This Is Commendation Week

WHEN we finished writing our editorials this week we noted that we had done nothing but commend our people, do nothing but toss our hat high into the air.

We were surprised that we had not blown our top about something, and you know there's plenty over which to blow our top.

But we could not ignore these things which we feel are worthy of commendation. It is part of our obligation to this community to praise where and when praise is due.

So we ask that you take off your hat and toss it high with us:

Congressman Preston—He's For Lower Taxes

Our hat stays in the air while shouting "hurrah" over the things our Congressman, Prince Preston, does, and the stand he takes on issues.

This week we toss it just a little higher over his firm stand on economy in our national government.

In his public speeches while he was home he expressed himself with conviction—for economy in our government.

In a statement published last Sunday, Congressman Preston said flatly, "This Congress isn't going to raise taxes." As a member of the appropriations committee, he said he is in favor of cutting back instead of adding on to the already high tax burden.

We appreciate our Congressman going to bat for the harassed taxpayer.

We appreciate his recognizing the terrific waste that exists in our national government and that the great need is not for more taxes, but the honest distribution of the taxes we now pay.

And we commend him on his stand.

Henry S. Blitch—He Wins Another

Henry S. Blitch has added "Man of the Year in Bulloch County Soil Conservation" to his list of accomplishments as a farmer in this county.

In special ceremonies here last Friday, he together with farmers from Screven, Tattnall, Candler and Evans counties, was recognized for outstanding work done in soil conservation in the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District.

Last year Mr. Blitch was named a Georgia Master Farmer, one of the highest honors to be bestowed on a man of the soil.

We join with Bulloch county in commending Mr. Blitch.

Our Future Leaders

THE BOY SCOUTS of America in this area are conducting their annual budget campaign. Every civic-minded citizen should be proud to know that his or her contribution in the past has "paid off" in dividends of young men, trained for citizenship.

Scouting has for more than 40 years carried forward a program, attractive to boys, which has produced a generation of several million men of good moral character, men of whom America can be justly proud. Many of these Scouts of yesterday are men of prominence today in all major fields of business and the professions.

The Scouts of today are America's leaders of tomorrow. We must do all in our power to support Scouting, so that more of our boys may become members. In the words of General Dwight D. Eisenhower—"The Boy Scout movement merits the unstinted support of every American who wants to make his country and his world a better place in which to live."

Invest today in America's future leaders.

Keep Them Marching

THE MARCH OF DIMES is on again. The drive this year takes on new significance with the announcement only two months ago by Basil O'Connor, national foundation head, that progress toward the development of a vaccine to prevent polio was definitely on the way toward perfection.

A contribution to the March of Dimes is a contribution to a cause which takes

It's he and his kind who make this county the best in the land.

Jim Hays—He Puts Out Newsy Letter

Last week we received the first copy of the Newsletter of the Statesboro and Bulloch County Chamber of Commerce.

It's cover wishes all a Happy New Year. The inside pages are filled with newsy items about Statesboro, Bulloch county, and their doings. It features improvements by our merchants and developments in business and industry.

We commend Jim Hays, secretary-manager of the county's businessmen's organization, on the good job.

Statesboro PCA Now Owns Itself

Up goes our hat for Josh T. Nessmith, secretary-treasurer of the Statesboro Production Credit Association; his assistants, A. Francis Trapnell; and their board of directors, J. H. Smith of Bulloch, John H. Moore of Bulloch, Henry H. Durrence of Evans, W. D. Sands of Evans and J. Harry Lee of Bulloch.

For 18 years they have worked along with the PCA until January 2 of this year when they became the first association in Georgia to be completely member-owned.

During its 18 years the SPCA has made 8,846 loans for a total of $5,163,245, with a loss of only 1.021. The total net worth of the organization is $174,519 and the 985 members own $77,925 worth of stock.

We commend the officers, directors and the 985 members on their progress. It reflects with credit upon Bulloch county and her neighbors.

First Federal Now Fifteen Years Old

Up goes our best-up hat on the fifteenth anniversary of the Statesboro First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

On Thursday night of last week officers and directors and a few invited guests gathered to celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of the association.

Since 1936, when it started with $5,000, it has grown until today it shows loans of over one and one-half million dollars. Made up of entirely local people, it has earned a firm place in Bulloch county and Statesboro's parade of progress.

We commend the officers and directors of the First Federal on doing a wonderful job of filling a need in our community.

Automobile Title Law

THE STATE of Georgia needs a motor vehicle certificate of title law, and quite badly. In the year ended August 31, 1951, there were 4,405 automobiles in nine Southeastern states and 1,109 (25%) of them were stolen in Georgia. In the same period, same area, there were 2,427 automobile fires, many of them incendiary, and 496 (20%) of them were in Georgia. Mississippi and Georgia led in automobile fires and neither has a title law. Other Southeastern states without title laws are Alabama, and South Carolina. It is the general belief that absence of title laws brings in operations of automobile title thieves from other states.

A Georgia title law would reduce thefts, cut down traffic in stolen cars and parts, and greatly improve the tracing of stolen, abandoned or embezzled vehicles. It would help reduce crime generally, since automobiles are involved in a majority of all crimes. Such a law also would protect innocent buyers of stolen cars and reduce rates for automobile fire and theft. It would protect the legitimate auto sales and financing field. A bill providing a title law will be before the present session of the legislature. It calls for favorable action.

Peace Still Has a Meaning

ALL'S FAIR By Jane

The Bankers and the Press all joined in hearty Wednesday evening as the First Federal Savings and Loan Association observed their fifteenth anniversary with a dinner at the Forest Heights Country Club.

The table held all the glitter of the days of the Gold Rush, centered with Golden Rapture roses with bunches of grapes trailing the length of the table with clusters of yellow mums scattered here and there, while all over the table was money—gold money, not real, of course, or there would have been a mad scramble here in '52 like the 1840s. Barney Averitt, loan supervisor, was the master of ceremonies. Horace Smith, president, made the address of the evening.

Then came the fun, with everyone present relating their most embarrassing moment. Charlie Cone, vice president, was the record with his moment. In building up for the moment, he went back into his childhood which seems to have stretched out into his teens. Yesterday many of our present teenage boys can say, along with Mr. Charlie, that they were dressed until they were fifteen? Well, Mr. Charlie told the assembled dignitaries that he wore dresses until he was fifteen. He never heard of pajamas until just before he got married, you want to buy some pajamas. Charlie's curiosity knew no bounds. Timidly and fearfully, he made his appearance at the E. C. Oliver Company to make his first acquaintance with pajamas. He didn't know what to expect. One thing was certain—he didn't expect them to be silk. Well, he expected a two-piece garment. Up to that time he had worn night gowns or night shirts. Right there we leave the story which grew better all the time, but there are other embarrassing moments that we want to relate. Get Mr. Charlie to take it on from where he left off.

Mr. Wallis Cobb's embarrassing moment came early in her first housekeeping experiences when she bought a single sweet potato thinking she was buying a rutabaga and cooked it according to the recipe for cooking rutabagas. She won the ladies' prize. Mrs. Leroy Tyson told a rather singular experience that embarrassed her greatly. It happened in Savannah as she shopped downtown. She was standing at a counter, her back to the aisle, when a woman threw her arms around her and both were shocked to learn that it was a case of mistaken identity. Only 30 minutes later, as she was walking out of another store, a woman rushed up to her and kissed her heartily. Yes, it was the same woman.

Leodol Coleman came up with this (Note to Editor: Let this stand as is.) My Boss suffered. I believe you'll concede that "suffered" is the correct term to use. His most embarrassing moment came in 1923 when, as a student at Georgia Tech, he and the late Britt Franklin, son of Mrs. H. V. Franklin of Register, went by cordial invitation to visit a charming girl and her parents in what was considered the best residential section in Atlanta. So much they knew, but they were not prepared to be met at the door by a butler who said, "Come in, gentlemen. It isn't quite clear to me whether they were overcome by the butler or because his most embarrassing moment came since he's been editor of The Herald. That one we won't tell, as accustomed as we are to hearing plenty in our roundup of news.

We leave the bankers and their embarrassing moments with this story which shows that bankers are human. So are bank tellers—pretty smart people around a dollar Eagle eye they're supposed to have. But teller accepted an item for collection. It was cleared by the local office of the depository commercial bank. But that bank's head office returned it with this memorandum attached: "We are returning herewith an item under your number—which you described as a check in the amount of three hundred dollars. This is merely a Christmas greeting card for three hundred kisses drawn on the Bank of Happiness." We'll bet the glibly bank teller blushed deeper than the original recipient of the card.

As ever, JANE.

If a smoke flavor is not desired, hang cured meat to dry for about a week before bagging it. Farmers lose about $100,000,000 every year from building fires. Keep in mind that a strawberry plant produces its maximum yield the second year. The dairy cow can supply at least one-fifth of the farm family's food supply. One-half acre is recommended for the average farm family's garden.

Editor's Uneasy Chair

FOR THE past several days a bright yellow jonquil growing in our driveway makes us know that the day has been worth living. A group of bluebirds visited our backyard Saturday afternoon of last week. "Tater" Rucker put a new bridle on his mule last week. Welcome to Statesboro—Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Storey, Pine Air Homes, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Cole and Coleman, 445 S. Worried About Something? Stop Thinking On It

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL A FRIEND of mine said to me that she had turned off her mind as she did a light switch. She went on to explain that, if, for example, she ever found herself worrying about something she couldn't change, she simply stopped thinking about it. Her statement took me somewhat by surprise, and I pondered over it for day, but, more than that, I tried it; and, believe it or not, it works.

"Could it be that worrying is a habit?" I asked myself one day. "Surely, habit doesn't grip the mind, but the mind as it does these processes related to physical activities. Or does it?" I queried myself.

Alone in the study I searched for something that had been written on the subject, and found it in the writings of William James, the philosopher, who was a semi-physiologist. He said that he recovered by reading, renewing on free will and decided that the first expression of his free will would be to believe in his free will.

In his discussion of habit James begins with the Duke of Wellington's exclamation, "Habit is second nature! Habit is ten times nature." From this he proceeds to a presentation of illustrations of those strongly marked creatures—habit, the soldier, the cavalry hero, the manager, the tiger.

James believes that the youth, he under twenty, forms his personal habits, especially those of vocalization, gesture, motion, and address. The man between twenty and thirty forms his intellectual and professional habits. By the time they are twenty-five, James continues, professional mannerisms begin to settle on the young doctor, the minister, the lawyer. By the time a man becomes thirty, the habits that are formed are not likely ever to be changed. And of this James says: "On the whole, it is best he should not escape. It is well for the world that in most of us, by the age of thirty, the character has set like plaster, and will never soften again."

Yet, in spite of his belief in this plaster-like setting of character, James feels that one can break an old habit or form a new one, and he spends some time in showing his reader how this may be done. There must be, he declares no "tapering-off" procedure, but a definite, complete and complete initiation of activity. Once resolved, a person must act immediately. "Seize the very first possible opportunity to act on every resolution you make, and on every emotional prompting you may experience in the direction of the habits you aspire to form," says Mr. James.

To put this in a common everyday affair, if I think of my sick friend, then I must go right that moment and write her a note or, better still, go to see her. For James believes that one's character is not improved one bit if he has the finest intentions and does nothing about them. He feels that more than speaking kindly at home. But an act must take place when one has a sentiment. By all means, he insists, keep the act of effort alive.

After studying awhile with James, I begin to feel with him that it is vastly important for young people to fashion their characters in the right way by forming the right habits.

And it is possible to change one's ways, I believe. I agree with my friend that one's mind can be turned off as one turns off a light switch. Try it and see for yourself.

Forestry News By J. W. ROBERTS Forest Ranger

Personnel of the Bulloch County Forestry Unit have made a New Year's resolution.

They have determined to bring about a heavy reduction in the number of their forest fires annually. They have adopted the following resolutions: 1. To be vigilant in their patroling and matches while searching for game. Farmers and landowners must use caution in burning brush. All citizens must report wildfire and woodsmoke by telephoning their Forestry Unit headquarters, 501-L.

The next four months will be a large extent determine the success or failure of our campaign to cut down on the number of forest fires in Bulloch county. Trees during that period are more dormant than during other seasons, and although this dormancy period begins to end in late March and early April, high winds during those two months bring a new form of forest danger.

Realizing that resolutions are of little avail without action to back them up, members of the Bulloch County Forestry Unit plan to bring vehicles and equipment to scenes of forest fires with the shortest delay possible and to bring these blazes under control with a minimum loss of acreage. Stopping wildfires before they start, however, still remains the most effective means of keeping a coating of forest green over Bulloch county's 284,000 acres of woodlands.

Band Tours Scheduled

By CHERRELL WILLIAMS For the rest of this quarter, the T.C. band has planned the heaviest schedule it has ever attempted.

The primary purpose of the band is for the pleasure of the students. Mr. King states, "therefore, they have adopted the heaviest schedule and basketball games to an already crowded schedule."

The band's schedule includes four more half-time shows at basketball games on January 23 and 29, February 16 and 23. The show on January 23 will be given with all gym lights out, the theme of this special program being "A Salute of Basketball." The show on the twenty-ninth will be one originally scheduled for the Mercer game in Macon. The show on the sixteenth of February will feature majorettes from Glynn Academy in Brunswick. On February 23 at our last game of the season the band will present its last show of this kind for the year.

The formal concert on February 24 will be highlighted by one of the best-liked numbers in the semi-popular vein, but we are not at liberty to disclose this information.

The band's spring tour will begin approximately the first of March. It will tour South Georgia for three days.

Georgia farmers now operate around 60,000 tractors and thousands of pieces of mechanized equipment.

Stopping wildfires before they start, however, still remains the most effective means of keeping a coating of forest green over Bulloch county's 284,000 acres of woodlands.

HERE'S WHY -you see more every day!

EVER stop to ask yourself why you see more and more husky GMC's on every highway every day? Why so many cost-wise buyers are singling out GMC's as their first choice?

The answer is, "GMC" spells profit to the man whose business depends on the performance of his trucks.

To light-truck users, "GMC" means the highest horsepower in its class—for GMC 3/4- to 2-tonners are second to none in pulling power.

And to commercial haulers, "GMC" means America's most popular Diesel

VOLUNTEERS ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR PROTECTING THE HOME FRONT

(This is the eleventh of a series of articles on civil defense, based on the booklet "This is Civil Defense" prepared by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It may be obtained from the Department of Commerce, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., for ten cents.)

By MILLARD CALDWELL, Federal Civil Defense Administrator. All persons experienced in work having to do with health or medicine, others who can be trained in special weapons defense (against atomic, biological, and chemical warfare), are needed for the civil defense health service. Their big job will be to care for the injured, and protect the health of a city after an attack. In addition, many more volunteers will be needed for various duties under the direction of professional people, such as doctors and nurses, in the local civil defense organizations.

The Health Service also needs thousands of persons trained in more than just first aid who can be organized for definite jobs at first aid stations, and women volunteers who have taken courses in home nursing and nurses' aides. Men will be needed as litter bearers, ambulance personnel, hospital orderlies and attendants, supply handlers, and maintenance workers.

Defense against disease and gas warfare, and against radiological contamination will need extra food inspectors, and sanitation workers. Radiological monitoring teams will need teachers, or advanced students of physics and other related subjects, as team leaders, and high school graduates who have studied elementary physics, and radio repairmen, who can serve as members of such teams.

Other volunteers are needed for clerical work, to keep records of the ill, the injured, and the dead, to aid in the procurement of blood for the blood service under the charge of the American Red Cross, and to be trained as assistants in laboratory work.

JOHN DEERE DEALER to ENTERTAIN FARMERS and THEIR FAMILIES

JOHN DEERE DAY FEBRUARY 1

"GALAHAD JONES"

WITH RICHARD CRANE, MARJORIE LORD, ELIZABETH PATTERSON, AND JONATHAN HALE

A full length feature picture, "Galahad Jones," will highlight the parade of entertainment to be staged for farmers and their families who attend the 18th annual John Deere Day show as guests of the Bulloch Tractor Co. on Friday, February 1, 8:30 a. m., at the Georgia Theatre. "Galahad Jones" centers around a farmer's son, recently graduated from law school, who thwarts the efforts of a big time crook to profit from his political connections. It is a present-day problem picture with a moral and plenty of laughs for good entertainment. Richard Crane, playing the part of "Galahad Jones," is ably supported by Marjorie Lord, Elizabeth Patterson, Jonathan Hale, Ed Brophy, and four other Hollywood personalities. Five other new pictures are included in the fast-moving program, according to Don Thompson, a d J. Co. Farmer. "The Big Payoff" features Tom Gordon, head of the memorable Gordon clan, who has been so popular in previous John Deere Day pictures. Another picture, "Oddities in Farming," is patterned after last year's popular film of the same name. "What's New for '52" will acquaint those in attendance with new John Deere implements and is sure to prove of interest to every farmer and his family. "The March of Harvest Time" and "Voice of Experience"—the two movies that complete the program, deal with subjects close to the heart of every farmer. Admission will be by ticket and farmers who have not yet received theirs may obtain them by calling in person at the Bulloch Tractor Co. Farmers are urged by Don Thompson and Joe Robert Tillman to get their tickets early. The show starts at 8:30 a.m.

Preventing Livestock Diseases Is Main Topic at Farm Bureau Meetings

Preventing livestock diseases was the theme of the three Farm Bureau meetings last week. Frank Dooly, livestock specialist from Ft. Worth, Texas, led the discussion on livestock at Eska on Tuesday night, Nevils on Wednesday, and Register on Thursday night. He was assisted by James Young of Macon and S. L. Lanier, local druggist.

The story and use of phenothiazine as a worming agent was told in a motion picture, showing, according to USDA specialists in the story, that this drug gets more worms from more kinds of livestock than any other such drug on the market.

Mr. Dooly stated that several organizations were now processing the material, so widely used for worming livestock, and that it could be procured locally without difficulty. He recommended that pigs be wormed with phenothiazine when

At Baptism we are received into the Church and given our name. Baptism is the seal and sign of the New Covenant and makes us members of Christ, children of God, and inheritors of the Kingdom of Heaven. Jesus commanded that all people be baptized and the Church takes care that all infants are baptized as soon as possible after birth. The example of Jesus, who was received into the Church almost immediately after His birth is our supreme example. He shows us in this matter, as in all others, what we ought to do. (More Next Week)

"We did it Again!"

That's the jubilant news that comes from Flint to every Buick dealer—and here we pass the thrilling story on to you. It sure is true for '52 that better automobiles are being built—and Buick is building them. Read the good word and you'll agree.

Let's pare this down to plain statements of fact and let them speak for themselves: The dynamic darling pictured here is the 1952 ROADMASTER. It has the mightiest engine in Buick history. It has the biggest brakes of any postwar Buick. It is the quietest car that Buick ever built. It has the richest fabrics and smartest tailoring that ever graced a Buick's interior. It has the greatest trunk space since spare tires moved off the front fenders. It has the most superb ride in Buick history. It has the finest carburetor that Buick research has ever devised.

And with all its new power, it delivers more miles per gallon. But that is not all. For those who wish it, there is a brand-new version of power steering that works like a helping hand—gives you the same sure feel of control you have always known in straight-away driving—yet takes less than one-fifth the effort needed to turn the ordinary wheel standing at curbside. Sure, we're putting our best foot forward when we talk about ROADMASTER. But you'll find a host of notable features in SUPERS and SPECIALS too—plenty to make them, as always, the standout buys in their fields—for ride, for comfort, for style, for room, and for power. Come in—look this triumphant trio over—and you'll know why every Buick dealer from coast to coast is going around with a smile on his face.
