Editorials

It's going to be hard to please all

Recently the State Board of Education created a furore when it ruled that children must be six years of age on September 1 of the year they enter school. Despite the fact that the rule does not become effective until 1959, it brought on consternation in the minds of parents with children entering kindergarten this fall.

Up until the State Board announced its rule the date on which children become six years old to be admitted in the first grade was set at the discretion of the county boards. In Bulloch County the board has observed the rule that a child must be six on or before December 23, in order to be admitted to the first grade at the beginning of the school year in September.

Many parents reject the new September 1 birthday requirement on the basis that if their child is six after that day they will be cut out of school for another year until they are seven years of age. They feel that they will be separated from their friends who might have been able to enter the first grade because they turned six-years-old only a few days or weeks before the deadline, putting them a grade ahead.

Then there are many whose children are able to do first grade work, even though they may be only five years old. And then there are some who can't do first grade work even though they may be seven or older.

There are those who contend that it is not fair to the bright child who can learn faster than some of his playmates.

The State Board is to meet again September 15 and there are

Here we go again

Here we go again. The first of the annual Frantic Fridays is tomorrow night when the Statesboro High School Blue Devils open their 1958 football season against the Savannah High School in Memorial Park Stadium.

Coach Teel and Coach Williams allow as how the Blue Devils are just as good as last year's state Champions but they might run into a tougher season because of the opposition. The boys in Blue will play two AAA teams and one AA and then some of the A teams on the schedule have put on some muscle and will be a little rougher on our Blue Devils.

But win, lose or draw we can always fall back on that oldie, "It's not that you won or lost, but how did you play the game."

They get out the vote

The Statesboro Jaycees and the Bulloch County Legionaires did the county a great service in promoting the "Get-Out-The-Vote" project for yesterday's primary.

It seems that it would be unnecessary that citizens should be reminded that they should get out and vote in an election. One would think that the right to vote is some who think its members may reconsider or modify its action.

Then there is the possibility that the child, regardless of his age, may be given a readiness test given to determine his or her readiness to enter school. The use of these readiness tests has been proposed.

Some counties are already using these tests but for a different purpose. They furnish the first-grade teacher some indication how ready each child is and helps the teacher in planning her work.

Rufus D. Pulliam is chief of guidance and testing in the division of instruction, State Department of Education. He said that he feels that a trained first-grade teacher could administer the tests.

It seems to us that the December 23 date used in Bulloch County has proven satisfactory. The State Board states it seeks uniformity, but in seeking it, they have taken over a function which we think rightly belongs to the county boards.

Meanwhile the arguments continue as to the wisdom of the new September deadline set by the state board.

The board may stick to its guns and leave the deadline standing to go into effect in 1959. It may soften the blow to benefit those now entering kindergarten and delay the date to 1960.

Then there's the chance it may turn to the readiness tests where parents want under-age children admitted.

Regardless of what is done, it'll be hard to please all — there'll be desenters no matter what's done.

so precious that one would do all within one's power to get to the polls to exercise that right.

But 'tis not always so. Voters have to be jogged into going to the polls. Politicians provide ways and means to get those they think might vote for them to the polls. Civic-minded organizations operate car-pools to provide any voter without transportation a way to the poll with no concern for whom he or she votes.

We commend these two organizations for the part they play in reminding us of the important business of voting.

Our Homemaker

This week we throw our hat high into the air for the acclaim given to Mrs. Albert Braswell Jr. upon her having been named the First District Homemaker of 1958 and selected to represent the district in the state competition in Atlanta on October 9.

The basis upon which Mrs. Braswell was selected fills her day with activities which blends making a home for her family with making Statesboro and Bulloch County a better place in which to rear her family.

We wish for her happy competition in Atlanta and may she be named Georgia Homemaker for 1958.

SCHOOL DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN

WELL, SHE GOT OFF today! That is our oldest daughter started her school term in kindergarten this morning. She has been planning her schedule for several weeks now. Bedtime is eight o'clock in the evening and there is no difficulty in getting her tucked in because she is carried away with the romance of being a school girl. Already she knows the names of those boys and girls who will be her classmates, and she is looking forward to the high adventure of every day's school opportunity. Her mother and I can only hope that she will always possess this feeling about her education.

ALL ACROSS our land school bells are ringing, children are setting into the swing of the new schedule, and moms and dads are happy. Say what you will, school experience puts a system into everyone's day. While there is a graduation time for students in public schools and colleges, there is a school from which the members of the human family never graduate. It is called the School of Christ and it is in session twenty-four hours of every day, of every week, of every month, of every year. There is no graduation this side of death, and its pupils can only say with the Apostle Paul: "Not that I have already obtained this or am already perfect; but I press

Helpful Hints

POULTRY HOUSE ROOFS
Extension Service poultrymen recommend a minimum roof overhang of 24 to 36 inches for poultry houses. Such an overhang provides more shade, gives better protection from blowing rains, and allows drainage ditches to be far enough away from house to cut down risk of soaking and overflowing.

We commend these two organizations for the part they play in reminding us of the important business of voting.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

DO YOU REALIZE what you are saying when you refer to financing of projects with "federal funds" or "state funds"? Stop and think about it for a second, and analyze it. The way you say it sounds as though you think of "federal funds" or "state funds" as though they were manna from heaven.

Let's be realistic about "federal funds" and "state funds." These funds are our money. They are yours. It's the "taxpayers' funds." A great many people, apparently, don't relate "federal funds" or "state funds" to the state of their own pocketbooks. They don't realize that every cent must be paid one way or another by the taxpayers of today and of generations to come. And that term "taxpayers' funds" includes for continued study is the Practice of Prayer.

One cannot take one of the courses without the other, else his curriculum will be out of balance. In fact, a person takes the course on "Loving God," and passes the course on "Loving Your Fellow-Man" only if he applies what he has learned in his former studies.

Henry Van Dyke caught the spirit of the School of Christ when he wrote:

"The Lord is my Teacher; I shall not lose the way to wisdom. He leadeth me in the lowly path of learning. He prepareth a lesson for me every day. He findeth the clear foundation of instruction— Little by little he showeth me the beauty of truth."

The world is a great book that he has written. He turneth the leaves for me slowly; They are all inscribed with images and letters— His voice poureth light on the pictures and words.

Then am I glad when I perceive his meaning. He teacheth me by the hand to the hill-top of wisdom. In the valley, also, he walketh beside me. Yea, though my lesson be hard, it is not hopeless. For the Lord is very patient with his slow scholar. He will wait a while for my weakness— He will help me to read the truth through tears— Surely thou wilt enlighten me daily by joy and by sorrow. And lead me at last, O Lord, to the perfect knowledge of Thee."

A WISE MOTHER learns early not to say, "my offspring will never do that," because as sure as she says such a thing, she will just as surely eat her words. Wisdom hasn't come my way but I'm going to be wise and ask questions, not make statements. It is obvious to me that I probably will not even ask questions in a few short years. I'll just be real quiet.

ONE MOTHER was talking about Sunday movies. She said they were greatly preferred for her daughter, parking on a lonely country road. My question, "Does one have to make a choice of these two?"

Is there anything wrong in girls dating at home? Recently we visited friends whose daughter was entertaining a boy at her home. He had dinner there. I looked so wholesome to see the boys and girls at home with grown-ups. Of course, we older people didn't entertain them all night. We took off to our coffee pot and left them alone. But I was hoping the trend is more and more to the home for dates and not elsewhere.

DON'T YOUNG PEOPLE really want to feel that their parents are keeping pretty close tabs on them? Now I can imitate cats, dogs, lions and all kinds of stuff!"

government spending that it's "your money" — billions upon billions of it, collected in taxes.

WHEN A TOURIST spends the night in Statesboro and spends a dollar, 27 cents goes for food and refreshments, 22 cents goes for transportation, 21 cents goes for lodgings, 14 cents for retail purchases, 7 cents for theater and other amusement, 5 cents for tourist attractions, and 5 cents for laundry and miscellaneous service. That's how Nelson M. Shipp, Assistant Secretary of the Georgia Department of Commerce, the state's number one agency for promoting the tourist trade, who handles the department's tourist inquiries and correspondence, breaks down the tourist dollar.

my role have to be as my son grows older and the problem comes to be a very personal thing with me? Will I somehow be able to convince those who push this education issue that we too are concerned with the education of all our children? Can we convince the courts that to force so drastic a change in our educational plan is to flout the destruction of our whole system of public education?

PERHAPS WE MAY in time, be able to convince those who are concerned with the education of all our children? Can we convince the courts that to force so drastic a change in our educational plan is to flout the destruction of our whole system of public education?

How thankful we all should be that we live in an area which is deeply conscious of the needs of our youth. Let us all continue to work together in harmony for the welfare of all of our people as we send out the watchword, Where Nature Smiles and Progress Has the Right of Way.

Chapter VII - Installment 13

SECESSION SONG

The great political issue on which the South stood from 1845 to 1860 was "Secession." During these years secession came to be generally accepted by the South as the only means of preserving her institutions from the interference of the North. In 1860-1861 the Southern States, individually, seceded from the Federal Government and formed the Confederate States.

The cause of the secession was promoted and fanned into white heat in many ways. One of the methods of exciting Southerners to the cause was by song. On October 10, 1861, Hattie Davis who lived in Bulloch County, wrote a song which she called "Wait for the Waggon" for Miss Elizabeth Waters, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos W. Waters, and the mother of Mrs. H. A. Deal of RFD 2, Statesboro. The song ballad was subtitled "The Secession Song." Mrs. Deal has the original manuscript and the lyrics are as follows:

Wait for the waggon, the great Secession Waggon The South is our waggon and we'll all take a ride, Seceesion is our watchword, our rights we all demand, And to defend our firesides we pledge our heads and hands.

Wait for the waggon, the great Secession Waggon The South is our waggon and we'll all take a ride, Seceesion is our watchword, our rights we all demand, And to defend our firesides we pledge our heads and hands.

Preston to hold nominating convention here

Congressman Prince H. Preston has invited the Bulloch County friends to come to the county courthouse Friday morning for "the largest" First District nominating convention in history.

Mr. Preston, who won a decisive victory for a seventh consecutive term in last week's primary, said that as many as 400 to 500 delegates and guests are expected for the nominating convention activities.

I wish to extend a special invitation to my Bulloch friends to come to the convention business session beginning at 10:30 a. m. Friday at the Courthouse," he said. "On completion of the nominating business, I would like for them to join us at the Statesboro Recreation Center for barbeque."

John B. Spivey of Statesboro, who has served as chairman of each congressional convention since Mr. Preston was first elected in 1940, is expected to be named as chairman of the convention.

The list of speakers for nominating and seconding addresses had not been completed. The convention agenda was drawn up but was not completed at this writing.

Mr. Preston of Statesboro won a decisive primary victory last Wednesday over G. Elliott Hagan of Savannah, who was his opponent for two years ago also. The Statesboro Congressman carried 15 of the 18 counties in the district.

The Congressman has invited Mr. Hagan to name convention delegates from the three counties which the Sylvanian carried—Screven, Effingham and Treutlen.

In making the invitation to the loser, Mr. Preston said he was taking the action because he wanted "the nominating convention to be held in the highest legal form."

Fordham wins in close race with Ellis

In the only contested local race in the September 10 primary, Wiley B. Fordham, incumbent, won over John Paul Ellis by the narrow margin of 15 votes for a seat in the General Assembly. Bulloch went for Preston, Vandiver, Byrd, Hamilton, Cray, Wiggins.

Fordham polled 2,375 votes to 2,242 for Ellis in a hotly contested campaign. Ellis carried seven of the twelve precincts, but the Statesboro district gave Fordham a 324 majority.

Francis Allen, unopposed to succeed himself, received 4,645 votes for Ellis in a hotly contested campaign. Ellis carried seven of the twelve precincts, but the Statesboro district gave Fordham a 324 majority.

Blue Devils tie Savannah 0-0, play Jesup here Friday night

Statesboro high and Statesboro High each muffed one golden scoring opportunity here Friday night, and had to settle for a 0-0 tie.

The teams opened their 1958 season before a capacity crowd of 3,000 and left little doubt as to their respective defensive abilities. But both Coach Turp Spear of 2-AAA Savannah and Coach Ernest Teal of 2-A Statesboro expressed considerable disappointment over the offense.

Friday's game will be a case of "out of the frying pan into the fire" as far as any slacking off of tough competition is concerned. Jesup, Sept. 20, Region 2-A, will play the Blue Devils in Statesboro on Friday night. Jesup opened up last week with a 35-0 passing of Jeff Davis.
