MRS. FERENC HONORS HER HUSBAND WITH SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY
On Friday evening, Mr. William Ferenc walked into the Altman Cottage at Cypress Lake completely unaware that there was a real party getting underway until the guests suddenly appeared on the scene shouting "Happy Birthday!" Mrs. Ferenc had maneuvered everything so stealthily that Bill was completely surprised. The guests were served a shrimp supper, along with French fries, cole slaw, tossed salad, and a spicy concoction of pickled beets, boiled eggs, onions and spices, a recipe handed down from Mrs. Ferenc's grandmother; hot biscuit, tea, coffee or Coke.

His friends presented Mrs. Ferenc a shoe shine kit, and many comical gifts in big boxes. Thirty of his friends and their wives were present. After supper they played games or danced. Every one had a good time. Bill had a good time, too.

IN MEMORY
In sad and loving memory of our dear husband, Grandfather who departed this life one year ago, February 27, 1959.

Dear darling the 27th of February is here. The saddest day and month of the year. For it was this month and day that you left here and went away. Went to a better place than this we know. But, oh my darling, it was so hard to see you go. Our hearts are burdened, our eyes are dim. Oh, how it gives us joy to know you lived for Him. Him, who knows and does all things well. We are so thankful you taught us his story to tell. Now as we read and sing of His love. We are longing to meet you in the sweet home above. Our dear loved one we bid you sleep on. Until we meet you around the great white throne. Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren. Mrs. J. H. Ginn.

Forget Yourself In One Moment Of Prayer

Tomorrow, Friday, March 4, is World Day of Prayer.

Sponsored in Statesboro by the ladies of the churches of our community, it will provide the citizens of Statesboro and Bulloch County an opportunity, for one minute, to contemplate in silence their relation with God through prayer.

At twelve o'clock, high noon, at a signal to be sounded by the City Fire Department, citizens in our community may forget their daily duties, the pressures of the day, the troubles on their souls and the anxiety in their minds. For one minute they can know that their neighbor, their friend, their fellow worker, has channeled his thinking from things material to things spiritual.

Just think—if, for one minute, every mind in every body in every home, business, community, state, the nation and the world should turn to God—what a powerful instrument for good that could be!

God, in his divine wisdom, has given us prayer, not as a means whereby to obtain the good things of earth, but as a means whereby we learn to do without them; not as a means whereby we escape evil, but as a means whereby we become strong to meet it.

Prayer is more than the mere outburst of the desires or sorrows of the soul, seeking that satisfaction or consolation which it does not find within itself. It is the expression of a faith, instinctive or reflective, obscure or clear, wavering or steadfast, in the existence, the presence, the power and the sympathy of the Being to whom prayer is addressed.

Prayer is the peace of our spirit, the stillness of our thought, the evenness or recollection, the seat of meditation, the rest of our cares and the calm of our temper; prayer is the issue of a quiet mind, of untroubled thoughts.

At 10:30 Friday morning the Church women of Statesboro will gather at Trinity Episcopal Mission on Lee Street at U.S. 80, to form a link in this world-wide chain of prayer with a service.

It's little enough to ask that you, and you release the stresses in your soul for one moment and add your prayer to the prayers of others all over the world.

There is no way of estimating the tremendous power of prayer, but know this, it will bring joy and peace to your soul and heart — if for only a moment.

It's Bigger than He is

And so a prisoner took advantage of the privilege of worshipping God in the little chapel provided by the citizens of our community. He broke his pledge with his God and violated his obligation to society when he left the Bulloch County Prison Camp — "escaped from prison" is the phrase the cynic will use.

According to the news reports the prisoner, who was the prime force in the organization of a Sunday School which grew into the little Chapel in the Pines, escaped while going from the Chapel back to the prison. On Tuesday of this week he was still at large.

The other prisoners are concerned about this incident. They have gathered in prayer and are asking their God to touch the heart of Pat Patterson and so move it that the prisoner will return.

There are those who will use this to belittle the program being carried on at the prison chapel.

And to us these are the ones who, if they search their souls, will find that they too have broken their pledge with God in many ways, and have little justification for "casting stones."

The religious program being developed at the prison camp is still bigger than the mere escaping prisoner. And the faith of those who played the major part in the program is unshaken—it is strengthened.

Remember, our churches have no monopoly on "hypocrites."

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE

Early spring bushes and trees are beginning to bud and bloom—but don't get the idea that spring is here and that all bad weather is behind us. The first signs of plant life along the highway may fool you into being a bit carefree or careless—so, it's wise to keep a lookout for the highway Signs of Life to keep you on the road to Safety.

This Week's Meditation

Lawrence E. Houston, Jr.

SECOND INSTALLMENT

Those words of Socrates, "Know Thyself," are still ringing in my ears. They are sound advice for both young and old. Since a person is made up of more than a physical body, it behooves us to know ourselves in these other areas as well. Take for instance the mental aspect of our being. This is the part of the human which differentiates him from the lower animals. He can think!

AS I ENTERED my first class in theology some years ago, I was shocked to find one word written large on the blackboard just above the head of the aging professor: THINK! It required less than a week for me to begin to understand just how relevant the word "think," was in that course and, in fact, for the whole of living.

Even who know tell us that the average person uses less than ten per cent of his brain power. One does not have far to look to find all the examples he needs to prove the point. Perhaps this was the meaning of the word "THINK" on the seminary blackboard that day. Most of us are prone to take our parent's word for "the last word" when we are very young. When we begin our schooling the teacher's word becomes "law." In fact, we would much rather be told what to think than to work it out for ourselves.

IF WE ARE to heed the sound advice of that old sage, we must know ourselves mentally. This requires that we think deeply. One of the great poets of another year has written: "A little learning is a dangerous thing. Drink deeply, or taste not the Pierian spring."

We have a favorite expression for going off "half-cocked" mentally. We say the person is "taking off the top of his head." It would do us all well to ponder the meaning: "A little learning is a dangerous thing."

What are our reading habits? The newspaper? A woman's magazine? True Confessions? One soul, attempting to be amusing, asserted: "I always read the comic section first and the rest of the paper if I have time." It is not difficult to judge his mental eating habits.

Superficial reading habits of the American public may play a large part in the current dilemma our country faces, both internally and externally. To think deeply, to stretch our minds to the perspective which we cannot afford to ignore.

LIKEWISE, we must learn to think rightly. That is, we must use our mental powers for the highest and best purposes. Someone well expressed it: "Hard worry kills more people than hard work."

Some years ago, an earthquake shattered Tokyo, Japan. A Japanese businessman, visiting in New York City, heard the distressing news. Thinking his family to be wiped out, he committed suicide. Only a few hours a cable arrived saying his family was safe. The mind, once controlled as well as trained.

Anxiety is the failure to accept life as it really is

By DR. JOHN MOONEY

To illustrate anxiety caused by unwarranted concern over something that is not happening to us, let's consider an example. This could occur in any one of us. There's a fellow named Joe, age 40, sitting in a chair reading the newspaper. Suddenly he exclaims, "I've got a pain in the chest. It's not too bad, but it's right over my heart. Wonder what's causing it. It could be something I ate. Not likely though. It's getting worse. What did Dr. Stimpup say in his health column today? Heart pain always goes down the arm, makes you short of breath and you break out in a cold sweat. That's exactly what's happening to me! Mary, get the doctor!"

AND OUT COMES Dr. Patchmup who examines him and ambulances him off to the hospital. After a week and $350.00 worth of EKG's, MBR's, special narxins, X-rays (complete barium portfolio) and assorted blood tests, Dr. P. informs him that his heart and all other vital organs with the possible exception of the frontal lobe of his brain are in excellent working order and that his pain is due to slumping in his Morris chair while reading the obituaries of individuals who have died at age forty.

Using ordinary logic based on the things which actually happened, Joe can conclude that he is in unusually good condition; that it is worth the money to learn this; and is thankful that he can be cured by merely sitting up straight in a chair.

CALLING ON ANXIETY logic which differs from ordinary or sound logic by being based on things which did not happen to him, Joe comes up with this: "If my pain was only due to tired muscles from slumping, why did Doc keep me in the hospital a week? Why did he not run all these tests and make me spend all that money? I'd admit I wanted a thorough job. But he didn't have to overdo it. And why those nurses? Of course I was worried and didn't think there were enough nurses in the hospital to give me the kind of care I needed. But I didn't know special cost $30.00 a day. Doc did, though, and he wouldn't have put them on if my condition wasn't critical! So it was critical! And if it was critical then, it is still critical! I'd better see somebody else. Two heads are better than one, you know, Mary, call the Mayo Clinic and get me a room! And call the airline. Tell them it's serious—an emergency! Dr. Patchmup said I was critical!"

JOE'S PATHETIC line of reasoning is derived from the haunting idea that the doctor might be wrong. This allows him to ignore probabilities and concentrate on unlikely possibilities. Joe is absolutely right. The doctor could be wrong. And so could the clinic and all the other physicians he consults. His trouble could be in his heart and he could die at any time. Joe knows this and he also knows that the wisest men in the world cannot tell him otherwise. For some reason he has chosen to disregard this and to seek something he will not find. He has deserted the world of reality and is living in fantasy. He can now find his solace in tranquilizers or alcohol, choosing to dull his sensibilities rather than accept life as it is.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This week members of the Journalism Class of the Statesboro High School. They are promoting a service which is one of our prime concerns.

STATESBORO HIGH SCHOOL'S JOURNALISM CLASS SPONSORS SAFETY CAMPAIGN

By A. Joe McGlamery

Statesboro High School's Journalism Department will sponsor a safety campaign during the week of March 8 through 15. The campaign will feature an essay contest which will be open to students from each of the four Bulloch County High Schools. Awards will be given to each of the three entries selected as best by the judges. Statesboro High Journalism students have been working for the past several weeks on the second part of the campaign, that of making traffic posters. These posters will be placed around town during the week in the hope that some heed will be given the warnings they impose. A talent review will be held as a part of the safety program to be broadcast over radio station WWSN on March 15. Any Bulloch County student or groups of students are eligible to enter. WHAT ARE WE DOING with our time?

We owe our church 10%, are we giving it that much?

If a man lived to be 70 years old, he will have spent:

22 years sleeping
6 months washing
5 years eating
13 years working
13½ years talking
6 months in church.

He will also have shaved 18,250 times, used enough razor blades to have shaved 20 acres of face, and will also have grown 4 full heads of hair.

If the man had gone to church every Sunday he would have only spent 6 months in Church. Stop adding years to your life, start adding life to your years.

One way is to help the guidance of a boy or girl who has not had a chance in life.

We live in deeds not years. Life can begin for us at 12, 25, 50 or 70! When we see these we have helped turn into good Christian citizens, then we start to live at whatever age we might be.

it seems to me...

This is one time we hope the editor of this column will not be prophetic in any way. He is about to take our Blue Devil Band to the state festival, held here in Statesboro, at the college. At this festival, the bands are not in competition with each other, but are competing with themselves, to take a given selection of music and prepare it and perform it in such a convincing and proper manner that three impartial judges are moved to rate the bands as tops, mediocre, or why-did-you-come.

NEEDLESS to say, we are aiming at the top. This year, the band has moved up into the Class B bracket, which means that harder music is required. Eventually, John Wallace, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Wallace, was selected. John is a sophomore in school, and plays bassoon in the band. The understudy for this position is worthy of mention. He is an eighth grade student, in his first year in the band although he played for a number of years in the grade school band, and despite his youth showed a thorough preparation for this difficult task. Billy White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph White, plays the trumpet, and we look for big things from him in the future.

AFTER THE student conductor has performed, the band will then take a busman's holiday and go back to hear the other band perform their concert numbers. Following the festival they will write critical analyses of the groups they heard, and thus work at sharpening their ears and judgment and in the process learn better how to criticize and judge themselves.

In all, a long weekend, but we home to have good news when it is all over. Then we can relax for two days and start in on working on the next concert.

By MRS. E. F. TUCKER

The Sunbeams met at the church on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Laurace Perkins and Mrs. Woodrow Stalcup as leaders.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lee and son, Larry, visited Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Lee and baby, on last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Farris Sr. of Brooklet, were dinner guests last Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Lee and family.

Joe Connor Jr. and Miss Mary Ann Connor of Savannah and Mrs. Martha Newmans of the band, "Well, yes, we did but didn't finish buying needed instruments with that."

"Well, what do you want us to do, we can't just keep on giving?" But that answer was answered in a hurry.

"The Marilyn Youmans Variety Show is being given this year for the band's benefit. People who enjoy dancing can go and have a good evening of entertainment and at the same time help the band. In doing this you'll also be helping the next year's band to have the needed instruments and band uniforms for those students who'll be coming into the band from the three elementary bands."

SO, AS SOON as you read this, grab your coat and head for the Statesboro High auditorium and help yourself to an entertainment and at the same time help the band.

Thru the P's of Vargana Russell

IT DEPENDS ON your age, of course. What depends on your age? Well, the things that seem so important to you are not so important to your parents. Of course, we might not be invited for there's always the chance of stirring up jealousy among other bands over our fine equipment and new uniforms.

"Say, have you ever seen our band hall? It's a great place but slightly unsteady; that is when the wind blows. The swaying back and forth isn't always in keeping with the tempo."

"Of course, there are other advantages. The band director does have his private swimming pool when it rains. It gets any colder he can buy himself some ice skates and use it for a skating rink."

OF COURSE, this ran on and on to tell about the missing window screen which isn't near as bad as the missing window pane in winter. It's hard to practice music if you're shivering.

Then the cries of lack of instruments started.

"Well, say, I thought we had a Band Booster's Day and raised a lot of money for the band. Well, yes, we did but didn't finish buying needed instruments with that."

"Well, what do you want us to do, we can't just keep on giving?" But that answer was answered in a hurry.

"The Marilyn Youmans Variety Show is being given this year for the band's benefit. People who enjoy dancing can go and have a good evening of entertainment and at the same time help the band. In doing this you'll also be helping the next year's band to have the needed instruments and band uniforms for those students who'll be coming into the band from the three elementary bands."

Open House at new Bryant's Motel Sunday p. m., March 6

Final plans for appearance of U.S. Navy Band here to be announced

Clem Raith, president of the Statesboro Lions Club, announced today that he had received a telegram from Mr. Gib Sandefer, national tour director of the United States Navy Band, stating that "necessary adjustments will be made" regarding the scheduled appearance of the Navy Band here on March 21 under the sponsorship of the Lions Club.

Several of the members of the band were killed February 25 in an air crash at Rio de Janeiro, South America on their way to play for an appearance of President Eisenhower on his tour of Latin America.

The full text of the telegram to Mr. Raith is as follows: "Tragedy has struck the world famous United States Navy Band. Our heads, along with those of our nation, are in every room. Complete weather control from a single unit in each room. Every bath has a tub and shower. Ceramic tile from floor to ceiling. A sun lamp in every bath.

Several units have been equipped with special locking arrangement which converts each room into a single private unit. New safety locks on doors provide absolutely security.

A telephone in every room at bedside.

Soft lights. Flush doors.

"The ultimate in motel comfort and convenience" said one observer.

A delicate and graceful wrought iron railing decorates the walk area in front of the second floor rooms. A special designed concrete block graces each end of the motel.

The office of the new motel is located just South of Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen on the edge of the parking area. It has a white porcelain roof on which the word "Bryant's" can be seen for a long distance.

The new motel offers plenty of parking space for the motel and restaurant.

The motel, two stories high, on the site back of Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen, it stands as a fine example of what can be done with concrete, wrought iron and wood. The walls, ceilings, floors, porches, stairs—all are of concrete. Within the rooms are completely modern, designed with a fine hand and in excellent taste and furnished in the finest offered in motel furnishings. The furniture is American of Martinsville. Each room is furnished with two double beds.

With each bed having individually controlled lighting fixtures. Soft carpets are from wall to wall. TV in every room with a control switch at the head of the bed. Music and radio.

BPW make plans for Spring Fashion Show

The Statesboro Business and Professional Women's Club met at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen on the evening of February 15, 1960, for its regular dinner and business meeting for the month.

The Health and Safety Committee reported on completion of the club's safety project and contest in the various schools in the county, and presentation of citations and cash awards will be made to winners at the next meeting in March. The club is also participating in Firestone's national safety program.

Plans are in the making for sponsoring a Spring Fashion Show. Mrs. Nellie Godbee is chairman of this special committee.

The membership contest within the club, between the "Pennys" and the "Pearls" ended at this meeting, and resulted in a draw. Neither group being declared winner, both groups agreed to provide a covered dish supper on the evening of March 14.

The Legislation Committee, Miss Isabel Sorrier, chairman, and Miss Grace Gray, co-chairman, conducted the program. Members of the club participated in presenting the highlights of the Vandiver administration program for 1960 in the areas of economy, health, education, etc., and legislation that had won approval. Governor Vandiver's "Forum for Women," held every Tuesday during the session of the Legislature, and set up to provide information to members of state wide organizations about important matters, and to increase their "know how" about legislative action, has received commendation. The General Assembly is to be thanked for some constructive work which promises a better state government.

FELTON MOONEY JR. WITH ARMORED CALVARY IN SOUTHERN GERMANY

BAD KISSINGEN, Germany

Army PFC Felton H. Mooney Jr., whose father lives in Statesboro, Georgia, recently participated with other personnel from the 14th Armored Cavalry Regiment in Exercise Wilbur Smith at the Grafenwohr - Hohenfels training area in southern Germany.

Winter Shield, an annual Seventh Army maneuver, involved 60,000 troops.

A recorder in Howzer Company of the regiment's 2d Battalion in Bad Kissingen, Mooney entered the Army in December, 1958, completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Ark., and arrived overseas last May.

The 23-year-old soldier is a 1956 graduate of Wade Hampton High School in Hampton, S.C.

COTTON PICKER OPERATORS

Anyone contemplating the purchase of a cotton picker should give considerable attention to training the operator, say agronomists, Agricultural Extension Service. They point out that machine picker operators hold the key to keeping quality of machine picked cotton on a level that is competitive with hand picked cotton.

has opportunities for them to enlist, serve six (6) months on active duty and then complete the remainder of their obligation at home serving with a reserve unit.

All men within the surrounding area who are interested in assignment to this unit should contact Wilbur Smith at the 7 East Vine Street, or attend one of the unit meetings listed above.

13 Four-H goals for 1960 inspire 4-Hers to Learn, Live and Serve

A dozen goals to accomplish would be enough for the average person, but not so Georgia's 4-H Club members. For 1960, at least, they have defied superstition by adding "one to grow on" for a total of, not 12 but 13.

Adopted by members of the 4-H Executive Committee, composed of the six State 4-H Council officers and the six-District 4-H Council presidents) these goals lift up the highest objectives of 4-H Club work. They are intended as challenges to all 4-H Club members in Georgia to improve their individual and club actions.

- The 13 Four-H goals for 1960 are:
1. Learn to grow the 4-H way through proper development of our head, heart, hands and health.
 2. While striving to be the best 4-H member, we should encourage others to be the same.
 3. To promote a better understanding of the "People to People" program and continue urging state wide participation.
 4. Further encourages Share and Care program.
 5. To emphasize the opportunities offered through the 4-H Club to urban members as well as rural members and to urge more participation in projects on a county level.
 6. Encourage adults to take

FARMER OF TOMORROW

Examining Agrico-fertilized corn are bill Walden and J. L. Mosley, Agrico fieldmen.

"I compared three fertilizers on my corn last year to see which would return the most profit. Agrico for Corn 6-12-12 and two other brands with different analyses. After figuring costs and checking yields, Agrico returned $2.60 more profit per acre than one brand and $11.54 more per acre than the other."

What made this Agrico Difference for Mr. Walden? Just this: The Agrico fertilizer he used was specially formulated for his crop and soil conditions. For higher yields and profits on your next crop, use premium-quality Agrico. See your Agrico Agent today.

CONSERVATION NEWS

By E. T. "Red" MULLIS

Soil Conservation Service

C. B. Altman, a cooperator of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District in the Clito community is really setting the pace in water disposal systems which include terraces and sodded waterways. He purchased the Pelete farm, northeast of Clito and his home-place over two years ago and now you would not realize it is the same farm.

Last year he devoted his time and efforts toward trying to level down the old terraces and fill up gullies. He also cleaned up areas that had been abandoned because of erosion and brush encroachment. This was in preparation for a good terrace and waterway system that would control erosion and build up the productivity of the land.

This year Mr. Altman was ready for the big job. He had the terrace line by the Soil Conservation Service and constructed by the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District. He hired Ernest Carter, contractor with Mr. Costly, operator of the tractor and pan, to construct the waterways.

This was a big job because of the number and length of the waterways. Also, the natural drains had galled out up the hill and sanded in at the foot of the hills. The earth had to be moved out and deposited in low places in the terraces and on washed out clay knolls.

Next, Mr. Altman will sprig Coastal Bermuda in the waterways and overseed with Bahi grass.

Sweet potato sets farmers thinking about plant sources

By Roy Powell, County Agent

But the investigators found that more time and feed are needed to produce a market hog. In study, researchers added 16 to 28 percent dehydrated alfalfa meal to the rations of swine weighing 100, 125, and 150 pounds, and reduced protein levels of feed when swine were finishing in feedlots. Carcass backfat, bacon thickness, and the percentage of total fat were significantly reduced by feeding extra alfalfa to hogs of all weights tested. Progressive decreases in rate of gain and feed use efficiency were noted. Sweet potato sets farmers thinking about plant sources.

For fertilization use a 5-10-15 analysis unless your soil test shows high phosphorus. If phosphorus is high use a 5-10-10 analysis. Fertilizer rates of 1,500, 2,000 pounds can be used profitably. Initial application of 800 pounds should be made two to three weeks before planting. The rest should be applied as sidedressing. Sweet potato sets farmers thinking about plant sources.

Conservation contracts are good April 15

CONSERVATION RESERVE CONTRACTS START APRIL 15 effect not later than April 15, 1960, according to John F. Bradley, administrative officer of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office.

The contract provides that it goes into effect when the farmer starts his operations to establish the conservation cover on the cropland under contract but in no case later than April 15, 1960.

Bradley gave this example: A farmer signed a Conservation Reserve contract on December 15. He starts his operations to establish the conservation cover on the cropland under contract but in no case later than April 15, 1960.

However, if the start on the preparation for the grass seeding did not take place until April 20, the contract would go into effect on April 15, Bradley reminds all farmers with land in the Conservation Reserve that after the effective date of the contract the land may not be harvested or crop may be harvested from it during the life of the contract.

Under contracts signed for the years 1956 through 1959, Bradley stated that 788,500 acres of land have been withdrawn from agricultural production in Georgia and devote to conservation cover. These are now drawing more than 8½ million dollars.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. P. C. Hanard, Fountain City, Tenn.; three brothers, W. W. Byrd, Indianapolis, Ind.; J. C. Byrd and Dubbs Byrd, both of Statesboro; several nieces and nephews.

"I made 1/3 more tobacco by fumigating with D-D Soil Fumigan" and using SMITH'S Special 3-9-9 Tobacco Mix Reports Mr. D. A. Edenfield, R.F.D. 1, Statesboro, Georgia

Mr. Edenfield tells of his experience with D-D Soil Fumigan this way: "I have left check rows in my field and I found D-D treated soil produced 1/3 more tobacco. I would not plant tobacco without fumigating with D-D. This year I made 2354 pounds of tobacco per acre."

D-D really makes the difference! Thousands of tobacco growers prove this year after year. You can, too! D-D Soil Fumigan is easy to apply. Simply inject it into the soil with inexpensive tractor attachment or gravity flow equipment. Once in the soil D-D becomes a penetrating gas which kills nematodes as it spreads. It's inexpensive, too. A single preplant application is all you need for an entire season.

Full bigger tobacco profits this season. Use D-D Soil Fumigan before you plant! Be prepared... order your supply today!

Youth Assembly opposes bill to put prison near Rock Eagle

By A. Joe McGlamery

"Sine Die" These were the words spoken by Jerry Blasingame, Speaker of the House, and Lt. Governor Charles Hicks, President of the Senate, Saturday, March 5, at the 15th YMC A Youth Assembly came to a close.

The assembly began Thursday with the Roll Call early in the afternoon at the State Capitol. Many high school delegates were late arriving because of the freezing weather.

The House and Senate reconvened in a joint session at 7:15 to hear the address by Honorable Ernest Vandiver, Governor of Georgia. Also speaking to the 660 participants was Youth Governor Cullen Gilliland, of Dalton.

The delegates were faced with sixteen bills in the House, and twenty-two bills and two resolutions in the Senate.

Early Friday, the assembly passed a resolution introduced heartily by Youth Governor Gilliland, calling on Gov. Vandiver to veto a General Assembly resolution asking for a prison camp to be built near Rock Eagle 4-H Center, near Eatonton.

However, at his Friday press conference, Gov. Vandiver upheld the purchase of the camp, since the site was acquired from the federal government, and would save the state about a half-million dollars. He stated, however, that final action on the matter is yet to come.

By Friday morning, the House had passed only three bills. The Senate meanwhile, was almost without business. Therefore, a limitation on debate was established, and business "picked-up."

A Senate bill which would have reduced capital punishment to a life imprisonment failed to receive the two-thirds constitutional majority necessary for its enactment into law. The bill brought about the most
