A Great Good At Little Sacrifice

COME JANUARY 22, you have another opportunity to hold your head high and say of yourself, "I gave my blood that the suffering of someone might be relieved, or the life of someone might be saved."

That meant that some wounded American in Korean action might not get blood to replace that he had lost.

Giving blood means more than just obtaining blood; it is giving something infinitely precious, something that cannot be manufactured, something that may mean life itself for others.

Dedicated to saving lives and preventing human suffering, the blood program offers us an unparalleled opportunity to do a great good at so little effort and sacrifice to ourselves.

It Would Be Rough On Us

OUR TOURIST court, motel and hotel operators, and businessmen have something new about which to worry this week.

Last week we spotlighted the possibilities of federal highway authorities rerouting our U. S. 301 unless we did something about the traffic bottleneck through our business district.

On Monday of this week our governor, in his message to the adjourned session of the General Assembly, spotlighted the possibilities of a toll road to aid tourists in driving through Georgia as fast as possible.

We believe that something must be done about the local situation and nothing should be done about the toll road possibilities.

Organized opposition was in Atlanta Monday to present their side. We hope they succeeded and that the idea is abandoned.

For awhile we were favorably impressed with the toll road idea. But closer study, with more facts in hand, and we've reversed ourselves.

For us here it would be rough.

Up Goes Our Hat

UP GOES OUR HAT for Wallace Cobb. Recently named president of the Bulloch County Bank, Wallace Cobb's banking experience fits him perfectly as a banker in Bulloch County.

He is deeply interested in this community, he knows our people, interested in his profession, he has kept abreast with the changes in banking.

That he's intimately connected with the church of his choice gives him the courage of his convictions.

We congratulate the board of directors of the bank upon their selection.

We commend Dr. R. J. Kennedy Sr. for his long period of service with the bank which dates back to its inception in 1934.

He becomes the chairman of the board and will continue serving the bank.

He's Our Man

WE LIKE the way he made his announcement—with dignity and a sense of public trust.

He's got a job. And an important one. Under no circumstances will I ask for relief from this assignment.

He's not seeking a new one. He's in order to seek nomination to political office.

He will not play politics. And I shall not participate in the pre-convention activities of others who may have such an intention with respect to me.

But if you and you and you and average Americans looking for a man of their kind call him he'll serve.

"Of course there is no question of the right of the American citizens to organize in pursuit of their common convictions. I realize that Senator Lodge and his associates are exercising this right in an attempt to place before me next July a duty that would transcend my present responsibility."

How Mean Can You Get?

It has been revealed to us after a trip to North Georgia that the meanest and greediest of their seats and hour after hour watched the television shows.

We adults were not interested in seeing relatives and friends on television. We were interested in seeing what we didn't take time to see on television.

The five-year-old learned a great deal, though. Recently, in one of our quiet moments together, she asked me, "Why, Mommy, why don't we drink beer? Everybody drinks beer except us."

"Why, Mommy," she said, "you can use Lysol for everything. You can clean floors, woodwork, etc."

Today (digressing from advertising for a moment) she gave us a lesson in color. Color slides were used to tell the story of the beetle.

What Effect Will TV Advertising Have On Children?

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL. If you have been perturbed about the effects that advertising may have on your children, get ready for a real jolt when television gets to Statesboro in full force.

The advertising that has been done on printed matter may catch the eyes of the children, and the radio ads, but there's no doubt that the advertising on television most effectively catches both eyes and ears.

This has been revealed to us after a trip to North Georgia that the meanest and greediest of their seats and hour after hour watched the television shows.

We adults were not interested in seeing relatives and friends on television. We were interested in seeing what we didn't take time to see on television.

Editor's Uneasy Chair

DR. J. M. McELVEEN of Brooklet came in to see us Friday morning and we had a long visit. Last Sunday he celebrated his 75th birthday, and come April 20 he will have been practicing medicine 50 years.

He has "found" more than 4,100 babies in the 50 years he has been a doctor. He has all his records and still receives requests for birth certificates from many who were born before Georgia required birth certificates.

He still likes a good cigar and when he comes to Statesboro, we rarely see him without one in his mouth.

His family held "open house" on his birthday and invited all his friends and relatives—which meant every person in and around Bulloch county.

We take our hat off to a man who, at 75 years of age, can still practice medicine and maintain the confidence of his community.

THE COLDEST DAY. Another of our friends came a-visitng last week. Mr. W. C. Cromley came in to say hello and talk about the weather.

Mr. Cromley is the Herald's weatherman, as an adjunct to his duties as weather observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau. We got to talking about Bulloch county's weather, and as is the case when the weather is mentioned we drifted back to our "Big Freeze" of November, 1950.

This led to weather extremes in other sections of the world. He said that the coldest weather recorded on earth was registered at Verkhoyansk, Siberia, on February 6 and 7, 1892, when the thermometer went to 90 degrees below zero.

THE HOTTEST DAY. The hottest record on the earth was 136 degrees at Azizia, Libya, North Africa, on September 13, 1922. In the United States the hottest temperature recorded was 134 degrees at Greenland Ranch, Death Valley, Calif., on July 10, 1913.

Georgia's hottest day was on September 6, 1925, when the thermometer at Americus went to 111 degrees. The hottest day in Bulloch county was on the same date when the temperature soared to 107 degrees.

Advertising is becoming much more subtle than it formerly was. David Cohn wrote in "America," published in 1943, "Men in this world, love a woman who uses the 'right' lipstick or brassiere, no matter if her mind is vacant as an empty lot, her temper as wild as a frowning sow, and her ambitions those of a tapeworm."

The president of a bank and railroads, who sat next each other in art class. On a trip to New York with her mother, Doll Foy, Betty, under the guidance of her friend, had the opportunity of visiting all the most prominent art galleries—those open to the public and others she would not have had access to had it not been for Mr. Holbrook's entree to private art collections in the city.

It was in 1945 that Alfred Holbrook, at 70 years, took up painting. He enrolled in the art department at the University of Georgia. His collection grew to over a hundred paintings, covering a period of 100 years in American art.

Mr. Holbrook presented his valuable paintings to the University of Georgia with the understanding that it would form a nucleus for a museum established on the campus. The collection is known as the Eva Underhill Holbrook, named in honor of his wife, and is housed in the Georgia Museum of Art located on the ground floor of the University Library. Mr. Holbrook has had three of his own paintings shown in New York City at the Bar Exhibition. The collection has at present over 200 paintings.

We feel that the Junior Woman's Club did Statesboro a great service in bringing to us a man of such eminence to address them on art and to demonstrate his subject with beautiful paintings.

Trivia and Tripe . . . By G. M. B. Many of the loafers and chislers whom I know seem to expect too much from life. Although God gives every bird its food, He does not throw it in the nest.

Benjamin Franklin wrote that the best of all medicines are resting and fasting. I am always inclined to overdo the first, and add "er" between the first and second letters of the last.

A man named Richter once wrote "The head, like the stomach, is most easily infected with poison when it is empty." Before reading that, I wondered why we have communion in the world.

A tractor dealer in our town acquired some mules through his deals, and advertised them for sale after giving them the names of some of our local citizens. After noting some of the names he gave a few of the horse mules, I was tempted to call him up and explain the difference between a mule and a jackass.

G. B. Bowen Named President Of the Sinkhole Farm Bureau

G. B. Bowen was named president of the Sinkhole Farm Bureau at a regular meeting Thursday of last week. Mr. Bowen succeeded L. S. Anderson as president.

L. S. Anderson was named vice president and H. H. Godbee secretary. Mrs. H. H. Godbee was named chairman of the Associated Women to succeed Mrs. Jim H. Strickland.

The Sinkhole Farm Bureau will name officers in December as in most of the other groups.

Jack Kelly, in charge of the white-fringed beetle control program in Georgia for the Bureau of Plant Quarantine, along with O. W. Whitehead, district agent, will be in the area for this work, met with the Warnock Farm Bureau on Wednesday night.

Mr. Kelly and Mr. Whitehead warned farmers in this area that the pest is present in Bulloch county, now located around parts of Statesboro, Port and Brooklet, and that it caused ample damage to crops to warrant extreme care in controlling them.

Some of the Warnock Farm Bureau members own land in the infested area, and that it caused ample damage to crops to warrant extreme care in controlling them.

The white-fringed beetle came from the infested areas on plants and shrubs brought for landscaping purposes, and that it caused ample damage to crops to warrant extreme care in controlling them.

Heavy machinery moved from these infested areas should be cleaned and disinfested. Color slides were used to tell the story of the beetle.

Mrs. Hunter Feted

On 90th Birthday

Mrs. John Olliff of Register entertained with a party Wednesday afternoon January 2nd, honoring Mrs. Ida Hunter also of Register on her 90th birthday.

There were fifteen ladies invited and delicious party refreshments were served. There was a birthday cake beautifully decorated.

Mrs. Hunter to the delight of the women present was in a reminiscent mood and told of her childhood and early days spent near Halyonsdale. Mrs. Lee came to Bulloch from Scriven in 1866, asked the secret of her long life, she replied, "I was always obedient to my father and mother."

With a twinkle in her eye, she added, "I were long fanned underware until a short while before I married."

Her picture was made holding the birthday cake in her lap. Mrs. Olliff is very fond of Mrs. Lee and takes her to church and other places that this well-read, intelligent nonseamaner enjoys going.

Birthday Party For Bing Phillips, 9

The fact that Mrs. Bing Phillips' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bing Phillips, were tripping in New Orleans didn't cheat Bing out of a birthday last week. His grandmother Mrs. Wilton Hodges honored him on his ninth birthday with a party at the Recreation Center. Twenty of his friends were invited. Balloons were given as favors and the guests were served cake, ice cream, cookies and candy. They saw a Laurel and Hardy movie and had a wonderful time.

Civic Garden Club Hears Mr. Osborne

Mrs. Fred T. Lanier Sr., Mrs. McKinley Newton and Mrs. Al Sutherland were co-hostesses to the Civic Garden Club which met Thursday afternoon at the Lanier home on Zetterover avenue.

Camellias in a circle arrangement was the predominant decoration.

H. C. Osborne, of Savannah was the guest speaker. He needed no introduction to the majority of the women since he spent six years in Statesboro over twenty years ago. He has advanced rapidly as an employee of the Central of Georgia Railroad. He selected as his special topic the Amaryllis, a bulbous plant originating in South Africa.

As referred to as the bella-donna lily. His interest in the Amaryllis is founded upon sentiment which he shared with the members present. He has the original bulb that started his hobby of growing the lovely flower. It is now 18 years old. At present, his bulbs number in the hundreds. He is also interested in the culture of double dogwood. Mr. Osborne has an engaging personality that made his practical observations and discussions very entertaining to the club women present.

The business meeting was concerned with plans for the camellia show, the date of which is still tentative due to weather conditions.

Found cake, toasted nuts, cheese straws, and coffee were served.

GETTING A BOMBED COMMUNITY ON ITS FEET TAKES ORGANIZATION

(This is the last of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This Is Civil Defense," prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Document Sales, Washington, D. C. for 10 cents.)

By MILLARD CALDWELL
Federal Civil Defense Administrator

Getting a stricken city back into working order as soon as possible by restoring damaged facilities and clearing away debris is the job of the Engineering Service. Under their regular supervisors, but with civil defense direction, men employed by public works and utility departments or contracting firms, would do the same kind of work in the event of an atomic attack.

Men would be needed who can operate special equipment, such as cranes, bulldozers, dump trucks and welding machines, and volunteers in the labor force that would help clean away wreckage and open the streets to traffic. Help would be recruited from equipment and material dealers, labor unions, engineering schools, and other groups which have skilled workmen, tools, and material.

The Rescue Service. Rescue work is a personnel job and requires some basic knowledge of shoring, rigging, and building construction. Hence, its personnel will be drawn from the building trades and similar occupations. Untrained rescue workers often make a bad situation worse by causing additional damage, creating more casualties, or becoming casualties themselves.

Rescue teams will have their own specially equipped rescue vehicles, and will be made up of three men each. Three teams are working 8-hour shifts to provide around-the-clock operation, will be assigned to each rescue vehicle, and will be known as "A," "B," and "C." Ability and willingness to work as a team under emergency conditions, and strength and stamina to perform their duties are the requirements for the good rescue worker.

Skilled drivers are needed for the Transportation Service. In case of enemy attack, people and equipment would have to be moved carefully and rapidly: the injured to hospitals, emergency food and

Forestry News

Plans for making Bulloch county in 1952 "one of the most wildfire-free areas in Georgia" came this week from the County Forestry Unit.

Unit personnel, reporting that forest fires in 1950 damaged over 2,000 acres of woodland in Bulloch county, pointed out that carelessness accounted for many of last year's wildfires.

Carelessness in burning brush is one of the many factors which will be under attack by unit personnel, as such carelessness is a constant source of danger to the 254,088 acres which comprise Bulloch's forestland area.

The fire-fighting crews of the County Forestry Unit plan to combat this danger by asking each farmer and landowner in this area to telephone 301-L or 287-L, the unit headquarters, whenever he plans a brush burning. The unit
