White County 20th Century Gold Rush

COUNTY SEAT, CLEVELAND

FOUNDED 1857

Real gold provided wealth for White County from its dis-covery in 1828 up until 1940 when commercial mining ceased. Today's new "gold" is the exploitation of beauti-ful mountain scenery, a natural setting for motion pic-tures. "I'd Climb the Highest Mountain," was made here in 1950, and future films are under consideration. Topping the list of industrice is a new zipper plant at Cleveland, a sport socks factory at Helen and another important source of income-lumber and sawmills. In this and other Georgia counties, the United States Frewers Foundation works constantly to maintain whole-some conditions where beer and ale are sold. Close at-tention is given areas near camps of the Armed Forces, and both military officials and Georgia law enforcement officers have commended the Foundation's solf-regulation pro-fram. Retailer educational meetings offer sound sugges-tions for continued operation in the community's interest.
