One day Farm Bureau membership drive set for Wednesday, September 2

Bulloch county and Georgia Farm Bureau leaders and members are set to beat their national record set last year by conducting the first one-day Farm Bureau Membership Campaign in the nation. The result last year was 35,000 members in one day.

The gigantic force of workers will begin their canvass of farm homes in communities throughout Georgia on Wednesday, September 2. The army of workers will be on the move early, with individual county workers getting together at an early morning breakfast scheduled in most counties at 6:30 a. m.

Bulloch County gathers at American Legion Club to honor Cpl. Walter Olliff Moore, freed Korean Prisoner Of War

"Pray for the boys left in Korea" and "We have a free country. Let's keep it that way," was the speech Cpl. Walter Olliff Moore made to his homefolk as they honored him with a great homecoming at the American Legion Club on U. S. 301 last night.

A wonderful crowd was there to welcome him as he arrived at the head of a mile long motorcade led by Portal, Statesboro and Bulloch county officials.

Congressman Prince Preston was the principal speaker at the ceremonies which preceded an old fashioned barbecue given by the Dexter Allen Post 30 of the American Legion.

"Congressman Preston stated in his brief talk that 'every citizen of this country owes a debt of gratitude to Olliff Moore. He added that Olliff Moore commands the respect and deepest admiration of every citizen of Bulloch county and the nation."

On the speaking platform with Congressman Preston were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brack, parents of Corporal Moore, and Miss Jackie Moore of Rockyford.

Francis Allen was master of ceremonies. Elder Henry Waters gave the invocation. Among those welcoming Cpl. Moore were: A. S. Dodd, state commander of the American Legion; B. B. Hodges, commander of the local post; Allen R. Linder, chairman of the Bulloch County Board of Commissioners; A. B. McDougald, representing the city of Statesboro; E. Roland, mayor of Portal; and county school superintendent H. P. Womack.

The civic club, Allstate, presented Moore with a certificate for merchandise.

"We walked every step of the way," Dixon said. "It was 300 miles of mud. I took as 19 days. They took away most of our clothing. I had on a shirt, pants and a pair of shoes. No coat and no socks. And it was November."

"Many of the men died. Others were killed trying to escape. Some just fell in their trucks and were left behind to starve."

"In the prison camp we were held together in mud shacks," Broom said. "There were about eight to a room. It was freezing cold and we slept on the floor. It was crowded. The food was very, very bad. We lost about 50 men a day."

"At first all we got was millet and then some cracked corn. No salt. A lot of men couldn't eat it. I think that's what probably killed more than anything else—the food. They just starved to death."

Indoctrination began soon after they got in the camps, the men said.

"The Communies gave us lectures and stuff to read, but I didn't pay any attention to it," Broom said. Dixon recalled that they took some men out in the woods.

Congressman Moore, who was captured by the Communist in Korea on November 4, 1950, arrived in Atlanta from San Francisco, by plane. He arrived in Statesboro on Monday afternoon, completing the second leg of his long journey home from Prison Camp No. 5 at Unsong, Korea.

"The picture tells the story of a master farmer as he changes his farm operation from just growing crops to a more diversified program including pastures and livestock. It shows the farmer, portrayed by Blitch, as he maps plans for the changes. He is seen as agent, visits and talks with his banker, tours the state studying various pasture grasses, the preparation of the land, fertilization, seeding and planting and the final results of a well-planned, balanced program."

"The speaker pointed out that funds from sales taxes were intended for the support of public schools but that a majority of the increase in tax collections, due to sales tax levies, did not go for this purpose. They went to other state agencies and departments, Thompson contended."

"The people of Georgia will put their support behind a candidate who does not seek to increase nor to decrease essential state services. A thorough search of the record should be made to find a candidate who has proven himself capable of accomplishing this," Thompson concluded.

Other guests of the club were Nancy Stubbs and Guy Freeman, who represented the Recreation Center in the Youth Workshop held at Ladrange College August 18-22; Frank Williams, Elaine Roberts, "Driver-of-the-Week," and Jack Phillips who was with Mr. Thompson.

"The speaker pointed out that funds from sales taxes were intended for the support of public schools but that a majority of the increase in tax collections, due to sales tax levies, did not go for this purpose. They went to other state agencies and departments, Thompson contended."

"The people of Georgia will put their support behind a candidate who does not seek to increase nor to decrease essential state services. A thorough search of the record should be made to find a candidate who has proven himself capable of accomplishing this," Thompson concluded.

Grand tours and weddings, birthday parties and dancing... Have made news in Statesboro simply enthralling.

The Recreation Center steals the spotlight this week with the Youth Council entertaining the boys and girls who are leaving soon for college with a Bon Voyage dance.

It's telling you, I arrived right in the middle of that party and I would have stayed on to the chilly end with a dip in the pool, but I hadn't brought my Jeanette swim suit along.

Yes, it was "Ship Ahoy" from the time I staggered up the gang plank of the U.S.S. Missing You until I rocked and reeled with the rhythm of the Bunny Hop.

It hadn't been for the support of my good friend, Maggy Lou Kennedy, the exuberance of youth would have overpowered me. Before the floor show got off to a start, I took a quick review of my surroundings, partly to find a means of escape if the party on board should be shipwrecked.

Really, the decorations were terrific—with the stone mantel draped with fish net, and the flower arrangements in sail boats. A huge white anchor occupied one corner. Sailor girls serving cookies and punch, the shaped swimming pool, so real like that I expected the punch to taste of salt and driftwood. The arrival of the colleges were in evidence everywhere. The pin-up lights along the wall had realistic lighthouse shades. Ropes and stone posts kept the length of the boat. Emma Kelly's Orchestra furnished all the tunes the boys and girls like for dancing. A floor show furnished fine entertainment, with Sue Hunnicutt displaying real talent as she introduced the black-faced "Blue Boys" returning Betty Fowler as "Magnolia" and her shoe shine boys. The numbers, "A Piece of Paper and a Comb" and "Blue Boys" brought down the ship.

Suddenly there was calm. There was dignity as it was announced that the J. B. Scarce Trophy had been won by Jere Fletcher and the Honey

Charlie Simmons really got a thrill while watching TV early Sunday—around about nine o'clock, when on the screen there was a boat landing in San Francisco—and then the words "Statesboro boy, a POW," was announced. Walter O. Moore—and there he stood, smiling and apparently very happy. Yes we are all awaiting the arrival of Moore, son of Mrs. Clarence Brack. He'll probably be here before this goes to press. We've already runners of the joyous homecoming, the mayor and the band—a barbecue at the Legion Home. Nothing's too good for the boy.

IN SAVANNAH WEDDING

Barbara Anne Brammen and Betty Smith are taking part in a Savannah wedding Sept. 4. Ann Strozner and Henry Blake will be married at the Synagogue Mickve Israel, with Rev. Albert Trulock, D. D. performing the ceremony. The Synagogue was offered the members of Wesley Monumental Church for use while damages caused by lightning are being repaired. Barbara Ann is maid of honor to the bride, who was her roommate at Wesleyan. Betty Smith is serving at the wedding. Barbara Ann entertained for Anne Strozner and her friends from Savannah Wednesday at her home.

TOUR WITH BESS MITCHELL

Last week we traveled with Virginia Lee Floyd. This week we go along the grand tour with Mrs. Clyde Mitchell. Bess left a week earlier for Europe than did Ginny Lee. Bess crossed on the Britannic, a Cunard Liner, and landed in Ireland, at Cork, to be exact, which is Ireland's west coast. Southampton is to England, a point of embarkation. In that vicinity, she visited Blarney Castle, where, if you

WEDDINGS

MISS ANGELYN BRANTLEY BECOMES BRIDE OF CHARLES SIMS

In a lovely home ceremony on Sunday afternoon, August 18, in the presence of a large group of relatives and friends, Miss Angelyn Brantley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Brantley, was married to Charles W. Sims of Statesboro. The Elder A. L. Brannen, Jr., officiated at the double ring ceremony.

An improvised altar was erected in front of the mantel in the living room. A background of palms and magnolias with floor baskets of white gladioli and white lilies in crystal candelabras, formed a lovely setting.

Proceeding the ceremony, a program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Millard Daley. Jim Roe Brantley, brother of the bride, lighted the candles and Harold DeLoach, of Statesboro was best man.

Miss Martha Brantley, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

buttons, and the illusion yoke was trimmed at the neckline with seed pearls. Her bouffant skirt extended into a long train. The waist-length veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Virginia Joiner was maid of honor. She wore a full-length gown of blue velvet and tulle. The dress featured a strapless neckline with a white and blue sash. Her bouquet was a mix of white carnations and white orchids.

John Hotchkiss of Jackson, Tenn., was best man, and John Summay was usher. Ringbearer was Larry Jones. For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Joiner chose a light blue lace dress with navy accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social hall. The bride's table, overlaid with white lace cloth, was centered with a three tiered wedding cake encircled with ivy.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh left for a wedding trip to Jackson, Tenn. Mrs. McIntosh was given to her by Julius W. Miles and Charlie McCall, Jr. of Statesboro. The bride's trousseau is more particularly described according to the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court, I will, on Tuesday in September, 1953, within the legal hours of sale, before the court of sale in Bulloch County, Georgia, to the highest bidder for cash, the land described and conveyed in said deed, to wit:

Statesboro leads Georgia in tobacco sales again with 20,277,938 pounds

The Statesboro tobacco market closed its most successful season in the 26 years of tobacco auctioning. In 32 selling days from July 16 the Statesboro market sold 20,277,938 pounds of tobacco for $8,415,782, which is 6,106,740 pounds and $2,338,543 more than the Vidalia market which is second in the state with 14,671,198 pounds for $7,077,239.

The figures were released Saturday by the U. S. Department of Agriculture following the closing Friday of the market here, the last of the belt's 23 auction centers.

The 19 markets in Georgia and four in Florida sold a total of 192,562,176 pounds gross for $68,146,690, for an average of $0.357 a hundred, in their recent-auctioning 1953 season.

All existing records were shattered. Cash returns exceeded by $9,250,000 the all-time high set in 1951, and the average price was up to $1.77 from the previous mark made last year.

Last year the Statesboro market moved 16,243,136 pounds of tobacco for $5,097,400, an average of $0.313 a hundred. All existing records were shattered. Cash returns exceeded by $9,250,000 the all-time high set in 1951, and the average price was up to $1.77 from the previous mark made last year.
