New Course In Home Nursing Is Offered At GSC

A new home economics course entitled, "Family Health and Home Nursing," will be taught for one month during the winter and spring quarters, according to Miss Frances Anderson of the home economics division.

The course, which is listed in the college bulletin as Home Economics 460, is open to all students and would be beneficial especially to home economists and health and physical education majors. Miss Anderson stated.

For the first two weeks of the class, the American Red Cross State Nursing Director, Miss Mary Elizabeth Faircloth, will be on the GSC campus.

The course will be taught from January 3 through February 2 and classes will be certified to teach a course entitled, "American Red Cross Home Nursing-Care of Sick and Injured." This course is also valuable for community service work with Civil Defense.

Any interested student may attend the class from January 26 through February 2 when the Public Health Nurse will teach a unit entitled, "Mother and Baby Care." Students should notify Miss Anderson before January 26 if they plan to attend the class during this week.

Complete-Mixed Or Free-Choice

By ROY POWELL, County Agent

Free-choice versus complete-mixed rations for swine feeding is probably one of the most controversial areas among swine producers.

Even though these types of feeding have been studied extensively, an examination of published experimental data indicates considerable variation in results, due in part to experimental variables regarding the animals, dietary ingredients, and environment.

A simple average of available data published by various experts 4 years on free-choice versus mixed-rations shows that pigs fed complete-mixed rations on concrete grew 4 percent faster but that the free-choice fed pigs made more efficient gains, requiring 3 percent less feed.

However, it took 9 more pounds of ration for each 100 pounds gained by complete-mixed fed pigs than those on free-choice.

Because of the saving in feed and the saving of the grinding and mixing cost, the feeding of free-choice rations on concrete, weighing to market, resulted in a saving of 60 cents for every 100 pounds of pork produced.

However, there is a trend toward feeding of complete-mixed rations and less free-choice. The main reasons for this probably are that a complete-mixed ration lends itself more readily to automation and it allows for maximum use of soybean meal.

REGULAR SAVINGS

Of all the ways there are to make a living, farming must surely rank near the top of the list from the standpoint of uncertainty of results.

What could be more risky than investing your money in an enterprise controlled by so many factors over which you have little or no influence.

Just the same, many smart farmers are hedging against adversity by regular savings. A recent report by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that American farmers own liquid financial assets in excess of $14 billion dollars — $14.3 billion to be exact.

THEY WORK HARDER BECAUSE THEY RIDE EASIER!

Because they ride easier they last longer. Too. They take better care of payloads and they make a long day's work a lot more pleasant for the driver. All that—primarily because of Independent Front Suspension (I.F.S.). If you think it's stretching a point to attribute that many advantages to a suspension system, you haven't driven a new Chevy with I.F.S. Take the wheel and feel its road-leveling ride, its almost total absence of shimmy and wheel fight, its ease of steering even in the big spins. Spend hours behind the wheel and you're not nearly as tired. You're not and neither is the truck. That independent suspension soaks up the worst shocks and vibration—the kind that can twist sheet metal and loosen joints and increase your maintenance costs. That's why Chevy trucks keep on working and saving for extra thousands of miles.

The eternal Christmas story told by Luke

THE STORY OF the birth of Jesus Christ is taken from Luke 2:1-19. It is a tender, heart-warming story that has lived through the ages but is ever new.

And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

And this taxing was first made when Cyrenus was governor of Syria.

All went to be taxed, every one in his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David.)

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her first born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them:

and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them. Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying: Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into Heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known to us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger.

And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

And all they that had heard it wondered at those things which were told them by shepherds.

But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart.

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them:

Our Christmas Wish For You

By Lawrence E. Houston Jr.

A CHRISTMAS MEMORY HER NAME WAS BETTY, and though she had no pedigree, she was the finest dog a boy ever owned. A boy and his dog can make a rare combination. Such was the case with Betty and me. She dogged my steps during the day, and warmed my feet in the wintry night. Her favorite haunt was in the "sitting room" before the open fireplace.

A Christmas memory causes me to introduce you to Betty and my boyhood. Dressing the Christmas tree was always a thrilling, as well as a time-consuming, experience. In those days we would cover the tree with tinsel as a final act of decoration. Then, we would stand back and watch Betty. She would tip-toe into the room, sniff the evergreen scent of the fresh-cut tree, and walk over so carefully around the tree, letting the tinsel rub across her back. It seemed she almost felt a spirit of awe and wonder. That is a Christmas memory I never want to forget!

IN THIS ROCKET-AGE, with such tremendous stress upon space achievements, it is difficult for us to recover a very necessary ingredient of the Christmas message—the spirit of reverent awe.

The shepherds heard the heralding angel's song, and the moon in only the reflected light of the sun.

Finally, in the cold, clear night, I saw the star. (What matters if it was Saturn, Jupiter, or one of the other planets?) In that moment, I left the twentieth century and journeyed back on the wings of imagination, to a quiet clear night on a Judean hillside. There, I too, heard the angel's song, and I knew the Savior had been born for me and for all people everywhere. And I sang in my heart, "Come to me, my heart, Jesus. There is room in my heart for Thee."

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ONE AND ALL!

Letter to the Editor

A Christmas Story

The Editor, The Bulloch Herald, Statesboro, Ga.

I would like to tell you a Xmas story. Have you ever seen little children who have been cold for so long that their hands broken out all over their bodies?

Well, this is what I saw two weeks ago when we had a request to take some food to a family here in Bulloch County. Words cannot describe what we saw when we arrived at this broken down shanty out in the country.

We found seven shivering children suffering from malnutrition and a mentally retarded mother who is expecting another child any time now. When we entered the door we were faced with an appalling situation. The floor was covered with filth and amidst this the floor was a small child munching on a piece of bread. Six other children were hovering around an old stove which would hardly put out any heat. Adding to the cold were cracks in the floor and ceiling. Three of the smallest children had no shoes on. We left the food with sadness and shock and a little guilt in our hearts. This week when it turned so cold I could not sleep for wondering what they were using for heat and cover at night, as before I had noticed that the windows had most of the panes broken out. Other than the stove, was an open fireplace which caused sparks to fly all over the room. As soon as morning came I called out a few friends and together we got up hot food and cover and returned to their house. Not seeing the children's room the first time, I was in for a another shock, when I opened their door I could hardly stand it, for there between two windows (two panes) was a bed with a dirty wet mattress which was sagging in the middle and a hole which was stuffed with rags. The only cover was one old thin quilt. Six of these children had slept there. Later, I found out some had slept on the floor on some old clothes and rags to keep warm.

We dressed and fed the children. Some of the older ones (the oldest was nine) had only this summer clothes on their bodies. The smaller ones were barefoot and their little hands were swollen and red. I'll never forget as long as I live, the food they ate and what they ate. As I would turn them over to my friends who were dressing them, she was crying as she clothed their little bodies. Another of the ladies was running all over the editor's uneasy chair

SUNDAY IS CHRISTMAS. Around the world Christians gather for praise and prayer. At many a hearth loving families pause for devotions. And many a man that day will find at the altar of his own heart a joy, a peace and a spiritual warmth which he has not known for a long time. Christmas is often a quiet day. Of course small children will make merry with their Santa Claus.

Yet there is a pervasive silence such as we have not known through the crowded, almost hectic days of preparation. We've always felt serenely on Christmas Day. There's peace in our hearts and a desire that all people find peace and happiness at this time of the year.

Some folks experience a let-down on Christmas Day. We think of it rather as a letup in which our minds and spirits rest from that spiritual and mystical height wherein at last, after all of the sound and the fury of the last weeks, we discover the real meaning of Christmas, of peace and good-will among men and between man and his God.

On Christmas we sense within us something clean and good and refreshing. We are reinvigorated, revitalized. We feel a new appreciation of life. We wise men followed the star which marked the birthplace of the Savior. In neither instance did the meaning of these events depend upon scientific investigation and proof. Rather, their meanings became clear to those who could express this spirit of awe and wonder.

It is most difficult for us to accept in the spirit of the New Testament, the truth which these word pictures symbolize.

We can never accept them until we recapture the spirit of reverent awe and wonder which characterized the lives of those who in the good news of Christmas first came.

TO DO THIS, we must shift gears in our thinking and our feeling. I tried this the other night while flying back from Nashville, Tennessee. As we left the airport in the gathering darkness of the early night, I saw the lights of the city and the lights of the city which formed the most colorful Christmas decoration anyone could want.

This was also true as we flew over other cities like Chattanooga, Atlanta, Macon, and Savannah. Too, the blaze of fire shooting from the manifold of the four great engines of the airplane was a spectacle of light to behold. When I saw the full moon, I felt this was the most impressive of all the lights. Then I remembered the light of the moon is only the reflected light of the sun.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ONE AND ALL!

Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year to All

Thank you for your friendship and for all the things you do to make our life's work so pleasant and rewarding. May your Christmas be a happy one and your New Year filled with good health and much happiness for you and all those whom you love.

THE LOCKWOODS Honey Ann, Skye, Pratt, Charlie, Ginny and Max

CHILDHOOD is mystified with Christmas, no matter what generation it is. One generation may bemoan the passing of some of the beloved customs but there are new ones that crop up and take their place.

In some parents' time Santa Claus flying down in an airplane from the sky would have been far less realistic than Santa in a sleigh pulled by prancing reindeer. It doesn't matter to the children all around the world whether he comes in an airplane or, "on the white horse," or on a sleigh, or on a camel, or on foot, it's the fact that Santa comes, that really counts!

CHILDREN aren't concerned about the name Santa Claus has. He may be called Saint Nicholas, Smaclaus, Kris Kringle, "Pere Noel," Father Christmas or he may be she in the form of an old woman, Befana, or he may be the three Wise Men. The name doesn't count, it's the fact that he gladdens the hearts of the little children that's important.

MRS. JOHN C. OGDEN

Averitt-Ogden vows spoken at First Methodist Church

The First Methodist Church was the scene of the marriage of Miss Mary Jane Averitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Perry Averitt, to Rev. John Cornelius Ogden of Fort Worth, Texas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Austin Ogden of Little Rock, Ark., Sunday, December 18, at 2:30.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of peau de sole with an oval neckline. The bodice closely fitted with traditional back buttons was accented by the bouffant skirt sweeping from a smooth front and full into a circular cathedral train. Alencon lace embroidered in pearls ornamented the décolletage and formed medallions applied on the bracelet length sleeves. Reconsidered medallions were scattered over the skirt and overlying back panels.

Rockwell acquires assets of Porter-Cable Company

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—An agreement by Rockwell Manufacturing Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., to acquire the assets of the Porter-Cable Machine Company was completed Monday, December 5, following approval of Porter-Cable stockholders at a meeting in Syracuse, N. Y.

The agreement, signed by W. F. Rockwell Jr., president of Rockwell and DeAlton J. Ridings, chairman of the board of Porter-Cable, provides for the acquisition of the assets on the basis of seven shares of Rockwell stock for every 10 shares of Porter-Cable. There are 320,044 shares of Porter-Cable stock outstanding.

Porter-Cable is one of the nation's leading manufacturers of "portable" electric power tools, and Rockwell is well known for its complete line of "stationary" power tools for industry, schools and the home workshop. Porter-Cable will operate as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Rockwell.

According to industry sources the future of the 50-year-old portable power tool field is excellent. Industry sales have increased from $60 million in 1946 to more than $175 million this year. Total sales should reach $200 million in four years, should be more than four times the 1946 level and one-third of this year's pace.

Porter-Cable which had a 20 per cent increase in sales and earnings last year, should meet with good pace with the industry growth pattern, Mr. Rockwell said.

Rockwell now LEADER IN INDUSTRY

Commenting on the acquisition, Mr. Rockwell said, "In line with our established growth policy—which has been called 'planned diversification'—this move is not one that just makes us bigger, but a move that makes us stronger. . . . In terms that mean most to our customers, stockholders and employees."

Unusual Christmas customs of many far-away countries

Although the fact is not generally known, Christmas is relatively new on the American scene. Alabama was the first state to make Christmas a legal holiday — in 1836. Other states followed.

In the early days of America, the celebrating of Christmas was strictly forbidden. A law to that effect was passed in New England in 1659 and people not obeying it were fined or imprisoned. The stern Puritans believed that Christmas was a pagan holiday and ruled that Christmas was repealed in 1680, sectarian hostility to the holiday was strong for several years thereafter.

Much controversy surrounded Christmas in many lands for many years, owing to the fact it was thought by many, to be a pagan holiday. But Christmas came into its own during the Restoration in Europe and has bus to go to the Capitol for the swearing-in ceremonies to be held at 12:00 noon. Later that evening, a dinner will be held with Congressmen as the guest of honor.

After spending the night, the group will have all the day of January 4 to sight see and visit before boarding the train at 8:20 p.m. for the trip back to Savannah.

The cost of the trip, including trainfare, busfare, and hotel room will be $38.27. This does not include food. For children under 12, the train fare will be $20.90.

Those desiring to join the group and make the trip should contact William B. Winters, 348 Drayton St., in Savannah, Georgia. His business telephone is AD 4-9947; he may be reached after 7 p.m. at EL 5-2201.

Present management of Porter-Cable will remain unchanged with Robert C. Tye continuing as president.

Porter-Cable, which has sales last year of approximately $15,000,000, has been a pioneer in the production of portable electric tools. It now manufactures many different types of portable electric saws, sanders, drills, routers, and power planes, as well as electric grass clippers, cultivators, hedge trimmers and gas-powered riding mowers.

Rockwell Manufacturing Company operates 22 plants in the United States and three in foreign countries. It has more than 6,500 employees and 14,000 stockholders and sales last year were $123,000,000. In all, they produce 19 product lines, but these lines group themselves generally into three basic product categories: MEASURING AND REGISTERING DEVICES, such as gas meters, water meters, petroleum meters, taximeters, parking meters and automatic voting machines; CONTROL EQUIPMENT, such as lubricated plug valves for the gas, petroleum and chemical industries, and high pressure steam valves; pressure regulators and electronic control devices for the electric power industry; and STATIONARY POWER TOOLS for industry, school and the home craftsman.

As indicated previously, Rockwell's manufacturing and sales know-how in the field of stationary power tools will fit perfectly with a fourth category—PORTABLE ELECTRIC POWER TOOLS.

The forty-fourth annual performance of the 250-voice choir will be broadcast from the local station. Accompanying the choir are 32 instrumentalists selected from the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra.

Conductor of the choir and orchestra is Franklin S. Weddie, director of music for the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Gift giving began in Rome during the Saturnalia, mainly the presenting of tokens to the poor by the rich, but the early Christians frowned upon the practice. Later Christians came to believe that the giving of presents on Christmas was but a natural expression of love and generosity to the poor and to their friends, acts commemorating the gifts of the Magi to the infant of Jesus.

The use of evergreens at Christmas are age-old traditions, largely because they were and are obvious symbols of enduring life.

The mistletoe we pin over doors at Christmas was held sacred by the Celtic Druids and by the Norsemen, for whom it was the holy and terrible plant that slew Balder, the Sun God. It was known as the plant of peace and was used in old Scandinavia to reconcile enemies.

Kissing under the mistletoe is strictly an English custom, dating back to the Tudor and Stuart reigns, when the English pucker and kissed at the slightest excuse.

Eggnog is the traditional Christmas refreshment in America today, but in old England it was lambwool, a drink consisting of hot ale, sugar, spices, eggs and roasted apples, to which thick cream was sometimes added.

The cost of the trip, including trainfare, busfare, and hotel room will be $38.27. This does not include food. For children under 12, the train fare will be $20.90.

Friends of Hagan plan special trip

"Anyone desiring to go to Washington to see Elliott Hagan sworn-in as First District Congressman can go at a reasonable cost if they would like to join a group who has chartered a private train car," said William B. Winters of Savannah today.

While the two product lines are not competitive, they are complementary and the manufacturing standpoint, or a marketing standpoint, and preferably from both standpoints.

Looking several years from now

By ROY POWELL
County Agent

Let's look into what might be a "big" several years from now.

A new business is opening up in a typical Georgia community. Management studies this community and found that it had a pleasant climate, adequate transportation facilities, and many desirable natural resources. So they decided to put a branch office in this community. They are now looking for workers, well educated young men.

A young man named Jim, who lives in this community decides to try to get a job at the new office. He has an interview with the employer. The employer tells him that they need men with a college education. Jim is turned down. He hasn't had this education. So instead of Jim, the business hires someone from out-of-state who does have the right training.

This case is hypothetical, but it can become true. Will the job be Jim's in this case? No. Last year, 32,869 students were enrolled in the various units of the University System of Georgia. By 1970 this number will swell to about 55,000. Without additional financial support for higher education in Georgia, your children and colleges cannot continue to meet the increasing demands for higher education. There just will not be the facilities and faculty needed to adequately meet these needs. Many capable young men and women may not be able to obtain a higher education.

"Jim," the young man of our story, wanted to go to college, but there wasn't room for him. The University system to improve its competitive position for training well-trained faculty members and to prepare for the greater number of boys and girls desiring college education in the future, the University system must have additional financial support now.

Otherwise, other states will leave Georgia by the wayside in higher education and the higher standard of living that comes with it.

A MESSAGE OF IMPORTANCE
TO ALL FLUE-CURED TOBACCO GROWERS

By DR. C. H. ROGERS, Vice President and Director of Tobacco Research
Coker's Pedigreed Seed Co., Hartsville, S. C.

CHOOSE YOUR 1961 VARIETIES WITH CARE!

In disease areas you must plant resistant variety or risk losing your entire crop. There are many good tobaccos available and most of them have resistance to black shank and the wilts. Select one that has proven adapted to your area and shown by tests to be a high producer of cigarette leaf. Among these are Coker 316, Coker 187-Hicks, Coker 187, Coker 128 and Coker 156. These varieties have been developed in our nurseries, and tested over a wide area under severe disease conditions. Where disease is not a problem, Coker's improved Hicks Broadleaf, Coker's White Gold and others will give you good returns. Of course, if neighboring farms have black shank, you should plant one of our resistant varieties.

GOOD TOBACCO CROPS BEGIN AT THE PLANT BED

You should use an area of rich, well-drained soil, preferably with a southern exposure and protected on the north and northwest by windbreaks. Prepare enough beds for the acreage you'll have so that ample plants will be available for a good stand of uniform size plants in the field. You'll need 75-100 yards of bed for each acre of tobacco to be grown. Disc and thoroughly pulverize the soil, then apply about one pound of plant bed fertilizer per square yard of bed. Work this into the top three or four inches of soil and immediately treat with methyl bromide or other weed-kill seed control chemicals. Destroy all weeds growing around the beds by thorough discing or burning. All beds should be left in the right condition for seeding.

Seed the beds at the rate of 1/2 to 1/4 ounce per 100 yards. After seeding, inspect the beds at least twice a week for the presence of pests. After the seeds sprout and the small plants begin to grow, it is good insurance to apply an insecticide such as a combination of 5% DDT and 1% parathion dust, or the equivalent in a spray. When leaves are about the size of a quarter and before blue mold and other foliage diseases appear, use fungicides such as forbam, zineb or captan. Continue applications at about four-day intervals until time for transplanting.

We are confident that these practices will get your crop off to a good start. With your continued good management, Coker tobaccos will reward you with high yields of quality leaf and bring a good price at the sale.

NOTE: Coker's Tobacco Seed for 1961 will be in stock at all authorized Coker dealers next week. Pick up your seed early!

By DALE JENSEN

We were very pleased and proud to receive notification that the Blue Devils Band members have been chosen for the All-State Honor Band, which will meet in Athens on January 7th. With more schools being represented than ever before, most schools were favored with only one student being selected, and we were fortunate enough to have two. Not only that, but both of them were picked as among the top players in their sections, and have been asked to audition for first chair when they arrive. This is a signal honor, and our hat is off to Carole Donaldson and John Wallace, two fine band students who will represent us in Athens.
