B.C. Food Handlers Basketball Tournament Begins In District Feb. 16

The Statesboro-Bulloch County Health Department with the assistance of Mr. Milton H. Tripp of the Georgia Department of Public Health, has just completed the first food handlers' school to be held in this area.

The purpose of the school was to bring in food handling establishment operators for 2 afternoons and the food handlers' homes for the next 2 afternoons. A great quantity of sanitation information was conveyed to these people during the 4 sessions and of course the whole purpose is to make it possible for the commercial eating establishments to provide safer foods, safer service and improved methods of sanitation and cleanliness.

Twenty-seven eating establishments consisting of cafes, the hospital and school lunchrooms were represented and cooperated to the utmost. 117 different individuals attended the classes and concluded them with an increased knowledge of public health and how it relates to food handling establishments. 6 establishments in Statesboro and the county were not represented.

Inasmuch as the entire program was attended on a voluntary basis only makes us believe that the operators are anxious to cooperate with the idea of improving their establishment and provide better protection to the public. The Bulloch County Health Department personnel thanks all operators and employees for their fine cooperation.

Band Concert On Sunday Afternoon

On Sunday afternoon the Statesboro High School Band will present one of its most outstanding concerts of the three and a half years Guyton McLondon has been its director.

The entire program has been built with the enjoyment of the listener first in mind but there is a single number to be played that is not worthy of the efforts of a good band.

The program will include Iron's "American Grandeur," Strauss, "Fables from the Vienna Woods," Pilsner's great march, "Americans We," and Sousa's "mortal." "Stars and Stripes Forever," Mary Wilkes, talented pianist will perform "Stude in Boogie" as a piano solo with band accompaniment, and various members of the band will be featured in solos during certain numbers. A great crowd pleaser is Bennett's fine arrangement of "Stormy Weather." Johnny Lightfoot is presented as trumpet soloist in this number.

The program begins at 4 o'clock and everyone is urged to take this opportunity to hear one of Georgia's finest organizations of young musicians.

Don't Be Afraid To Give Blood

A LADY who is very interested in the Blood Program in Bulloch County hands us the following editorial which she saw in the Clay County Crescent, published in Green Cove Springs, Florida.

Because it answers the question in the minds of a great many prospective blood donors in our community, we reprint it here, with the reminder that the Bloodmobile will be in Statesboro on March 3 for its regular visit to collect blood for the Red Cross Regional Blood Center.

Read this and know the facts. "Agonizing fear grips at the heart of many a soldier on the battlefields of Korea, for around him are deafening explosions both of enemy guns and artillery and our own. This fear is a very real fear, which instantly turns into the spirit which strengthens the soldier in battle. But when that mortar shell explodes too close, and searing fragments tear through his flesh, the soldier is past that strength, and he needs you and me and everyone else who is not afraid to give blood, so that he might live.

"Too many people, literally thousands, and millions, do not give blood because they are scared. They are afraid of the consequences. Do you, Mr. Blood Donor, remember the consequences of your donation? Isn't it true, that you walked away refreshed mentally, feeling stronger spiritually, and happy and satisfied with yourself that you conquered the first fear and gave your pint of blood? Weren't the attendants spick and span, very efficient, and comfortably courteous? And the three minutes that it took to give blood, after insertion of the needle, didn't hurt a bit, did it? And after the donation, that cold glass of orange juice or that hot cup of coffee just hit the spot. Right? And that night, didn't you sleep soundly, snug in the conviction that you had done your part, in the only way given to you? You bet your sweet life you did!

"The need for blood is greater now than ever before. Blood must be obtained, not only for that soldier dying in the snow on Heartbreak Ridge, but for those little boys and girls all over our country who might be paralyzed in 1953 by poliomyelitis. It won't prevent the onset of the disease, but the dreadful after effects, horrible twisting and deformation of the tiny body's members can be prevented and the cure of the disease hastened by your blood donation.

"How? Some of the blood donated by unafraid people is 'fractionated,' or broken down into elementary parts, some of which is 'gamma globulin, injected into a youngster attacked by polio, will definitely keep him from being paralyzed, and thus might save his life and return him to his home whole, healthy and robust."

Happy Anniversary

SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 8, was the 43rd anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America, chartered by the Congress of the United States as a program for all boys of America.

President Eisenhower, on Saturday of last week, in his first message to the Boy Scouts of their Honorary President, told his 3,200,000 members that "if you follow the Scout Oath, America will be better able to meet its full responsibility in cooperation with other nations in maintaining peace on earth.

"Your present crusade 'Forward on Liberty's Team' is proving to be most effective. Americans everywhere must be proud to know that the Boy Scouts of America registered its three-millionth active member during the past year."

The Boy Scout program offers, to boys from the age of eight through eighteen and beyond, character building, citizenship training, love of the great heritage that is America, and the all important principal Reverence toward God.

The Coastal Empire Council of which the Bulloch County Scouting program is a part has won the Lorillard Spencer Trophy for the most outstanding achievement of the twelve regions of the Boy Scouts of America. The award is given to the region which does the best work in Scouting.

We commend the Scout leaders of Statesboro and Bulloch County for the wonderful part they play in building manhood from boyhood in their work with the youth of our community.

So we say "Happy Anniversary" to all the Boy Scouts of our section.

Dublin Gets Drastic

THE POLICE of the City of Dublin have issued strong warnings to all citizens of that community that dogs straying on the city street will be killed promptly on sight.

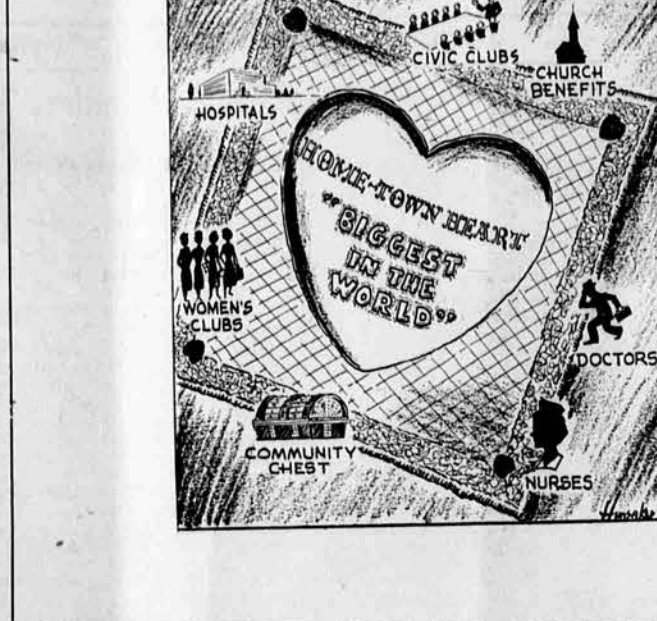

That seems to be a drastic preliminary to action.

But the City Fathers of Dublin seem to think that is just what is needed. The determination to do something about the dog situation in Dublin came last week when the police found a partly consumed calf and billy goat, and a mutilated cow left in the wake of a pack of dogs, the majority of which were bulldogs and boxers, according to Police Officer Bill Mallory.

A passerby witnessed the dogs attack the cow in the Highland Park subdivision and before assistance could be secured the dogs had nearly killed her. The billy goat was killed in the Belvue Avenue section by dogs.

We've had no report of dogs killing

Our Year-Round Valentine

Editor's Uneasy Chair

This week we complete a story we published on October 9 of last year. With the opening of the Franklin Restaurant at U. S. 80 and U. S. 301 we did a story entitled "No Restaurant Shortage Here" and listed seven restaurants along U. S. 301. We did not list Ralph White's "Whiteway Restaurant."

We checked with the Health Department and learned that Ralph's Whiteway Restaurant was the second along 301 to open. Dr. W. D. Lundquist, Bulloch County Health Commissioner, told us on Monday of this week that Ralph's place is one of the sanest eating establishments he has seen.

We are happy to end the story we began on Oct. 9.

On Sunday night of last week we were listening to Walter Winchell on TV and learned that Ward Morehouse, husband of Bulloch County's Ruth Rebeck Franklin Morehouse is dangerously ill. We hope by now that he's ok.

The Rambling Pittmans

AT THE END OF THE TRAIL. Today I am at "San Isidro del General" which is the little town at the southern end of the Pan-American Highway— which is 150 kilometers southeast of San Jose. It is still three hundred kilometers to the Panamanian border.

You will understand that the construction of this highway is carried forward by beginning the construction at the national capitals of each of these countries and is extended in both directions— one construction gang toward the north and another works toward the south. This means that there are still gaps on all the national borders which have not been constructed. It will doubtless require SEVERAL YEARS to complete these links so as to make it possible to travel by your own "jalopy" from Statesboro to the Panama Canal, if you have the wanderlust and the intestinal fortitude sufficient to undertake such a mission.

This one hundred kilometer section of the highway was constructed by Kentucky crew, largely because those eastern Kentucky fellows were accustomed to mountainous country like this. There are many evidences here of "Los Americanos Kentucky." The ONLY good eating place for Americans is "The Kentucky Restaurant." I slept last night at the highway camp which is kept in a state of repair so that the crew may come back when the project is activated again. The survey crew is at work laying out the route from here to the border and doing the paper work. The construction work will be resumed IF and WHEN the "green light" is provided, a result of appropriations for that purpose by OUR congress and also by the Congress of Costa Rica on a cooperative basis. If this task were left entirely to these little countries, it would NEVER be done.

I am down here for the "closing exercises" of twenty three rural schools with which our UNESCO committee has been working for a year. We have two of our staff, Max Minceo from Peru as the rural education expert, and Adrian Cruz from Puerto Rico, as the primary education expert, working in this area in a "Pilot

Grandmother Role An Envious One; Ask Any Mother

BY VIRGINIA RUSSELL. The role of grandmothers seems to be an envious one. With grandmothers goes the right to do all the loving of the child for children without having to bear the responsibilities which accompany motherhood. Then there is another valuable compensation which falls or should fall, to a lot of grandmothers—a more mellow wisdom which mothers lack. She no longer worries about this stage or that stage, for she has learned that time takes care of all stages and provided the proper care, guidance, and love are present.

Looking around us we everywhere find grandmothers enjoying their grandchildren. These women usually look in good condition, not haggard like their daughters, who are pulled out of duty by little "Rosies." These grandmothers choose the time of day that they go to indulge themselves in a spree of loving the same little "Rosie." It's graciousness of their spirit of buying some desired toy, ice cream cone, or the like. When the time is up the little charges are returned home for baths, supper, and beds—or what we might call the usual evening disciplines, we mothers, that is.

Another joy of it seems to be that the children somehow turn to grandmothers with all kinds of troubles. There is a story told in our family of our great-grandmother. Her grandson came running in to her and, trying to hide behind her full, long skirt, wailed for her protection against the mother who was pursuing him with a switch. His grandmother leaned over and whispered in his ear, "Oh, go on, she won't hurt you much."

This week we saw one grandmother in town who was carrying her grandbaby in her arms. She confided to us that he was the sweetest bit of baby that ever lived. She planted a couple of kisses on his forehead and gave him some extra hugs just to prove it. We laughed our agreement and added, "And the nice thing about it is that you can't deny her." She admitted that this was true, took a few more steps, and handed the little one over to his mother. The mother smiled and winked. And as we remembered the back-ache-and-chores and the back-aches-and-chores and the back-aches-and-chores involved in the rearing of a baby from cradlehood on to the walking stage, we thought, "Um, this grandmother business is something to anticipate."

We heard of another grandmother whose grandchildren range all the way from little one-year-step to little three-year-step. It seems that she has to ride some three hundred miles to visit, and usually stays about two weeks. She can't stay away and return home exhausted. She adores the children, wants to help her daughter if she can't take any of it in too large a dose. On one day during the visit, all three of the darlings were bedded down for the night, she asked her daughter if she wouldn't be glad when the children were at school. The daughter sighed and replied, "I'll be glad when they can all go to the bathroom for themselves."

We saw another grandmother who was taking two of her grandchildren home for the night. She admitted she loved it but also confessed that after such visits she knew motherhood was for the young.

Another cute grandmother was telling about her grandchildren's visit to her. Before the visit was completed she found herself quite hoarse. She realized it must be plain nervousness, and then made herself hoarse by trying not to let anybody know why she was hoarse.

Every year our children's maternal grandmother comes for a visit. She, too, loves her grandchildren, but we feel that she thinks them best taken in small doses. At the time nears for her visit to end, she actually seems Continued on inside Back Page.

ALL'S FAIR

The experience of these first days back in Korea I am calling the "Three R's"—RELIEF, RECONSTRUCTION, REUNION. Then I find that the picture is really not complete without adding the R for REJOICING!

"Relief—The day I arrived in Pusan, Miss Townsend was busy receiving 200 relief packages and three days later a lot of medical packages arrived for Methodist missionaries, some 250 or more addressed to members of our family. You can see that handling, opening, sorting and the proper distribution of so many relief goods is no small task, but we are thankful to have these supplies. Friends in America who have sent them and we rejoice to be able to meet some of the dire needs of the masses of destitute people about us, so it is really a labor of love to give some to this relief. Miss Kang and I have spent many hours opening and sorting and one of my dear Bible Women friends has been helping us and we have had good times working together.

Then the distribution work began. Sewing materials, supplies of milk, and food stuffs were put aside for sewing classes, baby feedings, etc. Some garments were saved to give to individuals whose needs we know personally and then bundles of clothing were made up to take or send to groups whose needs had been investigated and to which aid had been promised. There was that little Chinese church group here in Pusan which Miss Townsend had gotten acquainted with—how grateful they were to receive some clothing to distribute among their needy and later some supplies were sent to a Chinese group on a nearby island. The Bible Women helping us with the packages works in a Korean Army Hospital. We gave her bundles of warm underwear and sweaters to distribute among those wounded and sick soldiers—many of them will be discharged on disability and have to take up civilian life with nothing to start on. During the time when we were working with the relief parcels one day we heard the fire alarm sirens and looked out to see black smoke boiling up in a refugee section of the city not far from us. That evening we learned that some 300 families were burned out and one of the refugees churches badly damaged. It was a joy to have some relief supplies to distribute among people who had met this misfortune. Another jeep load of clothes was sent to a refugee church in another section of the city. One of the teachers of Ewha High School in Seoul was here for the Seminary Board meeting this week and she asked for some clothes for those of the larger girls down to the jeep to get the clothing we had brought. As we started down the hill we met Mrs. Lee leading a little 3 year old tot by the hand. Mrs. Lee announced that this was her most recent addition to her family—the mother had died and the courts had asked her to take the child in. She has had many additions recently and we handed out these gifts to those who are so needy and are so appreciative of this help, how we wished that the donors might be with us and share in the joy of helping these friends."

HAPPY GO LUCKY CLUB SELECTS OFFICERS

The members of the Happy Go Lucky Club selected officers for the new year at their last meeting. Our first stop was a little refugee church way up on a hill, where a dear little woman, Bible Woman, is ministering to a group of very poor people. A seminary student gives her some help and a village young man, one of the Sunday School of 80 children, got this little Bible Woman is the moving spirit and doing a splendid work. The little shack that is used for a church has a little white cross that can be seen for a long distance. As we stopped to enter the building we saw that the little Christmas tree still decorated a corner of the room. We could feel that even in such meager and drab surroundings the joy of Christmas is known in that place. We sat on the straw mats for a little visit and a word of prayer with the leaders who had come to visit a Refugee Home on the outskirts of Pusan. Mrs. Yang, the mother-in-law of Jim Kim, Bishop Kim's son, is a cultured, attractive, energetic fine spirit has established this home. She has put up 4 or 5 large shelters for a little group of girls and children who have lost their homes and families. In one hut there are 35 high school and college girls living—almost all sweet girls. Some of them sat huddled together about the little stove they had in the center of their house. They rose and greeted us cordially and told us that since Jan. is vacation month in the schools many of them are doing some knitting to make a little money. In other huts other groups were busy in classes, sewing, etc. The girls grow vegetables in the gardens nearby in the spring and fall. This talented woman is doing a splendid work, the girls look happy, the place was well kept and a fine spirit of helpfulness pervaded the place. In the afternoon we went out again on a short trip to take children's clothes to a little orphanage directed by a Mrs. Lee of Seoul, who has had Girls Scouts work training in America. Various agencies have helped her build this little house up on a Pusan hillside where she cares for a large group, she was not at home when we called but the matron sent some

Clay County
Indian Battleground
FOUNDED 1864
COUNTY SEAT, FORT GAINES

Clay County in southwestern Georgia was founded to surround the Chattahoochee River outpost of Fort Gaines, which dates from 1816 during the Indian Wars. In the early days cotton plantations bolstered river traffic. Today peanuts and cotton are leading products with more of the county moving toward cattle raising and planted pastures. Principal industries are peanut shelling, cotton gins, fertilizer mixing, a game bird farm, nursery for ornamental plants, and sawmills.

In this and other Georgia counties, the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly to maintain wholesome conditions where beer and ale are sold. Close attention is given areas near camps of the Armed Forces, and both military officials and Georgia law enforcement officers have commended the Foundation's self-regulation program. Retailer educational meetings offer sound suggestions for continued operation in the community's interest.

C. of C. To Publish Industrial Data On Bulloch County

President Loy A. Waters of the Statesboro and Bulloch County Chamber of Commerce announced this week that arrangements have been completed with Mills B. Lane, Jr., chairman of the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce Industrial Development Division, for publication of a new Industrial Survey of this community.

This survey will become the "textbook" for dealing with industrial prospects, according to James E. Hays, manager of the local Chamber. It will also be of "invaluable service" to local investors and others who desire current information about the economic facts-of-life in Bulloch County.

The local Chamber of Commerce has practically completed months of research required in compiling data from many sources, sifting the information into brief but informative language, and finally preparing finished copy for publication. Printing will be done by the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce members through arrangement with Industrial chairman Lane. This is one of numerous projects of the Chamber of Commerce as cooperation with communities throughout the state in their industrial development activities.

Bulloch County's industrial survey covers such subjects as climate, churches, construction costs, utility rates, railroads and transportation, taxes, labor supply, and similar subjects of vital interest to prospective manufacturers.

Maps, charts, and photographs will be utilized to give a pictorial report, the entire survey being confined to the fewest words necessary for a complete report on the local advantages. While being brief for easier and more probable reading, it will be absolutely factual. Superlative adjectives like "magnificent" and "colossal" are omitted in favor of plain language.

Upon completion, this Industrial Survey will be supplied to Chamber of Commerce and municipal officials, banks, railroads, utilities, and to all agencies concerned with soliciting new or expanded industry for this area. Copies may be obtained from the local Chamber or from the State Chamber offices.

BC March Of Dimes Reaches $1,902.30
E. L. (Lake) Anderson Jr., chairman of the January March of Dimes drive to raise funds for the Bulloch County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announced this week that the county contributed $1,902.30 during the fund campaign.

Mr. Anderson stated that he believes that this is the largest amount that this county has ever contributed, and expressed his deep appreciation for "the wonderful way every one cooperated in the drive—especially am I thankful to the teachers and the students in the Bulloch County schools, both white and Negro."

He also expressed his appreciation for the contributions received through the cooperation of Hal Macon of the Statesboro Theatre. He stated that the patrons of the Georgia contributed $185, the State, $49.40; and the Drive-In, $99.25.

He added that the funds raised here will be divided evenly between the county chapter and the National Foundation. This means that when a child or adult is stricken with polio in this county, financial aid will be available immediately if the patient's family needs assistance.

Methodists Make Special Appeal Here On March 1
Methodists here are getting ready to join their 300,000 fellow Methodists all over Georgia in responding to a combined appeal for nine special causes Sunday, March 1. The Rev. Frederick Wilson, pastor of the Statesboro Methodist Church.

This nine-in-one appeal for funds above and beyond the regular budget of the church, is being explained at all meetings of the church. He says that no opportunity is being overlooked to see that every Methodist knows the "what" and the "why" of expansion day.

The pastor explains, "This plan is an answer to problems arising from observance of so many special days and special financial appeals for work of the church. It is not a plan worked out by a few heads of the church and handed down from above. Instead, it is a kind of groundswell movement. The plan was put in final shape and enthusiastically approved by lay delegates and ministers in called sessions of the church at the Georgia Annual Conference."

Though Methodists Expansion Day will not take the place of each year's special appeal that might be made during the year, it will take the place of nine such appeals.

"Where could you put dollars today and have them go farther?" asks the pastor.

Each Methodist Expansion Day dollar will help to build a new school building; help to more adequately finance Methodist schools and colleges in the state; further develop the Camp Clifton and Epworth-by-the-Sea as centers for Christian recreation, study and inspiration; provide funds for the traditional Paine College at Augusta and for the Week of Dedication offering for relief and rehabilitation of the handicapped world. In South Georgia each dollar will be stretched to help provide homes for retired ministers, and help to minister to the sick through the Golden Cross charity hospitalization plan.
