorney general; Phil Campbell, commissioner.
