Coastal Empire group plans to meet here

"We have a three or four-month jump on other development groups in the Coastal Empire and I don't want to lose it," Statesboro Mayor William A. Bowen said at a meeting in Savannah on Wednesday, March 25.

Bowen, chairman of the area development group formed in Statesboro in February, brought together the group's executive committee at the Savannah Chamber of Commerce.

The South Carolina and Georgia members of the committee decided to request help from leading technical organizations in the two states to survey the economic resources of a 10-county area straddling the Savannah River.

Speaking for their areas were Bowen and J. Brantley Johnson of Statesboro, J. D. Kieckhefer of Greenville; Bernard Warsaw, merchant of Walterboro, S. C.; J. K. Boddiford, Sylva, N. C.; and J. W. S. Moore, chairman of the Savannah Chamber of Commerce served as secretary. Frank Hood of Georgia Power Company, took part as advisor.

Hood said, "I think you have the best setup out," referring to the progress made by groups in the state so far. A number are being formed. One moving fast on organizing now covers the Brunswick-Waycross area.

"The quicker we meet," on the survey planning, "the better the cohesion of the group," said Warsaw.

The executive committee has tentatively scheduled an April 8 meeting in Statesboro with Abt Massey, secretary of the Georgia Dept. of Commerce; J. W. Fanning of the University of Georgia Highway Dept.; L. S. Moody, recently appointed by President Eisenhower to a study committee on river basins; Col. Robert H. Barr of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers; Dr. Ken Wagner of Georgia Tech; and H. Guyton DeLoach of the Georgia Forestry Commission.

Mrs. E. L. Barnes says 'Welcome' to GFWC

History repeats itself and again the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs is holding a state convention in Statesboro on April 7-8-9.

As in 1941, Statesboro people are going "all out" to make this a memorable occasion. It would like to express my sincere thanks and deep appreciation to the presidents of the two local Women's Clubs and to all who are assisting in any way to make this a successful meeting.

It will be one of the highlights of my two years as president of the organization to have the clubwomen from all parts of the state meet the folks in my home town. It were a special pleasure to have those who were here in 1941 return and see the growth which has taken place in the town "Where Nature Smiles and Progress Has the Right of Way."

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the evening programs, which will be found elsewhere in this week's Herald.

Mr. Carl Bishop, president of the convention states that he expects a large attendance of visiting singers from every section of Georgia. He invites every lover of gospel music to come to Nevlis. Mr. Bishop invites those who are interested to come to Friendship Baptist Church northwest of Statesboro on Saturday night before, where there will be a Saturday night sing.

The Bulloch County Singing Convention will hold its first semi-annual meeting of 1959 on the first Sunday in April at Nevlis School auditorium.

First Baptist revival still in progress

Revival services are in progress at the First Baptist Church this week with Dr. Paul S. James of New York as the guest minister and Jack Buice as song leader.

The services will continue, twice daily, through Sunday night, April 5, except there will be no Saturday morning service.

There will be a service on Saturday night beginning at 8:00 p. m., with the emphasis on "Youth." The entire service will be planned with young people in mind. Special music for the service will be furnished by the song leader and the inspirational message will be given by Dr. James.

The revival began last Sunday with unusually large attendance upon all of the services. The Sunday School registered the second highest attendance on record for Easter.

Next Sunday, April 5, has been designated as High Attendance Sunday for both Sunday School and Training Union in the church. Jimmy Gunter, superintendent of the Sunday School announces that a goal of more than 800 has been set for Sunday School. The Training Union goal is 175, according to Carl Boyd, Director of the Training Union. Dr. James and Mr. Buice will conduct the services through next Sunday night.

The local radio station is broadcasting the services both morning and evening for the benefit of the shut-ins and others who may not be able to attend in person. The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of these services.

We welcome the delegates of GFWC

It was President James A. Garfield who said... "the most valuable gift which can be bestowed on women is something to do, which they can do well and worthily, and thereby maintain themselves."

And the presence of a large number of women in Statesboro on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, here to review their accomplishments of the past and plan accomplishments for the future, attest to the wisdom of the twentieth president of the United States.

More than 250 delegates of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs will meet here for their sixty-third annual convention on April 7-8-9.

It is particularly fitting that their convention should be held in Statesboro this year, for Mrs. E. L. Barnes, one of the city's outstanding citizens, is state president of the organization. It is not only a tribute to Mrs. Barnes but to the community in which she makes her home.

And we are proud that our community is to be host to the ladies of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs for three days. The city is yours while you are here. On behalf of the citizens and the business community, we say "Welcome." The city and all it offers are yours while you are here. We have a warm heart and a tender feeling for the ladies and want you to find joy and contentment while here for your deliberations which you design for the good of all Georgia.

In another section of this week's Bulloch Herald we have tried to present a picture of Statesboro and Bulloch County, its past and present. When you look around you while here you can see that we have sufficient reason to be extremely proud of our community. When you see us the three days you are here you will see us as we were last week, and will be next week—we did not "dress-up" for your visit. We want you to know us as we really are, and we want you to take home with you a pleasant memory of your visit here.

And so we say "WELCOME."

They answer the call

Thirty employees of Rockwell Statesboro Corporation answered the call for donors of blood when the Regional Bloodmobile made its regular visit here on Thursday of last week.

To us this is fine evidence of the extent to which the company has become a part of our community. That its management cooperate with the community in its responsibilities is to be commended. Every time that a call for support of a community project is made Rockwell answers in the manner which makes it very much a part of Statesboro and Bulloch County.

We're proud of them

On Thursday night of last week the Bulloch Herald, and the Robbins Packing Company were hosts to the members of the basketball team of Georgia Teachers College at a steak supper at Robbins Pond.

It did not take the statements made at the supper by Dr. Zach Henderson and Coach J. B. Seacore to convince us that the young men on the Professors' team represent a fine segment of our future citizenship.

Our observation of this group of young men satisfies us that the quality of athletes which are attracted by GTC is tops.

They ate like hungry young men are expected to eat, and they conducted themselves in a manner to do honor to the college. We are proud of them.

The Masters week

There are many special weeks for many special events and many special doings.

But to a golfer there is only one special week — "Masters Week" in Augusta which, this year, began yesterday and continues through Sunday of this week. There will be, in addition to the climax, the Masters Golf Tournament, dances, beauty contests, boxing, parades and tennis matches.

Augusta is a hospitable town and many golfers from Statesboro will be there for the big event.

Test yourself

So you blew your top when the city police destroyed your dog?

But before you blew your top, did you stop to figure out why it was necessary for the police to kill your dog?

Ask yourselves these three questions: "Did I have my dog vaccinated against rabies and did I have a city dog tag on the animal?"

"Did I keep him on a leash and was there someone holding the leash, or was the leash tied to a fixed object?"

"Did I keep my dog in my yard with a fence that prevented him from wandering around in the neighborhood?"

If the answer to any of these questions is "No," then you were violating the law which requires that you do these things in order to enjoy the privilege of keeping a dog.

No one wants to kill a dog which is being properly cared for under the prescribed regulations which are designed for the protection of citizens, even yourself and your family.

Rabies is a horrible disease. Three people are now being treated for this dread disease in Bulloch County. Every dog which is not treated for rabies becomes a potential carrier of the disease, and is dangerous to our community.

You owe it to yourself, your neighbor and to the citizens of our community to obey all laws which allow you to keep a dog at your home. If you do not, then you forfeit the right to protest if your dog is caught up in the continuing attempt to keep our city and its citizens safe from the dangerous hazard created by stray dogs or untreated dogs.

Oldest member of GFWC to be 94 December 5

Miss Bertha Heyman, West Point, Georgia, celebrated her 93 birthday on December 5, 1958. She holds the unique honor of being the oldest living member of her club. She was a charter member when the club was organized in 1888 and Federated in 1899. During the State Convention in 1958 she was honored as being a Continuous Member of her Club for over 50 years.

Miss Heyman has held every office in her own Club and she remembers when the Ninth Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs Convention was held in West Point, at which time she had a part in forming the plans to start the Tallulah Falls School in 1905. One of the main decisions, Miss Bertha says, made at this Convention was that all Club members help finance the school by contributing $1.00 per member. This $1.00 per member stayed the same until 1956, then raised to $2.13 and in 1958 to $3.25. Miss Heyman recalls that during those first years of the Tallulah Falls School all Clubs were urged to have special projects for the school. In 1909 the West Point Club was host to the Fourth District Meeting and turned over all money to Tallulah. It took form 1905 to 1909 to raise enough money to start the school. That's why we are all celebrating the Fifth Anniversary of the School, this year.

It took women like Miss Heyman, with vision, hard work and a great love for children, to accomplish the great task of building a living monument to the future generation, our TALLULAH FALLS SCHOOL.

Good management in the home, as well as on the farm, is the key to building and maintaining family security, points out Miss Hilda Daley, home management specialist, Agricultural Extension Service.

In 1929 the money earned by one hour of factory labor could buy 1.1 dozen eggs. In 1956, income from one hour's factory labor could purchase 3.3 dozen eggs, say economists at the Agricultural Extension Service.

J. J. Lancaster, economist-farm management, Agricultural Extension Service, says good records do not just happen. They result from a farmer's conscious effort to keep abreast of his business.

It Seems to Me...

For the past several weeks we have been talking about those phases of community living which go into the making of a better community. We have discussed very briefly the role played by our schools, our churches and our working conditions in the makeup of our community. In this column we complete our picture as we point out the tremendous importance of good homes and for adequate planning for the wise use of our leisure.

IN EVERY SECTION of our county there is adequate evidence that our people possess a keen sense of home and of their homes. In the rural areas, in the small towns and here in Statesboro the way we build our homes seems to point out to the visitor that here in this area folks are building in a permanent way as if they are confident that they will live the whole of their lives.

Most of our homes are well kept with the land areas around them spilling out the type of people who live in them. Right now the yards around our homes are ablaze in a mass of color, showing off a welcome into our hearts the joys of spring and our planning to get away from the pressures and problems of the workday and in some way refresh our bodies and our minds in order that we can return to work rested in body and in spirit.

If you are one of those who does not yet know and understand that your recreation plays in your life then you would be wise to talk with someone who can help you recognize your schedule and work into it some time for recreation.

IT DOES NOT matter how wise you are, how important your career is, how much money you make or how fine your family is. You need recreation just as much as you need the bread which sustains you and if you neglect this phase of your living then you are running a very dangerous risk to your health.

Here in Bulloch County you have wonderful opportunities to take part in many recreational activities. You are fortunate that these opportunities are available to you. You need not be rich or poor to take advantage of the privileges which are yours.

THE FISHING, the gardening, your hobbies, boating, sports, reading, family recreation, all of these are available to you at nominal cost. The only real price you have to pay for them is the finding of the time to make them a part of your life.

You will be wise to think on these things.

Rains continue to hold up planting in Stilson and surrounding area

By Mrs. W. H. Morris

Rains during the week-end have again slowed the farmers down from planting. During the past week some of the farmers had begun planting. They planted a little by "boggling" at each end of the field and skipping over the wet places. For this week-end they will have to wait several days before they can continue their planting.

At Easter Sunrise services on Sunday morning there were a good many wearing winter coats or spring coats. It was rather cool at 6 o'clock a.m. however a good many folks at the Todd Beasley spent Saturday night visiting his brother, Hubert Beasley, and Mrs. Beasley in Chatham City.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Beasley Sr. had as guests during the weekend Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Beasley and two children of Charleston, S. C., Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Coe, and Mrs. Grace of Savannah, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Blitch and family of Savannah, Mr. and Mrs. Felton Blitch and family of Ellabell.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Boen of Guyton visited Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Shurling here last Saturday. They also attended the Easter picnic at the Stilson Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Coleman Miller returned from the Bulloch County hospital last Friday. Friends wish her a speedy recovery.

This Week's Meditation

LAWRENCE E. HOUSTON

Life begins at Easter. Wind, cold, and rain could not dampen the spirit of worshippers this past Easter Day. From all reports every church in our community had excellent attendance and a day of high inspiration.

Of course, we had some high coverage of the Easter celebration. Editors struck the key note of the resurrection; even the cartoon Easter Sunday portrayed the empty cross as the hope of mankind.

WHAT NOW? Easter is over, and life seems to be on the way to settling down once again. Herein lies the tragedy! We celebrate Easter as if we can pick it up or put it down handle it without even letting it rub on us. This, those early Christians could not do. The truth of Jesus' resurrection set their affire and they busied themselves telling the news to the world of their day.

Once, in the Book of Acts, they are referred to as those "who would turn the world upside-down." One commentator said that the disciples were turning the world upside-down because it was upside-down! Life began at Easter for those who discovered their Lord was alive.

IT BEGINS for us, too, when we permit the sterling fact of the Resurrection to confront us with its deeper meanings.

In fact, it can stare us full in the face fifty-two times a year if we will let it. Every Sunday is the Lord's Day.

There is confusion in the minds of some people concerning the difference between those religious groups that worship on Saturday, while other groups observe Sunday as their day of worship. Actually, the Sabbath, spoken of in the Bible, corresponds with the Saturday on our weekly calendar. Christians observe Sunday in commemoration of Christ's triumph over the grave.

Dr. R. W. Dale, famous British preacher of the last century, had his congregation to sing on a November morning the hymn, "Christ is risen: Hallelujah!" When a visitor expressed his surprise to the preacher, Dr. Dale said, "I would want my people to know the glorious fact that Christ is alive, and to rejoice over it, and Sunday is the day on which he rose."

Ladies' Night at Rotary Club is Monday night

Gerald Groover, president of the Statesboro Rotary Club, announced Monday that the annual ladies' night celebration of the Statesboro club will be Monday evening, April 6, at 8 o'clock, at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen.

Dean Paul Carroll is chairman of the program. He stated that a valuable prize will be given away immediately after the invocation to the wife of one of the Rotarians. "However, she will have to be present in order to win it," he added. He explained that this is a gimmick in order to make sure that all Rotarians and their Rotary wives get to the banquet "on time."

Dentists to meet on April 9

Members of the Southeast Dental Association will meet here on Thursday, April 9, according to Dr. J. H. Shumate Jr. of Brunswick, president. The meeting will be held at the Forest Heights Country Club where a luncheon will be served.

While the dentists of the Southeast district of Georgia are meeting here on Thursday, April 9, members of the Dental Auxiliary will meet at a luncheon at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen when Dr. Jim Park of Georgia Teachers will be the guest speaker. Before the luncheon Dr. Park will conduct the members of the Dental Auxiliary on a tour of the college. Mrs. Bill Drew of Brunswick is president of the Auxiliary.

NO TRUMP BRIDGE CLUB

On Thursday afternoon March 26, Mrs. Jack Smith was hostess to the No Trump bridge club at her home on East Gray Street. Violet, plucked from her own yard, combined with potted geraniums decorated the living room.

The hostess served a dessert course and coffee.

Those winning prizes received costume jewelry. Mrs. Paul Franklin Jr. made club high. Mrs. Jim Redding scored high for visitors. Mrs. Lamar Trappell won cut and Mrs. Gus Sorrier was low.

DONALDSON FAMILY REUNION ON EASTER SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston and daughters, Misses Cynthia and Mary Emmye Johnston, made Easter a joyous occasion as they were hosts at a reunion of the Donaldson family at a lovely dinner served buffet style at their home on Park Avenue.

Throughout the rooms, old-fashioned and modernistic arrangements of stock, jonquils, daffodils, azaleas and dogwood highlighted the particular distinction of the home. The dining table was centered with a white cart filled with pots of spring flowers pulled by an Easter bunny. On the sun porch a wicker duck was filled with spring flowers, accessorized by Easter eggs.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. Pete Donaldson of Tifton, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Donaldson and their two children, Alken, S. C., Dr. and Mrs. Bob Durden and children, Molly and Frances, and Bob's mother, Mrs. Virgil Durden, all of Duke University, Durham, N. C.

BETTER LIVESTOCK

Increased demand for meat animal products seems assured, say animal husbandmen for the Agricultural Extension Service. Reasons they cite are: industrialization of Georgia and the Southeast, increasing population, and rising family income. The goal of the Extension livestock program, they say, is two fold — to increase numbers and to improve quality of livestock.

Family Life Specialist Miss Audrey Morgan, Agricultural Extension Service, points out that going steady too early can prevent teen-agers from broadening social contacts which they need before they really decide on a life partner.

When you stop and think about these three simple ways to fall, it seems ridiculous that falls head the list of all home accidents. It's ridiculous because these falls could have been prevented so easily. It's not ridiculous because the chance of being hurt, or even fatally injured, is involved in every fall.

The way to stop such falls is to look over your farm buildings and grounds and the home with a critical eye for anything which might cause a fall. Then eliminate any hazards you find.

Get a set of sturdy stairways. Avoid using makeshift climbing aids such as stacked boxes or chairs. Use a ladder, and choose one sufficient to do the job. Keep ladders in good repair.

Prohibit extra riders on moving equipment. Discourage children from climbing on machinery, buildings, in trees, or on other unsafe places.

In other words, whether your legs are short or long, keep your feet by watching your step.

PRE-EMERGENCE WEED CONTROL IN CORN

Simazine is a new herbicide that has shown good results as a pre-emergent weed control. Applied at the rate of two pounds per acre, in twelve-inch bands, Simazine will control broadleaf weeds and grasses without harm to the corn plant throughout the growing season.

Simazine is applied after corn is planted and before the plants emerge. A rain is necessary within ten days or two weeks for best results. Because Simazine is a wettable powder material, thorough and continuous mixing is important for best results.

If any of you farmers want to try some of this material, I would suggest that you try some on a limited acreage until more is known about it. Good results were obtained with Simazine tested in 1956 and 1957. Poor weed control obtained with it in 1958 was attributed to a prolonged period of dry weather.

WCS TO BE HOST TO STATESBORO BPW

The Nevils WCS will be following application.

A broadcast application of Simazine will cost about $12 per acre. Application in twelve-inch bands will cost about $4 per acre.

Low volatile ester 2,4-D has been used successfully by some farmers for pre-emergent weed control in corn, when applied at the rate of one to two pounds per acre in five to twenty gallon of water. Corn seed should be planted at least one and a half inches deep to avoid seedling injury. Excessive rain will leach the 2,4-D material deeper into the soil, sometimes causing seedling damage.

2,4-D is also adapted for post-emergent weed control. Apply it as a directed spray to the base of the plant after corn is twelve inches tall. This will control broadleaf weeds. For post-emergent weed control one half pound acid equivalent of low volatile ester 2,4-D is recommended.

National Safety Council says there are only three ways to fall

By ROY POWELL
County Agent

WATCH YOUR STEP

Legend has it that Abraham Lincoln once remarked that a man's legs should be long enough to reach the ground. Mr. Lincoln probably was implying that so long as a man keeps both feet on the ground, he isn't likely to fall flat on his face.

Speaking of falling, which is what I'm trying to get at, have you ever wondered how many ways there are to fall? It seems to me that one might make quite a list of ways to fall, but the National Safety Council says there are actually only three.

First, you can fall from something high or something low. For example, you can fall off a ladder, a chair, or a scaffold. Second, you can fall over something like a misplaced tool, the garden hose, or a toy. The third kind of fall is on a slippery substance. When you spill grease or oil or water on the floor and do not stop to wipe it up, you or someone else may slip and fall.

When you stop and think about these three simple ways to fall, it seems ridiculous that falls head the list of all home accidents. It's ridiculous because these falls could have been prevented so easily. It's not ridiculous because the chance of being hurt, or even fatally injured, is involved in every fall.

The way to stop such falls is to look over your farm buildings and grounds and the home with a critical eye for anything which might cause a fall. Then eliminate any hazards you find.

Mayor Bill Bowen welcomes the ladies here for GFWC convention

As mayor of Statesboro and for the citizens of the City of Statesboro I wish to say "Welcome." While you are in Statesboro the town is yours. You will find our people friendly and warm-hearted—just like the people in your home town. If there is anything you need and can't find someone at hand to help you, call the police department. They are a group of fine young men anxious to help make your stay here something pleasant to remember.
We are extremely proud that you have selected Statesboro as your convention city for 1959. We are as proud of your president, Mrs. E. L. Barnes, as we know you are, and when she says give the city to the members of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs we are happy to do as she says.
Here is Statesboro we love the ladies, knowing that they are the ones who really are responsible for the beautiful community in which we live. And when an opportunity like this one comes along we want to do all we can to manifest that love and devotion to them.
May all your deliberations designed for the good of Georgia be successful. May all your plans for the future of our great state be realized during the forthcoming year.

Sincerely,
W. A. (BILL) BOWEN
Mayor of the City of Statesboro.
