To Beat the Band

By DALE JENSEN

IT WOULD SEEM that most children do not like to practice music. For that matter, most children do not like to go to bed at night, or eat spinach, or drink their tomato juice, or anything else that they are made to feel that they have to do.

Most boys, given their choice, would spend all possible time playing whatever sport is in season, or building model airplanes, or reading good adventure stories. Most girls would live with a telephone in one hand and a picture of Fabian in the other. Things like homework, Sunday School and balanced diet would be ignored.

our children be ready for their adulthood by helping them acquire this attitude. Regular school and church attendance is important. Regular support of those groups, like Scouts, Rain-bow Girls, and others after not only enough to go to these things; it is also important that we go prepared to make a full contribution to the work, or play, at hand. In school, this means having assignments prepared to the best of their ability. Homework done, that part in the play memorized, the music lesson practiced, and the English paper done.

THESE THINGS are not always easy for a child to remember, especially when there is TV that needs watching, and baseballs that need to be hit, and movie stars that need to be discussed. And so we, as parents, must take the time to see that duties are completed. It is not always easy to adhere to that schedule, but it is worth it in the long run. We want our children to do well, in whatever they are in, and to take the one that does best in the one that is prepared in advance. So let's help by encouraging their lessons, their practices, and our assignments.

Does Atlanta pay its share for taxes

Our fellow-newspaper publisher and neighbor, Clyde Hollingsworth of the Sylvania Telephone, writes on a subject which is like a match burning close to a pile of tinder.

Titled "Does Atlanta pay its share of taxes?", we believe it has merit and that it will be of interest to us in Bulloch County.

"Every once in a while we read in the Atlanta newspapers editorials and stories that infer that the rural counties of Georgia are a mill stone around the neck of Atlanta business taxes and if more of the tax burden is not placed upon the small counties of the state, Atlanta business will suffer. Along with the stories usually there is the accusation that local rural county business men and politicians team up to prevent payment of their just share of the taxes. A representative of one of the Atlanta papers made similar charges in an address before the Georgia Press Institute in Athens recently.

"... We are irked when they complain about taxes they pay for rural Georgia. Every Monday morning, men by the thousands, who live and pay taxes in Fulton County, leave the city to gather in the sheaves from rural Georgia for business concerns that also pay their taxes in Fulton. For instance, Sears-Roebuck pays most all its taxes in Fulton on a business that is largely rural. Taxes, by the millions, are paid into Fulton County patronage. For any one to infer that rural Georgia is a detriment to Atlanta is ridiculous.

"Except for rural Georgia, Atlanta would still be Marthasville, and Peachtree would still be a path of the homeward bound cows who laid it out in the first place.

"Every time we get around to thinking that our county unit system needs revision and the more populous areas should be better represented we are reminded of what these areas would do to us if they had the power to do it."

And we might add that there's a sizeable number of Savannah business concerns who find Statesboro and Bulloch County fine territory in which to "gather in the sheaves."

The foundation of Bulloch's greatness

There is a quiet repose and steadiness about the happiness of age, if the life has been well spent. And when one finds joy to others one cannot be old, whatever one's years may be. And when that one finds joy in the simple giving of a tiny vase of flowers to one's fellowman, then that one is deserving of the richest of God's blessings on this earth.

We're thinking now of Miss Inez Williams, one of Statesboro and Bulloch County's really wonderful citizens. Though her years are many, she still retains the spirit of the young in her heart.

Devoted to her church and her friends she finds happiness and joy in giving of herself to others.

When the foundation of Bulloch County's greatness is examined it will be found that it is built upon strength of character and goodness of heart and devotion to their church of people like Miss Inez Williams.

The Byrd-Griffin show to be something

The announcement made last week that Garland Byrd and Marvin Griffin have accepted an invitation from the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce to appear on a series of legislative forums to be conducted throughout Georgia this November has the boys all over the state buzzing.

That'll be something to remember—Mr. Byrd and Mr. Griffin in what everyone expects to be a knock-down, drag-out affair, which is expected to be carried on both radio and TV, if the Chamber will permit.

We can hardly wait.

A Hit Or A Miss?

This Week's Meditation

By Rev. Lawrence E. Houston Jr.

THE SOVIET announcement of a successful "cosmonaut" flight into outer space has again shaken the free world, and especially the United States.

Reactions are varied. The President declares he is tired of Russia's superiority in rocket thrust, but warns us that it will take us sometime to catch up. Some Congressmen have pushed the panic button and have demanded more funds be put into our space program.

HOW COULD Yuri Gagarin see what the earth looked like if his space capsule had no portholes? Did he ride the spaceship to earth, or was he parachuted down? Did an ill-timed news release cause a hurried blast-off of a rocket, and thereby the fabrication of a story that Russia's man-in-space program had met with success? Only time will give the answers to such tantalizing questions.

Meanwhile, we continue to live in a whirl. It is my judgment that Russian superiority in rocketry, and their rapid advances in other fields, will serve to shake the United States out of its devastating sense of complacency.

AA helps those who come seeking help

By DR. JOHN MOONEY

MEMBERS of the Statesboro Group of Alcoholics Anonymous report that many people who appear to be alcoholics may not believe that they have a drinking problem. These people sometimes seek information about drinking from the AA members, apparently because they are in a state of indecision and want to learn more about what constitutes alcoholism.

To meet this demand AA publishes much literature. One of the best pamphlets is a list of twelve questions compiled from the experience of tens of thousands of recovered alcoholics. The questions probe the basic truths about the symptoms of problem drinking and the people who drink.

1. HAVE YOU ever tried to stop drinking for a week (or longer), only to fall short of your goal? Yes () No () 2. Do you resent the advice of others who try to get you to stop drinking? Yes () No () 3. Have you ever tried to control your drinking by switching from one alcoholic beverage to another? Yes () No () 4. Have you taken a morning drink during the past year? Yes () No () 5. Do you envy people who can drink without getting into trouble? Yes () No () 6. Has your drinking problem become progressively more serious during the past year? Yes () No () 7. Has your drinking created problems at home? Yes () No () 8. At social affairs where drinking is limited, do you try to obtain "extra" drinks? Yes () No () 9. Despite evidence to the contrary, have you continued to assert that you can stop drink-

"GUILTY AS CHARGED" That would be the verdict dictated against most of us should we be placed on trial concerning the violation of any of the laws which have been passed for our own protection. It goes without saying that most of the times when we trespass against the law the infractions are not serious ones.

Almost any day at any traffic control light we see that person who is "lucky" enough to make the light when it is on caution. One day two drivers will approach that light from opposite directions and both will be "lucky" to think they can make it through the intersection on the caution light and much suffering and hardship will come as the aftermath.

Everyday a mother or father drives on the one way street at the high school or at the Sallie Zetterower Elementary school, going in the wrong direction. Careful though they may be this simple wrong may well one day cost the life of a child. It is so easy to be your child, that day will be long remembered.

THE FAILING to give a little courtesy such as to slow or stop to let a motorist move into traffic from a side street will one day make him desperate enough that an attempt will be made to move out in front of us when there isn't time for such action. Repairs will be costly, injuries could be fatal.

MOM MADE the trip to the Scout Center just fine. She would make her meeting on time after all. This she would have if that other little Brownie hadn't gotten in Mom's way when she hurriedly drove away.

Needless to say, Mom didn't make her meeting that day. Oh, how she would like to see "How to Protect Our Children from Careless Drivers." You see, Mom had to be on time. She was to be the speaker.

THERE IS STILL time for most of us to insure ourselves against the sorrows involved in these mishaps. Accidents will happen when we are doing our very best. They are more likely to happen to us when we know for sure that we aren't.

THE EUROPEANS once thought of the American man as a flashy, loud, vulgar man wearing horn-rimmed glasses, smoking one cigar after another and displaying much money. The feminine counterpart was very similar except that she was big and smacked her chewing gum everytime the man inhaled his cigar smoke. This picture was bad enough but now add to it the American woman in her new shape, a praying mantis, devouring her husband, (or a male).

Mrs. Rieuf had much to say about the American woman. "Let us observe the American praying mantis. From an early age, the young female displays her instinct to dominate the developing males. On the school bench she speaks up, organizes games, and resolves problems. Her contacts with the other sex are frequent since every thing is done jointly at home, at school, in athletics. In all the peasants and parades they march two by two, but she is always the one who chooses her partner. Adults and teachers push the children together, even though each would prefer to associate with children of his own sex. Costume parties and dances are organized for them, and they must select a partner of the opposite sex..."

Mrs. Grady Attaway entertains with 'Grandma Party'
On Thursday last week, Mrs. Grady Attaway entertained at her home on Preston Drive, with a "Grandma Party." The guests were all mothers of classmates of Mrs. Attaway's daughters, June Tillman and Anne Turner, and they were requested to bring along pictures of their grandmothers.
After refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, cheese straws, cookies and spiced tea, were served, each guest was placed in the limelight. While seated in a rocking chair, they told the latest news about their children, bragged a little about their grandmothers and passed around the pictures they had brought.
Mrs. T. W. Rouse, the guest having the most grandchildren, received a picture album inscribed, "Grandma's Rag Book." Mrs. Harry Johnson with the youngest grandchild, was given a pair of ankle rattles for the new baby. Mrs. Hobson Donaldson, who has no grandchildren as yet, was given a box of the choicest blooms and brought them to her daughter. The dining table was centered with a pair of roses in a silver bowl, flanked by silver candelabra. Nocturne roses, a velvety deep red, glorified the mantle and Azalee roses, reddish orange, in an alabaster compote were on the piano. Numerous cut glass vases overflowing with roses could be described only in general terms: Spectacular!

Mrs. DeLoach and Miss Murry attend Library meeting
Mrs. Gladys DeLoach, Librarian of the Marvin Pittman School, and Miss Judy Murry, a student and secretary of the Marvin Pittman Library Guild, attended the state convention of the Georgia Association of Librarians Assistants at Rock Eagle on April 14-16.
One of the features of the convention was a very interesting and profitable discussion of various types of books. Judy served as leader for a discussion group on light fiction, and Mrs. DeLoach acted as adult leader for a group discussing biography.
The election of GALA officers for 1961-62 was held on April 15. Judy was a candidate for the office of state historian and, although she was not elected, she made a very certifiable showing in the race.

It Pays Well To Speak Well
For every word you write, you speak a thousand. Every day in all your activities you constantly have to talk. Do you speak well? Are you relaxed? Do you have poise? Can you speak clearly and conviction? Do you possess the art of making friends through good personality and expression? In all of your activities - business, civic, social, spiritual - are you contributing your best as you express yourself? Do you wish to improve personally and grow professionally? Your needs may well find the answer in Dr. Smith's training program in PUBLIC SPEAKING, to be conducted in Statesboro beginning Friday night, May 5, at 7:30 in the library, Sally Zetterer School, Statesboro. He states that it is altogether true that GOOD SPEECH IS GOOD BUSINESS, adding that TO BE ABLE TO SPEAK WELL ANYTIME IS A SURE MARK OF INTELLIGENCE AND LEADERSHIP. Write to Dr. W. Phil Smith, Chairman, Languages and Literature, Mercer University, Macon, Georgia, or Albert Gibson, Sr., Executive Manager of the Bulloch County and Statesboro Chamber of Commerce, Box 333, PO 4-3115 or 4-3331.

Delta Kappa Gamma society sees slides of Europe

Miss Virginia Parker, the president, presided. During the business session Mrs. Ethel Smith, chairman of the Intercultural committee, reported she had made a collection of old Christmas cards teaching a religious lesson, old nylon hose and old text books for the unprivileged in other parts of the world. Miss Parker gave an interesting report of the State Convention in Rome. The theme of the convention was "Teachers are trustees of citizenship."
Miss Marjorie Crouch, program chairman, arranged a real treat in carrying out the chapter theme of the year, "Opening Doors in Tomorrow's World."
She presented two of the chapter members, Miss Marie Wood and Miss Ella Johnson, who made a European tour last summer. These tourists gave an hour of beautiful slides showing the scenery, the buildings and culture of the foreign countries. The slides surely carried out the focus of the year's theme "Understanding Our World in a Cultural Way."
Every member of the chapter except two was present, and each felt as if he had been in a tour when the program was over.

"AND WHAT MAY I DO FOR YOU," asks Mrs. Nan Edith Jones, librarian, in charge of circulation, at her desk in the Statesboro Regional Library located on Suth Main Street. Over Mrs. Jones' desk 143,938 books circulated during 1959-1960.

THE LIBRARY is for little boys too, is the way Tommy Brannen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Brannen of 212 South Walnut Street, thinks of the library as he reads from a book from the children's shelves at the Statesboro Regional Library Monday afternoon during National Library Week, April 16-22.

THE LIBRARY is a place to study, is the way Jackie Johnson, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Johnson of Fair Road, and Nan Royal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Royal of 9 East Jones Avenue, think of the Statesboro Regional Library as they were found doing some research in their science assignment on Monday afternoon of this week.

THE LIBRARY is for people who depend on the Bookmobile. Mrs. Kathleen Rushing, Bookmobile Assistant, is here suggesting a book from the shelves of the Bookmobile for Hubert Tankersley of the Statesboro High School. The Bookmobile serves Bulloch and Bryan Counties.

Statesboro Regional Library joins nation in observing National Library Week during April 16-22

By MRS. F. W. HUGHES

This is National Library Week April 16-22. All libraries from the Atlantic to the Pacific are celebrating the week in various ways. The purpose of such a week is to stimulate more reading by more people. A revival of reading is needed. What better way to a richer, fuller life!

American's must be better informed by reading more if our country is to maintain its place of leadership in the world.

A revival of reading is more necessary as we think of our disquiet over Russia, inflation, space ships, crimes and mental illness. Books are more accessible now than ever before. Even the smallest community is usually within reach of free books through public libraries.

Our own Bulloch-Bryan Regional Library, aside from its service to individuals at the desk, serves all county schools and communities by the bookmobile. On a scheduled date the bookmobile arrives at a certain parking place in a community to serve the people.

The citizens of Statesboro and Bulloch County cannot afford to neglect or ignore such an educational institution as the Bulloch County Library.

It is interesting to know that Bulloch was the second county in the state to own and operate a bookmobile. It was the second county in the state to become a regional library and receive state funds.

This library has 38,821 volumes with a circulation of 143,938 last year.

Aside from the books, the library has audio-visual equipment. It has motion picture and film strip machines to lend to churches and civic organizations.

Indeed, libraries are indispensable in improving education, supplying information pursuing research, providing recreation and developing aesthetic appreciation.

May this week stimulate all Georgians to read for a richer, fuller life to make Georgia a better informed state.

MRS. KATHLEEN RUSHING, Assistant Bookmobile librarian, is shown here processing some of the 38,821 books in the Statesboro Regional Library to be placed on the shelves of the Bookmobile for distribution in Bulloch and Bryan counties.

Local Rotary to be represented at district meet

The conference, which meets this year at the Gen. Oglethorpe Hotel, is held to review Rotary service activities and to make plans for increasing their effectiveness during the coming year. District Gov. Albert P. Bechtel of Macon presides.

Representing the president of Rotary International, J. Edd McJames I, Keller of Miami, Fla. Speakers will include Robert M. Sayre, foreign service officer in the State Department, who is executive secretary of the task force for Latin America; Conrad Spathe, missile expert from Cape Canaveral; Winston K. Pendleton, Washington newspaper columnist and public relations consultant.

Miss Leonie Ingram of Belfast, North Ireland, a Rotary exchange student now studying at Wesleyan University in Macon; Carl V. Hodges of Fitzgerald, president of the Georgia Education Association; and Dr. Tom Ross of Macon, past president of the Georgia Heart Association.

Conference Chairman Albert S. Hatcher of Macon said special entertainment will include the Emory University Glee Club, a musical group from Wesleyan College, a water show by the Nalads of Wesleyan, a golf tournament, boat rides and tours.

In the beginning, Mrs. M. A. Liscomb was the school director. It was in 1905 at West Point when the Georgia Federation of Women's Club was in convention that Mrs. Liscomb presented this group of Georgia clubwomen with the idea of making Tallulah Falls School "their school." The convention adopted her idea and so Tallulah Falls Schools came into being, a school unique in the world, owned and operated by a group of Georgia ladies dedicated to the objective of graduating students well-trained to take their places in society.

The school is financed by gifts from the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs and is located in and out of the State of Georgia.

Mr. K. J. Harris, superintendent of the school, says, "Every day I am convinced that the campus site, the farm and all the physical plant are secondary to the true values of Tallulah. It is the human growth and development that are taking place at Tallulah."

In 1959 the school celebrated its Golden Anniversary. This celebration came during the years in which Mrs. E. L. Barnes of Statesboro served as president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Club. It was during the Golden Anniversary that Mrs. Barnes told the Georgia clubwomen, "May we never cease to love and cherish our school in each succeeding generation there will be children who need Tallulah. It is our responsibility to see that Tallulah will be ready and waiting for them."

Mrs. Dorman is one of the ability elects members of the Board of Trustees of the school. The school is an accredited High School of the State of Georgia — a member of the Southern Association of High Schools and Colleges and of the Georgia Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Known as "The Light in the Mountains," Tallulah Falls School, located in the foothills of the Appalachian mountains in northeast Georgia, is a monument to the future for the members of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Talluah Falls School Band to play here April 27

Statesboro will be hosts to nearly fifty young musicians who will present a concert here on Thursday evening, April 27, according to Mrs. Alfred Dorman, chairman of the arrangements.

The guests will be members of the Tallulah Falls School Band of Tallulah Falls, Georgia. The band is on tour and will come here from Savannah. They will appear in Waycross on Tuesday, April 25, and at Jacksonville on April 26.

The concert here will be at the Statesboro High School Auditorium and will begin at 8:15 p.m. Members of the Statesboro High School Blue Devil Band will be special guests of the Tallulah Falls band for the concert.

The young musicians will be guests at an outdoor supper on the patio at the Recreation Center on Thursday night. Mrs. Harry Cons and Mrs. Belton Braswell will be in charge of the supper arrangements.

Tallulah Falls School is Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs' united effort for educational service in Georgia. It is the only school in the world owned and operated by a state federation of clubwomen — a school built of the hearts, minds, loyalties, devotions, conviction, and aspirations of this united group of women.

The school was dedicated on Thursday evening, April 27, June 30, 1909 with one building and twenty-one students. After its fifth year it consisted with 110 students, three instructors, seven home students, and a waiting list of applicants, five acres of land and a plant valued at $5,000.00 in 1920 the enrollment was at capacity, seven acres of land and an endowment of $11,000.00.

By 1925 the property was valued at $100,000.00 consisting of twenty-five acres of land and seven buildings. Endowment funds reached $36,000. Five years later the school graduated twenty-one students. And in 1935 the school plant included 500 acres of land, fourteen buildings and five acres of land and received a University of Georgia degree.

Ten years later, in 1945, Tallulah Falls Schools observed its Golden Jubilee. It had graduated 317 students and that year 200 students were enrolled in the school.

In 1950 the plant was valued at more than $500,000.00. The school had an endowment of $415,000.00 and approximately 250 students were enrolled.

Ronald Ferguson of Dawson: Georgia's farmer of the year

ONE OF OUR rural customers, Ronald Ferguson of Dawson, has been named Georgia's Farmer of the Year for 1960 by the Georgia Farmer magazine.

He was given the honor "in recognition of his outstanding progress in crops and livestock production, in soil conservation and for his contributions to his community."

Mr. Ferguson is one of thousands* of rural customers served directly by the Georgia Power Company. He uses electricity to lighten his chores and to increase production. Low-cost electric power assists him in everything from brooding baby pigs to running the drill press in his farm shop.

A rural engineer of the Georgia Power Company worked with Mr. Ferguson in designing the farm's modern wiring system. For 34 years company engineers have helped farmers throughout the state to power-up their farm operations.

Their services are available to you as well, without cost or obligation. Just contact the nearest Georgia Power Company office for more information.

Plant soybeans in late April and May

By ROY POWELL
County Agent

Soybeans should be planted about the time as corn or when the ground has become thoroughly warm. Soybeans germinate poorly when moisture conditions are not favorable and the soil is cold.

Late April and May are good planting dates in Bulloch County. The crop may be planted first of June with fair chance of success. Early planting results three or more weeks longer to maturity than those planted late.

For planting after small grain or late planting, a tall growing variety such as Jackson, Roonoko, J. E. W. 45 is better. Yellow is good after small grain. Yields usually are lower when soybeans are planted following small grain.

Planting 12 to 15 seed per linear foot of row should give a good stand. The following rates of planting are suggested for 36 to 40 inch rows: 50 to 70 pounds per acre. For drilling, double the maximum rates suggested above.

On well prepared soil and when the moisture conditions are favorable for quick germination, seed should be covered to 1½ inches deep on heavy or clay soil and 1¼ to 2½ inches on light or sandy soil. Plant in shallow furrows.

GIVING FERTILIZER A CHANCE

Many farmers today are using fertilizer according to soil test recommendations and still obtain poor results.

Fertilizer is only a part of the answer to successful crop production, selection of soils suitable for the crop being planted, the plant variety, spacing of the seed, and weed and insect control.

Fertilizer is very important in today's agriculture. In fact, one dollar invested in fertilizer will probably return more in most cases than other dollars spent in the farm operation. It's extremely important to give fertilizer every chance to work properly by using good management practices.

Georgia farmers planted 633 thousand acres of cotton last year, yet realized very little profit from the 80 million dollars gross income received for the crop.

The main limiting factor in profitable cotton production—outside of weather—are inadequate fertilization and insect control. When adequate fertilizer is used without proper insect control, it results in rank plant growth with poor results because of insects. To get profitable yields you must have both adequate fertilization and insect control.

IRON DEFICIENCY

An iron deficiency can make a person unhealthy and peaked. It has a similar effect on plants. In fact, it is one of the major causes of poor growth of ornamentals.

When iron is deficient in a plant a condition called iron chlorosis occurs. On new foliage the area between the veins becomes yellow-green or yellow. The leaf veins usually remain green, but in extreme cases the entire leaf may turn almost white.

Do not confuse iron chlorosis with nitrogen deficiency. Lack of nitrogen shows up first by causing lower foliage to turn an even, light-green color.

Westside HD Club urges use of library

The Westside Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Roberts April 5 for their regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Emitt Deal, Mrs. J. T. Sawicki and Mrs. Robert Deal as co-hostesses.

Mrs. L. P. Joyner, Club Librarian, urged the members to visit the regional library during Library Week.

Miss Judy Webb, assistant Home Demonstration Agent, gave a demonstration on nutrition.

The club decided to carry trays of fruit to the home Convalescent Home during National Home Demonstration Week.

Mrs. Lehman Rushing received the door prize.

At the close of the meeting a party plate with punch was served.

Mrs. Roberts showed the group through her lovely new home at the conclusion of the meeting.

CONFUSING FIGURES
4-12-12, 6-12-12, 6-12-6, 5-10-15—are these figures confusing. They are fertilizer ratios. With the great number of fertilizers on the market today fertilizer ratios may seem complicated to you. But basically they are a simple matter.

When buying fertilizer, you should remember that only three basic fertilizer ratios are needed to correct any soil fertility condition in Georgia.

The first of these ratios is for a fertilizer with an equal amount of phosphate and potash. Such a fertilizer would have a 4-12-12 or 6-12-12 ratio.

The second basic ratio is for a fertilizer with high phosphate and low potash content such as 6-12-6. The third basic ratio is for low phosphate and high potash fertilizers such as 5-10-15.

In any case, the first figure in the ratio represents nitrogen; the second, phosphate; and the third, potash.

Choosing between the three basic ratios depends on the results you get on a soil test. The soil test will tell you which one to use. Using the wrong choice can cost money. Stop by my office if you wish to have your soil tested.

'Sudden death' playoff features SE golf tourney

Clark Willingham of Augusta birdied the first hole in a sudden death playoff with the 27-hole championship De Renfrow of Statesboro and won the ninth annual Forest Heights South-eastern Golf Tournament here Sunday.

Willingham and Renfrow wound up in a tie for the title with 110 total in the 27-hole race, but only a double bogey by Savannah's Hobart Manley on the final hole made it possible.

Manley, needing only a par on the 27th hole to win the meet from three other way. He wound up with a 112 total and had to settle for third place.

Willingham, just 24 years old and competing in his second Southeastern in a row, wound up the 27 holes two over par. Renfrow won the crown last year with a one-under 107.

Savannah's Johnny Skeadas finished in a tie for fourth place in the A Division of the Championship Flight. He had 36-0-37 for a 113 total, one back of Manley who had 40-36-38. Manley was two-under on the last nine until the disastrous final hole.

The all-day meeting and evening banquet were held at the Forest Heights Country Club.

Dr. William H. Fulmer, retiring president, announced the following slate of officers for 1961-62:

Bulloch County has 253,200 acres of commercial forest land

On April 1, 1961, Georgia forest survey crews had completed inventorying timber resources in 122 counties, according to H. E. Ruark, director, Georgia Forest Research Council. The survey, directed by the U. S. Forest Service, began in southwest Georgia August 1, 1959 and is scheduled for completion in north Georgia by August, 1961.

Fourteen survey specialists are presently taking detailed forest measurements on permanent plots in the Upper Piedmont. Preliminary results of the survey have been published for two of the five survey units in Georgia and a complete final report will be published early in 1962, reported Ruark. Ruark added that the survey will include industrial plantations, foresters and woodland owners to measure trends in land use and timber by size, species and types of timber on various sites.

Ruark pointed out that 7.9 million acres of commercial forest area in the Southeast Unit is four percent greater than in 1952. Approximately half the increase is in pine and oak-pine types. The Southeast has gained some 300,000 acres since 1952, 152,000 of which are in hardwoods. In that period there has been an increase of 700 million cubic feet in softwoods and 400 million cubic feet in hardwoods.

The preliminary report showed that there were 253,200 acres of commercial forest land in Bulloch County, representing 58.8 percent of the county's total land area. There are 591.6 million board feet of sawtimber, of which 372.4 million board feet are in softwoods. In addition there are 2,796,000 cords of growing stock. However, there are also 273,000 cords of cull timber, the report indicated.

The survey is being conducted by the U. S. Forest Service with additional backing of the Research Council, Georgia Forestry Commission, Georgia Forestry Association, and industry.

Many Civil War events pictured in production of 'John Brown's Body'

Fort Sumter was bombarded for 33 hours in 1861. The Confederacy had 30 guns and 18 mortars trained on Sumter from four points and fired more than 3,000 shells.

Now 100 years later we celebrate the Centennial of this historic event. Stephen Vincent Benet wrote the inspiring book entitled "John Brown's Body," complete with historic facts and an eye necessary fiction to make it an entertaining book.

Now is has been dramatized and brought to life on the McCraw Auditorium stage on May 16. Danny Bray will create the voice of the slave ship Captain with Robert Mallard, his young mate. From this opening scene we move to Connecticut where we find Johnny Johnson creating the character of Jack Hill, his life and chance meeting with the beautiful Melora Vilas who is played by Dale Anderson.

We then move them to the court house in Charleston, West Virginia where Ashley Tyson will portray John Brown in the famous courtroom scene. Our southern character, Clay Wingate, is ably handled by Billy Franklin who is teamed with two lawyers, Sally Dupre played complete with historic facts and an eye necessary fiction to make it an entertaining book.

Throughout the story the lives of the people you give life by these young actors and actresses. Since this is the year centennial the play is being produced for the entire community and the date is only about 1 1/2 to get the three "ready-to-serve" meals on the table.

"We made 1,266 pounds more peanuts per acre, thanks to aldrin soil insecticide."

Report Reilly and Jack Hanna, Parrot, Georgia

"Aldrin fertilizer mix gave us complete insect control this season. We treated for wireworms, rootworms, white grubs, mole crickets and other soil insects. We also got a bonus in really good strip control."

"We could actually tell to the row where our aldrin fertilizer mix treatment ended. The aldrin-treated peanuts had graded zero damage and yielded 2,500 pounds of peanuts per acre. The untreated peanuts had up to 5% damage and yielded 1,234 pounds—a difference of 1,266 pounds per acre."

"From the results we've gotten this year, you can be sure we'll continue to use aldrin from now on."

Reilly and Jack Hanna tell it better than we can

Aldrin kills many soil insects. Aldrin knocks out wireworms, rootworms, white grubs, mole crickets, and other damaging soil insects.

Easy-to-use... Aldrin can be applied as a spray, as granules, alone or with fertilizer.

Economical... Small dosages per acre do the job. The cost of treatment is returned many times over in bigger, better quality crops.

You can get the same outstanding control of soil insects with aldrin soil insecticide. Order your supply early.

To Beat the Band

By DALE JENSEN

Our BAND-O-RAMA is upon us, and we hope to make our audience very happy with it. All sorts of ideas have been included in this affair. It seems that once something like this gets started, everyone thinks of some way to make it a little more nice, and soon it far surpasses the original idea, and becomes an event that just can't fail. Wait 'til you see the decorations, the programs, and the band, and you'll know what I mean. The BAND-O-RAMA won't be forgotten soon!

The most important thing, though, to the students, is the audience. They have worked hard, preparing their music, as well as all the other work involved in staging a big program. And they want to play for a large audience. With a program at your meeting, you have seen them in parades. Perhaps your organization has called on them for a parade, or a program at your meeting. Certainly you have seen the town come alive, with a little more bustle, when there is going to be a parade with the Blue Devil Band. Perhaps you were one of our Boosters on Band Day, a few weeks ago. Well, here is the best way to show that you really want to give the band a boost. Come to the BAND-O-RAMA! Your presence will help make it the success it deserves to be.

Some parents have asked about an article we wrote last week about the attitude of respectability, and how it is necessary to accept and live up to the responsibility of your work, whether a student's class or an adult's job, and have asked what amount of work a student should put into his work. The answer is probably best put by saying, enough to make it perfect. With some students, five minutes is enough time to prepare a lesson. With others, it may be an hour, or more. In some courses, on student may need more time than another. A person has to consider also how many other things a student has to do, and how much time each day can be devoted to study outside of school. We, being in education, have some weird ideas about that. We feel that a child's school is his most important task at this time. It is his job. Anything that interferes with his job should be curtailed. We certainly encourage a student to do as much as he can in other areas besides school work, but school work comes first. This was strictly adieu to, all along the line, perhaps the first man into space might have been an American. What do you think?
