MACON, Georgia – The Georgia Southern men's tennis team had a good showing over the weekend at the three-day Mercer Gridiron Classic tournament amongst the 15-team field on the campus of Mercer University.

Highlights of the tournament included Diego Finkelstein and Alexandros Roumpis' four doubles wins and Roumpis and Pascal Wagemaker's combined six singles wins.

A full list of tournament results can be found here.

What head coach Alexander Koning had to say:

"Overall we had a good showing this weekend. Alex and Pascal played really well in singles. Diego and Alex played well in doubles. The guys used what we have been working on the past couple of weeks and most of it went well but some of it can be better. I am pleased with their fight and ability to be coached."

"We need to have more grit during matches and keep working on our patterns. It has been a good start to the fall and now we have to keep moving forward."

Up next:

The team will compete at the ITA Regional Championships Oct. 24-27 before returning home to host the Georgia Southern Championships Nov. 1-3.
