Southeast Bulloch High Jackets just keep rolling right along with 22 wins in 22 starts

Some people in North Georgia probably never heard of Southeast Bulloch High School. Some basketball people in South Georgia undoubtedly wish they never had.

For Southeast Bulloch, which came into being in 1955 with the consolidation of Brooklet, Nevils and Stinson, has been to court 22 times this cage season—and returned victorious 22 times.

The Yellow Jackets of Coach George Roebuck, a Canton native who finished his playing days under ruderite J. B. Scarce at Georgia Southern College in 1952, unquestionably are one of Georgia's most talented hardwood aggregations, regardless of class.

Wm. James elementary school destroyed completely by fire

The Williams James Negro Elementary School was completely destroyed by fire Thursday morning, January 28.

The fire was reported at 7:30 Thursday morning and Fire Chief "Red" Gay stated that four rooms were completely aflame when the fire department arrived at the building on Cotton Avenue.

Firemen kept the flame under control but the building was a total loss. Firemen played a stream of water on the vocational building near by and saved it from catching fire. It was not damaged.

The Williams James School was an old brick veneer building of nine rooms and an auditorium. It was formerly the William James High School before the erection of the new school building in the north-west section of Statesboro.

The origin of the fire has not been determined. The fire Thursday night was the first fire in a school building in Statesboro in over fifty years.

Tax equalization proposals deserve support

If you read the Bulloch Grand Jury's presentments made at the January term of the Superior Court, you can be sure that something is about to be done to correct an ever growing inequity in the tax structure of our county.

It was in January 1959 that a Grand Jury recommended that the problem of property valuation be studied with the objective of working out a plan for a complete equalization of the tax structure of the county.

The County Commissioners are setting the wheels in motion to give the Grand Jury's recommendations life.

We believe that this action deserves the complete support of every citizen in the county.

Counties which have taken the course recommended by the Grand Jury have found it justified.

The heart of their recommendations is in the statement, "We recommend that the tax structure of Bulloch County be completely examined, and that all property values be equalized."

They then spelled out how it should be done:

"A card system be set up in the Tax Commissioners' office as a permanent record, listing each piece of property and the improvements thereon, with photographs of buildings and etc., thereby making it easy to show any property owner the manner in which the total value was attained. This card system to be kept up to date so that the tax equalizers may have complete and accurate information at all times.

"We recommend that competent and well-trained personnel be em-

This became a transforming experience for the musician. Everyday he played God to someone.

Finally he was persuaded by a friend to study lip reading, which he did with unusual success. One day, while looking out his window which opened above a beautiful park, he saw a young couple approaching a park bench.

Still winning

On Monday night of this week the undefeated basketball team of Southeast Bulloch High School won their twenty-second game when they defeated Marvin Pittman High School.

Saturday night they will be playing a fine team from Wheelright, Kentucky—a high school team coached by former GSC star, Don Wallen.

This should be a whale of a basketball game as an appetizer for the game between Georgia Southern Eagles and Rollins in the W. S. Hanner Building here.

THE WEATHER MAN just laughed and laughed as he watched the boys name girls at Georgia Southern College shove away at getting their floats ready for last week.

And every float was a credit to the organization which sponsored it. Some of them were really good. Several of them had that "professional" look. These were self-propelled, that is they were not on a trailer, pulled by a tractor or truck.

Nearly 40,000 Kleenex tissues were used on one—poorly wired on a mobile unit made up the float. The production average was 32 bushes per acre and a total of 86 million bushes of corn were produced.

SCHOOLS STILL make the headlines on the front-page coverage. Most of the talk about the schools is bitter criticism, by the outsider. Only the person in the school has a kind word now and then. But according to many of the critics, he's not uneducated to know any better.

Last November 28 there appeared in the Saturday Evening Post an article, "The Uneducated World," by Vice Admiral H. R. Rickover, USN. This article is worth reading, even though it may disagree with much that was heard here.

AS A MATTER OF fact, I liked much of the article. Vice Admiral Rickover compared the uneducated world to the educated world.

WOULDN'T IT BE wonderful! Imagine the homes, every one of them, training their children in manners, in sharing, in loving, in obeying, in cleanliness, in clean-mindedness, in Godliness.

CHILDREN are not robots. They do not come to school, sit down in their seats, and turn on the switch and start learning. Their learning depends on many things, which time does not allow us to discuss.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor: Air your opinions on the school issue in an appeal from the Editor in last week's Herald.

This next issue of the Herald (if you do your part) should be the largest edition of the Herald's history.

You should let your Representative Francis W. Allen know that you are with him one hundred per cent in the effort he has put behind this school issue. He has made an all out drive in support of our forefathers' heritage.

Are we going to sit idle and not preserve this heritage and allow our children, grandchildren or great grandchildren to mix, mingle and intermingle into the negro race.

This is no reflection on the Negro race and he should be proud of his race and want to hold it up. The only way he can preserve this God given heritage is to stand up and speak out against these race-mixing agitators.

We began with just three buildings and four faculty members. You've seen about twelve or more buildings added and the faculty increase to about one hundred members.

Whenever any of the students have the occasion to ask a favor or are in need of aid, the Statesborians are usually ready, willing and able to do what they can.

Other towns in or near which colleges are located the students are looked upon as bothers and are tolerated but not liked.

This same situation does not exist here. Saying "I'm a student at the college" are magic words and open doors for us.

ing thing has happened to this uneducated person. I liked parts of the article "The Uneducated World," but I heard Vice Admiral Rickover on "Meet the Press," several days ago. He was asked if he didn't consider character important in his men. He replied to this by saying he wanted scientists who could do a good job. He was not interested in character and he did not care what the men did when they weren't at work so long as they did their work. If this is true of the so-called educated world, if character is not important and science is important, then let us remain ignorant. However, there may be a few who still believe that character must come first if we are to have education in any place.

Eagles Win Over Newberry With A 98-67 Victory

Georgia Southern College threw up a rugged ten defense and got red-hot shooting from its guard tandem in rolling to a sparkling easy basketball 98-67 victory over Newberry Friday night, January 29.

It was the seventh victory against a lone defeat for the Eagles, playing for the first time under their new nickname.

Newberry jumped out front 7-2, in the early stages but the Eagles had a 36-12 bulge after that, using their half-court press to advantage and saving things pretty much their own way under the boards.

Whitely Verstraete, usually the Eagles' scoring leader, was held to seven points, but he was otherwise engaged. Verstraete led all rebounders with 16 to spark a 63-36 team domination in the first half.

Carl Short, with 30 points, led Newberry and took individual scoring honors.

Shooting-wise, the Eagles hit 42 per cent of their shots from the field (37 for 88) to Newberry's 36 per cent (21 for 59).

Curry, the Eagles' 6-2 senior guard and co-captain, scored 29 points and Verstraete, the other co-captain who stands 6-3, was just a point behind, Eddie Owens contributed 11 points to join them in double figures. Newberry got 20-point production from Charles Gallagher and Carl Short.

The Eagles led 3-1 before Newberry went on an eight-point binge to take its biggest lead of the night at 9-3. The Eagles caught up at nine and the score became tied at every odd point up to 27, when GSC got a big burst and went out at halftime with a 40-32 lead.

'Oklahoma' Will Be Presented On Campus By Music Division in Feb.

Arrangements have been made with the famous musical comedy team Rogers & Hammerstein to allow Georgia Southern's Music Department to present "Oklahoma" in McCroan Auditorium, February 10 and 11 at 8:15 p.m.

The members of the cast include: Carter, portrayed by Bucky Carlton, Moultrie, Laurie, played by Scarlett Smith, Byron, Will Parker, portrayed by Johnny Hathcock, Atlanta, Ado Amie, played by Jayne Bragan, Brooklet, Al Hakim, portrayed by Jim Brandon, Albany, and Aunt Eller, portrayed by Mary Elizabeth Parrish, Jessup.

Also, Jud Fry, portrayed by David Powers, Tifton; Andrew Carnes, played by Ronald Harper, Atlanta; Ike, portrayed by Tommy Fouché, Brunswick; Slim, played by Billy Martin, Valdosta; Gertie, portrayed by Beth Rigdon, Douglas; and Cord Elam, played by Guilford Pickett, Urdilla.

"Oklahoma" is important in the history of the American theatre because it is one of our first musical dramas. A musical drama is more than a play with additional music; for the story of the music is an integral part of the drama. "Oklahoma" is a musical comedy, a musical comedy stage play of age and since then we have had many impressive dramas on the Broadway stage.

This presentation is a musical comedy in two acts, five scenes. The action takes place on a farm in the Oklahoma territory, shortly before Oklahoma was admitted to the Union as a state. It contains some of the best of Richard Rodgers' hit music including "People Will Say We're in Love," "I'm Just a Girl Who Can't Say No," "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," and the familiar title song, "Oklahoma!"

The production will be directed by Dr. Dan Hooley, associate professor of music. Dr. Ronald Neil, chairman of the music department, will be in charge of the chorus music and Mr. Jack Bruce, associate professor of music, will be the accompanist.

Tickets will cost 50c for students and $1.00 for adults.

THIS IS YOUR GEORGIA

The first woman United States senator was a Georgian, Mrs. Rebecca Lattimer Felton.

Dr. Boole Named Marvin Pittman As New Head Of Science Division

Dr. John Allen Boole, Jr., was appointed to the position of chairman of the division of science at Georgia Southern University by the State Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia at their meeting on January 13 in Atlanta. This position was left vacant by the unexpected passing of Mr. William S. Hamer, who was chairman of this division since 1935, the year all departments were begun at the college.

Dr. Boole is originally from Stanok, Virginia and graduated from Onancock High School. He received his A. B. degree from the University of Virginia in 1949, his M. S. degree from the University of Virginia in 1951, and a Ph. D. from the University of Virginia in 1955.

Previous to joining the Georgia Southern College faculty, Dr. Boole was employed as a Teaching Fellow at V. M. College from 1949 until 1951 and at the University of North Carolina from 1951 until 1955.

At the last meeting of the executive board of the Marvin Pittman P. T. A. an observational study group was formed. It was made that there was a great need for study groups discussing differences of the chapters. Various topics were suggested by members of the group to be used as these discussions became topics.

Tuesday, January nineteenth, Mrs. Frank Smith, Luncheon Supervisor of the school invited a group of parents to meet with her and some of the Faculty in the luncheon room to discuss one of the most important topics, the participation of parents in the child's education. The parent's balanced meals plays in the life of the child. Since the learning ability and alertness of the child depends to a great extent on the health and physical condition of the baby, this subject was of much interest to every parent present.

Mrs. Smith led the discussion bringing out the fact that the lunchroom operator is the caretaker of the children. Each meal is planned carefully from recipe files, materials sent from the state and other sources in order to supply one-third of the child's food needs for the day. A menu is prepared for each day and charts were distributed and explained. Mr. J. A. Pafford, Principal, explained how the schools all ready had higher quality of food in surplus commodities. These are distributed periodically according to the enrollment of the school.

An explanation was made on budgeting the money sent to the parents for the children's lunch. It was also learned that the luncheon personnel and supplies are paid from these funds.

After the meeting, planning, careful purchasing and strict recording of each expenditure.

At the end of the session the parents agreed to enlighten on the luncheon program of the school.

On Thursday morning January twenty-first another group met at the home of Mrs. Carl Franklin to discuss problems of the pre-adolescent boy and girl.

Mrs. Franklin led the discussion with the able assistance of Miss Marie Wood, faculty member of the school. Miss Wood has worked with boys and girls of this age for a number of years and was quite capable of offering suggestions to the group, some of whom have children under her leadership at this time.

The parents were encouraged to learn that most of the problems the children have are normal, and that they as well as the parents, do live through them.

Mrs. Frank Proctor, President of the P. T. A. was present at both these meetings.

Wide choice of power teams—Choose from 24 different power combinations to satisfy the itchiest driving foot—more than any other car.

Get the quiet proof of Chevrolet's superior performance on the road—No other car in the low-price class can match the borne-on-the-wind sensation you get from a ride in the 1960 Chevrolet. But that's not surprising when you consider that throughout Chevy has gone to provide for your comfort at no extra cost to you. As you drive, count the ways Chevrolet has been thoughtful:

Supple Full Coil suspension—Coil springs at all four wheel ends cushion bumps as no other suspension can. Taking the punch out of rough roads is their only function—they don't have to anchor the rear axle.
