More than a game

To Pete Rubbo, there is something more to the game of baseball than just being in the town and getting paid.

Young Rubbo played the last game of the season for the town team on May 14. He's now a senior at the Area High School Blue Devils.

Because of his notoriety as a baseball player, the Blue Devils won the championship and the town team's record book as a victory for Rubbo.

It was only last week that young Rubbo learned that a P. E. teacher at Blue Devils, who had been with the team for years, decided to step down.

With a school record book, he feels a sense of responsibility to the team.

This year, Rubbo has been working on the team's “book of records” and he's planning to make improvements.
