Statesboro's 1960 population shows 37 percent increase for '50-'60 decade

Thirty-seven percent more people live in Statesboro today than lived here in 1950. And two and three-tenths per cent more people live in Bulloch County today than lived in the county in 1950.

According to Mr. Alfred Mann, district supervisor for the 1960 census, the 1960 population of Statesboro is 8,384 and the 1960 population of Bulloch County is 24,299.

The 1960 city population shows a gain of 2,287 over the 1950 census figure of 6,097. The 1960 county population shows a gain of 674 over the 1950 census figure of 23,625.

Mr. Mann made it plain that these figures are the "preliminary figures" and could change with the release of the final and official count.

Mayor Bill Bowen expressed delight that both the city and county show population gains. He pointed out that there are still a lot of people who call Statesboro their home who live just beyond the city limits and are not included in the city's population figures.

Previous census counts for the city and county are:

1880, Statesboro, 27; Bulloch County, 8,053.

1890, Statesboro, 525; Bulloch County, 13,709.

1900, Statesboro, 1,150; 1910, Statesboro, 2,630.

1930, Statesboro, 3,996; Bulloch County, 26,509.

1940, Statesboro, 5,028; Bulloch County, 26,010.

1950, Statesboro, 6,097; Bulloch County, 23,625.

1960, Statesboro, 8,384; Bulloch County, 24,299.

School survey is complete in county

Members of the Bulloch County Board of Education and citizens interested in the school program of the county met at the county courthouse on Tuesday morning of this week and heard Dr. A. L. Davis, chief of School Plant Services of the Georgia Department of Education, make a preliminary report of their findings in a study of the schools of the county.

Dr. Davis headed a survey team made up of Dr. Joe Williams, dean of students of the University of Georgia, Athens; T. C. Chambers of the State School Building Authority, Dr. H. Victor Bulloch, of the curriculum division of the state department of Education; L. H. Cook, supervisor of vocational agriculture of Laurens County, Dublin; and John Maddox, W. E. Tombs, O. H. Joiner, J. N. Baker, all of the State Department of Education and S. A. Jenkins County School Superintendent of Screven County.

Dr. Davis stated that the complete report, together with the group's recommendations, will be made to County School Superintendent H. P. Womack in about two weeks.

Mr. Womack stated that the county school board would meet today to take a "first look" at the report while awaiting the final report and recommendations.

"When we get the report of the findings of these people who made the study of the school situation in our county, we want to give the citizens of the county the complete picture," Mr. Womack said.

"At this time we will have with us one who is well qualified and well known in his particular field, that of Recreation. Mr. Max Lockwood is superintendent of Recreation in Statesboro and has, at my request, agreed to come and give us

Rotarians hear story of local phone company

From thirty-five subscribers on a magneto line in April, 1901, the Statesboro Telephone Company has grown to more than 3,500 stations on an automatic dial system today.

That's the story C. J. Mathews, president of the company, told members of the Statesboro Rotary Club in his "classification" talk at the club Monday of this week.

"In 1950 the total plant investment was $190,000 and today it is $750,000. Today we are employing forty-nine people and our April payroll was $13,000. Our total operating expenses averages out about $17,000 a month today as compared with $7,000 in 1950, Mr. Mathews said. "These figures explain why we contend that the Statesboro Telephone Company is one of the big little industries in our community," he added.

Mr. Mathews, in reviewing the history of the company, said that Alexander Graham Bell was granted a patent for the first telephone in 1876. "Approximately twenty years later, some far-sighted Bulloch County citizens established telephone service in Statesboro. Among those were the late J. L. Mathews, W. S. Preetorius, John W. Olliff and James A. Brannen," he said.

In 1913 the company purchased the building on South Main Street and converted the telephone system from a magneto to a common battery exchange. Then in 1954 the new dial system replaced the common battery system and is housed in a modern plant on East Grady Street. The business office remains in the South Main Street building.

In telling about the future Mr. Mathews said:

"Within the next few months or years, you may expect to dial your own long-distance calls. As a matter of fact this is already in the engineering stages for Statesboro. You may look forward to more telephones in automobile. This is in the engineering stages for Statesboro."

Mr. Mathews presented Miss Bernice Woodcock chief operator for the company, Mr. Eddie Bibisi, plant superintendent and D. B. Franklin, head of the company's commercial department.

CLITO BAPTIST WMS HOLDS MAY MEETING AT THE CHURCH

The Clito Baptist WMS held its regular May meeting at the church with eight members present. The program "You Can Tell," was presented with all members taking part. ## "Miss Lilly Deal retires"

And so Mrs. D. L. Deal, "Miss Lilly" to the hundreds of students who came under her tutelage, retired from the profession of teaching on Monday of this week.

Her retirement closed a period of more than forty years during which she taught English and Journalism to the students of Statesboro High School.

Monday morning at the Statesboro High School auditorium she stood before a capacity crowd of students, friends and admirers and accepted a standing ovation with the same dignity which has characterized all her public appearances over the state of Georgia. She endeared herself forever with her simple statement, "I hope I have never said anything to hurt anyone . . . If I have, I now beg your pardon."

Mrs. Deal loved young people. She loved to teach them English and Journalism. She had the happy faculty of turning English into something exciting, something not found in the text books she used. She sort of made up her English course as she went along, turning away from the text and leading her students into delightful paths which revealed the subject as something to be enjoyed. To her, Journalism was not something out of a textbook, but was today's headlines, p o u n d i n g presses, crackling radio news and daily events tumbling over each other seeking expression through the press and over the radio.

We have a feeling for those students who will be attending Statesboro High School in the coming years. For to them will be denied the experience of sitting in Miss Lilly's English or Journalism class and listening to her as she breathes life and excitement into these two subjects.

We commend you

We congratulate all those young people who were given special awards, who were acclaimed as honor graduates and who were presented with scholarships, in the annual Honors Day Assembly at Statesboro High School on Monday of this week.

We do a lot of screaming about our young people, but when we see such a large number being honored for the good things they do and being recognized for the distinctions which they bring to their parents and school, we must admit there are many fine youth in our community.

We commend you all and hope that your future will be as bright for you as it appeared during Honors Day on that Monday May 30, 1960.

The two Miss Sallies

Miss Sallie Zetterower and Miss Sallie Prine have retired from the profession of teaching.

In special ceremonies at the Sallie Zetterower Elementary School last Friday evening, their former students and friends honored them and paid high tribute to them for their great and wonderful service to the children of this community.

Miss Sallie Zetterower, with over fifty years of teaching in Statesboro, can look back upon her career with great satisfaction for a wonderful work, well done. Her friends and admirers are

City of Statesboro's office Mrs. Deal began teaching here in 1917. Except for two years, 1930-1931, when she served as principal of the Stilson School, her teaching has been continuous in the Statesboro High School, though not confined to Statesboro. She served one summer as a member of the summer faculty of Georgia Southern College in Athens. She served on the summer faculty of Georgia Southern College for six years, and for four years she served as a member of the board of trustees at G. S. C. W.

She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Mercer University in 1931, her Master of Arts degree from the University of Georgia in 1938 and her Bachelor of Arts in Journalism from the University of Georgia in 1931. She is a member of the National Education Association, the Georgia Education Association and the Bulloch County Education Association. She is also a member of the National Council of Teachers of English, the National Association of Journalism Directors and the National Association of Quill and Scroll.

As faculty advisor for the Hi-Owl, student newspaper at Statesboro High School, she has guided the publication to may state and national honors. The newspaper received two top awards in the Georgia Scholastic Press Association for the past two years, in addition to other awards. Recently in Athens she was cited as being one of the "most distinguished journalists in the nation."

As so to that grand lady of Statesboro High School we doff our hat and throw it high into the air and say, "You've performed a wonderful service in your time . . . may your retirement bring you all the joy and happiness you deserve."

AA helps those who come seeking help

People who are trying to help all families to protect the alcoholic. To protect the drinker from the consequences of his drinking is to condone his drinking. The family does not want to do this, but there are some tragic alternatives. Left to his own devices, the alcoholic may get into a fight, be jailed, forge checks, wreck a car or burn up the house and himself with it.

It is easy to tell the family to cut him loose and stop protecting him, but let him learn what happens when he and his bottle are managing his life all by themselves. But it is difficult for the family to demand that attitude because they love him and want to see no harm come to him.

Nevertheless, removal of protection may, more than anything else, lead to these periods of clarity. Taking away the buffers and letting the alcoholic experience the consequences of his drinking may focus before him the unmistakable causal relationships between his drinking and his misfortunes.

One prominent authority calls these lucid intervals, "crises." He compares them to brief rays of sunlight breaking through heavy clouds. They shine brightly and then as quickly are gone.

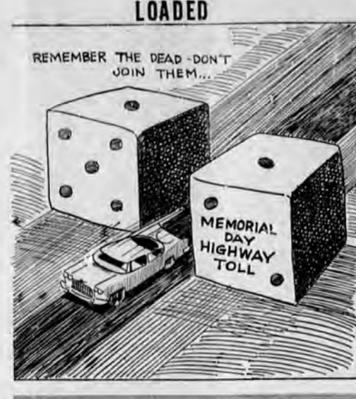

During these periods, the alcoholic is receptive and may accept help. He is, for a short time, being honest with himself. Approached with understanding, the notion that he would like to quit drinking can grow into a fierce desire to be sober.

Except for these transient flashes of open-mindedness, the alcoholic's mind is usually closed; talking to him about the wonders of sobriety is useless.

Unless we have these facts, we can plan a more effective campaign against alcoholism. As it is an illness, we can stop preaching to him, criticizing him and blaming him. As he won't stop drinking until he wants to stop, we can direct our efforts toward helping him develop the DESIRE to stop and cease trying to MAKE him stop.

We have already noted that the alcoholic who is capable of self-appraisal has occasional moments of clarity when he wants to give up drinking. It is logical, then, that measures which prolong these periods or increase the frequency may in the end promote sobriety.

This Week's Meditation

DEAR GRADUATE, I rejoice with you in your having accomplished a not a trifle milestone in your educational life. Soon you will receive your high school diploma and "commence" another part of the maturing process.

Perhaps you have already applied for entrance to a college, a business school, or for a job in the business world. Whatever your choice, as your pastor, I want to share with you certain basic convictions which I hold about "the living of these days."

THE FUTURE BELONGS TO those of strong moral character. I am convinced of this. Criticism of our present day lack of moral stamina comes not from the pupil alone. The American people must become ruthlessly honest with themselves and make integrity a primary virtue.

THE FUTURE BELONGS TO those who will employ self-discipline in all things. This quality is so essential to modern living. It means a person will continue in the learning process whether he is in college or in the business world. We never outgrow our need to learn. It means he will keep a balance

I have visited your county several times and have done some quiet hunting over there and it is easy to understand how you have lost weight. As in the program being harmful to the gopher family, I do not think the gasoline fumes will harm the gophers. Incidentally, of course all rattler do not enter gopher holes to spend their winters but many of them do.

The already full-up teacher says, "we'll love to come." She meant it and she did love to go and she enjoyed every minute when she went, but the clock keeps ticking away the seconds, the minutes, the hours.

THE LITTLE "farewell" party given for our retiring teachers are so nice. It gives us an opportunity to sit and visit with folks we don't see enough. Too, it's so encouraging to see teachers looking so young who are supposed to be of retiring age. It makes us feel that the birth certificate must have been wrong or else retirement is for the young. We are so accustomed to them that we don't realize how hard it is to get them away from us until we suddenly look with another person's eyes.

EVERY year it seems that we get worse and worse about some things. One of our friends declared there was a year when we got to the front door and found a concert given by the Devil in hand (as was playing and of course we couldn't miss it).

SO NEXT year when we're slumping at the bars and wondering if we'll make it and swearing we'll do better the next year, there'll be our kindred souls plugging along with us, and our methodical friends fondly cheered because they aren't like us.

We get used to our children and we don't realize how hard it is to get them away from us until we suddenly look with another person's eyes. Houses are the same. We are so accustomed to them that we don't realize how hard it is to get them away from us until we suddenly look with another person's eyes.

EVERY year it seems that we get worse and worse about some things. One of our friends declared there was a year when we got to the front door and found a concert given by the Devil in hand (as was playing and of course we couldn't miss it).

SO NEXT year when we're slumping at the bars and wondering if we'll make it and swearing we'll do better the next year, there'll be our kindred souls plugging along with us, and our methodical friends fondly cheered because they aren't like us.

RECREATION SAFETY Two of the principal causes of non-occupational fatal accidents occurring on farmland and around service buildings are drownings and firearms.

Always handle cows slowly and gently, advises H. K. Welch, Jr., dairyman, Agricultural Extension Service.

I SIT AT MY desk during these early morning hours in Memorial Day and try in vain to find in my heart some message of hope in the sacrifice of the thousands of American Men in the Korean War. Still called a "conflict" by our present leaders in government, not many Americans realize that almost as many of our boys gave their lives on the fields in Flanders in World War I.

THE CLOSING OF school affairs finds some of us in the Unprepared, that is. Also, resurrection shape Christmas finds us never again to be caught so near the end of the year.

OUR course, there are the intelligent teachers who budget their time, as well as their money. They don't get caught short. They are methodical, exacting, and wonderful. They aren't the folks we're thinking about.

THERE are those folks who have all they can possibly get done and a telephone call says, "Our retiring teacher is having a supper party given by me and so." The already full-up teacher says, "we'll love to come." She meant it and she did love to go and she enjoyed every minute when she went, but the clock keeps ticking away the seconds, the minutes, the hours.

THE LITTLE "farewell" party given for our retiring teachers are so nice. It gives us an opportunity to sit and visit with folks we don't see enough. Too, it's so encouraging to see teachers looking so young who are supposed to be of retiring age. It makes us feel that the birth certificate must have been wrong or else retirement is for the young. (something to anticipate will not be true.)

THERE WAS the year that the first guest started up the walk before Pa had tie on and before Ma had on any make-up.

Houses are like children to great extent as far as parents are concerned. JIM BROCK, manager of the local Statesboro Coca Cola Bottling plant is shown standing with Mr. Charlie Brinson, Piggly Wiggly store manager beside the largest Coca Cola display ever assembled here in Statesboro, Ga. Mr. Brock stated that with the display there are several hundred cases of Coca Cola and on top of the display stands a six foot high Coca Cola bottle.

DRAINAGE OF PLANTS
T. G. Williams, landscape specialist, Agricultural Extension Service, points out that drainage is important for appearances and for good growth of plants. Provide for proper runoff of surface water before landscape plantings and construction materials are added, he advises.

CEMENT COATED NAILS
Cement coated nails are nearly twice as hard to withdraw from softwoods, say engineers, Agricultural Extension Service. This advantage tends to decrease with time. The coating has little or no effect when the nail is driven into heavy hardwood, they add.

Senior Citizens display fine array of hats

By MRS. DON RUSSELL

The Senior Citizen Club met at the Fair Road Center for their regular monthly meeting, Tuesday May 24th at 4 p.m. After the opening by the president, Miss Janie Jones, a short devotional was given by Mrs. Elaine Hulst.

The group quickly got underway with their Crazy hat contest which the ladies had been looking forward to. Winner for the very "craziest hat" was Mrs. H. M. Toets. Her hat was made from a lamp shade, highly decorated with colorful flowers of all kinds. The most "original hat" winner was Mrs. Lucile Deal. Her hat was deal original since it was from various kitchen utensils, beginning with a colander, she decorated it with everything from measuring spoons down to a mixture of fresh salad vegetables.

The "very best hat" was presented by Mrs. W. E. Helmy. Her hat was a lovely creation of pink background with dainty flowers all around, even to a tiny bird nest with eggs in it. It was a hat anyone would be delighted to wear on most any occasion.

The three kind and brave gentlemen who were our judges for this event were Mr. R. L. Cannon, Mr. Leavelle Deal, Her hat was deal original since it was from various kitchen utensils, beginning with a colander, she decorated it with everything from measuring spoons down to a mixture of fresh salad vegetables.

The judges were high in their praise for the work and talent shown in this project. There was much fun and laughter as the ladies modeled their hats. A lovely pot plant was presented as a prize to each of the winners.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lucile Deal and Miss Clara Roberts. The door prize went to Mrs. M. Lanier and the only birth day celebrated for the month of May was that of Miss Miriam Roberts.

F. Everett Williams of Statesboro, has been named chairman for the Joint Tech-Georgia Development Fund according to an announcement made recently by M. E. Kilpatrick and Walter Mitchell of Atlanta, general chairmen of the 1960 campaign.

Mr. Williams said that it is hoped that $2,000 would be raised in Bulloch County this year. He said that $183,000 has already been raised for the Fund this year in the state.

The Joint Tech-Georgia Development Committee was formed in 1956 as a result of a study of the two schools which had been made by business leaders who were shocked at the loss of faculty members which had developed into serious proportions over a period several years. The study showed clearly that there were critical needs that could not yet be met from state funds even though state support for the University System had been steadily increasing. If Tech and Georgia were to maintain their standards and do the job that the developing and expanding businesses of this state demanded of them, something had to be done. The study committee recommended immediate action to supplement faculty salaries to stem the tide of losses and to fill important vacancies. In 1956, 1957, 1958 and 1959 contributions were received could not yet be met from state from an increasing number of firms and foundations. By the end of last year more than 400 firms were making annual contributions totaling over $200,000. This is the equivalent of the income from an endowment of $5,000,000.

A WASTE PAPER BASKET with growing ivy, a lamp shade with everything but the kitchen sink tied to it, a bread basket inverted and birli nes s, aluminum pots and pans with plastic cups and saucers with fresh vegetables, all qualified as "hats" in the Crazy Hat show and contest at the Recreation Center on Tuesday last week at the regular meeting of the Senior Citizens. Shown here are left to right, Miss Janie Jones, president, Mrs. Lucile Deal, Mrs. L. L. Roberts, Mrs. L. T. Denmark Sr. and Mrs. H. M. Toets. Center, wearing the lamp shade creation, is Mrs. Levy Rushing. Then Mrs. Calrence McCoy, Mrs. Lanton Atkins, Mrs. Doaic Kennedy, Mrs. L. W. Lanier and Mrs. C. P. Martin.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lucile Deal and Miss Clara Roberts. The door prize went to Mrs. M. Lanier and the only birth day celebrated for the month of May was that of Miss Miriam Roberts.

Biggest season is expected at Rec Center this summer

Welcome to the Recreation Centers of Statesboro. We look forward to the biggest season in the history of the Recreation Department.

ALL PLAYGROUNDS OPEN AT 9 A. M. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 12 a.m. and from 2 p.m. Monday through Friday.

THE SNACK SHACK is located in Memorial Park, and is open as listed above. This facility is under supervision full-time and has facilities for low priced games such as ping pong, checkers, card games and games of like nature.

PLAYGROUNDS AT THE Fair Road Center in Memorial Park, at the East Side Center and at the Blitch Street Center are open from 10 p.m. to 12 p.m.

MEMORIAL SWIM CENTER This facility plays a tremendous role in the summer program. Located in Memorial Park, the Swim Center is composed of swimming pool, the kiddie pool, tennis courts, picnic area, sun bathing areas and features the large covered pavilion.

THE SWIMMING POOL is open to the public each week from 2 to 6 p.m. The weekly morning hours are reserved for swimming instruction classes, with the exception of Saturday morning.

BASEBALL for all boys 8 through 18 years of age. All boys are assigned to teams and play two days each week. Playing dates are the same each week as Tuesday and Thursday for one age and Monday and Friday for another.

SOFTBALL receives major emphasis in the summer program and there are some 8 teams with more than 100 players. These games are played each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights in Memorial Park.

GSC Eagles to play in NAIA national baseball tournament

The Georgia Southern College Eagles will leave Statesboro Thursday, June 2 at 11 p.m. by bus for Sioux City, Iowa and the eight-team National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics national baseball tournament, starting June 6.

This will be the first trip by Georgia Southern (formerly Georgia Teachers College) to a national baseball tournament, although the Eagles participated in NCAA District Three's Southeastern play-off in 1957.

Willie Wirehand Says JUNE... is DAIRY MONTH Since the beginning milk has played an important part in the life of man. Georgia no longer imports whole milk. It is a complete food. Since 1935 dairying in Georgia has jumped by leaps and bounds. Most dairymen have access to central station electric power thru Rural Electric Cooperatives. Our progress in dairying could not have been so great without electricity.

Kerstin, now Mrs. Nevy Clark of Savannah, returned to Georgia Southern College last week to see the many changes that have occurred since she lived here. While waiting for the picture to be taken, Elna confessed to Kerstin that one of the most difficult things to do was to say she alphabet in English. To Elna's surprise Kerstin stated she still couldn't count in English.

Your Opportunities In Industry as a Technician

By DON HACKETT
Professor and Head of Industrial Education Department
Georgia Southern College

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles prepared by Dr. Donald F. Hackett, professor and head of the Industrial Education Department of Georgia Southern College, designed to inform young people of the opportunities as technicians. It is an adaptation and a quotation, in part, from a National Association of Manufacturers publication "Your Opportunities in Industry as a Technician."

While science and technology probe the sun, moon, Venice and other planets, opportunities in research, development and manufacture are opening right in your own backyard. It is estimated that by 1975-1980 the Savannah River Area will develop into one of the most highly industrialized areas in the world.

The science fiction of yesterday is today's fact: Armatrol, Bizmac, Multra, Oracle, Serva, Univac - massive electronic brains can now see, feel, measure, control, count, sort, interpret foreign languages and perform repetitive operations with staggering accuracy.

Data processors can add or subtract 27,000 problems a second and multiply and divide problems at the rate of 4,000 a second. Better than just calculating and translating, these astounding devices can also remember. Thousands of symbols, words, letters or figures can be stored in the memory units to be later utilized as wage rates, costs, temperatures, production quotas or other data which can be coded.

In a few years "rock 'n' roll" may become as corny as "top" is now. An electronic brain completed a few months ago "writes" completes songs at the rate of 1,000 per hour. The operator merely substitutes numbers in a precise formula for notes, and equations for tempo. Then the whole joint jumps.

Pirouette Dance Club has party at Country Club

The Forest Heights Country Club was transformed into the exotic color, costume, chair and decor of Japan for the annual spring dance of the Pirouette Dance Club Friday evening, May 20.

Japanese wind chimes, tinkling at the front door and at the door opening on the porch. Japanese lanterns furnished lights and shadows. Heavy silk Japanese costumes were draped on an intricately designed screen. The mantel was decorated with beautiful Japanese dolls with dresses elegantly fashioned from heavily embroidered silk in vibrant colors and rich gold.

The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of vivid red peonies flanked by wrought iron Japanese lanterns. The guests were served colorful hors d'oeuvres, deviled eggs, a variety of dips, bacon biscuit stuffed celery, tiny sausages bubbling in pungent sauce in a chafing dish, fang cakes and fruit punch. Mrs. Jack Tillman and Dr. Katherine Lovett were co-chairmen for the dance.

Music was furnished by the College Combo of Georgia Southern College. The dance cards were decorated with real push-up Japanese umbrellas. There were 110 dancers present.

Miss Ruth Bolton honored at Georgia Southern

On Thursday evening May 19th, Misses Queen and Jane Collins of Pittman Park, assisted by Miss Marjorie Crouch, entertained with a buffet supper in honor of Miss Ruth Bolton of the faculty of Georgia Southern College.

Tomato juice cocktail with English cheese wafers was served in the living room as the guests enjoyed records of classical piano music. The buffet supper was served from the dining table on which was a pure linen hand-embroidered banquet cloth from Brussels, purchased by Queen on her trip to Europe last year. At the end of the table against the wall was an arrangement of pink gladioli placed directly underneath a hanging hand-painted china plate of pink wild rose design. Pink roses from the garden were used in the living room.

The delicious supper consisted of baked ham with pine apple, Southern fried chicken green beans, glazed carrots, rice, chicken giblet, cranberry jelly, peach pickles, stuffed celery, and ripe olives. After the guests served their plates, they were seated at tables in the solarium where coffee, iced tea and dessert were added. The dessert was time shared with pink iced party cakes and fruit cake, a special gift to Jane from Los Angeles, California.

Those invited were Misses Ruth Bolton, Hattie McEveen, Bertha Freeman, Lizzie Norman, Virginia Parker, Constance Cone, Marie Wood, Marjorie Crouch, and Mrs. Archie Jackson.

Miss Ruth Bolton honored, was presented a gift by the hostesses.

Invitation to visit Miss Cimino at Minkovitz

"No woman ever should reveal her age," insists Helena Rubinstein, "because every woman can look 10 years younger than she really is!" The ageless beauty pioneer puts this theory into practice. You can, too!

Get on the "Look Younger — and Lovelier" bandwagon with a visit to Miss Angela Cimino. She is a leading New York beauty consultant, trained in Madame Rubinstein's famous Fifth Avenue Salon. She will be at Minkovitz Store from June 10th through 7th to share with you the secrets of "look younger" hair coloring, skin care and make-up.

Want to look young though gray? Or to hide your gray? Or to change your hair color all the way? Miss Cimino will analyze your hair problems and suggest the newest, simplest and safest steps to beautiful hair. These individual consultations will include guidance in skin care and how to choose and apply makeup color-mated to your hair.

Miss Cimino will prepare personalized skin care guides for all who visit her. You will also take home a personalized hair and make-up color beauty guide, including tips on how to do the latest hair styles. And, with your free consultation, you will also receive a free beauty gift from Helena Rubinstein.

So discover the exciting new way to a lovelier, younger you. Visit Miss Angela Cimino at Minkovitz Store.

Rufus Richardson gets high school diploma after 21 years

Twenty-one years after attending the Marvin Pittman High School, Rufus E. Richardson received his diploma in absentia at the graduation program held at the high school Monday night.

Richardson, who had attended the Marvin Pittman High School in 1938 and 1939, completed his remaining work towards the diploma at the United States Air Force Institute while overseas.

Now a technical sergeant in the Air Force, Richardson passed the General Education Development Test required along with his study toward his diploma.

"What I feel is so significant about this situation," stated Mr. J. A. Pafford, principal of the Marvin Pittman School, "is that Mr. Richardson has discovered over the years how very essential a high school diploma is in today's world."

Richardson was one of 25 students awarded diplomas at the graduation exercises Monday night.

Post Office launches mail box improvement program

LOOK AT YOUR mail box. What shape is it in? Is it a credit to your home? Your local rural mail carrier is inviting you to participate in "Rural Mail Box Improvement Week" which means that you can improve your mail delivery service by improving your mail box. Check it and see how you can improve it. Then do it. Shown here at the display in front of the Statesboro post office are left to right: Hubert Crouse, Alex Futch, Russey L. Prosser, Postmaster Regard DeLoach, Jack Brannen, Loyd "Red" Brown, Walter G. Groover and Assistant Postmaster Frank Hook.

The Post Office Department has this week launched a program of Mail Box Improvement. Emphasis is being placed on repair, painting and replacement of those boxes on city and rural routes that are not in good condition.

The Post Office wishes to encourage patrons to provide suitable mail receptacles, erected and maintained for safe accessibility, presenting a neat appearance and affording protection to the mail. Boxes that are not properly erected or not maintained in good serviceable condition retard the delivery of mail and also expose it to the weather. Boxes that are no longer serviceable must be replaced. A neat attractive box with your name attached or painted on, identifies and introduces you to those who pass your way. All rural boxes must be of the type approved by the Post Office Department.

On the front lawn of the local Post Office is a display of the different types of approved mail boxes. These can be located at several of the local stores in Statesboro. The Post Office urges and requests the cooperation of all patrons in this mail box improvement program.

Mattie Lively PTA holds last 1959-60 meet

The Mattie Lively PTA held its final meeting for this school year on Tuesday night, May 10.

The devotional was given by the children of the first three grades, under the direction of Miss Bertha Hagin, Miss Alaine Smith, and Mrs. Lottie Futch.

During the brief business session, President Francis Trappnell expressed appreciation to the Spade and Trowel Garden Club for setting out shrubbery at Mattie Lively.

Mr. Joe Neville, a past president of Mattie Lively PTA, installed the following officers for the 1960-61 school year:

Herman Bray, President; H. P. Jones, Jr., Vice-president; Mrs. Henry Banks, Secretary; Hubert Smith, Treasurer; and Francis Trappnell, Parliamentarian.

The main feature of the evening was a musical entitled "Our American Music," presented by the pupils of the seventh grade. This program directed by Mrs. J. D. Park assisted by Mr. Carene Mallard, presented selections from some of the most outstanding groups and periods of the musical history of our country.

Carl Collins is promoted at Berry College

MOUNT BERRY, Ga., May 23
Carl T. Collins, for the past seven years business manager of Berry college, has been promoted to the position of director of development, President John R. Bertrand has announced. The position of director of development was created by Berry trustees at their last meeting. Mr. Collins' replacement as business manager has not yet been announced and Mr. Collins will serve in a dual capacity until his replacement is selected and reports for duty.

In announcing the appointment President Bertrand said, "Mr. Collins will direct our fund raising efforts with individuals, foundations, businesses and industry. He will be responsible for coordinating as a part of the total program, the fund raising aspects of Berry's work with the many thousands of Berry's friends, and with alumni."

"He will be responsible for coordinating as a part of the development program the activities of the newly created Martha Berry museum, which will be headed by Mrs. Inez Henry. He will also coordinate our work with school groups. In short, he will be responsible to the president for the total of the public relations and fund raising work generally designated as development."

Mr. Collins is a Georgian, native of Statesboro. He was graduated from Georgia Southern College and did graduate work at the University of Florida, the University of Missouri, and the University of Omaha.

He has had varied business experience, in addition to ten years he spent as instructor in vocational education in the Columbus and Newnan high schools. He was successively connected with the R. D. Cole Manufacturing Company, of Newnan, manager of the Newnan radio station, and director of the Newnan Housing Authority. During World War II he served in the navy as Lt. j. g.

Community work has held a prominent part of Mr. Collins' attention. He was president of the Newnan Kiwanis club; president and manager of the Newnan Chamber of Commerce; and district chairman of the polo fund of the Newnan area. He is currently serving as district chairman for organization and extension in the Northwest Georgia Council of Boy Scouts of America, and chairman of the First District American Cancer Society. He is vice-

Why Look Beyond America's 1st Choice Car for the things you want

With wagons like this one in the lineup, it's no wonder Chevrolet is the most popular car in the whole U. S. All five Chevy wagons, 6- and 9-passenger models, are widest where wagons should be wide—with comfortable seating space that becomes up to 92-cu. ft. of cargo area by a simple adjustment. All five feature all the things that are making Chevrolet first choice, too: FULL COIL SUSPENSION cushioning all four wheels... an ECONOMY TURBO-FIRE V6 that gets up to 10% more miles to the gallon on regular gas, or that well-known saving, the HI-TURBO... the shift-free smoothness of TURBOGLIDE... a wider front seat and more entrance height in Chevy's ROOMIER BODY BY FISHER than you'll find in any other car of the leading low-priced 3. Now's the best time to stop and let your dealer list all the reasons why YOU CAN'T BUY ANY CAR FOR LESS UNLESS IT'S A LOT LESS CAR! *Optional at extra cost.
