Why I Like Statesboro

enjoy living here because we enjoy shopping here. ONE OF the main reasons I like to live in Statesboro is because of its educational advantages. We have one of the best colleges in the country located just outside the city limits. The children here are offered a college education without having to leave home. A college like Georgia Southern adds culture and refinement to the town, we are offered high entertainment here which the citizens of not only Statesboro, but this section of the State can enjoy. Before our children reach college, too, Statesboro has to offer them kindergarten, grammar school, and high school with their many advantages such as the hand and others which I could mention.

ONE OF the finest attractions to Statesboro is its well equipped hospital with its fine doctors and nurses. This hospital serves not only the county but many people from a distance. It makes us feel more secure to know that we will be well cared for when illness comes our way.

STATESBORO is growing rapidly in every way. So many beautiful homes being built in every direction, building new sections but the town will have a country air which I like. Its really a country town, surrounded by some of the finest farming land in the State. Statesboro is a farming center and provides the farmers all of their needs. The latest in farm implements, the latest in form implements can be bought here. Also any implement needed can be furnished.

INSPECTS HENS FOR PARASITES

Laying hens should be inspected regularly for external parasites during winter because heavy infestations of lice frequently occur in cold weather, warns Extension Poultryman J. H. Massey at the University of Georgia College of Agriculture. Exact loss from this parasite cannot be exactly determined, but some loss in production may be expected. Mr. Massey says control can be accomplished by spray or dust treatment.

Diesel tractor short course to be held at SEBH

Plans for a diesel tractor short course to be held at Southeast Bulloch High School on January 17 are now complete, according to Jerry Kennedy, director of the Adult and Young Farmer program in Bulloch County.

The program has been set up through the cooperation of the local tractor dealers in Statesboro and service men from the branch offices. The program is designed to give farmers help on maintenance for those who already own diesel tractors and also those farmers who may have in mind becoming a diesel tractor owner.

Registration will begin at 9:15 a.m. and the program will get underway at 9:45.

Some of the topics to be covered in the program are: (1) Greetings by Mr. W. E. Gear, Principal of Southeast Bulloch High School, Mr. H. P. Womack, Supt. Bulloch Co. Schools, and Mr. J. N. Baker, District Supervisor of Agricultural Education; (2) Economics of tractor selection; (3) How a diesel engine operates; (4) The responsibilities of owners and operators in the maintenance of diesel engines; (5) Types and classification of Fuels and Lubricants to use in the diesel engine; (6) Operating principle of the 2-cycle diesel engine as compared with the 4-cycle diesel engine; (7) Service Manager from John Deere Tractor Co. (7) Why and when an owner should take his diesel tractor to an authorized dealer; (8) Service Manager from International Harvester Co., Champaign, Ill.

Following the discussion there will be on hand all makes and sizes of diesel tractors so that anyone who has a question about any particular part of a certain model will be able to get a good discussion answer from the service men along with pointing out the importance of the proper maintenance.

Lunch will be served in the school cafeteria.

To Beat the Band

By DALE JENSEN

We just got back from a wonderful day in Athens, where we heard the State Music Clinic, sponsored by the University. Two band students were selected for the Honor Band, a select group of 130 fine young musicians. A group of young ladies from our high school chorus also went, and sang in the thrilling chorus of 700. The string orchestra also performed quite well, but claimed no one from Statesboro.

Of course, they learn music, too. They learn what the symbols on the printed page mean, as well as they can read words. But these are only tools to achieve the greater end of creating something beautiful and worthwhile. As teachers, we wish that everyone could learn through introduction and acquaintance is, the greater will be the pleasure derived. This is why we so strongly advocate early and constant exposure to music, and art, in all phases, and of all types.

These three fine groups furnish a large part of that intangible reward that we school teachers cherish so much. The best students from over all the state come together, and never having met before, sit down and through the magic that is music, communicate with one another and with their audience. Some of these students will go into another field. This is as it should be, for music is not just for musicians, but for everybody. As these students go into their professions and into families of their own, they will carry with them the things that they learned through music. The willingness to put in long and hard work so that the finished product will be good. Readiness to cooperate, at one time to play softly, that others who are important may be heard and later bringing out your own special solo part. Or maybe performing on an instrument that is almost never spotlighted, doing a good job of providing a solid foundation so that others can shine.

Adding up 1960: a year of record service

DURING 1960 the Georgia Power Company recorded a year of outstanding service to its customers throughout the state.

More electricity was used by these customers last year than ever before—some one billion kilowatt-hours more than in 1959. Residential customers accounted for a 10 per cent increase in electric consumption, while commercial and industrial uses of electricity showed a gain of eight per cent.

Nearly 18,000 customers were added during the year, bringing to approximately 718,000 the number now served.

To provide plenty of electricity for these customers, about $54 1/2 million was invested in new and expanded service facilities.

Our 1960 tax bill was more than $90 million. This represented 19 cents of every dollar received in payment for electric service. This money was paid to local, state and federal governments and benefits you and all other Georgia citizens.

The Georgia Power Company is proud to supply the electric power needed for Georgia's growth and progress, and pledges to continue serving its customers well in 1961.

Gospel Concert at Stilton School Jan. 14

The Stilton PTA will sponsor a Gospel Concert at the Stilton school auditorium on Saturday night, January 14, beginning at 8 o'clock and concluding at 11 o'clock.

The program will feature two fine gospel singing groups, The Harmonettes and the Gospel Rhythm Boys.

This is the program which was originally scheduled for December 12 and cancelled because of a death of a member of the community.

Members of the PTA are urged to support this program and the sponsors invite all members of the community and those in the county who love gospel music to attend the sing. Admission is 25 cents and 50 cents.

Bulloch loses 4 businesses during 1960

The business population in Bulloch County decreased 3 per cent during 1960, according to statistics released by Wm. M. Gordon, district manager of the Atlanta office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Basing his facts on a physical count of the January, 1961 edition of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book, Gordon reports that in 1960 400 businesses were listed in Bulloch County and today 390 are listed.

According to Mr. Gordon, each January business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked by Dun & Bradstreet for copies of their financial statements. This year requests are being sent to approximately three million business concerns - to the corner grocery store as well as to big business concerns.

The Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit, but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers. Therefore, the figures for total business in the United States would be higher than the three million quoted above.

Back of each listing of a business in the Reference Book is a Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes a history of the business (who owns it, who runs it, and how long it has been operating), a description of what the business does and how it does it, a financial statement, and a record of how the business pays its bills.

Men's basketball league off to fine beginning

Mens' Basketball League Wednesday night, January 4, the Mens' Basketball League got off to a fine start as both games were decided by only two points.

In the first game the College Pharmacy defeated Bell's by a score of 43 to 41 in a game that went into an overtime and then a sudden death with Julian Deal scoring the winning basket in the sudden death. The score was tied 37 to 37 at the end of regulation play and each team scored four points in the overtime, thus throwing the game into a sudden death. For the College Pharmacy Julian Deal and Roberts Adams were high scorers with 18 and 15 respectively. Bell's also had two men in double figures, Gene Nevi and Frank Rushing had 11 and 10 points respectively. The game was closed all the way with the College Pharmacy boasting the longest lead of the game at the end of the first quarter with a five points lead of 11 to 8. The score was tied 37 to 37 at the end of the third quarter also.

In the second game the Rockwell team defeated the Dixie Neon team by a score of 44 to 42. The game was close all the way with neither team getting a lead of over three points. For the winners, Lavonne Deal was high with 22 points and many rebounds, followed by Clarke with 9 points. For the losers Donald Wilson and Edwin Rucker were high with 15 and 11 respectively. The Rockwell team which won only three games last season looks as if they are going to have a very team this season.

Thursday night Jan. 5, in the second round of play in the Mens' Basketball League the Brooklet team was defeated by the Nic Nac and the College Pharmacy defeated the Rockwell team.

In the first game Nic Nac won over Brooklet by a score of 56 to 46 with Jackie Anderson and Charles Smith high for the winners with 19 and 12 points respectively. For Brooklet three men scored in double figures as Ed Knight had 14 followed by Horace Knight with 13 and Booy Miller with 11. At one time in the Nic Nac had a 17 point lead only to see it cut to 19 at the end of the game.

In the second game the College Pharmacy team defeated the Rockwell team by a score of 61 to 55. The College Pharmacy jumped to an 18 to 9 lead the first quarter and the Rockwell team was never able to catch up although they cut the lead to 3 points at one time. The College Pharmacy played ten players with all but one getting into the scoring. High for the College Pharmacy was John Donald Akins with 18 followed by Brown with 13. For Rockwell Jerry Clark and Newman were tied for high with 17 each followed by Lavonne Deal with 9 points. The College Pharmacy which won the League Championship is off to a good start in defending their title.

Higher education for better living

By ROY POWELL, County Agent

Higher education is basic to the economy of Georgia and its continued expansion. Many of the state's skilled industrial workers, its public school teachers, and leaders in government support the University System so that the future of our state will remain strong and vigorous.

Industrial research and training of technical workers by this system has made it possible for many new manufacturing plants and industries to come to Georgia.

Our doctors, for which there is great need in some communities, are trained by this system. Through the teaching hospital of the state medical school, over 10,000 Georgians from all but one county in the state received treatment in one year.

The home economics programs in our system of higher education affect the lives of all Georgians. Homemakers, dietitians, nutritionists, and many other people who prepare the food we eat get their training from our Universities.

The teachers of our public schools are dependent upon the institutions of higher education for much of their training. The kind of training they receive determines the quality of education your children receive.

The University System of Georgia has served the people well. But in the future, the people of Georgia will expect even more from this system. By 1970 men and women as now will want to enroll in college.

The Universities of this state must get ready for this population growth today. But unless it receives greater financial support, it cannot do this.

The faculty of a University must be composed of highly trained persons. Georgia competes with other states for these people. But not very effectively, since average farmer's sales of dairy products are likely to increase slightly over receipts in 1960 to another new record. However, total costs for producing and have risen; so dairymen won't necessarily receive higher income.

As for cash receipts from farmers have changed less than prices for most other farm products during the last five years. Milk prices had dipped upward somewhat and have been equal to, or slightly above, the equivalent of supports during most of the period.

Whether or not Georgia's institutions of higher education flourish depends largely upon the support given by the people of Georgia. Higher education must prosper if Georgia is to prosper. Won't you give your support to the University System so that the future of our state will remain strong and vigorous.

LIME USE
Georgia farmers used 450,000 tons of lime last year, according to a recent survey. Many times this amount could be profitably used.

Studies of the fertility of soil in Georgia indicate that Georgia farmers need to put about 3 million tons of lime into the soil each year to keep up the fertility.

Lime is needed in the soil for several reasons: (1) It corrects soil acidity; (2) supplies needed plant nutrients more available; (3) makes other plant nutrients more available; (4) promotes bacterial activity which helps produce nitrogen.

Putting lime in your soil may help you overcome the price-cost squeeze that many farmers experience. Lime that is fertilizer should be applied according to soil test recommendations.

MILK PRODUCTS
Our marketing specialists are saying that supplies of milk products in 1961 will be up.

Supplies are expected to be a record high although just slightly above levels of recent years. Commercial demand probably will again increase less than population. Prices to farmers and to consumers for dairy products will average about a year earlier through March, 1961.

As for cash receipts from farmers have changed less than prices for most other farm products during the last five years. Milk prices had dipped upward somewhat and have been equal to, or slightly above, the equivalent of supports during most of the period.

A MESSAGE OF IMPORTANCE TO ALL FLUE-CURED TOBACCO GROWERS

By DR. C. H. ROGERS, Vice President and Director of Tobacco Research, Coker's Pedigreed Seed Co., Hartsville, S. C.

CHOOSE YOUR 1961 VARIETIES WITH CARE!

In disease areas you must plant a resistant variety or risk losing your entire crop. There are many good tobaccos available and most of them have resistance to black shank and the wilt. Select one that has proven adapted to your area and shown by tests to be a high producer of cigarette leaf. Among these are Coker 316, Coker 187-Hicks, Coker 187, Coker 128 and Coker 156. These varieties have been developed in our nurseries, and tested over a wide area under severe disease conditions. Where disease is not a problem, Coker's improved Hicks Broadleaf, Coker's White Gold and others will give you good returns. Of course, if neighboring farms have black shank, you should plant one of our resistant varieties.

GOOD TOBACCO CROPS BEGIN AT THE PLANT BED

You should use an area of rich, well-drained soil, preferably with a southern exposure and protected on the north and northwest by windbreaks. Prepare enough beds for the acreage you'll have so that ample plants will be available for a good stand of uniform size plants in the field. You'll need 75-100 yards of bed for each acre of tobacco to be grown. Disc and thoroughly pulverize the soil, then apply about one pound of plant bed fertilizer per square yard of bed. Work this into the top three or four inches of soil and immediately treat with methyl bromide or other weed-seed control chemicals. Destroy all weeds growing around the beds by thorough discing or burning. All beds should be left in the right condition for seeding.

Seed the beds at the rate of 1/2 to 3/4 ounce per 100 yards. After seeding, inspect the beds at least twice a week for the presence of pests. After the seeds sprout and the small plants begin to grow, it is good insurance to apply an insecticide such as a combination of 5% DDT and 1% parathion dust, or the equivalent in a spray. When leaves are about the size of a quarter and before blue mold and other foliar diseases appear, use fungicides such as ferbam, zineb or captan. Continue applications at about four-day intervals until time for transplanting.

We are confident that these practices will get your crop off to a good start. With your continued good management, Coker tobaccos will reward you with high yields of quality leaf and bring a good price at the sale.

11-23c No. 100

Production of pine gum for turpentine and rosin will probably increase 15 to 20 percent in 1961, according to Extension Forester Dorsey Dyer.

The 1 1/2 acre debt is expected to increase further in 1961 as the upward trend in both acreage and capital requirements for farms continues, say Extension economists.

'Hard work never hurt anyone' tested
 A group of professional men and women from Statesboro, Savannah and Atlanta, working here in Statesboro at No. 10 Broad Street, can attest to the truth of the old saying that "work don't hurt anybody."

Monday of this week Mrs. Minnie Lee Johnson, official court reporter for the Atlantic Circuit, Mrs. Sylvia B. Allen, her assistant, and Mrs. Kay Newton, Mrs. Sylvia Lois Benton of Atlanta, put the finishing touches on a voluminous record consisting of over 4,000 pages, of which an original and seven copies were completed.

The production represents the transcript of the record in a divorce alimony suit in McIntosh Superior Court, tried at the May Term, 1960, in the case of R. J. Reynolds (one of the Tobacco Reynolds) vs. Muriel M. Reynolds.

The case dominated the news columns of the national daily press for weeks. Mrs. Johnson of Statesboro served as court reporter during the trial.

The report, completed this week, was six weeks in the making with more than sixteen professional men and women working through the Christmas holidays at the home of Mrs. Johnson at 10 Broad Street.

Instead of icy and bright lights shining in the Johnson home during the holidays, all you could see was fluorescent lights hanging over typewriters and all you could hear was the clatter of typewriters taking the place of "Silent Night" and "O Holy Night" when the Christmas season was over.
