Prince H. Preston

WE ALL HAVE LOST A FRIEND AND SERVANT

As the Herald goes to press this week, the news bulletin is released that former Congressman Prince H. Preston has died.

We, of the Herald, feel very keenly this loss. He was highly regarded by us, and many others for his long years of devotion and service to his country and the people he represented.

One might say that he lived his life in service to his fellow man, having spent most of his adult life in public life as a servant of the people. He served in the Georgia General Assembly, and the U.S. Congress. During World War II he served his country on the battlefields of Europe.

Although his span of life was not as long as many are privileged to enjoy, they were years filled with action and service.

May we join the many thousands of others in extending our heartfelt sympathy to his family on their loss, and may they be able to see God's wisdom in cutting short his time of service here among his family and friends.

—SPRINGFIELD HERALD.

What they said...

U.S. Sen. Richard B. Russell said from his home in Winster:

"Congressman Preston was an able and diligent public servant. I worked with him in Washington for many years and was proud to claim him as a personal friend. His services greatly benefited his district and his state, and he will be sadly missed in the years ahead."

U.S. Sen. Herman Talmadge, at his home in Loveloy, said:

"All Georgians are grieved at the passing of Prince Preston. He served his state and his nation in many positions of trust, with devotion, energy, and good judgment. I join his many friends in mourning his passing."

Rep. Carl Vinson—"I'm awfully sorry to hear of Preston's death. He was an outstanding member of the House of Representatives and we all mourn his passing."

Rep. John J. Flynt—"I am deeply saddened by the death of my long-time friend and former colleague. He was an able public servant and credit to his community, his district, his state, and the nation."

Rep. James C. Davis—"Prince Preston and I were sworn in as members of Congress at the same time, January 3, 1947. He was a man with a keen and brilliant mind. He was energetic and he quickly demonstrated he possessed the qualities so necessary in an effective and able legislator. I appreciate my service with him and feel that he made a great contribution to Georgia's progress and advancement. I am deeply saddened at his death."

House Speaker Sam Rayburn—"I ever knew. He loved his country and had a passion to serve them."

Elliott Hagan—"It is with sincere regret that I learn of the untimely passing of Preston, Mrs. Hagan and I extend to Mrs. Preston and her two daughters and other members of the family our deepest sympathy."

The Savannah City Council has voted to have a memorial resolution drawn up to be read at the next council meeting.

PRINCE PRESTON SERVED HIS STATE AND NATION WELL.

The passing of Prince Preston, whose 14 years in the U.S. House of Representatives ended with the convening of the present Congress, saddens all Georgians. One of our best-known citizens, he had spent most of his adult life in public service, including distinguished combat duty during World War II. His political career began in the Georgia General Assembly and his election to Congress came following the war.

Generally classed as a conservative, Rep. Preston served capably in Washington. He battled for the interests of his own district and upheld what he considered to be the best interests of his state and nation. He was popular in Congress and was a close friend of Speaker Sam Rayburn, who described him as "one of the greatest men I ever knew."

The Constitution joins all Georgians in sorrow at his passing and in deepest sympathy to his family.

—THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

PRINCE PRESTON

As are all Georgians, The Chronicle is saddened at the death of Prince Preston which came Wednesday after a long and unsuccessful fight against cancer.

Although the former First District Congressman had been ill for several years, it was not until after his defeat in last fall's primary that the seriousness of his illness became known. Even so, news of his death—at the relatively young age of 52—came as a shock to thousands of his friends throughout the state and nation.

A graduate in law who was twice elected to the Georgia House of Representatives from Bulloch County, Mr. Preston served in the Army in World War II, entering as a private and being discharged as a captain. He was a member of Congress 14 years, being first elected in 1946. The manner of his service there drew unstinted eulogies from many of his former colleagues in the House, as well as from Georgia's two senators.

His sentiments, ranging from their personal fondness for Mr. Preston to comments on his service in Congress, are best summed up by that of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, who said:

"He was one of the greatest men I ever knew. He loved his family, his state and his country and had a passion to serve them."

What more need be said?

—AUGUSTA CHRONICLE.

PRINCE PRESTON

The untimely passing of Prince Preston, former Congressman of this district, brings sorrow to everyone who knew him.

He was a man of vigor and strong intellect. He looked like the wet alcoholer who is fighting in desperation to maintain his way of life has a decided advantage over that dry alcoholic who is armed only with sweetness and love and who is endeavoring to pull the very earth from beneath his feet.

It has often occurred to me that somehow, sometimes, we could formulate a series of questions that were escape proof; ones that the alcoholic mind, even in its frantic necessity, could not sidestep or evade. Then I recalled that our Twelve Steps were not the product of one gigantic mind but a pooling of the experiences of many. This indicated the procedure

As I have been saved. From the us feel that salvation does not end with a confession of Christ as Savior. Rather, salvation is a continuing process which has a Bible we learn that salvation means deliverance from national enemies; deliverance from sin; and deliverance from fear, frustration, and futility. Positively, it means the transformation of life and the restoring of one's relationship with God.

Have you ever had someone to walk up to you and inquire: "Are you saved?" What has been your reaction? I know some Christians who are absolutely thrown by such a question. If you are sincerely trying to follow Jesus Christ, letting His teaching guide, and His spirit empower, then you can answer a firm "yes." Our hesitancy usually arises over the type of question.

It was in Sunday's Atlanta Journal-Constitution it was written by Harold Davis, the Atlanta Journal's Washington correspondent. It is about Prince Preston, and we think it should be reprinted in a local newspaper that it might become a part of his record of achievement.

Washington LAST SEPTEMBER in Statesboro, Ga., I had the privilege of visiting the late Congressman Prince H. Preston while he was engaged in the final political campaign of his life—a life which ended tragically from cancer and heart disease on Wednesday.

He knew he was in a horse race to keep the congressional seat he had held since 1947; he knew he was sick, but he did not know he was dying. "I think I'm all right," he said. "They gave me a tremendous dose of radiation for the cancer in Washington, and I think it is arrested."

It was a friendly chat that had begun shortly after I entered his house that September evening to find him watching television. Mrs. Preston sewed quietly nearby. A glance at the television screen showed my personal and legislative ties with representatives from other parts of the nation.

And, because of this, he was effective. He was one of the two Georgians who were really close to Sam Rayburn and the House. His personal ties extended across the Capitol to the Senate, where Mike Mansfield of Montana wondered aloud why with pean trees and Georgia Pines, with five sparkling lakes shining like jewels nestled down among the pines.

It's just a few minutes drive out U. S. 80 toward Savannah, and you are in the beautiful County people are driving out every day to see this dream of Mr. Proctor's come true. Every Sunday afternoon fine lines of cars lazily circling through the pines down by the lakes and people in them must be dreaming to see a place like this to live.

As always, any dream which comes true usually does so because someone has invested his time and effort into making things happen. Mr. Proctor invested a hundred thousand dollars in the development of the area before he ever sold the first lot.

Talking with the folks who live in Grove Lakes, they tell you it's a wonderful place to live. Of course it's a haven for youngsters and oldsters too who like to wet a fishing line occasionally. The lakes are clean and well stocked with broom and bass just waiting there for someone to come along and offer them a chance to "get on the hook."

Georgia Power serves the subdivision along with Statesboro Telephone. Youngsters attend school in Statesboro and

SATURDAY was a beautiful day. We had the privilege of pushing the young one around the first candle. Finally, we could stand it no longer so we started making plans to accompany Grandpa. (Provided that ice was not on the ground, etc.)

WE ARRIVED in the evening to find a quiet apartment. The coffee table was very pretty with its little china coveys. We knew that the young one must be asleep. Before too long the young mother excused herself to go over "him" up before we could say a word Grandpa was following close on her heels to help cover him and just before he had him come the young fourteen-year-old aunt to see that the covers were secure. Prince Preston were not better known. When the votes were counted last fall, it was clear that Mr. Preston had been beaten by a combination of many things, not the least of which was that he was physically unable to run a powerhouse campaign. His staff did not know until long afterwards that he would move into a county seat town to electioneer, check into a motel, and spend two-thirds of his remaining energy.

On the morning of the day I last saw him, he had gotten up at 4 o'clock and spent a half day fishing on the Savannah River. This campaign is wearing me down," he said.

NO REFLECTION It is no reflection on Mr. Preston's successor here — G. Elliott Hagan of Sylvania—to say that Prince Preston was, next to Carl Vinson, Georgia's most effective congressman. It is also no derogation of Mr. Hagan to say that Prince Preston's voice here was one of distinction which the late congressman made.

THE JUDGES HAD A rough time—Shown here are the twelve contestants in the Beauty Revue held at Portal High School on Thursday evening, February 9, to select the "Sweetheart of Portal High School for 1961." Left to right they are: Sylvia Allen, Nancy Griffith, Linda Vickery, Janice Ellis, Christine Daughtry, Barbara West, Kay Carter, Emma Small, Jenny Hunnicutt, Jean Brazg, Ann Hendrix and Carolyn Blackburn. The theme of the Beauty Revue was "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody."

Ann Hendrix is crowned Portal High Sweetheart

MISS ANN HENDRIX, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Hendrix, was crowned "Sweetheart of Portal High School" for 1961 Thursday night, February 9, by Mr. Don McDougald, who was master of ceremonies. Ann was sponsored by the Future Farmers of America. She is 16 years old and a junior at Portal High School.

First runner-up was Miss Christine Daughtry, daughter of Mr. Richard Daughtry. Christine, who is fifteen years old and a sophomore was sponsored by the girls' basketball team.

Miss Barbara Ann West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar West, was second runner-up. Barbara Ann, a member of and sponsored by the sophomore class is also fifteen years old.

Each of the three girls received a bouquet of roses and pink camellias in the shape of a heart, bordered by rose and pink net.

The theme of the beauty revue was "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody." The first set, in which all twelve girls appeared was "Promenade of Loves." In this scene the girls walked under a white wrought iron arch, entwined with ivy. A while wrought iron love seat and chair sat among greenery in the background. As the girls left the stage, they paused for a moment by an old-fashioned street lamp.

The second set for the six semi-finalists was "Prelude to Fantasy." The backdrop was enhanced by a flowing drape, set off by lights producing a lavender effect. A white colonial column was decorated with ivy and roses. The six semi-finalists were: Miss Sylvia Allen, Miss Christine Daughtry, Miss Carolyn Blackburn, Miss Ann Hendrix, Miss Jenny Hunnicutt, and Miss Barbara Ann West.

The last set for the three winners was "Phaopody in Blue." A large silver heart trimmed in red and pink net hung in the middle of the stage. On each side were smaller hearts for the two runner-ups.

The girls walked to the beautiful music of a Conn electric organ, courtesy of C. C. Lamb Music Company, Mrs. H. C. Burns.

At different intervals in the program several girls sang. They were: Barbara Akerman, Gail Williams, Amanda Woods, Sue Key, Linda Akins and Marilyn Brannen. These girls also composed several different songs.

This beauty revue was sponsored by the Fielding Russell chapter of the Future Teachers of America. Mr. Frank Saunders Jr., sponsor, was responsible for the lovely program.

AN TALMADGE Reports From WASHINGTON

A NEW BRAND of anti-freedom enterprise economic thought masquerading under the enigmatic title of "pragmatism" has gained a foothold in the highest councils of the Executive Branch of the Federal Government.

The term is that used to describe the philosophy of at least two of the top economic advisers who have the ear of President Kennedy—Dr. Walter W. Heller who has taken office as Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers and Dr. John Kenneth Galbraith who is slated to be Ambassador to India.

Whether admitted or not, such a philosophy is nothing less than a restatement of the Marxian dialectic of each individual working according to his ability and demand but also of the fundamental principle of our system of free enterprise—that work is desirable and that the incentive for work is the enjoyment of the fruits of labor by the individuals who earn them.

The fatal flaw of any scheme to provide private needs through public means is that it runs counter to the economic realities that are bought and sold through the generation and investment of working capital can be stable monetary system.

Terracing operations in full swing in Bulloch County

By E. T. "RED" MULLIS Soil Conservation Service

Terracing operations are in full swing on cooperators of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District's farm in Bulloch County. These terraces are being surveyed and constructed as the parallel, broad-based type which lend themselves to efficient operation by modern machinery on our farms.

Mr. Luther Olliff and Mr. Waldo Colson are our parallel terracing experts and are doing an outstanding job assisting District Cooperators in this important work.

Mr. Trappnell, Mr. Nessmith, Mr. Foy and Mr. Banks had already completed their terraces, but need more work done on their waterways, including seeding of permanent and temporary grasses to prevent washouts.

Big M means more money to county farmers

The Big M, in the Big M Pasture Program now underway throughout the county is a big M because it stands for MORE grass, MORE beef, MORE milk, and MORE MONEY.

By planting healthy pasture plants in rich fertile soils, you farmers can open a wide avenue to bigger farm profits. But before you can begin to reap more profits from pastures, the acid condition of pasture soils must be corrected.

Calcium is one of the most important elements in the soil. It is essential to the formation of strong bones and teeth. Farmers should lime their pastures in order to insure sufficient amounts of calcium in the soil to produce healthy plants.

Calcium is one of the most important elements used by pasture plants. Calcium must be put back into pasture soils if one is to do a real job of pasture production, according to County Agent Roy Powell.

Lime is basic to profitable pasture lands

Why is lime so important to good pasture production? Why does it cost so much more to increase efficiency of mixed fertilizers applied?

1. Lime conditions the soil to make these soils support highly productive pastures in this county," he concluded.

2. Lime supplies the calcium needed for the growth of the plants which grow in abundance to pasture plants.

3. Lime increases activity of microbes in the soil which cause decay of organic matter. This helps make more nitrogen available to pasture plants.

4. Lime helps reduce water runoff since it promotes grass growth and up along stream banks, the wild pea vine, an annual which volunteered in the woods, wild yuccas which grow in winter, native strawberries which grow under the longleaf pines, and others such as honey-suckle, beggarweed, woody leaved plants, and thread grasses, all of which furnished some grazing.

Early Bulloch County farmers did not have Pasture Problem

Three fertilizer grades are recommended for pastures

A balanced fertility level can be obtained in any pasture soil on any farm in Bulloch County by applying correct amounts of one of three grades of mixed fertilizer.

These grades are 4-12-12, 6-12-12, 5-10-15 and 6-12-4.

What do these figures mean? In a 5-10-15 grade, for example, the 5 means that a 100-pound bag contains 5 pounds of nitrogen. The 10 stands for 10 pounds of phosphate and the 15 represents 15 pounds of potash.

Soil testing a must in pasture program

Calcium vital to plant and animal life

Applying lime to regulate pH and correct soil acidity is recognized as an important step in the life of bacteria which cause this decay. Calcium also plays a vital part in the formation of protein compounds from other nutrients in plant growth.

In animal nutrition, calcium is most important because it is essential to the forming of strong bones and teeth.

For these reasons farmers should lime their pasture lands in order to insure sufficient amounts of calcium in the soil to produce healthy plants which, in turn, will produce healthy animals.

Animals NEED PHOSPHORUS

Phosphate plants must contain sufficient quantities of phosphorus if animals are to stay healthy. County Agent Roy Powell says, "Animals on phosphorus-starved pastures become dwarfed, their joints tend to stiffen, their skins become coarse and rough, and they fail to shed hair properly, he continued.

Our model school

By JOHN BROCK

In the past there have been people who criticize our fair school. They say it is out of date and a hazard to our health.

I disagree. After all, what could be more healthful than fresh air? We have plenty of fresh air coming in through the cracks in the walls and the missing window panes. So what if the heating system doesn't work half the time; it could be out all the time. Besides, a little touch of pneumonia is good for you.

I do have one little complaint though. I don't mind slipping on the ice coming up the steps, but slipping on the icy floors in English class is getting to be too much. Statesboro High is the school for the person who has nerve and a sense of adventure. You never know if the ceiling is going to cave in on you or not.

We owe a lot to the condition of this building. It has promoted new styles of dress. Everyone wears football helmets; not only are they warm, but they protect us from falling plaster. Long Johns are also coming back in a big way. Tennis shoes are back in style for climbing the steps worn smooth by thousands of years of wear.

If you think this editorial is ridiculous, you should come take a look at the condition of this school.

The posters are down! The campaign dust has settled and Statesboro High has inaugurated a new youth mayor. On Monday, February 6, Ashley Tyson, the youth mayor candidate on the "Rebel Rouser" ticket, was elected SHS's 1961 Youth Mayor.

Members of his council are: Hoke Brunson of the "Bray-Dan-Za" ticket; Billy Franklin, Janet Kraft, Johnny Martin, and Donna Minkovitz of the "Rebel-Rouser" ticket.

Directly after the election, the youth mayor and his council met to make the appointments. Those appointed for city offices were: Martha Faye Hodges, recreation director; Jean Holloway, city clerk; Marcus Seligman, fire chief; Janey Everest, city engineer; and Cynthia Akins, police chief.

RESUME OF PARTIES REBEL ROUSERS
The Rebel Rouser headed by Ashley Tyson, used as their theme in the campaign, "The South's Gonna Rise Again." Ashley's council included Marcus Seligman, Janet Kraft, (senior), Johnny Martin, Donna Minkovitz, (juniors), and Billy Franklin (sophomore). The planks of their platform were: building a new city auditorium, bringing industry into Statesboro, construction of a new school, improving the recreation program, and increasing the number of men on the police force for better protection.

The campaign program presented in chapel used the idea of a family reunion, given in the honor of the future mayor. Several girls dressed in formal and southern gentlemen were seated against a colonial plantation backdrop.

The award was presented by Mr. Leon Coleman and Mr. Albert R. Gibson, representing the Statesboro and Bulloch County Chamber of Commerce.

This award is the Student-Teacher Achievement Recognition, the highest score on the Scholastic Aptitude Test.

Bob will pick his Star Teacher. This will be the teacher that he feels has helped him the most. Bob and his Star Teacher will attend a banquet in Atlanta where he will compete for State honors.

BOBAC
Bob Scraggs, running on the "Bobac" ticket was one of the front candidates for Youth Mayor. Bob's council included seniors Kathy Owens and Ron Komich; juniors, Kenan Kern and Beth Nesmith; and sophomore Jack Paul. The council chose for their platform: road construction, beautification of the city, bringing more industry into Statesboro, and providing more adequate police protection.

Bob and his council selected for their campaign slogan, "Elect the Bobcats for the best government ever."

Bob and the Bobcats presented their campaign program depicting the 1920 era. A cast of girls dressed in chemise costumes and boys clothed in bell-bottom pants and bow ties sang and danced to songs popular in the "Roaring 20's."

Following the song numbers were campaign speeches by the Bobcat council. In conclusion of the program, Bob presented a summary of the various planks of his platform as outlined by the members of his council.

CYN-CHERS
by Dottie Donaldson

Running for mayor on the Cyn-Chers ticket was Cynthia Akins. Her council consisted of Paula Banks, Bobby Brown, Dottie Donaldson, Cheryl Wheelchel, and Joe Neville. Managing her campaign was Lynn Storey assisted by Kay Preston.

For their program the Cyn-Chers chose a nightclub scene.

B Lassies have perfect record for the season

By LINDA ROGERS

The 1960-61 season for the "B" lassies consisted of a six-game schedule with them winning each game.

Mrs. Colman started the "B" team to encourage girls to take part in the athletic program at Statesboro High. Through this program these girls are given the competitive experience they need to further their abilities.

The girls are as follows: forwards, Cheryl Gettis, sophomore; Lucy Holleman, sophomore; Phyllis Grimes, freshman; Brenda Scraggs, freshman; Sally Smith, sophomore; Ann White, sophomore; and Prissy Wilkinson, sophomore.

Through our Georgia Southern College student teacher program, we have had competent coaches to work with our team this year. They are Mrs. Helen Burnam, Miss Helen Crump, and Miss Velinda Parcell.

GAMES
Two games were played against the Swainsboro Tigers. Statesboro took both games with scores of 32-21 and 34-21. Cheryl Gettis, team captain, took high honors in both games with 15 and 17 points. The "Lassies" really bounced the ball off opponents.

They also played two games against Effingham County, beating them with scores of 34-21 and 32-23. Cheryl Gettis was again high scorer in the first game with 14 points. Brenda Scraggs in the second game with 20 points.

The next-to-the-last game of the season was played against Pembroke, which the Lassies took 28-20. Phyllis Grimes was high scorer with 11 points.

To top the season off they beat the Junior All-Stars with a score 36 to 11.

We expect these girls to lead our team to victory next year.

The Assault on Britain, a tale of World War II

By HUBERT TANKERSLEY

If some time after the bombing assault on Britain a certain German fighter pilot was talking to his bomber pilot friend. Their conversation went something like this:

Fighter Pilot: You know darling, I'm a good pilot and naturally that last assault on Britain my engine conked out.

Bomber Pilot: Das bad!

F. P.: No, das good I had a parachute.

B. P.: No, das bad the parachute didn't open.

F. P.: Ohhh, das bad.

F. P.: No, das good they had a haystack down there.

B. P.: Oh, das good.

F. P.: No, das bad there was a haystack in that haystack.

B. P.: Ohhh, das bad.

F. P.: No, das good I missed the haystack too.

B. P.: Ohhh, das bad.

Latin Class plants to publish Latin Journal
By LINSEY JOHNSTON and MARTHA FAYE HODGES

The Latin II class of Statesboro High School is planning to publish a Latin journal in the near future. This journal will have the title of "Crescit Scientia," which has the Latin meaning "knowledge increases." This will recognize this inscription on the 1961 SHS senior rings, also known as "Crescit Scientia."

The project is a result of many months of planning, and its purpose is to better acquaint the student body with the foreign language department and to show the relationship between "old Latin" and today's modern world.

The class has carefully selected a competent staff to guide this publication, which is expected to consist of three editors.

The officers are: Kay Preston, editor; Frances Smith, associate editor; Marjorie Parker, layout editor; Sharon Collins, Dale Anderson and Estelle Coleman, typists; Noel Benson and Dorene Youmans, circulation managers. The publicity directors are Martha Faye Hodges and Lindsey Johnston.

Latin Class plants to publish Latin Journal
By LINSEY JOHNSTON and MARTHA FAYE HODGES

The Latin II class of Statesboro High School is planning to publish a Latin journal in the near future. This journal will have the title of "Crescit Scientia," which has the Latin meaning "knowledge increases." This will recognize this inscription on the 1961 SHS senior rings, also known as "Crescit Scientia."

The project is a result of many months of planning, and its purpose is to better acquaint the student body with the foreign language department and to show the relationship between "old Latin" and today's modern world.

Recall this when buying fertilizer

DAIRY PROFITS Profits in dairy farming depend to a great extent upon careful selection of feeds and upon providing the cow with suitable rations for milk production.

By ROY POWELL, County Agent. In any case, the first figure in the ratio represents nitrogen, the second, phosphate and the third, potash.

Eld. Hendricks publishes his autobiography

Announcement was made recently of the release of a new book written and published by Elder J. Walter Hendricks, retired Primitive Baptist preacher, now living in Metter.

Born in Bulloch County on October 21, 1873, the son of Marinda and Elizabeth Dickson Hendricks, Elder Hendricks was, by his own admission, "a puny-looking bundle."

It was in 1908 that he came to Statesboro to manage the newly established First District Agricultural and Mechanical High School, now Georgia Southern College.

His most productive years were during his period of ministry which began in 1912 and continued until he was seventy-five years of age, on October 21, 1948.

Copies may be purchased by writing Elder J. Walter Hendricks at his home in Metter, Georgia. It's price is $3 and worth it.
