Senior Woman's Club hears Representative Prince Preston

By EDNA L. HOFFEL

The Senior Woman's Club, which met at the Recreation Center on Thursday, November 19 at 3:30 p.m., has an educational and inspiring program with the Hon. Prince Preston, who was introduced by Mrs. Jake Smith as the speaker. His topics were "Freedom—What is it under the United States Constitution?" and "Freedom Enjoyed—Freedom Threatened."

He had a deep reverence for the Constitution and that this reverence was second only to that he has for the Bible. He told how we take freedom for granted. He asked, "Where did it originate?" and went on to tell how it developed to a great degree in our country than in any other country. It is because our nation is more flexible.

Our freedoms are threatened by degrees by legislative and judicial restrictions. During war time, certain restrictions which were imposed, were necessary. These restrictions are now null and void.

A person charged with a crime is entitled to be tried by his peers. The Federal Government has encroached on this area in regard to income tax, and this is an encroachment on individual liberty. Hon. Prince Preston introduced a bill in 1918 which was approved. This bill was to amend the Constitution to give the power of changes down to ten. Ten changes in 163 years.

The Constitution was written based on past human behavior. The best England had to offer, was taken and improved upon. The first ten amendments, or the "Bill of Rights," give us the safety and security we enjoy. The only one abused is the freedom of the press. This should be a freedom in which the people can express themselves, not just the ideas of one person. Henry VIII gave influential the press could be, and put a "muzzle" on it.

The 11th and 12th amendments are also unconstitutional. But only of two years' duration. The 13th, 14th and 15th amendments, which our forefathers knew that having to come back home to get other terms will keep a congressman cleaner, the people he represents, and he will therefore be more apt to vote according to the will of the people. Everyone should be stout defender of the Constitution. As long as it is in existence our grandchildren will not suffer persecution from our Government.

Mrs. Alfred Dorman drew Mrs. Morgan's name for the door prize.

During the Social Hour, which was in charge of the Fine Arts Department, under the leadership of Mrs. Roy Powell, another delightful part of the program was carried out. It was a "Count Your Blessings" program. A lovely 2-tiered cake was on the table, and each person came up and deposited her gift for "Care" in a box, she lit a candle and placed it on the cake. Needless to say, some candles had to be taken off to be replaced by others.

Mrs. Georgia Brett furnished the music during the social hour.

It is difficult to amend the Constitution. Someone asked why a Congressman's term was only of two years' duration. Hon. Preston believes that our forefathers knew that having to come back home to get other terms will keep a congressman cleaner, the people he represents, and he will therefore

Professors open season with bang, whip Georgia 82 to 73

By TOM COFFEY
Savannah Morning News Sports Editor

Chester Curry and Eddie Owens formed a two-pronged scoring punch that knocked the University of Georgia for an 82-73 loss here Wednesday night as Georgia Teachers College kept intact a four-year record of winning its basketball season opener.

A capacity crowd of over 2,000 cheered the Professors in their impressive victory over the Bulldogs. Coach J. B. Scarce's Profs were a smooth, fast-breaking unit even without the services of star forward Whitey Verstraete, who sat on the bench because of a conflicting eligibility rule of conference. The GTC "B" team triumphed over Armstrong College in the opener of the Julebrander, 88-48.

Curry, a 6-2 senior guard from Kentucky, had a 22-point total for his night's work, and got 16 in the first half, when the Profs zoomed to a 41-33 lead. Owens, a 6-5 senior center from Indiana, went on a 20-point binge and picked off 17 rebounds.

Two other Profs scored in double figures. Carlton Gill, lean, 6-5 sophomore forward from Richmond Hill, got 18, all on field goals, and Connie Lewis, 6-5 sophomore from Millen, tallied 14, all but two on field goals.

Forward Phil Simpson and center John Johnson paced the Georgia scorers with 17 each and Simpson led the Bulldogs' rebounders with 11. Don Kesser scored 15 points. Savannah's Pat Casey, former Benedictine standout, and Augusta's Frank Clark, who starred for the modern Academy, were among the Bulldogs' starters and contributed nine points apiece. Casey got six rebounds and Clark did a fine job of trying to guard Curry in the first half, but the taller, more experienced Profs still was able to hit 16 points.

The Profs went ahead to stay with 11:37 remaining in the first half and before then had only trailed three times, at 16:15, 14:13 and 13:11.

Lewis hit a basket, right after the opening tipoff and the Profs were ahead, 11-6, after a long shot by Johnson, a free throw by Casey and a set shot by Clark tied the score for the first time. But after the Profs

Green defeat Blues 7 to 6 to win the Tiny Mite football championship

By TOMMY MARTIN

The Mite Football Teams ended another successful season this year with two close games Saturday, December 5.

Saturday morning, December 5, saw the Greens defeat the Blues 7-0 in the Tiny Mites Championship. The game was a defensive battle all the way with the only touchdowns coming late in the third quarter. Zack Smith carried the ball over for the touchdowns from about 3 yards out. Greg Sikes then added the extra, carrying it up the middle. The Greens had a total of 34 yards rushing while the Blues racked up 65 yards. The Greens had three first downs to the Bulldogs' one.

The Profs take on Preabreyer in college here Saturday.

In the preliminary the GTC "B" team trailed for five minutes, then went ahead to stay on a field goal by Ronnie Patton that made the score 9-8.

Patton, with 14 points, was the star of the game. He had two double figures, says Hassett showed the way with 23 and Jimmy Hendrix, former Bryan County High star, contributed 13, 10 in the second half.

Dave Thomas, with 17, was the only player in double figures for Armstrong, which dropped its third game in a row after winning the season opener.

Vote on Cotton quotas set for December 15

Tuesday, December 15, has been set as the date for cotton farmers to vote on marketing quotas for the 1960 cotton crop, John F. Bradley, Administrative Officer of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation State Office, announced today.

Upland cotton quotas must be proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture whenever the supply exceeds normal. The current estimated supply of 23,154,000 running bales for 1959-60 exceeds normal by 4,434,000 bales.

In proclaiming quotas the Secretary also announced that Choice (B) allotments for 1960 - provided quotas are in effect for the crop - will be 40 percent larger than the "regular" Choice (A) farm allotments.

The December 15 vote is an important one, Bradley emphasized, because its outcome will determine whether marketing quotas become effective for 1960, the kind of allotment program in effect for the year and the level of price support available for next year's crop.

If the quotas are favored by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum, marketing quotas with penalties on "excess" cotton will be in effect for the 1960 upland cotton crop. Growers will have a choice between the "A" and "B" allotments and price support will be available at not less than 75% parity for "A" cotton and 60 percent of parity for "B" cotton. If more than one-third of the growers voting in the referendum oppose the quotas, there will be no marketing quotas or penalties in effect for the 1960 upland cotton crop.

Bradley pointed out that the 40-percent increase permitted to growers who choose to grow their 1960 crop upland under the Choice (B) program - under a marketing quota program - is the same percentage increase provided under the 1959 program. By law, the price support under Choice (B) would be percent of parity lower than under Choice (A).

SEEDLINGS

If you're planting forest tree seedlings this winter, or early spring, remember to keep root system moist. And that means from time of delivery until they are set out.

SEEDLINGS

Seedlings must have a good root system. If the roots become dried out, they may suffer damage which might not be overcome.

SEEDLINGS

Seedlings are stored in a cool place and kept moist upon delivery, they usually will stay in good condition for as long as two weeks. If seedlings must wait for longer periods before planting, they should be heeled-in.

SEEDLINGS

Bundles of seedlings may contain as many as 2,000 seedlings. For best survival, these should be planted as soon as possible after they are received. After they are heeled-in, cover well with a moist soil and then drench with water.

SEEDLINGS

On planting day keep the roots covered in their container with a soapy mud or water. Never allow the roots to be exposed to the sun or wind even for a few minutes, for the small root endings quickly die when exposed.

SEEDLINGS

For further information on planting tree seedlings stop at your county agent's office.

Make sure your Christmas tree is fire safe for Christmas season

By Roy Powell, County Agent

The Christmas season for most of us has been a season of happy memories, but this might not be so. Many tragic fires are caused each Christmas season as a result of negligence in Christmas tree decorating. These fires are avoidable.

HEAT FOR POULTRY

Heat is considered by many poultry experts to be the most important single factor influencing the health of a broiler during the winter months. Feed consumption and growth rate may be decreased by too little heat in the broiler house. Susceptibility to disease is also increased.

TOBACCO DISCOUNT PROGRAM

The USDA has announced that the discount variety program on flue-cured tobacco will continue in effect during 1960. Also, according to USDA, the national marketing quota of next year's crop of this type tobacco has a small increase in the acreage for farms that have not grown tobacco during the past 5 years, and to adjust inequities. For most farms, however, 1960 allotments will be the same as in 1959.

There'll be times to be remembered

The coming days between now and Christmas will be filled with times to remember, things to recollect, incidents to smile over in recollection.

And the ones which will linger longest will be those which concern your children.

There'll be the first Christmas tree, with all its bright and glittering tinsel and twinkling lights. There'll be the curiosity which is generated by the pictures of Santa Claus and the talk of what he'll bring. There'll be the problem of the stockings to be hung. There'll be the faltering in the faith in Santa Claus by the older ones and the problem of restoring it.

There'll be the Story of Christmas to be told or read to the little ones. And the racking of brains to answer the myriad questions put by them about the Christ Child.

And all the while you'll be given the wonderful opportunity of giving your children the greatest gift of all—Faith in God.

When you give Faith, you give them the world and all. And the wonderful part is that Faith is yours to give, no matter who you are, what you do for a living, how much you have in the bank. And for some, the Faith you give them will remain brilliant throughout the year, and if nurtured properly, it will remain a light for all for the future.

Christmas is for children. Don't let it get involved with the commercialism with which we adults surround it. Keep it warm, and wonderful for them. It's theirs to dream about, to wonder about, to experience.

Aging—a problem which touches us all

Recently a group of Bulloch County citizens gathered together to talk about the problem of Aging. The group is keenly aware that a problem exists in our land—the problem of growing old.

Awareness that a problem exists is the beginning of its solution.

Back in September, 1958, an Act of Congress was signed by President Eisenhower, authorizing a White House Conference on Aging to be held in Washington on January 9-13 in 1961.

The meeting of the group here on Tuesday night, Nov. 10, was the first step toward that conference. Three of the group went to Savannah Friday, November 20 to a meeting to help plan Georgia's participating in the White House Conference in 1961.

Life spans are growing longer. Housing, sizes of pensions, and other resources needed by the elderly are not keeping up.

It is to study these problems that we are now directing our efforts. The objectives deserve the support of all. The problem of the Aging is one which will touch us all.

Let's trade at home

This is the time of the year when editors of newspapers in a town like ours go all out to help the hometown merchants sell the citizens of their communities on the idea that it's good business to shop at home.

The advantages are so obvious that one would think it would not be necessary to express concern over the problem. But 'tis not so. About this time every Christmas season citizens get in their cars and take off, on crowded highways, to our metropolitan neighbors, lured by the glamour of big city shopping. And in many cases end their trip back home in disappointment, only to learn that had they shopped at home with their neighbor shopkeeper they could have found what they wanted for less money.

Just a casual visit to the stores in Statesboro and Bulloch County will reveal that they are well stocked with the same items carried in the big stores in larger cities. Brand names are the same. The quality the same. The prices lower. The service more personal.

Your friends, your neighbors, your relatives, your acquaintances here in Bulloch County depend upon your trade here. You may, in turn, depend upon them for their trade with you and yours.

We are all dependent upon each other. And when you take your money out of Bulloch County to do your trading you are not helping your community.

Think twice, do your shopping at home.

Happy birthday

Our neighbor, The Claxton Enterprise, had a birthday recently—it's forty-eighth.

We like the way the editor, Fred

Eden, put it in looking forward to becoming fifty years old. "We're getting Younger All the Time." He puts his readers on notice that when the Enterprise gets to be fifty that'll "be something to brag about" and he hints that there'll be a doozy of a celebration.

We congratulate the Claxton Enterprise on its forty-eighth birthday, even if a little late, it's former editor and owner, R. E. L. (Mr. Bob) Majors is one of Georgia's outstanding newspapermen and one who helped us in our struggling youth and gave us strength with his encouragement.

Though retired, Mr. Bob's influence is still strong in the Georgia press. And he has a worthy successor in Fred Eden.

We're looking forward to that Golden Anniversary.

"Profs"—giant killers

First it was Georgia Tech and now it's the University of Georgia. Both giants given the works by the Professors of Georgia Teachers College.

On December 1, of last year the GTC basketball team defeated Georgia Tech in Atlanta 72 to 64. Then on December 10 the Profs defeated the University of Georgia here 82 to 73.

GTC fans feel completely justified in referring to the Dons as "giant killers" and the title fits. We commend the Profs and their coaches upon their basketball successes. And we suggest that you go out to see them when they play Pembroke State College here Saturday night.

Right now, every uniform that we own is being used. So is every instrument. This means simply that next year we will have 23 youngsters marching down the street with no uniforms. And it means that next year's band will be top-heavy; lacking, that is, in basic instruments such as tubas, baritone, and the lower reeds. This is something like hearing the Statesmen quartet without their snare drum. Altogether, these instruments cost about $4,000. That's right, $4,000! And the uniforms will be about $1,800.

That is a great deal of money. But we feel that it is wisely

CHARLES WESLEY'S CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

The greatness of a man is often obscured by the brilliant success of another. Such a man was Charles Wesley, poet, preacher, and singer in the Evangelical Revival of the eighteenth century. While he was perhaps a more appealing preacher than his brother John, his enduring fame rests upon the nearly seven thousand hymns which he wrote. He said: "I began a hymn on my conversion."

Mr. Wesley's contribution to the Christmas season is found in the familiar "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," and the less familiar but meaningful, "Come, Thou Long Expected Jesus."

When Charles Wesley pondered the desires and hopes of the Jewish nation for a Messiah, he discovered the prospect of the coming of Jesus, running like a golden thread throughout the Old Testament. So he began to write: "COME, THOU LONG EXPECTED JESUS." To him, Jesus did not burst on the stage of human life "out of the blue." Prophet, priest, and peasant had long looked for His coming.

As he meditated on the wiles and woes of the Hebrew nation, their agonizing existence under Pharaoh's whip-lash, their fluctuating loyalty to God; and their cruel captivity at the hands of pagan people, he penned these words: "ISRAEL'S STRENGTH AND CONSOLATION." The coming strengthens His people in trial and console them in sorrow.

Next, he made a present-day application by calling Bethlehem's Babe the "HOPE OF ALL THE EARTH," and when that failed to express fully his thoughts, he added: "DEAR DESIRE OF EVERY NATION."

In this Singer of Methodism's mind, the prospect of Christ's coming was only a prelude to the purpose in His coming. In

To Beat the Band

By DALE JENSEN

This is the week. Our big Band Boosters Day will be this Saturday. Last year, our Boosters' Day brought in a little over $600 to our band treasury. This has been spent on new instruments and uniforms for the band. We are aiming at a goal of $1,000 this year. A grand for the band. We will need this amount several times over if we are going to be ready for next year's band. There are at present twenty-eight seventh graders in the elementary bands. After we graduate five seniors we will have a net gain of 23. How are we going to provide for these new members?

Right now, every uniform that we own is being used. So is every instrument. This means simply that next year we will have 23 youngsters marching down the street with no uniforms. And it means that next year's band will be top-heavy; lacking, that is, in basic instruments such as tubas, baritone, and the lower reeds. TAKE TIME OUT Saturday night, December 12, and go see the GTC Professors play Pembroke State College of Pembroke, N. C., in a good, fast basketball game. We make this suggestion for two reasons. First, it'll be a good basketball game. The Profs are on the Go! And then, and this is just as good a reason as the first, it is "Youth Night" when the Profs will play host to kids from fifty of the high schools in this section of Georgia. And, here's the clincher, all the proceeds, beyond the expense of the game, will go to the youth of Statesboro and Bulloch County through the Statesboro Recreation Department, GTC Coach and Athletic Director, J. CHRISTMAS is just around the corner and there are some things we should be thinking about. One of the best ways to start the Christmas season is to start it by thinking of others. I don't mean thinking in terms of "I'll give Aunt Margaret or Uncle Bill, but thinking in terms of sharing what we have with those less fortunate than we.

It's kinda standard procedure with me to look through my things at this time of the year to see what articles of clothing, shoes and even personal articles such as razors, extra toilet articles which many times have been given to me by friends and which have never used, can be passed along and enjoyed by people who have a need for them.

EVERY YEAR I receive great personal enjoyment as a result of having shared these things with those in need. It is with a good feeling if you will overcome that desire to keep old things out of sentiment which may well be used by people in need.

How about those suits of underwear, that suit which is now too small for an expanding waist line, those that hang there year after year? How about that piece of furniture you received in the unused room or in the attic? Will you ever use it again? Could someone be happier if you shared it with them?

DURING the Christmas season there are always some friends

THE STATESBORO HIGH SCHOOL Band does our town a great service. Let's do them a service this week-end and become a Band Booster.

But first, did I go too fast? Who are the band members? They're young people who are interested in music and who join up with others to make music for you and me. They're not all the young people who are interested in music. There are others who would play instruments that are too costly for parents to buy. Most of the instruments used now are paid for by the parents. However, the band would be better if we had a few other pieces, too costly for parents to buy.

WHAT GOOD does the band do the youngsters who are in it? Comparisons are odious? Anhow, what good does football do the players? Oh, it teaches them work. So does the band. Each member learns he can't tout louder than he's supported to each instrument when he plays his instrument. There's no stricter way to learn teamwork than to play in the band. THE FOOTBALL players develop their bodies. 'Tis true. Did you ever march in a band and blow at the same time? Well, muscles everywhere are developed at the same time. Of course, one isn't as likely to get his leg broken or his back injured but the band members do develop their muscles and lungs. The band members can continue their music throughout life, too. Of course, that's all well and good to develop youngsters but what does the band do for us here at home? Well, we like to be entertained, don't we? We pay a big price for entertainment. Can you imagine a football game without the band? It would be pretty blank, wouldn't it? Would much do we spend on advertisement? From a personal standpoint, do you buy new clothes occasionally to advertise your own self? If you're part of a business, just how much do you spend in advertisements? GOOD BUSINESSMEN consider the developing of the town a necessity. They get together and form the Chamber of Commerce. They are civic minded and know that any thing improves the town as a whole will help their business. They know that good schools are a

Rockwell's diversification is based upon basic objectives

DIVERSIFICATION
By W. F. Rockwell Jr., President, Rockwell Manufacturing Co.

Diversification has become a very fashionable word with a sometimes misleading connotation. To say that a company is diversified has come to mean, for many, that it is on that account alone a good investment. If that were true, life would be simple.

Actually, of course, diversification can be had as well as good. It can destroy the equity of shareholders as well as enhance it. The long term value of any company's diversification program can be judged only with a knowledge of how it is diversified, and why.

This is not always easy because there are probably as many kinds of diversification as there are kinds of companies. Diversification by different markets for the same product, by different products for the same market, by products unrelated except that they utilize the same type of manufacturing know-how and facilities—it would be possible to go on and on.

And there is that indefinable type which has been called diversification regardless of products, markets, or management skill required—as long as it looks like a bargain.

Our own diversification has been called "related diversification," and that is probably as good a label as any. We make three kinds of products: measuring devices, control devices, and power tools. These products (a total of 25,000 types, models and sizes) are related in many ways. Some are related by markets for the same product, by different products for the same market, by products unrelated except that they utilize the same type of manufacturing know-how and facilities—it would be possible to go on and on.

Now, when he leaves for active duty training, he will be a Guardsman. In fact, he may go with some of his own Guard unit members. At training camp, he will be given a regular Army basic course, followed by a period of individual training—training in skills which will be useful to him in his civilian career. During the six months period of active training, your son will have leave to come home.

Upon completion of this active duty training, he will turn home to complete his Ready Reserve service by attending weekly Monday night drills with the Statesboro Georgia Army National Guard at the National Guard armory, and participating in two weeks summer training each year. He can still attend school or his job while training with the Guard. The total of his six months active duty training and subsequent Ready Reserve training is 3 and one-half years. Upon completion of his Ready Reserve service, he can request transfer to the Standby Reserve and will not be subject to further call unless an emergency is declared by Congress.

The ideal time for your son to join the National Guard is as soon as possible after his 17th birthday, and certainly before he reaches 18 and one-half. While this particular bit of information applies to men between 17 and 18 and a half, there is also opportunity for men between 18 and a half and 29 years of age to take active duty training with the National Guard.

Up until the last few weeks, the Statesboro National Guard had very few vacancies for any new men. However, due to a recently granted increase in strength authorization, new men can now be enlisted until the new figure is reached. Now is the time for young men to apply for enlistment before the quota is reached. All applicants must pass a prescribed qualification test. Parents are encouraged to come out to the Armory, or call 4-2780, for any additional information desired.

Our diversification is "related" in another deeper way. Every thing we make and market is related to basic needs, rather than to luxuries, and therefore related to the growth of an expanding population in an expanding economy. This plan for diversification, in turn, grew out of our basic objectives: to protect the money of our shareholders and the jobs of our employees while giving "left" every opportunity for "right" every growth.

W. F. ROCKWELL JR.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Willard F. Rockwell Jr., president of Rockwell Manufacturing Company, has been elected president of the Pittsburgh Better Business Bureau.

The appointment was announced by the Bureau's Board of Directors.

In accepting the office, Mr. Rockwell pointed to the need for an ethical renaissance to match Pittsburgh's brick and stone renaissance and asked that Pittsburgh area business firms re-dedicate themselves to the principles of "Truth in Advertising."

Referring to the widely publicized exposes of TV quiz shows and of advertising commercials, Mr. Rockwell stated that it was becoming apparent that if advertising does not clean up its own house, somebody else will.

"The Better Business Bureau, as the voluntary agency of decent business, will devote a major portion of its 1960 activities in getting all local advertisers to comply with the Pittsburgh Advertising Code," Mr. Rockwell stated.

"American industry has done its work well in the economic market—it now needs to sell itself in the social market by demonstrating its interest in its customers and its employees. Our business supported Better Business Bureau is strong evidence that legitimate Pittsburgh business is concerned with the well-being of our citizens."

Mr. Rockwell is past president and director-at-large of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, and a member of its Executive Committee, as well as a director of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

National Guard offers plan for 17-year-olds

Your son, if he is 17, or older may soon be faced with making his decision regarding military service. He can take his chance on waiting to be drafted. This, however, may make it difficult for him to plan ahead for his education or his civilian career.

On the other hand, he can—if he acts now—make practical plans which will permit him to complete his education and embark upon a civilian career with a minimum of interruption. Here is how:

Your son may enter the Statesboro Army National Guard and undergo a period of active duty training for six months. This will include basic training and some technical training at an active army training center. If he is in high school when he enlists, he may arrange to take his active duty training at any time within a year of his enlistment; thus, if he is a senior, he may defer training until he is graduated. If he is not in high school, then he may expect to enter training within 120 days of his enlistment.

Now, when he leaves for active duty training, he will be a Guardsman. In fact, he may go with some of his own Guard unit members. At training camp, he will be given a regular Army basic course, followed by a period of individual training—training in skills which will be useful to him in his civilian career. Such diverse measuring devices as taximeters, instrument clocks, vending machines, and parking meters are related in the production know-how required.

Our diversification is "related" in another deeper way. Every thing we make and market is related to basic needs, rather than to luxuries, and therefore related to the growth of an expanding population in an expanding economy. This plan for diversification, in turn, grew out of our basic objectives: to protect the money of our shareholders and the jobs of our employees while giving "left" every opportunity for "right" every growth.

These products (a total of 25,000 types, models and sizes) are related in many ways. Some are related by markets for the same product, by different products for the same market, by products unrelated except that they utilize the same type of manufacturing know-how and facilities—it would be possible to go on and on.

Our own diversification has been called "related diversification," and that is probably as good a label as any. We make three kinds of products: measuring devices, control devices, and power tools. These products (a total of 25,000 types, models and sizes) are related in many ways. rected them to the receiving line which formed at one end of the spacious living room. Flanking the line were mahogany pedestals with alabaster urns filled with large yellow chrysanthemums. Mrs. W. A. Bowen introduced the guests to the line while Mr. and Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Neill stood with the bride and groom and the bride's attendants. Mrs. Bernard McDougald ushered guests to the dining room. The bride's table was overlaid with an imported sheet of linen cloth with alternating squares of embroidered flowers and exquisite cutwork. Frosted chandeliers, garlands of hothouse simlas extended to the corners of the beautifully-appointed table. A tiered arrangement of white carnations, white stock and lace fern rising from a large silver tray was the central decoration. Miss Helen Brannen cut the wedding cake, which was tiered and embossed with the bride's roses towering in the white wedding bells on the top. The bride's roses were in the valley lily clappers. Myrtle and Dianthe arranged the roses with the guests in the dining room were Mrs. Claude Howard, Mrs. John C. Taylor, Mrs. Marshall Besch, Congressman and Mrs. Henry Hopkins, and Mrs. W. C. The home was decorated throughout with white camellia and fall arrangements. The table was overlaid with a white point de venise lace cloth and centered with a tiered spergne filled with white camellias, carnations and fern. The bride's place was marked with a bride doll.

The hostesses served congealed melon balls with fresh strawberries for the first course, followed by chicken almandine on rosette wafers, peach pickles, cheese biscuit and party sandwiches Mrs. J. L. Neill served Misses Lynn Storey, Sandy Williams and Diane Brannen. Mixing with the guests in the dining room were Mrs. Claude Howard, Mrs. John C. MISS ANNE PRESTON BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. NEVILL
 The First Baptist Church of Statesboro was the scene Sunday afternoon November 29 of the wedding of Miss Anne Christian Preston, daughter of U. S. Representative and Mrs. Prince H. Preston, and Mr. James Lemuel Nevill, Jr., son of Mrs. James Nevill, Sr. of Metter, and the late Dr. Nevill.

The Reverend J. Robert Smith, pastor of the church, presided over the ceremony following a program of nuptial music by Bern and Morris, soloist, and Dr. Jack N. Averitt, organist. Massed palms formed a background for a central arrangement of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums in a brass fundal, flanked by brass candelabra with yellow candles which extended to each side where large brass urns held arrangements of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums caught with gold lace. The choir rail was draped in garlands of greenery looped at intervals with clusters of chrysanthemums. The reserved seats were marked with croton leaves, yellow chrysanthemums and wheat, tied with gold lace.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of bouquet taffeta, with the bodice enhanced with chantilly lace following a scalloped satin neckline, embroidered with miniature pearls and sequins. The long sleeves tapered at the wrists. From a large butterfly bow at the waistline, the billowing skirt was designed with taffeta simplicity and elegance giving way to voluminous beauty of chantilly lace in the back, extending to a scalloped chapel train. Her full circular veil of pure silk imported English lace was attached to a jeweled hair. She carried a white Bible, a gift, and her bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

MRS. REX HODGES HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB
 On Thursday evening, December 10, Mrs. Rex Hodges entertained the Lazy Ate Bridge Club at her home on Savannah avenue. Christmas decorations in her party rooms were unique and lovely. The mantel had at each end old-fashioned oil lamps, re-finished by the hostess in burnished gold. The chimneys were filled with white and red poinsettias towering to a peak from which glitter drops cascaded in holiday splendor.

The rich color motif followed through in the refreshments and table appointments. Lemon ice cream, with whipped cream, topped by red cherries was served with coffee and mints. Mrs. John C. Wilson won a sweater guard for high. A similar prize went to Mrs. Harry Cone for visitor's high. Mrs. Lawson Mitchell received hand cream for low.

The United States has more students on honor roll than all of Europe has in college, he pointed out.

The speaker named ten titles in the National Defense Act, then put special emphasis on the ones definitely related to the educational program.

Ga. Power Co. is county's biggest tax payer
 According to figures released this week by Mr. Tom Martin, district manager of the Georgia Power Company, with headquarters in Statesboro, the power company is Bulloch County's biggest tax payer.

On Monday morning of this week Mr. Martin presented checks to city of Statesboro, the town of Portal and the county tax commissioner totaling $18,724.72. Mr. Martin broke this figure down as follows:

Paid to the city of Statesboro for 1959 city water taxes, $1,336.57; to the town of Portal, $78.84 and to the county tax commissioner $17,199.50 for county ad valorem taxes.

Other district and local managers of the Georgia Power Company throughout the state this week are presenting to municipal and county government officials checks which will bring the amount of the company's 1959 property taxes payments to a total of $5,088,400. This compares with a total of $5,275,000 paid by the company for its 1958 property taxes.

Of this sum, Mr. Martin reported, $2,812,344 goes into general county funds, $1,013,220 to school districts, $906,805 to cities and towns, and $44,831 to Georgia and adjoining counties.

Earlier in the year, municipal partnership tax payments totaling $2,135,107 were paid to the county's 382 cities, towns and communities in which the firm's partnership franchise agreement was in effect. Under this agreement, the company pays each municipality in which it operates three per cent of its gross revenue from the sale of electricity for residential and commercial use. These municipal partnership tax payments were in addition to property tax payments.

Mr. Martin said that approximately 20 per cent of the company's total revenue goes to pay taxes, including federal and state income taxes, municipal partnership taxes, and others.

Bulloch County retail sales up to $6,380,754 for 3rd quarter

Retail sales in Bulloch County for the third quarter of 1959 (July-August-September) show a tremendous increase over the same period of 1958. According to figures released this week retail sales in the county for July, August and September of this year total $6,380,754, an increase of $1,131,563 over the third quarter 1958 sales total of $5,249,191.

First quarter sales for 1959 were $5,093,585. Second quarter sales for 1959 were $5,377,700.

Third quarter sales for 1958 were $5,318,029. Second quarter, 1958, were $4,914,396.

Third quarter 1959 business for the State as a whole showed an increase of $151,425,879 over the third quarter of 1958. State totals were $1,282,993,055 compared to $1,131,567,170 a 1958.

"It is most gratifying to note that in the third quarter of 1959 Georgia compiled a record increase in business volume over that for the corresponding period of 1958," stated L. W. Robert, Industrial Department Chairman for the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce. "Unquestionably, this economic improvement stems in great part from industrial location achievements of the past year by our active local and state development organizations in Georgia."

These figures represent monthly deposits of Georgia State Sales and Use Tax Collections and are furnished through the cooperation of the Georgia Department of Revenue, Sales and Use Tax Unit and the Georgia Department of Labor.

Auto registration for 1960 will be tougher
 State Motor Vehicle License Bureau requirements for 1960 will be more strict which is the way Tax Commissioner Winfield Lee put it, and what he means is that Bulloch County motorists are in for a bit of trouble in getting their 1960 auto tags.

Mr. Lee said that the new tags will go on sale after the first of the year and those who want low numbers should be at his office early. "They'll be sold on a first-come, first served basis," he said.

Mr. Lee pointed out that securing 1960 tags will be a bit more trouble because it is planned to "pre-bill" license tags for 1961. That will mean less trouble for motorists in 1961. He stressed the point that it is absolutely necessary that accurate information be given in 1960.

Required on the 1960 application will be the serial number of your automobile. "Not the motor number, but the serial number," Mr. Lee said.

The serial number is found on the left-hand door frame as a rule, he said, but is often elsewhere on older cars. The number must be entered accurately on the application form.

"Our records will be checked to make sure all taxes on an applicant's car have been paid before we issue a 1960 tag," Mr. Lee said.

Another requirement will be proof of ownership. Either the registration papers or the bill of sale must be shown, the License Bureau in Atlanta has ruled, he said.

That means, Mr. Lee said, that unless motorists will trust these valuable papers to the state, they will have to go to the Court House and stand in line.

Also required will be the notarized signature of the automobile owner.

One of the biggest hitches to the easy issuing of license plates in 1960 will be the expensive application forms issued by the state. Mr. Lee has been told to handle distribution very carefully because of the cost of producing the cardboard and carton paper forms, at much higher cost than 1959's lightweight paper forms.

Johnson said that the application forms may not be as widely distributed or as easy to find as they have been in the past, although he will make every effort to spread them around as much as possible.

The forms will be somewhat more difficult to fill in because the heavy cardboard makes the forms less legible, although every page of the three-page application must be legible or the License Bureau will not accept them, he said. They should be typewritten, he added.

But the tax commissioner promised two rewards for car owners who go through the difficulties in 1960—The new tags are white with black numbers and quite handsome.

—The pre-billing in 1961 means that those who do not buy new cars before the next tag comes out will have their applications made out by machine in Atlanta and will merely have to sign in 1961.

Formal opening of new First Methodist Church is Sunday
 Opening services will be held in the new building of Statesboro First Methodist Church on Christmas Sunday, December 20. This occasion marks the successful completion of a building program begun during the summer of 1956.

Formal opening ceremonies are to be conducted at the eleven o'clock morning worship, and there will be an open house from three until five in the afternoon. Evensong at six-thirty will be a special adaptation of the church's Sunday Service. Infants and small children are to be baptized at the eleven o'clock service.

The church is a form of Gothic architecture built with exterior buttresses with the roof being supported by two rows of interior arches. Exterior walls are of Tennessee shales, doorways, copings and other trim of Indiana limestone. The interior is of limestone, plaster and oak paneling and has exposed ceiling beams of California redwood. The altar is of white Vermont marble.

Every detail of stone and wood and glass has been planned and executed with consideration not only for its individual beauty and use but also for its rightful place in the whole structure. The result is an outstanding example of traditional ecclesiastical architecture.

A prominent feature of the building is its magnificent stained glass windows. These were created by the Henry Hunt Studios according to a plan developed by the pastor, Walter H. Aldred Jr., who is architect and Benning Construction Company was the general contractor. Chairman of major committees were: Lannie E. Simmons, Plans and Construction; J. B. Johnson, Finance; J. Clyde Mitchell, Arts and Furnishings; Hoke S. Brunson was chairman of the Official Board July 1956 through June 1959, and George S. Johnson has served as Chairman since July of this year.

Special booklets giving a detailed description of the building and its furnishings have been printed and will be available at the opening services.

It's to be White Christmas at SHS December 18
 "White Christmas" will be observed in the Statesboro High School on Friday, December 18th, at 1:15 p.m., with a program of carols and reading. The program is under the direction of Mrs. Bernard Morris and Mrs. Gilbert Cone's assistant.

The Y clubs are collecting food to be brought to each home, and packed in boxes for the needy families. This is a program in which each person in school can play a part, as all the students are requested to bring a gift for the White Christmas.

Also required will be the notarized signature of the automobile owner.

One of the biggest hitches to the easy issuing of license plates in 1960 will be the expensive application forms issued by the state. Mr. Lee has been told to handle distribution very carefully because of the cost of producing the cardboard and carton paper forms, at much higher cost than 1959's lightweight paper forms.

Johnson said that the application forms may not be as widely distributed or as easy to find as they have been in the past, although he will make every effort to spread them around as much as possible.

The forms will be somewhat more difficult to fill in because the heavy cardboard makes the forms less legible, although every page of the three-page application must be legible or the License Bureau will not accept them, he said. They should be typewritten, he added.

But the tax commissioner promised two rewards for car owners who go through the difficulties in 1960—The new tags are white with black numbers and quite handsome.

—The pre-billing in 1961 means that those who do not buy new cars before the next tag comes out will have their applications made out by machine in Atlanta and will merely have to sign in 1961.

Jaycee 'Operation Dog' considered successful
 "Operation Dog" conducted in Statesboro this fall was a success to the point that 99.1 per cent of the dogs have had rabies shots.

During August, the Bulloch County Health Dept. working with the city of Statesboro, outlined plans to make the city safe from rabies.

The project was undertaken by the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce. Jaycees made a house to house canvass to count dogs. The census included puppies and strays found on the streets within the city limits.

A complete report of the survey together with a follow-up made by city officials, showed that 686 dogs had been counted and 99.1 per cent have been treated. Of the number receiving treatment, 90 per cent have been registered with the city office.

Dr. C. T. Brown, of the Health Dept., stated the outstanding results of this survey and follow up could only have been accomplished by the full cooperation and efforts of the Jaycees, citizens, and city officials.
