Our community enters a new era

Last week the opening of the new community bank brought to Statesboro a major financial institution that will serve the needs of the area. The new bank, Bank of America, is located at 302 S. Main St., just across from the old First National Bank building.

The bank offers a wide range of services, including checking and savings accounts, money market accounts, CDs, and home equity loans. It also provides a variety of online banking options, allowing customers to manage their accounts from anywhere.

The bank's opening is a significant milestone for the community, as it represents a new chapter in the history of banking in Statesboro. It will be an asset to the local economy, providing economic opportunities and contributing to the growth of the area.

The bank's dedication to customer service and commitment to community involvement is evident in its mission statement, which focuses on providing personalized service and building long-term relationships with its clients. The bank's team of experienced professionals is ready to assist customers with all their banking needs.

The opening of the new bank marks a promising new era for Statesboro, offering residents and businesses a modern and convenient banking option in the heart of the community.
