Student Loan Program Explained

Georgia Teachers College is one of many institutions of higher learning participating in the National Defense Student Loan Program, one of the provisions of the National Defense Education Act enacted into law in 1958 by the 85th Congress of the United States.

1. Student loans available at Georgia Teachers College under this act are for persons regularly enrolled or admitted as full-time students. Beginning freshmen or transfer students may apply as soon as they have been properly admitted by the Registrar for full-time study.
2. The deadline for an application for any given quarter is thirty (30) days prior to the date of registration for that quarter. Applications may be filed on a quarterly or yearly basis. Application for full quarter must be made by Aug. 19.
3. First preference is given to students who are planning to teach in the elementary or secondary public schools. Second preference is given to students studying in the fields of science, mathematics, foreign languages, or engineering. Third preference is given to all other categories or able, needy students.
4. Loans are intended for "outstanding students" who cannot come to college without financial aid for students who cannot stay enrolled at the college without some financial assistance.
5. The college, acting through a President's Committee, must analyze carefully the financial need of the applicant and grant no more in loans than is actually needed. Thus, valid statement of the financial resources of the student and parent or guardian is required.
6. Proper endorsements are required under Georgia law for applicants under 21 years of age.
7. Interest on the loan is 3%, beginning one year after the student graduates or leaves school.
8. Repayment of the loan begins one year following termination of full-time study.
9. For students who enter public elementary or secondary school teaching, half of all they have borrowed is forgiven or, to put it another way, is converted retroactively into a scholarship. This conversion takes place at the rate of 10% of the total loan per year of teaching, for a maximum period of five years.
10. Application forms may be secured on request to the address given above.

Tracy Rivers Signs at GTC; Two Sport Star

Georgia Teachers College athletic coaches have recruited an outstanding player in each of our two major sports—but oddly enough only one scholarship is an outstanding player in each of involved.

Rivers is a basketball forward and a baseball pitcher.

A right-hander, the 6-4, 200 pound Rivers posted a 7-0 record on the mound, striking out 99, and giving up only six earned runs in 63 innings.

Soil stamps to go on sale Aug. 26

Cooperators of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District are among those honored by issuance of the world's first soil conservation stamp, Paul NeSmith said today.

Mr. NeSmith said the stamp, to be issued August 26 at Rapid City, S. D., is a "tribute to the local district, which has been operating since 1940.

"The 4-cent stamp is in recognition of the farmers who are demonstrating good soil stewardship," Mr. NeSmith said.

"It is a salute to their soil conservation efforts, and to the professional workers of State and Federal government who help them."

The stamp will go on sale August 26 at Rapid City, S. C., at the annual meeting of the Soil Conservation Society of America, a professional organization, Mr. NeSmith said.

On the following day, the stamp will go on sale at other post offices throughout the country, including those at Statesboro, Brooklet, Stilton, Port, Register and Collegeboro.

Mr. NeSmith said local observance of the issuance of the Soil Conservation stamp is being planned.

120 Days Around the World on The Flying Hawk...

BY GUY H. WELLS, STATESBORO, GEORGIA

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of accounts written by Guy Wells of Statesboro about the trip he and Mrs. Wells made around the world aboard the freighter "The Flying Hawk." They left the U. S. on February 26, 1959 and returned July 7, 1959.

EARLY CIVILIZATION
Recently I wrote an article on the contributions of the various countries to what we call civilization. The Greeks gave us our first ideas of democracy; the Jews gave us the Bible and Christianity; the Phoenicians gave us our alphabet—the ABC's; the Arabs gave us the numerals we now use in counting and bookkeeping. Of course, many countries gave us more than one thing. England has given us the Industrial Revolution along with tea drinking.

We perhaps owe more to the Egyptians and Babylonians than we are prone to admit. The historians say the Jews were a savage, heathen, tribal people before they lived in Egypt and were later carried captive into Babylon. The idea of the immortality of the soul was not accepted before the Jews came to Egypt. The Jews had not learned to keep records and produce their literature until their years of captivity in Babylon. The first five books of the Bible, the Pentateuch, were written after their return from Babylon and bear many evidences, says the Biblical scholars, to the things contained in Babylonian writings of that ancient day.

H. G. Wells in his monumental volumes of world history says the Jews went into Babylon a crude savage group and returned to Palestine a civilized people.

The Romans learned much of their culture from the Greeks whom they captured and made slaves. Likewise the barbarians who are most of our ancestors learned from the Mediterranean people, whom they overran and captured.

As I sit on the deck of the ship and write this, we are sailing near the coast of Burma, and I ask myself: "What had the Burmese given us which we now find most useful?"

I immediately realized it was the hen whose eggs most of us eat for breakfast each morning. Historians say the fowl was developed by these people and spread to the other countries. No mention of the chicken or fowl is found in the Bible until Jesus' day.

In Byblos in Lebanon (old Phoenicia) I witnessed the remains of various stages of civilization. The excavators have left the specimens on the grounds after excavations, so any one with much intelligence and imagination can rethink how early man thought and lived in the different periods, Paleolithic, Neolithic, Bronze Age, and Iron Ages.

Byblos is an old city of Lebanon that has existed continuously since the beginning of civilization and perhaps for centuries earlier. There are traces of the several walls that once enclosed the city, that were destroyed, torn down, and rebuilt by the victorious people. There are traces of the early Neolithic village houses the people lived in.

Important advances in concrete pavement design give you an expected fifty years and more of superb driving pleasure from every mile of modern concrete highway!

For one thing, this is continuous-laid concrete... with only tiny joints sawed into the pavement. You can't hear or feel them. You get the smoothest, quietest ride ever. And, there is "air entrapment." Billions of tiny bubbles trapped in the concrete prevent any surface roughening from severe weather or de-icing materials. Specially designed, granular subbases strengthen and support the pavement—keep it flat and smooth-riding. In every state in the nation, highway engineers are using one or more of these new ideas to give you safer, smooth-riding roads. Write for free new booklet on modern highways.

Rites held for Mrs. Faircloth on August 10

Mrs. Rena B. Faircloth, 66, of 2211 Spring Street, West Savannah, died here late Saturday night, August 8, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Faircloth was a member of the Jasper Springs Baptist Church. She is survived by her husband, Lovett S. Faircloth of Savannah; two sons, Ches B. Faircloth of Philadelphia, Pa. and Robert S. Faircloth of Savannah; five sisters, Mrs. J. Harry Lee of Leesfield, Mrs. J. C. Smullyan of Atlanta, Mrs. George Simmons, Mrs. Mary DeLoach and Mrs. Joe C. Brown of Statesboro; two brothers, Rufus G. Funeral services for James Hines Donaldson, 67, who died in Blackshear, Ga., on Wednesday, Aug. 12, were held Friday at the Presbyterian Church by the Rev. Jack Ward.

Mr. Donaldson, a native of Bulloch County, Ga., came to Blackshear in 1900. He was a retired officer of the Blackshear Manufacturing Co., a member of the Presbyterian Church, a past master of the Blackshear Masonic Lodge. He served in the army during both World Wars and retired as a captain.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Emily Zirkle Donaldson, Blackshear, one daughter, Miss Virginia Donaldson, Blackshear, two sons, James H. Donaldson, Jr., Richmond, Va., and Benjamin Lewis Donaldson, Blackshear, three sisters, Mrs. J. A. Humphrey, Chattahoochee, Fla., Miss Abbie Donaldson Blackshear, and Mrs. Mary Hart, Tifton, two brothers, David D. Donaldson, Atlanta and Joseph Donaldson, Blackshear.

Mrs. Avola W. Callaway, clothing specialist, Agricultural Extension Service, says colored shoes lighter than a costume draw attention to the feet. It is wise, therefore, to be sure you want to accent your feet, when you select such shoes.

The Bulloch Herald Georgia's Probation set up leads Southeastern states, Board reports

STATESBORO, Georgia, Thursday, August 20, 1959

ATLANTA, Georgia—Georgia's Statewide Probation System is leading the Southeast in the total number of probationers being supervised, according to figures released recently by the State Board of Probation.

William H. Kimbrough, Chairman of the Board of Probation, said that Georgia's System ranks first in the total number under probation supervision and that "we lead the Southeast, if not the entire nation, in maintaining the lowest probation revocation rate."

Georgia's 8,450 offenders presently under supervision is a greater number than any other state in this region, according to latest available records. Quoting from figures recently compiled by Travis Stewart, Director of Probation, Kimbrough said that as of May 30, Georgia had 8,450 under supervision as compared to South Carolina's 4,118; Florida's 5,296; Alabama's 4,367; North Carolina's 4,223; Virginia's 3,327; Kentucky's 1,395; and Mississippi's 1,363.

Department records further show that the number under daily probation supervision is steadily increasing each month and that 14,500 people have been recruited to remain at home as long as 120 days before reporting to "boot" camp.

During his 12 weeks of Marine recruit training, Aldrich is introduced to close-order drill, land-to-hand combat, judo, discipline, military courtesy, rifle and pistol marksmanship, and the history and traditions of the Marine Corps.

After recruit training, Aldrich leaves for Camp Lejeune, N. C., to join an Infantry Training Regiment. It is here the new Marines learn the tactics and "know-how" that enables an Infantryman to serve to protect American interests all over the globe.

Following his graduation from ITR, the Statesboro Marine will return home for a 20-day leave before reporting to a Marine Corps technical school or to one of the 196 Marine detachments here and abroad.

Before entering the service, Aldrich graduated from Statesboro High School in May. He played football for two years, earning an athletic award in his senior year.

He was employed by Brannen's Tobacco Warehouse in Statesboro.

Jaycees "Operation Dog" is successful

"Operation Dog" was a success. And Mr. Dent Newton, chairman of the operation, says "thanks" to the people of Statesboro for their complete cooperation.

"Operation Dog" was a project of the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce in which they spent an entire week taking a census of dogs, their owners, and determining if the dogs had been treated for rabies or not.

The operation was prompted by a growing apathy and indifference of the public to the law which requires all dogs to be registered and treated. Our local health department was concerned about the possibilities of an outbreak of rabies in the city and county due to the great number of dogs which have not been treated against rabies.

The Jaycees, a group of young men who are not given to backing off from a problem which concerns the community of which they are part, set up "Operation Dog." From Monday, August 10, through Saturday, August 15, these young men knocked at doors, rang doorbells, sought out homeowners, talked to neighbors to check on the dog population of Statesboro.

Mr. Newton stated yesterday that figures are now in. A complete report will be made to the city authorities and to the health department and to the public. We join Mr. Newton and the Jaycees in commending the citizens of our community for their wholehearted cooperation in this project. It was not an easy job. It took time and the weather was hot. But the Jaycees did the job and for it they deserve the highest commendation of all. It was a fine thing they did.

Play it safe

It will not be very long before the homeowner in our community will begin thinking about getting his furnace ready for the coming winter. Many will not think about it at all unless his furnace service man or the dealer from whom he bought the heating system reminds him.

Better Business Bureaus are warning homeowners to watch out for the "furnace crook."

We pass the warning on.

If a man comes to your home and represents himself as a furnace repair man from the company who sold you your heater, make sure he's what he says he is. According to U.S. News and World Report, a new wrinkle in the racket is the "furnace crook" learns that a home has been sold. He knocks at the door and introduces himself to the new owner as representing the company which used to service the furnace when the former owner lived there. "It's time for a check," he'll say, and head for the furnace unless you stop him. Once at the furnace, he'll find a lot of repairs are needed—"maybe $600 worth." Or he may even go so far as to argue that a whole new heating system is needed.

If you sign anything, you're stuck, whether your furnace needs anything or not.

View with suspicion anyone you do not know. Check with the local companies who deal with heating systems. This way you'll be safe.

Preston commended

We commend Congressman Prince Preston for the stand he took and for voting for the Landrum - Griffin Labor Reform Bill which passed the House of Representatives in Congress last week.

The Landrum-Griffin bill spells out a union member's rights—"to vote, to free speech, to sue, to fair dues and to even-handed rules of discipline."

Congressman Preston says that the bill is a good one and that it will plug up the legal loopholes through which much of the labor movement fell under the evil influences of corrupt labor bosses.

TAKEN FOR A RIDE

This Week's Meditation

By Lawrence E. Huston Jr.

"MORTMAIN" It may require little strength for a bridegroom to carry his beloved over the threshold, but it is another matter if she is unconscious in his arms. The difference, of course, is "dead weight." If a person is fully conscious, then they tend to provide some bit of lift.

I READ THE other day of a term in law known as "mortmain." It means "dead hand." Primarily the term had bearing in ecclesiastical courts, but in another sense, it signifies the dead hand of the past that rests upon society to its hurt.

If I were asked to name the "great agony of our time," I think it would be the reluctance with which we exchange old ideas and customs for new ones. Jet-streams in the sky, and missiles blasting off the launching pads at Cape Canaveral assure us that the space age is here. Commercialized jet air travel drives home the truth that the world is just one big backyard. Peoples all over the earth are struggling for "their place in the sun." Change, change, and more change seems to be the order of the day. It has never been more true that new occasions teach new duties, time makes ancient good uncouth.

They must appear still and onward, who would keep abreast of truth. "Mortmain"—dead hand upon the present and the future. The counsel of a South African leader is appropriate: Take all the good from the past and add it to good use. Apply this idea to religion. The Christian faith has been hindered by the "dead hand" of the past upon it. Of course, the Gospel is changeless and eternal, but we have so often refused to change our methods of presenting it to the world. Take the matter of a positive or negative presentation. A poll among the average American would show that many think religion should be a negative force. The type of question that plagues the average minister is: "Can I do this and be a Christian?" Jesus saw the folly of this approach when he took the negative ideas of religion and absorbed them into a positive command. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, and thy neighbor as thyself." This is the offering which our faith needs in these tough times. Without it, our religion may be caught in the restraining grip of "mortmain."

IF YOU OBSERVE a prime requisite on how to get along with your fellowman and are a good listener, some people will never stop talking. If you are a good listener and your fellowman is a good listener then there will be peace and quiet, a condition very much to be desired.

A DIFFICULT decision to make is one which involves the giving up of an old bent-up, but very comfortable hat or the discarding of a pair of friendly and comfortable pair of shoes.

NOW THAT WE are in our "fifties" and drifting toward our "sixties," we suffer from what a friend of ours calls "the five-minute interval." A name escapes us and we ask for five minutes to recall it.

WHEN WE'RE ALONE with a blank sheet of paper in our typewriter, we get a clear idea of our mental poverty.

WE JOIN the man who writes a monthly letter for the Royal Bank of Canada. He makes a plea for "reading profitably." He has determined that the average reader can read an average page book at the rate of 300 words a minute. That means 4,500 words in fifteen minutes. If he reads fifteen minutes a day, in a year he will have read 1,642,500 words. Which figures out to be about twenty books of average length. So if you begin today and pick up a book and read in it for just fifteen minutes, then tomorrow another fifteen minutes, and so on until August 20, 1960, you will have read twenty books. The satisfaction gained thereby is tremendous.

RELATIVES AND friends of Mr. Josh Hagin are invited to a birthday dinner to be given for him at the regular meeting of the day, August 23. A basket lunch will be spread at 1:00 o'clock.

4-H CORN PROJECTS

According to W. H. Gurley, agronomist, Agricultural Extension Service, more 4-H Club corn projects are managed by members in Georgia than in any other state. The average in Georgia is about 15,000 corn projects a year. The first corn contest for young boys held in Georgia was in Newton county in 1905.

CARE OF HEIFERS

During hot, dry weather when even the best pastures start to fade, heifers need some help from their owners, declares H. K. Welch, Jr., dairyman, Agricultural Extension Service. A hay rack filled with good quality hay will do the job. It may be necessary to feed some grain at this time, too.

Poultry Institute scheduled at Rock Eagle 4-H Club Center Aug. 24-27

By Roy Powell, County Agent, Georgia Poultry Institute

The Fourth Annual Georgia Poultry Institute will be coming up soon-August 24-27, at the Rock Eagle 4-H Club Center. It's certainly something you poultrymen shouldn't miss. There'll be many fine speakers and an organized recreation program will be held daily.

This event is being held at Rock Eagle for the fourth year; so there are already many people to testify on its success. He's what Julius F. Bishop, Chairman, Board of Directors of the Georgia Poultry Improvement Association recently said about this meeting to his fellow association members:

"I feel that asking someone to attend the Poultry Institute at Rock Eagle is comparable to asking or urging a child to take candy that you are offering him. If you will just attend once, then I am reasonably sure that you and your family will enjoy it so much that no one will ever have to ask you to make any extra effort to attend this meeting. Let me emphasize that this is an ideal set-up for the family. There are adequate accommodations, good food, and lots of entertainment for the youngsters and wives. All of this can be had at most reasonable prices."

Even by most careful selection, you can't be correct all the time. However by studying and using DHA records, the odds for correct selection are greatly increased. In good matings and proper selection of replacements will provide the type of cow that responds to improved feeding and management practices.

PIMIMENTO PEPPERS How well are your pimiento peppers doing? Extension specialist made a survey just recently to find out how this crop was doing in Georgia. They found out that pimiento plants in Georgia this year are maturing about ten days earlier than did the 1958 crop. The "crotch set" of fruit was good and the plants averaged about 1.5 mts. that were one and a half diameter or larger. An average of 11 fruits less than an inch in diameter were set in addition to the large fruits. The number of fruits set indicates we'll have a larger crop than last year.

Fall Calving The "fall calving" season is

At this time many of the pimiento plants would profit from a side dressing of nitrogen if this has not already been done. Apply 1 to 32 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre. On very sandy soils use from 150 to 200 pounds of a 14-14-14 fertilizer per acre. This side dressing will help to increase fruit size and yield per acre. Also, pimiento plants with adequate nitrogen are usually less susceptible to disease.

A fungus that has attacked some pimiento plants this year is the Southern stem rot. This fungus which will kill the plants requires a fairly hot temperature for growth. After the leaves of infected plants are pulled, the plants soon die. If the plant is pulled, a cottony mold-like growth usually can be seen near the soil line of the plant. Control measures for this disease include plowed rotation, flat shallow cultivation which avoid moving excess soil to the plants during the growing season, and the use of pentachloro-nitrobenzene (Torracolor) in transplant water at time of setting the crop.

MRS. JAMES BRYAN JOHNSON JR., whose wedding at Vallejo, Calif. was a social event of August 2, Mrs. Johnson is the former Miss Elaine McCauley of Vallejo, California. Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson Sr. of Statesboro. The newly-wed couple will live at the Walnut Park Plaza Hotel Apartments in Philadelphia.

MISS PENNY RIMES WEDS
MR. GEORGE CARROLL HAGIN ON AUGUST 16
Miss Penny Rimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Penton Rimes of Statesboro, became the bride of George Carroll Hagin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Hagin, at 4 p.m. August 16 at the Statesboro Primitive Baptist Church.

Elder T. Roe Scott performed the ceremony.
Wedding music was presented by Miss Irene Groover, organist, and Hal Waters, soloist, who sang "I Love Thee" and "Because."
The church was decorated with Commadore fern and aretha palms and a massive arrangement of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and pom poms, flanked by similar arrangements, interspersed with seven-branched candelabra with lighted tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a cocktail length wedding gown of white silk organza with a sabrina neckline and a short sleeve basque with lavish embroidery covering the front of the bodice and encircling the wide hem of the bouffant skirt. Her two-tiered shoulder-length veil of imported illusion was attached to a band of sequins with side curls. She carried a white satin prayer book with a white orchid and purple throat, cascaded with white satin streamers. For "something old" she wore a lavalere with a diamond pendant worn by the groom's maternal grandmother.

Miss Rose Franklin, maid of honor and only attendant, wore a spring violet silk organza cocktail dress frothed with a deeper tone of satin and tied in a butterfly bow. Her hair-shell hat was of iridescent sequins in violet tones. Her shoes were dyed to match. She carried a nosegay of lavender stems.

George C. Hagin Sr. was his son's best man.
The usher-groomsman were Jerry Hagin, brother of the groom, Ralph Turner, Marvin Rimes and Mike Wommack, of Adrian.

Mrs. Rimes chose for her daughter's wedding a sheath of chantilly-type lace over taffeta with a sabrina neckline in a delicate sea-jewel shade. Her hat was a matching shell type with bows a silk organza. Her accessories were matching. She wore a purple orchid corsage.
The groom's mother wore a dress of emerald green peau de soie with a matching feather hat and shoes. She wore long white gloves and her corsage was a purple threated orchid.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the social room of the church.
Mrs. Chalmers Franklin greeted the guests at the first door and Mrs. H. L. Atwell was at the second door where they were met by Mrs. F. J. Williams, who introduced them to the receiving line, composed of the bride's mother, Mrs. Hagin; the bride and groom and Miss Rose Franklin, Mrs. Harry Harrington of Savannah was at the end of the line.

Miss Patricia Edging kept the bride's register at a table, beautifully decorated with a victorian arrangement of yellow mums, and greenery in a cupid composite.

Mrs. Alton Brannen, Mrs. Hubert Parrish, Miss Wenonah Trappell, Judy Rimes and Hecky Wommack were assisted in serving by Misses Barbara Anderson, Glenda Banks, Ramona Lee, Pat Lamb, Amelia Brown and Collette Collins.
Mingling with the guests were Mrs. C. D. Collins, Mrs. John Wommack of Adrian and Miss Lois Trappell of Savannah, Deborah Hagin and Patti Humnicutt of Savannah passed out the napkins.

The bride's table was covered with a beautiful hand-embroidered cut work cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake embossed in white with delicate yellow roses on each tier, with a white wedding bell on top. On each end of the table were silver candelabra with yellow tapers entwined with yellow carnations. The punch bowl was on a small table, overlaid with a linen cut work cloth and decorated with white pom poms and greenery. Mrs. E. G. Parrish cut the cake. Mrs. Floyd Brannen was at the door as the guests left. Mrs. Emma Kelly played during the reception.

Hostesses at the bride's home where the gifts were displayed were Mrs. Chas. Simmons and Mrs. Emerson Brannen.
For traveling the bride chose a slate gray s'ender sheath with bolero effect centered by a cummerbund in Stunze's silk miniature check with matching accessories. She wore the orchid from her bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Hagin will spend their honeymoon at Jekyll Island. Upon their return they will reside at No. 10 West Grady street, in Statesboro.

introduced them to the receiving line, composed of the bride's mother, Mrs. Hagin; the bride and groom and Miss Rose Franklin, Mrs. Harry Harrington of Savannah was at the end of the line.
Miss Patricia Edging kept the bride's register at a table, beautifully decorated with a victorian arrangement of yellow mums, and greenery in a cupid composite.

Mrs. Alton Brannen, Mrs. Hubert Parrish, Miss Wenonah Trappell, Judy Rimes and Hecky Wommack were assisted in serving by Misses Barbara Anderson, Glenda Banks, Ramona Lee, Pat Lamb, Amelia Brown and Collette Collins.
Mingling with the guests were Mrs. C. D. Collins, Mrs. John Wommack of Adrian and Miss Lois Trappell of Savannah, Deborah Hagin and Patti Humnicutt of Savannah passed out the napkins.

The bride's table was covered with a beautiful hand-embroidered cut work cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake embossed in white with delicate yellow roses on each tier, with a white wedding bell on top. On each end of the table were silver candelabra with yellow tapers entwined with yellow carnations. The punch bowl was on a small table, overlaid with a linen cut work cloth and decorated with white pom poms and greenery. Mrs. E. G. Parrish cut the cake. Mrs. Floyd Brannen was at the door as the guests left. Mrs. Emma Kelly played during the reception.

Hostesses at the bride's home where the gifts were displayed were Mrs. Chas. Simmons and Mrs. Emerson Brannen.
For traveling the bride chose a slate gray s'ender sheath with bolero effect centered by a cummerbund in Stunze's silk miniature check with matching accessories. She wore the orchid from her bouquet.

But now, as he must think back over the season, he can say with a certain degree of satisfaction that "it's been a pretty good season."

The Statesboro tobacco market led the Georgia-Florida tobacco belt in total pounds sold during the twenty-two day season which opened on July 23. This is the thirteenth year since 1946 that the Statesboro market has led the state in sales.
