Out 6 minutes!

-Think over the last two weeks. Surely you can recall some kind of event which has been a part of your life and had a little heart-touching. Has it been a kind of happiness? Somewhere in the mind, there had been a little concept of happiness. Why? Did that prove good? You know.

-All as simple as that, then yes, it is (DOES). Maybe it is TRUE time to replace it for your heart touch and for the heart. Distress. This is why you have to be a little greater.

You will have a chance on May 26 from 1 to 2 p.m., at the Extension Center in the beginning.

Cable: "CLASSIC" on a hard copy for the which will bring you a little delight. This is why you will have a little heart glimpse. This is why you have to be a little greater.

Shell reveals how to increase your mileage up to 30 extra miles per tankful

Here are some tips from Shell's experts on how to get maximum mileage from your car. If you practice these good driving habits—and if you use today's Super Shell, with 5 ingredients for top performance—you may well save a pretty penny on gasoline bills.

1. Don't lose a single engine peak. Each engine peak is designed to give maximum power and efficiency. To lose an engine peak means to lose power and efficiency. To lose an engine peak means to lose power and efficiency. The peak of each engine is designed to give maximum power and efficiency. To lose an engine peak means to lose power and efficiency.

2. Don't throw away your engine's top performance. By keeping your engine at its peak performance, you ensure that it will run at its best efficiency. This means you'll get more miles per gallon of gasoline you put in your car.

3. Get the most power from your engine. By keeping your engine at its peak performance, you ensure that it will run at its best efficiency. This means you'll get more miles per gallon of gasoline you put in your car.

5. Use the correct grade of oil. The grade of oil you use is important in getting maximum mileage from your car. Use the oil specified for your car by the manufacturer.

6. Keep your tires inflated to the proper pressure. Underinflated tires mean reduced fuel efficiency. Overinflated tires mean reduced fuel efficiency.

7. Maintain proper alignment of your wheels.Incorrect alignment of your wheels means reduced fuel efficiency.

8. Keep your car well maintained. Regular maintenance prevents engine wear and reduces fuel consumption.

9. Drive at a moderate speed. Rapid acceleration and braking use a lot of extra fuel.

10. Avoid idling. Idling uses a lot of fuel. If you must wait, turn off your engine.

Remember, these tips are just a starting point. The key to getting maximum mileage is good driving habits and using the right grade of gasoline.
Editorials

Congratulations to all 1961 graduates

This week's Herald belongs to the graduates of Statesboro High School. The Statesboro High School 1961 ceremony was held on May 18, 1961, and the Herald is proud to honor all those who have graduated. The ceremony was a joyous occasion, filled with pride and accomplishment. The graduates should be proud of their achievements, and the Herald is proud to offer congratulations to all of them.

The editor's uneasy chair

This week's Herald offers a column titled "The editor's uneasy chair," which appears to be a humoristic or:Satirical piece. The column seems to address various topics, such as local events, personal observations, and possibly commentary on current affairs. Without a specific context, it's challenging to provide a detailed summary of the column's content. However, it is likely designed to engage readers with a light-hearted or critical approach to the material.
