And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them: and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you: Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men. And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even to Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us. And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all those that heard it wondered at those things which were spoken by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judæa, in the days of Herod the king, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him. When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Jesus should be born. And they told him, in Bethlehem. And he demanded of them, saying, Why did the scribes say that Christ should be born in Bethlehem? And they said unto him, For this sake wrote the prophet, saying, Where is born shall be the seat of the feet of the Shepherd of Israel. Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently what place the child is: and when ye find it, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him. When they had seen the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. And they came into the house, and saw the young child with Mary his mother: and falling down worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts: gold, and frankincense, and myrrh.

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.) And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judæa, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David:) to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And when they heard the king's word, they departed; and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all those that heard it wondered at those things which were spoken by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

Joel Poinsett, U.S. Statesman, Noted for Flower

Although he was a brilliant statesman and the hand of four American presidencies, Joel Roberts Poinsett, our famous American statesman, introduced the Christmas plant to the New World in 1824. He raised it at his home in South Carolina. According to various accounts, Poinsett's interest in the plant was sparked by a visit to Mexico, where he saw a poinsettia in full bloom. He was so captivated by the plant that he brought some seedlings back to the United States. The poinsettia, a native of Mexico, has since become a popular Christmas flower, symbolizing the beauty and spirit of the holiday season.
