Henry Blitch Is Winner In S.E. Grazing Contest

Southeast and Southcentral district winners in the Georgia Grazing System contest were announced this week by District Agents L. R. Lanier and L. W. Eberhardt, Jr.

Henry S. Blitch of Bulloch county won first prize of $100 in the Southeast district for the best system of year-round grazing and George Eager of Lowndes county won first place in the Southcentral district.

Second prize of $75 in the Southeast district went to Winton Lewis Allen of Laurens county and L. M. Futch of Cook were second and third place winners respectively in the Southcentral district. Futch won $50.

Winners in the contest, sponsored by the Georgia Piedmont Educational Society in cooperation with the University of Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, were chosen on the basis of pasture management and utilization during a 12-month period beginning May 1, 1952. Such factors as liming, fertilizing, grazing, weed control and provisions for pasture and feed throughout the year were considered. Summer, fall and winter grazing programs were judged.

Judging teams composed of the district agent, a fertilizer firm representative and a farmer selected the district winners. In the Southeast district judges were Lanier, B. W. Davis, Southern Fertilizer and Chemical Company representative and A. D. Clifton, Mott. Southcentral judges were Eberhardt, George Kenson, Lion Oil Company, Macon, and Charlie Duggan, Jeffersonville.

Southeast and Southcentral winners will compete with winners in the four other agricultural Extension Service districts for state awards. Both district and state awards will be presented June 25 at a dinner in the Henry Grady hotel, Atlanta.

With 100 acres of summer grazing, Blitch had 20,861.55 annual unit-days grazed. On a fall grazing program of 110 acres he had 7,959.1 annual unit-days grazed on 70 acres of winter pasture totaling 40,600. In addition he cut 10 tons of Coastal Bermuda grass hay.

Blitch had 200 acres of permanent pasture of Coastal Bermuda grass, oats, Crimson Clover, Fescue, and Ladino and winter pasture of Rye grass, oats, woodland and 100 acres of winter pasture of Coastal Bermuda grass hay.

Negro Ministers Pay Tribute To Judge McCroan

When mortal life has passed through all the phases and experiences allotted to it, and its responsibilities have been met and fulfilled, though saddened by its close. We would take comfort in reflecting on a well spent life.

Whereas our people of Statesboro and Bulloch County feel a great loss in the passing of our honored J. E. McCroan, we, the colored Baptist ministers of Statesboro, offer this tribute of respect and esteem to his memory.

It is resolved that we bow in humble submission to the will of our heavenly father who doeth all things well, and that we extend to his family our deepest sympathy, and that we thank the Lord for the privilege of having known and esteemed him as a christian gentleman and upright citizen.

Resolved further that we will ever cherish his memory and emulate his admirable traits.

Humbly submitted

Bulloch County Organizes U.S. 301 Association To Promote Highway

Concerned with the future of Federal Highway 301 and its use by tourists, traveling to and from Florida, a group of Statesboro businessmen met on Thursday last week and organized the Bulloch County 301 Association and named Alfred Dorman chairman.

Everett Williams, Bulloch county representative in the Georgia General Assembly, was named vice chairman and Leodei Cole, county secretary. Others in the group are Allen R. Lanier, Chairman and Lehman Franklin.

The group plans to ask the other counties through which U.S. 301 passes (Screven, Evans, Tattnall, Wilcox, Wayne, Brantley, and Camden) to organize similar organizations and then get together to promote the highway.

It is pointed out that Statesboro and Bulloch County, together with the cities and counties along 301, benefits tremendously from the tourist dollars spent by the people who travel through here. Mr. Dorman said, "We are already a year behind in this sort of planning and we must get to work, or we'll wake up one morning and find that we are losing one of our greatest sources of income—the tourists."

He went on to explain that the Bulloch County 301 Association organized to benefit the whole county, and that the other counties along the route join us we can go to it," he said.

The new group expects the other counties will welcome the opportunity for concerted action to keep 301 the best route through Georgia for tourists going north and south.

"Other cities and communities on the other Federal highways are making strong bids for the tourist traffic. They are spending thousands and thousands of dollars in promoting new surfaces on their routes, in promoting the communities along the routes, and they are getting results—if we don't get on the ball Statesboro, and the other towns along 301 are going to start wondering what happened to them," he said.

Baseball Sing To Feature Quartets

All over southeast Georgia, people who love good singing are setting aside the evening of Tuesday, June 23 to meet at Pilots Field in Statesboro for the "Starlighters" of Statesboro High, first place winners among Georgia high schools; and Statesboro's own "Bulloch Four Quartet" will appear in the program.

Congressman Prince H. Preston will be Master of Ceremonies at the elaborate musical concert planned by the Statesboro Athletic Association.

These promoting the singing event state that nothing like this affair has ever been attempted in this section before and one of the largest crowds ever to attend Pilots Field is expected for the occasion. Tickets are already on sale and may be secured from more than 100 voluntary salesmen.

We Must Look To Our U.S. 301

A PICTURE in the June issue of Look Magazine focuses attention on a problem that the people in Screven, Bulloch, Evans, Tattnall, Long, Wayne, Brantley and Camden counties must meet head on.

The picture shows a map of the United States on which is marked toll roads under operation, toll roads under construction, toll roads specifically authorized, and toll roads proposed.

The thing that catches our attention is that the toll road proposed for the Eastern United States, running north and south, is shown running through Savannah, Jacksonville to Miami.

There are 53,000,000 automobiles and trucks on the highways of the U. S. today. It is estimated that by 1975 there will be 85,000,000 vehicles on our highways.

A large number of these automobiles driven by people on vacations come through Sylvania, Statesboro, Claxton, Glennville, Ludowici, Jesup, Nahant, and Folkston.

And of these, many of them stop at one of these towns to spend a night, to eat a meal, and spend money.

Motorists like toll roads, like the one illustrated on the map in Look Magazine, proposed to run through Savannah.

They like toll roads for such obvious advantages as easier, faster and safer ways to travel: Legislators like them because they permit a rapid improvement in highway facilities, without an increase in the tax burden and usually without an increase in the state debt.

This is not an argument for or against toll roads.

We are only using this as a means of pointing up to the terrific competition between highway routes for the tourists and their dollars.

Right now U. S. 301 is getting a big share of the north-south traffic. But the cities and communities along U. S. 17 are away ahead of us in promoting that route and they are now spending thousands and thousands of dollars to entice tourists to use U. S. 17.

They are not pulling any punches. They are throwing everything in the book at the problem.

And unless we along U. S. 301 wake up, get on the ball, and fight the problem too, tourists are going to begin deserting our route by the thousands.

A group of Statesboro businessmen, aware of the disaster that could come to Statesboro and these other communities along 301, organized last week to work at the business of promoting the route in the counties in Georgia through which it passes.

Having organized and already working at the problem, the group, to be known as Bulloch County 301 Association, expects other counties affected to set up similar organizations that they might present a solid front.

The group is not only representing the tourists courts, the hotels, the restaurants, the filling stations, but also the department stores, the grocery stores, the jewelry stores—every business in Statesboro.

To them, the tourist dollar is important. It's worth protecting, and worth working for.

We believe it is a wise move—though one that is already a year late in getting under way.

And unless the problem is worked out successfully, we'll find that the tourist has found a more attractive route along which to spend his money and time.

The movement deserves the cooperation of every person doing business in this community, and in all the communities along U.S. 301.

honor that a youth may attain in Scouting when he was awarded the Eagle Scout Award with Silver Palm in a special ceremony at the Recreation Center recently.

The award represented many, many hours of work, over a period of years, as he worked his way up from Tenderfoot, Scout, through his Second Class, then First Class, and on and on through the many phases of Scouting.

It's an achievement worthy of praise, and so we toss our hat high into the air for this young man who has reached the highest rank in Scouting.

And for other scouts who were recognized at the same time—Scout William Russell, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fielding Russell; who received the Eagle Bronze Palm; Scout Frederick Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Dyer, who received several badges; Scout Charles Cason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cason, who received the Gold Award; and Scout W. L. Cason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willbur Cason, who received the Bronze Award.

To them all we say "Congratulations!"

Take It Easy!

Here's something to remember from your Georgia State Patrol: "The risk of death or injury, if you hit a stationary object at 60 miles per hour, is exactly the same as if you were to drive from the roof of a 10-story building." Have you considered the danger? Remember, speed kills, so take it easy.

Speed is a killer! Accident catches up with many speeding drivers on roadway curves. Our Georgia State Patrol says: Observe ALL speed limits—including the speed limit posted at a curve. When you're rushing recklessly around a curve, you're daring the speed laws, the law of gravity and the law of averages. No curve can be trusted unless speed is adjusted.

Mr. Motorist: here's the safety slogan for the month of June from your own Georgia State Patrol: "Speed kills!" So take it easy—why hurry to die?

June means warmer days and more trips into the countryside. But remember this about highway travel: according to the Georgia State Patrol seven out of ten traffic deaths occur in rural areas. So for your own safety, take it easy on the highway. The life you save may be your own.

Check your speed and save your life, says our Georgia State Patrol. It's only a split second from the pavement to the gravestone.

Let's Stop This Great Waste

Editor's Note: The following was written by a high school boy who is interested in the conservation of our natural resources. It is something that needs to be said over and over, and because the way he says it, has a fresh approach, we are publishing it.

Other trees and shrubs provided medicines. The Indians knew all their healing qualities. And since we live in the South, it directly hits US.

Remember, only YOU can prevent forest fires.

Do your best to stop this ruthless waste of Georgia's greatest resource—its land, its forests, its wildlife and its streams.

When a large number of people are invited into one's home a large space must be made available. We announced to the family that the porch must be cleared. The large bag of pecans that was placed there before Christmas to be divided into smaller bags and sent to friends has at last disappeared.

The screen door has had holes in it since we had a puppy named Jock. Jock has been dead at least two years. But the day before the seniors were to come, down came the door. Files came in. Tools were scattered here and there but there is now screen wire on our back door.

The farmers have needed rain. Few of them know why they probably got rain. We washed clothes the day before the little party. All the clothes hung simply in the back so the College Seniors could see that life isn't always a party.

If there have been pills piling up around your place and you need to get them done—well, have a party! It's a sure way to stir up activity.

P.T.A. committee men and women are contacting 4 to 12 families each in order to determine their sanitation facilities, and get each member of each family to submit a specimen for examination for hookworm. Later, the same committee people will aid the health department in getting the proper treatment into the hands of those who are infested with hookworm.

Hookworm is a disease of the public, and here is a beautiful example of a community accepting a responsibility in coordinating its activities with those of a local health department. Many health progress would be more successful if the various groups of a given community could join forces and thus attack the problem with a concerted effort.

Miracles Happen At Our Home

Over Open House

BY VIRGINIA RUSSELL

Miracles are happening around this house. There has been more activity than one would ever dream of. Why? Because we had Open House for the college seniors.

Now don't misunderstand the type of activity. It had nothing to do with arranging of flowers, or washing the best dishes, or making the sandwiches, or punch, or little cakes. Every one knows that sort of activity. It is routine when you have any type of party or in progress.

There is something very contagious about work around here. So when the windows had been washed, the floors waxed and things, in general, shining they seemed to have been a great surge of urge in the Master of the house. Suddenly it was absolutely essential that gutters be cleaned out. "When are gutters supposed to be cleaned out?" we asked. "Well, even if it's six months late, it's necessary that we get this job done," came the answer.

So the gutters were cleaned out. The younger children and the dogs had much fun. They ran around and watched all the work. They of course, never once realized that what they walked on was wet, dirty, black snot. Nor did they think to wipe off their feet when they came in the house. The marbles that came out of the gutters were black, also, but the young ones forgot that, too when they pushed on doors or set in chairs.

Then the man in the house and the two other beings who think they are men acted in much the same manner. The inside clean-up job suffered a great beating.

When a large number of people are invited into one's home a large space must be made available. We announced to the family that the porch must be cleared. The large bag of pecans that was placed there before Christmas to be divided into smaller bags and sent to friends has at last disappeared.

Rural Housing

Funds Now Ready

Funds for Farm Housing Loans will be available beginning July 1st for the fiscal year 1953-54, according to an announcement made today by Charles J. Vickery, County Supervisor, Farmers Home Administration. Loans under this program are made to eligible farm owners for the construction of new dwellings, and other essential farm buildings or to improve, alter or repair existing farm buildings.

A number of Farm Housing loans have been made in Bulloch and surrounding counties through the Statesboro office. Mr. Vickery stated that Farm Housing loans will be made only when (1) the applicant is the owner of a farm, (2) he is without sufficient resources to provide the necessary housing and buildings on his own account, and (3) he is unable to secure the necessary credit for the loans to be made for 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, or 33 years depending upon the probable debt-paying ability of the borrower, but not in the excess of the useful life of the improvement. The loans carry an interest rate of 4 per cent and are secured by a mortgage on the farm which can be a second mortgage depending upon the individual circumstances.

Mr. Vickery also stated that applications for this type of service are now being accepted, and anyone interested may make application at the Farmers Home Administration office located at 7 North College street, Statesboro, Ga.

Food preservation specialists for the University of Georgia Agricultural Extension Service say if possible open your home freezer only once a day to put in and take out food.

Five recruits joined Battery A recently. They are William L. Leonard and Jimmy W. Williams of Pembroke, Teel E. and Hugh T. Nesmith of Groveland, and Rodney J. Harville of Statesboro. All these attended Nevils High School.

Tiny green sachets with miniature bouquets of yellow flowers attached marked the places. The menu was consistent with the table decor. Melon balls, pear salad tinted pink, roast turkey, creamed asparagus, rice and giblet gravy, butter beans, crabapples and ice cream parfaits were served.

ALL'S FAIR By JANE

Those who wore the cap and gown and received their degrees... Are only half aware of the trials ahead... It may take hard work and time spent on their knees... Before they fully understand the words the teacher said... Things you read in books certainly play their part... But the greatest need in teaching is an understanding heart... Whether you teach or pursue a business career... Make sure the GREAT TEACHER is always there... To direct and guide you all the way... For there'll be coming a final COMMENCEMENT DAY.

WE HAD the pleasure recently of attending Open House at the Monroe Simmons Kindergarten located on North Main street. We were amazed and thrilled by what we saw there. As we entered the front door, we immediately became conscious of Centers. There was the quiet room with tables, chairs, and books. The science center with the turtle bowl, with an island and a palm tree and, of course, the turtle. Then the aquarium. I understand that their neighbor, Mr. Charlie Cone, took pleasure in cleaning out the bowl and refilling it with water hyacinths and parrot's feather ferns which provide oxygen. A snail was added for sanitation. Mr. Cone replaced the two fish which died with many fine gold fish who swim wide dips and dives for the proud young scientists. Then, you come to the clay modeling center, where rather fantastic figures are wrought. From this interesting spot we went on to the Block Center. Here realistic lions, tigers, giraffes, and kangaroos are made entirely of blocks. The children are on quite friendly terms with them. They tear them apart and quickly put them together again.

Even the three-year-old looked at you with disgust if you did not readily see the difference between a leopard and a horse. There were block trucks, a complete block train which has survived many wrecks with no loss of human life. There were Lincoln logs and small trucks on casters, filled with these break-em-up-put-em-together-again-blocks. They was a chest filled with rugs, each child has his own for a brief rest period. For those of us who made the playhouses under an spreading oak and played with bright bits of glass and made mud pies, it was a wonderful experience to see the housekeeping center. There's a doll bed and dolly. The units are completely finished, even to the ironing board. Here we saw Cinderella's train and special coach. Then we came to the big room where the little ones have seat work, story telling, drawing and coloring. The murals are of animals and backyard scenes. In addition to all this there was a tea party corner. From there we were ushered into the back yard where there were swings, merry-go-rounds, and plenty of red wagons and scooters. There were different housekeeping centers outdoors. They were arranged in a group.

One thing I notice about the sand boxes. They had fitted screens for the times when the children were not playing in them. And there with a watchful eye on them were Mrs. Billy Simmons and Mrs. Shelby Monroe and a colored maid. MIKEY SATCHER is learning already one of the nice attributes of women. He and Ann Waters, his fiancé, were on their way from Statesboro to Augusta, where Mickey wanted her to have the final word on the colors used in painting their apartment, when suddenly Ann realized that she had left her clothes. They were in MILEN when Ann discovered that her baggage wasn't along. They simply had to come back for it. (It has only 32,000 miles on the speedometer). So his daughter-in-law thought she would try it. The trial was perfect and so you may see her and Judge Proctor driving over town. He is amazed at the new look. For several years now, he has restricted his walking from his home to the office and all of the new homes are a startling revelation to him.

MRS. ED. HUEY and Mrs. H. W. Hall of Sumpter, S. C., were called home because of the illness of their sister, Miss Sara Murphy. They visited their mother, Mrs. J. M. Murphy.

MR. AND MRS. BASIL JONES and daughter, Edith, of Miami, Fla., are visiting Mr. Jones mother, Mrs. Nan Edith Jones for two weeks.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD HACKETT and small daughter, Anne, left Friday for Columbia, Mo., where Mr. Hackett will attend the University there as he continues work toward his doctorate.

MRS. JUANITA ABERNATHY and son, David, are attending summer school at Mercer University. MR. AND MRS. T. W. ROUSE left Friday morning for Miami, Fla., where they will visit their daughter, Mrs. W. P. Brown, L. Brown and children, Bill, Bob and Betty. L. Brown is transferring to Charleston, S. C. at an early date.

MRS. GROOMS HONORS MISS KNIGHT AT SHOWER

Miss Jacquelyn Knight, whose marriage to Walter Alexander Roach will be an event of June 28, was entertained last Saturday evening with a linen shower and buffet dinner given by Mrs. Thomas L. Grooms at her home in Forrest Hills.

The reception rooms were decorated with arrangements of spring flowers. The dinner table, overlaid with an imported lace cloth, was centered with a pink bride's cake encircled with pale pink gladioli and shasta daisies. Silver compotes and candelabra holding burning tapers were placed on the table. A white wedding bell with streamers hung from the chandelier, and a minister's daughter, who made their home where Mrs. John Watson now lives. Of the boys in the class only two are living, Dew Groover and Paul Brannen of Fort Meyers, Fla., the deceased are Dr. Cliff Brannen, Athanys Erle Cumming, and Edwin Groover Sr.

JAMIE SUE Waters, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Waters, adds to scientific discoveries. She was delighted to go along with grandmother, Mrs. Paul Jones and Aunt Belle Land when they were going blackberry picking, but after picking about a dozen berries, she tearfully pleaded "Let's go home, I don't want to pick any more berries. They've got razor blades on 'em."

MRS. I. B. PROCTOR has discovered that the Judge's ancient 1937 model car drives easier than their new model. Judge Remer Proctor is getting a bit feeble, but he would go out and crank up his car to keep the battery from going dead. (It has only 32,000 miles on the speedometer). So his daughter-in-law thought she would try it. The trial was perfect and so you may see her and Judge Proctor driving over town. He is amazed at the new look. For several years now, he has restricted his walking from his home to the office and all of the new homes are a startling revelation to him.

Other than the honor guest, those attending were Mrs. A. J. Knight, Mrs. W. A. Roach, Mrs. William I. Barbone, Mrs. J. H. Bradley, Mrs. H. E. Knight, Mrs. J. R. Roach, Mrs. H. Ulmer Knight and Mrs. Ethel Wells.

Miss Sue Knight, Mrs. Joseph P. Loebe, Miss Betty Knight, Mrs. Roy E. Pugh, Miss Janelle Knight, Miss Beverly NeSmith, Mrs. H. E. Buckhalter, Sr., Mrs. Marion Harvey, Mrs. Rebecca Blocker, Mrs. Guy Woodward, Mrs. O. C. Fentress, Mrs. C. E. Roach, Mrs. Lillie Kessler, Mrs. Johnny Parsons, Miss Dorothy Knight and Mrs. Mary NeSmith also attended.

MRS. ROBERT T. MORRIS and son, Bobby, of Washington, D. C., arrived Friday morning to spend a week with her mother, Mrs. Charlie Mathews.

bride's doll was placed over the table to complete the decorations. During the evening, games were played, and Miss Betty Knight, Mrs. W. A. Roach and Mrs. C. E. Roach won prizes. 4-way Power Seat—Mercury's only car in its field with this new power feature—one of the greatest aids to comfort ever devised. At the touch of a finger the seat moves up, down, back or forth... gives you the position from which you can see the best, drive the easiest. And it helps relieve muscular tension on trips. Raises you out of the glare of the late afternoon sun.

Power Steering—Whenever more than finger-tip pressure is needed on the wheel, hydraulic "muscles" take over, make steering—especially when parking—3 times easier. You never lose the vital feel of the road. Closer with Mercury's proven V-8 engine (perfected during an exclusively V-8 history) you get quicksilver responsiveness—performance at its thrifty, lively best.

Power Brakes—They require little more pressure than the accelerator. The weight of your foot holds your car on a hill. Stopping is up to 50 per cent easier—faster, too, because the lower, closer pedal permits you to pivot from gas pedal to brake, cuts reaction time. Road test these new power features today. You find them all only on Mercury in the medium-price field.

DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF STATESBORO AND BULLOCH COUNTY

VOLUME XIII—ESTABLISHED MARCH 26, 1937 STATESBORO, GEORGIA, THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1953 NUMBER 31

Childers Speaks To 123 T.C. Grads.
Academic integrity, pride in the profession, and personal independence are necessary assets for teachers in meeting the problems of their work. James Saxton Childers, associate editor of the Atlanta Journal, told the graduating class of Georgia Teachers College Monday.

The speaker cited these as he called six "humps" of the teaching profession and how to get over them without "breaking a spring."
The problems or humps based on their own teaching experience of 18 years, he said, are encountered in relationship with pupils, parent-teacher, administration, community, and the teacher's relationship to himself as the most important of the one position, the real question: "Why do I want to be a teacher?"

Using the subject "As a Teacher, What Shall I Give and What Shall I Demand?" he outlined many of the pitfalls of the profession to the pressures that come upon teachers. Grades or marks, in this connection, he declared, are "the greatest curse of education."
Mr. Childers, a well-known author, encouraged the prospective teachers not to become too dependent upon their jobs. "Be able to do something else, if necessary," he advised. "Let no one dictate your life as the price of being a teacher."

"The stubborn about my salary," he suggested. "Though teaching is the greatest profession, much of the service-and-glory emphasis given it is the talk of school, tight money, men, communities, and states."
"Hang the harp of praise on a hickory limb," he recommended, "and individually you encounter inadequate financial consideration for your services."

President Zach S. Henderson conferred the bachelor of science degree on 123 students at the college marked its 25th year in a degree-granting institution.

Father's Day Is Here To Stay—Sunday, June 21

Better head for the storm-cellar. Pop. Sunday, June 21, is Father's Day, and means Junior may clobber you with a hunk of driftwood by way of showing he's "just a chip off the old block."

If he doesn't, Mom and that adoring daughter of yours will come smooching. And, oh, how you hate it!

Then there'll be gifts and Father's Day cards from all the family. You'll be "King for a Day," all right, but wait till those first-of-the-month bills come due. It's enough to drive a man to the ball park. Or so you'd have us believe. Nothing special, you insist. At least nothing REAL special. Enough of this paternal modesty, you crafty old rascal. We're on to you now—for good!

Let's look at the record. Father's Day has been celebrated in this country since 1910. Yet, in all that time, not one father has asked to have it wiped off the calendar. Conclusion: You like it.

In fact, fathers in a lot of countries like it. China likes it so much they observe Father's Day twice a year there, in the Spring and Fall.

Oh, sure, it's a different kind of Father's Day. Just as it is in Canada, Sweden, Haiti, Honduras and anywhere else that Father's Day is celebrated. But the idea's the same—to honor the guy who brings home the bacon.

In case you're wondering how Mrs. Dodd's suggestion that the Father's Day be observed throughout the nation. The Spokane Ministers Alliance sponsored the first city-wide Father's Day ceremony some 43 years ago. Shortly afterwards this organization circulated a petition to other church and civic leaders. Their plan was to "emphasize such fundamentals of family life as: Father's place in the home; safeguarding the marriage vows; and the proper raising of children. Gradually the aid of city and state officials were enlisted. National interest in Mrs. Dodd's effort to honor fathers everywhere was aroused, and other localities were soon holding annual Father's Day ceremonies. Then in 1924 President Calvin Coolidge recommended Father's Day be observed throughout the nation.

That same year a Bible class in Wilkingsburg, Pa., hit the newspapers by suggesting adoption of the tradition as the official Father's Day flower—because "the more it is trampled on, the more it grows."

Most communities were not impressed. The rose was adopted instead. But a keynote for Father's Day had been found. Sentiments sincere, affectionate and topped off with a dash of good-natured humor have been in style ever since.

You'll see it again in the 1953 Father's Day Cards. So brace yourself, Dad. You may receive one that says something like this:

Today's your day
For ease and rest,
Today's your day
To have the best,
Today's your day
To take it slow,
"Cause tomorrow—
Back to work you go!
