Give the handicapped an opportunity

We are in the middle of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, which began on Sunday, October 4, and will continue through Saturday, October 10.

This is not "just another week" for us. We have come by experience to value highly the assertion that handicapped workers can be as good as non-handicapped workers in production, attendance, job stability and accident rate.

We have just such a person operating one of our automatic typesetting machines. He will set copy into type for this week's editorial page. He has been setting type for us since May of this year.

His physical handicap? His co-workers and we are not aware that he has a physical handicap, though a stranger coming in to see him would discover that his hearing and speech is greatly impaired.

According to Mr. Bates Lovett, chairman of the Local Handicapped Committee, there are now ten handicapped workers registered at the local State Employment Service at 34 North Main Street. They include a general office clerk, a sales clerk who has experience as a cashier and fancy meat packer, a combination welder and burner, a lady with five years experience in alteration and as a sales clerk, a finish carpenter, another who does rough carpenter work, a metal chipper, a sewing machine operator who can do general clerical work, a clerk-typist, and an apprentice printer.

These are people with physical handicaps which do not dampen their courage, nor their willingness to work, if given an opportunity to prove their worth. That is all they ask—the opportunity to make good.

So if a person with a physical handicap should apply for work with you, don't turn him or her down, just because he or she is handicapped. Consider each on the basis of his or her qualifications and if they meet your requirements, give him or her an opportunity to prove their abilities.

You may be in for a surprise—just as we were.

And you'll forget the handicap and discover that you have another employee who will be loyal, and turn you in a day's work for a day's pay.

A great response

It was a wonderful response! The people of Statesboro and Bulloch County have paid their "blood debt" to the Talmadge Memorial Hospital in Augusta and we are now in good standing.

Dr. Rufus D. Payne, Superintendent of the Talmadge Memorial Hospital, has advised Miss Sarah Hall, head of the county Welfare Department that he is "pleased" with the announcement that the county is prepared to pay its debt.

On October 1, 176 citizens of our county reported to the Recreation Center for the visit of the Regional Bloodmobile and offered to be blood donors. 130 pints of whole blood were secured and seventy-nine pints were earmarked for the Talmadge Memorial Hospital.

In Dr. Payne's statement to Miss Hall he said that the hospital in Augusta had admitted sixty-three charity patients this year and administered to them free services which are valued at $18,122.

Our hat goes high into the air for the generous response for blood. The American Legion, the Kiwanis Club at Brooklet, Rockwell, and the other groups, are to be commended for their interest. And to every person who had a part in the October 1 Bloodmobile visit, we say, on behalf of the county, "Thanks."

It was a great demonstration of what our people can do when they set their mind to it—that is if it is worthy, if it is designed to help our community, and if it is to help their fellowman.

Reason for greatness

If you need explanation for the greatness of Bulloch County then turn to another page in this week's Herald and read the story on the activities of the Bulloch County Home Demonstration Clubs.

Read there what the ladies of the county are doing and you'll find part of the secret which makes the citizens of Bulloch the great people they are.

You don't make 2,283 visits to sick people without a neighborhood motivation. You don't fix 1,166 trays to take to sick people without an out-giving spirit. You don't take flowers to 630 sick people without love for your fellow citizen.

These are only three of the many things that the ladies of the county home demonstration clubs did and are doing.

They do these things because they are there to be done. They do these things according to the Golden Rule. They do these things because they love doing things which lead them to a fuller life.

And we love them for it, and are proud that we can call the county in which they work our home county.

WAITING POWER

JESUS KNEW of the needs of his disciples long before they understood them. Perhaps that was the reason, among others, they called him Lord.

In his last conversation with them before leaving to carry on his earthly work, he instructed them to go to Jerusalem and wait for the baptism of the Holy Spirit upon their lives.

It is never easy to wait, especially in our day. Yet, there are times when it is the only thing to do. To nothing seems frustrating to most of us. We seem to forget that there are some things to work for, and there are other things to wait for.

Someone aptly put it: "We can work for a living, but we can only wait for the spring. There is no doubt, we have become experts in waiting, but only amateurs in passivity."

WAITING HELPS US to look at our troubles aright. Often the things we count as trouble deceive us. I read a good story on this just the other day.

The driver of one of these auto-trucks was driving one night in a heavy fog. He decided to light up his rig a little more for safety's sake, so he turned on the headlights of the car on the top rack.

He continued on down the road without incident when suddenly an oncoming car dodged to the shoulder, hit the ditch, and rolled over two or three times before coming to a halt. The trucker got down to the wreck as soon as possible and helped two slightly battered and inebriated gentlemen from the smashed automobile.

"Why did you turn into the ditch?" he asked. To which the driver replied, "Well, I just figured that if that thing ahead of me was as wide as I was high, I could never get around it."

Troubles are like this. They appear to be as wide as they first appear. A little patience—a little waiting in dealing with them can sometimes save a wreck of more than an automobile.

ALSO, WAITING fills our hearts with inner strength and power. This is what Jesus wanted his disciples to have. As it came to them through patient waiting, it will also come to us.

SOME time ago, I found myself in my first evangelistic effort. The feeling of being unprepared in this hazardous day and night. However, there was one experience, and I remember, which helped, and in the end, saved me through.

Each evening, an hour before the service, I found my way to a beautiful, grassy hillside near the church, overlooking the valley. Waiting quietly in the presence of God, feasting my eyes upon His handiwork, I discovered power for the task at hand.

The National Scene

By U. S. Rep. Prince H. Preston

THE NATIONAL SCENE

If the recent visit to the United States of Premier Nikita Khrushchev served any useful purpose, it was for the American people to have the opportunity to study first hand the personality of the cunning leader who has vowed that his system of government would "bury" us.

This leader of 200 million people, who are total strangers to the many freedoms we take for granted, showed us that he was a devoted follower of the Marxist-Leninist doctrine of Communism. The dominant impression left in the minds of the American people cannot be other than that of a very determined man with a fanatical belief that his system of government inevitably will triumph over the Free Nations of the world.

It is true that while here he made overtures of peace and cordiality for more talks, confer and negotiations. He went before the United Nations and presented a plan for world disarmament because the target was his for the day, his plan received world-wide publicity.

Lost in competitive light of publicity that surrounded his dramatic visit was the fact that the day before the Russian Premier spoke to the United Nations, a British delegate to the U. N. made a disarmament proposal similar to Khrushchev's. The only difference was that the British plan recommended a specific method of inspection which is vital to any disarmament plan. The refusal of Russia to agree on any suitable method of inspection has been the stumbling block at all previous disarmament proposals.

I don't think the Americans have been deceived by the visit nor will they lose sight of the fact that the ultimate objective of international communism is world domination. The Communist pursues this objective relentlessly, employing every possible tactic, whether it be political, economic, subversive or military.

We must understand that the Communist leaders consider their nations as being at war with the United States. Khrushchev, including our own United States, Khrushchev has been quoted as saying: "We declare war. We will win over the United States. The threat is not the ICBM. The threat is the peaceful production. We are relentless in this, and we will prove the superiority of our system."

All during his tour of the United States, we heard coming from the Premier's own lips the familiar and worn phrases of the Communist propaganda, "peace," "peaceful co-existence," and "peaceful competition." We would do well to keep in mind the fact that the Communists do not attach to these words the same meanings as we do. To us they mean what they say. To the Communists, these terms bear a connotation of a temporary nature, one that will give them a respite from heated competition until they are again ready to press more strongly for world domination.

It must be remembered that Khrushchev, who has been begging for an invitation to the United States since he rose to power, personally created a new crisis over the controversial Berlin situation. The new crisis led to a meeting of Foreign Ministers who failed to reach an agreement because of the stubbornness of the Russian minister. I think it is reasonable to assume that the Russian created this new crisis over Berlin for the express purpose of obtaining from the United States an invitation for Khrushchev. He wanted to make the visit, knowing that it would give him greater stature at home and added prestige for Communist Russia in many foreign lands. No doubt

TIMES DO CHANGE, allows Billy Simmons.

There was a time, not too long ago when a farmer brought his cotton to be ginned the income from the cotton seed was more than enough to pay the cost of the ginning.

Not so today!

Billy brought in some cotton to be ginned one day last week. When he checked up with the ginner he found that his cotton had ginned out seventeen bales and had produced five tons of seed. The ginner gave Billy credit on the ginning bill for the amount the seed sold for.

When all the figuring was done the ginner handed Billy 2,500 S & H Green Stamps and a bill for $5.24.

Billy's right, Times Do Change!

WE LIKED THIS. We borrowed it from Leo Alkman who gives Leon Smith of Thomaston credit for it. According to the Thomaston newspaper publisher, teachers despairing of the spelling which comes their way may find solace in what appears in a handbook on writing just published by the Air Force. The report allegedly is that of an airman summarizing a night on guard duty. This is what he wrote:

"I, (named deleted), went on duty on the 20 Sept at approx. 2255 I was waiting post & which I looked on the south side of the mance hanger at the south end of the parking area. I was working out by the waste of the paved ramp at approx the senter of the parking area when a radii snack airded his warning. I drew my weapon and fired. As I fired I jumped back and rain toward the planes to avoid a strike from the snack. After I came down I went back to the end of the ramp to check the damage. The snack was gone so I looked for the brass and cleared my weapon. "Radii snack", so far as can be determined," Leon says, "means rattlesnake."

vities in the United States, The Crusade for Freedom and Radio Free Europe, The Work of the FBI, work done on the local level by Legion Posts and the work of volunteers in the veterans hospitals.

Following these special commendations the Legion urged, among other things, a speed-up of the U. S. ICBM program, maintenance of the National Guard at present strength, a more adequate civil defense program, stronger measures against the sale of obscene literature, matching funds to combat delinquency on the state level, and a nationwide study of the problems stemming from illegitimacy.

FUNERALS TODAY are certain the delegates in Assembly adopted numerous resolutions for action by the National Congress, the President, and all levels of government. Speaking out strongly, these resolutions contained such calls for action as would strengthen National Security, put more emphasis on Americanism, give serious attention to the Child Welfare problems, study rehabilitation programs for dependent veterans, make certain changes in the housing programs and in general urged a continued effort by government to deal with all the problems affecting the American People.

All across America the American Legion is a force for good in the communities where responsible leaders are active in local Post Activities. The American people have come to depend upon local Legionnaires to carry the responsibility of guarding the security of their community and where local posts have failed to do this evil has crept into community life.

From north to south, from east to west, the name of the American Legions stands for outstanding programs for the conservation of our human resources. The Voice of Democracy oratorical contests for our youth, the American Legion Jr. baseball program, the scholarship program and a host of other worthwhile projects such as the General Assembly Program to teach youth the pride of being a part of state government—all are accomplishments for which the people of America can wave the banner of the American Legion.

THE NATIONAL reputation of the American Legion is very jealously guarded by those who find themselves in places of funerals. It is well that this feeling exists on all levels of the work done by the Legion for no organization can remain strong unless that strength is found in the interest and work of all its membership.

We in America do well when we salute the work of the American Legion.

SOME AMERICANS have a tendency to look on other countries' customs as being strange and pagan, without ever realizing that perhaps our customs are even stranger to the foreign brethren.

The story of the American watching the Chinese putting rice on the grave of an ancestor asked, "When do you think your ancestor will be back?"

The Chinese replied, "When your ancestor smells the flowers you put on his grave."

OUR AMERICAN funeral customs are quite pagan if we really give the subject much thought. To be sure, they have improved in a fashion. I will remember one of the few funerals I ever attended as a child. I prevailed upon my mother to let me attend this funeral because the deceased was the mother of a school mate. The casket was opened at the church and every body in the church filed down the aisles and by the casket. Some threw themselves across the casket and weep loudly or screamed. Walls came from every corner of the church. It was a horrible, gruesome experience for a child and it took years to overcome the impression I got there of death. Surely Christians ought to know what they believe about death. If they understand and believe that death is a temporary separation from their loved ones here and a joining Christ in paradise, then some of our customs would be changed.

It was a joy to attend a funeral several months ago where the congregation stood and sang the Doxology. This was done at my mother-in-law's funeral, she having requested it while she lived.

At the funeral of a Christian there is a wonderful opportunity for the family to witness before the world, its belief in God and His promises.

THE MINISTER shouldn't feel that he has to enlorge the dead at the funeral. A life can be added to nor taken from by talk. No minister knows the most beautiful parts of a life nor perhaps the ugliest sides of another life. But every minister knows the scriptures where God's promises are found. Every one is saved by God's grace and present with the Lord (I Corinthians 5:8), the casket may well be closed and remain closed.

There's little doubt in most Christians minds that we all ought to think seriously about our customs at funerals and omit everything that does not show our victorious assurance that upon death the Christian passes into glory and his body is committed to the ground until its resurrection by Christ.

Artificial lighting needed now to improve egg production

By Roy Powell

grant colleges have shown that hens need about 14 hours of light to sustain a satisfactory rate of egg production. The light stimulates the pituitary gland which lies back of the eye, and the pituitary gland in turn stimulates the reproductive organs of the hen, thereby influencing egg production.

Right now the sun rises at about 6:35 a.m. and sets at about 6:25 p.m. This is a period of 12 hours sunlight. In addition, there is approximately 30 minutes daylight before sunrise, and about the same amount after sunset. So, we are now getting about 13 hours of light on clear days. This is not quite enough for this time of year, especially those in a high rate of production.

Artificial lights are needed now, and they should be turned on about 5:00 a.m. As the days grow shorter they should come on earlier so that the natural daylight plus the artificial light will give a total of about 14 hours.

If pullets just getting into production are not getting enough light they will stop laying and often show some neck molt. If not checked, this neck molt may progress to a full body molt in some birds.

Practically all large commercial poultrymen follow a good light management program, but smaller members and other small flock owners often overlook this very vital factor in getting maximum egg production. Don't delay any longer, get the lights on those laying pullets.

CATTLE FEEDING

If you're thinking about starting your cattle on feed, here's a tip that might help you make more profit and save time.

Research and experience shows that cattle should be fed all the hay they will eat along with their starting feed. To start with, cattle on feed should be given one pound of concentrate per head daily. This quantity of concentrate should be increased one-half pound per head each day until the cattle are on full feed.

As you may well know, feeding often during winter is of ten the toughest feeding period a producer has. This feeding period can be extremely expensive unless adequate feeding is planned for and saved. Landscaping Planning

Planning—the secret to many successful endeavors—is also what it takes to obtain unity, harmony, balance, and proper spacing in the landscape design of your yard. Planning can eliminate many mistakes.

Here are some pointers to keep in mind when choosing trees, shrubs, and flowers for your yard:

1. Be sure the new plants fit into the over-all design.
2. Select plants that are adapted to the particular area.
3. Think of the plant at its mature size and allow room for it to grow. Small shrubs at a nursery are often deceiving.
4. Consider the maintenance required to keep the new plant looking well. Do not plant it if it can not be kept presentable.
5. Buy good plants from a reputable dealer.

Soil Conservation Service Drains work is progressing rapidly on farms of cooperators of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District here in Bulloch County.

Mr. Kermit Hollingsworth, Mr. W. W. Jones, and Mr. Hoy Griffin had complete drainage systems designed and constructed on their farms south of Statesboro in the Emitt Community.

Mr. Marshall Robertson of Brooklet has completed a drainage system on his farm just southwest of Brooklet.

Mr. T. W. Sowell has completed a drainage system for an old grady pond (natural) on his old place south of Brooklet.

Mr. Dewey Strickland has finished draining his new bahia grass pasture on his farm southwest of Brooklet.

Mr. Claude Phillips has installed a fine drainage system on his farm west of Statesboro in the Westside Community.

Mr. Rufus Joyner has completed his drainage system on his farm south of Statesboro off U. S. 301.

Several other cooperators have their ditches surveyed, designed and will be ready for construction as soon as it is dry enough to do the job. Hurricane Gracie slowed down construction of ditches considerably, especially in the lower part of the county where the greatest need exists.

Other cooperators in the process of constructing drainage ditches or have them surveyed, designed and ready for construction include Robert Cox of Denmark; Ruel Clifton of Emitt; Dewey Strickland in the Denmark Community; Jim McCormick of Brooklet; Leon Holloway of Register; James Rogers of Brooklet; J. Kelly Williams of Estla Community and F. Everett Williams of Statesboro.

3. The 1960 Thunderbird... The World's Most Wanted Car!

Introducing the New-Size Ford... the 1960 Ford FALCON

Meet the New-size Ford—the Falcon! Here's a car with plenty of room for six big adults and all their luggage. It's sized to handle and park like a "small" car... powered to pass and climb like a "big" car... and built like no other car for savings!

It gives you up to 30 miles per gallon on regular gas. Aluminized mufflers normally last twice as long as ordinary kinds. A Full-Flow oil filter lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes. Even insurance can cost you less! And this Falcon is the world's most experienced new car. It was driven over every mile of numbered Federal Highway in EXPERIENCE RUN, U.S.A.—a grueling demonstration climaxing Ford's 3 years of development and testing.

The Falcon has the features that American car buyers expect. Its gearshift is on the steering column—not on the floor. Its engine is located up front for greater stability and safety. Best news of all is the Falcon's low, low price. See it at your Ford Dealer's... and see the difference!

HOW MUCH IS YOUR TV SET WORTH?

It would take a lot of money to make most folks forget the entertainment they get from their TV sets. But how about when your TV picture tube goes dead? How much will it be worth then?

If your only interest is getting back a picture without regard for the quality of that picture, you can save money by buying a cut-rate, off-brand picture tube. But national tests show that the average brightness of cut-rate tubes is so low, you might get your TV reception back as much as five years.

If you want up-to-date performance—pictures that are brighter than when your set was new—we recommend a Sylvania Silver Screen 65 picture tube.

Picture tubes used in today's TV sets are much brighter than they were five years ago. And seven out of ten leading TV manufacturers use Silver Screen 65 picture tubes in their new TV sets.

Toughest Driver in Town!
Careful Percy McFogel—who would believe that he's harder on his car than anybody in town? Why, he never goes over 35 or takes a trip over 10 miles! Actually this kind of driving is very hard on a car engine because the engine seldom gets "warmed up" sufficiently. The oil tends to be sluggish. Sludge forms in the crankcase. The way is open for dangerous wear and corrosion.

But there's something you can do about this, to protect your motor. If you have to do a lot of start-and-stop driving at low speeds, as most of us do, use Trop-Artic Motor Oil. It flows fast... resists sludge formation... helps your car run better, longer. Get Trop-Artic Motor Oil at any station where you see the Phillips 66 Shield.

Stilson News

Hurricane Gracie gives Stilson farmers something else to do

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS

The storm of last week did very little damage here considering what was expected. The main damage was to the crops which had not been harvested. The corn was blown down so that it will be more trouble to pick with corn pickers. The cotton that had not been picked was damaged pretty bad. Peanuts that were stacked were partly blown from off the poles causing some damage. However the clear weather that followed the storm by Friday, peanut picking and other work began again.

Some trees were blown down at homesteads and gave already busy farmers something else to do to remove the fallen trees, and check and repair fences. Mrs. Stella Lee and Mrs. Gene Davies and daughters, and Richard Lee, of Savannah, spent last Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Boam of Guyton spent last Sunday with Mrs. Fannie E. Cribbs and Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Shurling.
Mr. and Mrs. James H. Morris and son, Gary of Savannah, spent the week-end visiting his parents and other relatives here during last week-end.
Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Sanders, of Chatham City visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Shurling, during the week-end.
Mrs. Fred Branch and daughter, delivered to the 5th day of October, 1959.

Blue Devils lose 12-0 to Dublin High Irish

The Dublin Irish remained undefeated through four games with a 12-0 victory over the Statesboro High Blue Devils in Memorial Park Stadium Friday night before a standing room only crowd.

The Irish scored a touchdown on each of the first quarters, then had to hang on for dear life as Statesboro completely dominated the second half play.

A 64-yard punt return by Crain was shown out for the first time in the first play Bobby Hillman kicked his first field goal in the extra point attempt went over the crossbar.

A recovered fumble at the Statesboro 33-yard-line, shortly after the second quarter started, set up the night's final score. Crain passed to Hillman for the 25, and fullback Tenyson Coleman gained 17 to the eight.

Halfback Bob Dixon picked up four, and Coleman one and three for the score. Again the extra point attempt was low.

In the second half Statesboro racked up five first downs, two for Dublin and five times was halted inside the Dublin 30, usually by a fumble or a dropped forward pass.

Freshman Austol Youmans made his first start for the Blue Devils at quarterback and completed four of six passes for 53 yards.

Statesboro's best penetration was to the two early in the fourth quarter, but a major penalty assessed at the eight on first down cost the Blue Devils their best chance to score with two minutes remaining.

Dublin's defense was led by end Ben Snipes, center Charles Tuberville, and tackle Bobby Gay. Defensive standouts for Statesboro included Mikeell Jackson, Arnold Cleary, Jimmy Brock and Jerry Newsome.

Collected in the workhorse for the Dublin offense, gaining 65 yards in 15 carries, Dixon was in eight tries.

For the Blue Devils Joyce Hagan carried 11 times for 49 yards, and Wendell McGlamary added 40 yards in eight tries. Dublin 12-0 Statesboro 0-0-0-0

Statesboro Midget Varsity rolls on with another win; beats Swainsboro

By RALPH TURNER

Robert Mallard led Statesboro's Midget Varsity to a 13-6 victory over Swainsboro last Saturday night, October 3.

It was Statesboro's third consecutive victory this season. Mallard, a 13-year-old fullback, demonstrated what the coaches agreed was sensational effort for the Saturday night duel. He picked up 150 yards rushing for an average of 11 yards per carry. He also led his team in tackling with 13 tackles. Mallard scored one touchdown and set up the other one.

Quarterback Wayne Howard joined in with the scoring honors as he scored one touchdown and an extra point.

Swainsboro's one touchdown was scored late in the fourth quarter in a reverse play around right end. The touchdown was the first points to be scored against the Midget team so far this season.

Hovie Lister's Statesmen Quartet which appears at Georgia Teachers College's McCroan Auditorium on Nov. 3 is heard in every corner of the land at most every day of the year.

By radio and television, the Statesmen carry their messages of faith in song to people everywhere. The many RCA-Victor recordings which feature the Statesmen and Hovie Lister reflect the deep faith and devotion to the spiritual life which has characterized the careers of these handsome young men.

The recorded songs of the Statesmen include many of the old favorite hymns, the foot-thumping gospel songs which are sung in the inimitable rhythms of the group and the sound tracks of such films as "A Man Called Peter," the screen biography of the late Peter Marshall and "God Is My Partner," the story of faith which starred Walter Brannen.

Wherever gospel music is played—the Statesmen are heard. Their RCA-Victor recordings are among the best-sellers in the country today. They have just completed two new albums of old favorites and some new numbers, previously not recorded.
