MRS. TEETS ENTERTAINS NOVELTY CLUB

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. H. Teets was hostess to the Novelty Club at her home on Oak street. St. Patrick's Day was anticipated in the green and white color that predominated in the decorations and refreshments.

As the guests arrived Mrs. Teets pinned green ribbons and corsages on them. Games and contests furnished entertainment. Everyone was presented a potted green house plant. Assorted sandwiches and cakes decorated in green were served. The table was most attractive with green clover leaves used in applique effect on the borders of the white table cloth.

Mrs. W. T. Coleman, who lives on Vista Circle, was greeted as a new member of the club. Others present were Mrs. George Lee, Mrs. Jessie Mikell, Mrs. Burton Mitchell, Mrs. Frank Upchurch, Mrs. Birdie Turner and Mrs. O. M. Lanier.

MRS. SMITH HOSTESS TO AFTERNOON BRIDGE CLUB

The Afternoon Bridge Club met on Tuesday morning with Mrs. Jake Smith as hostess at her home on North College street. The home presented a spring atmosphere despite the cold weather for Fay had azaleas and daffodils and all kinds of spring flowers in her living room.

Assorted party sandwiches, cookies and coffee were served. Mrs. Julian Hodges won high score. Mrs. John L. Jackson was cold war and Mrs. Birdie Daniel won cut.

Others playing were Mrs. Buford Knight, Mrs. Gerald High, Mrs. Albert Brantwell, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Dodd.

BLUE RAY CHAPTER OF O.E.S. HELDS OFFICERS' MEETING

Blue Ray Chapter 121, Order of Eastern Star, will hold its regular meeting Tuesday evening, March 23, at 7:30 o'clock at the chapter room of the Masonic Hall. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected at this meeting. Mrs. Lucille Fordham, Worship Matron, urges all members to be present and participate in the election.

MORNING BRIDGE
A lovely bridge party was given Wednesday evening, March 10, at the Forest Heights Country Club with Mrs. Verdie Hilliard, Mrs. J. P. Collins, Mrs. W. M. Adams and Mrs. Fay Floyd as hostesses. Beautiful arrangements of camellias, azaleas, magnolia and huckleberry leaves were used as decorations. The St. Patrick's theme was carried out in the tallies, table numbers and gift wrappings and in the dainty party sandwiches which were served with Coca-Colas. Potatoe chips, cheese straws and peanuts. Green and white shantung candies were on the card tables. For high score Mrs. Emmit Akins won a pink perale shell. Blue perale pillow cases for the new deep well which is being drilled on the property. A. T. Ansley; for cut Mrs. Tom Little won a potted geranium, and for low banquet place mats were received by Mrs. Bernard Joyce, February 25, at the St. Joseph's Hospital. Mrs. Dean J. P. Collins were hostesses to the Civic Garden Club Thursday, March 11, at the Country Club. Refreshments were served before the regular meeting.

Mrs. J. P. Foy presided at the business meeting which opened with reading of the minutes by Mrs. R. L. Winburn. Mrs. H. P. Jones Sr. made the treasurer's report. Plans were made to beautify Roadside Park on Highway 301 on Wednesday, March 18. Members were to carry plants for this project and bring their lunch with them.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of F. G. Blackburn who departed this life one year ago, March 22, 1953. Somewhere back of the sunset, Where the loveliness never dies, He lives in the land of Glory. With the blue and gold of the skies.

He had a smile for everyone, A heart as pure as gold, Those who knew him and loved him, His memory will never grow old.

Civic Youth Day

And now they know—and you know it too—simple as it appears on the surface, it is a real job. Youth Clubs, member of the Civic Youth Day, put it this way: "None of us really realize the benefits we get from our city and the city government." Robert Waters, another member of the Civic Youth Day, put it this way: "I never knew that Statesboro had so many problems."

These comments came out of the high school, which is the "city officials" for the Youth Day on March 16. On that day George Newton as Mayor, and Nancy Gentry as Mayor's Secretary, and Robert Waters, Chas. Clements, Gordon Franklin, and Emmit Akins as members of the Youth City Council, met in the City Engineer's office on Tuesday, March 16. The Youth City Council, headed by Mayor Robert Waters, met on Tuesday, March 16, at the City Engineer's office. YOU Can Profit Three Ways by Installing Silent Flame

Here's why the Silent Flame Controlled Ventilator will help make money for you

During the Early Drying Stage Ventilators Are Open

When Leaf is Dry, Ventilators Are Closed

The free flow of air is stopped because it is no longer needed after the leaf has been dried.

The stems will continue to dry even though this flow of air is stopped. This is true because a movement of a large amount of hot air is not needed to do a complete killing job on the stems.

Tobacco will have a better quality and weigh more since flow of excessive amounts of air have been cut off.

In this killing-out stage burners can now be cut back 1/3 or more, meaning that you make a big oil savings.

Fully controlled from outside of barn. Any degree of ventilation during cure.

There'll be another one, and another one...

Why? We join the teachers and employees of the State of Georgia in asking why it is necessary that they sign, under oath, a form seeking answers to questions which invade a citizen's proper privacy?

We agree with Governor Talmadge that the people of Georgia have every right to demand that their servants be loyal and believe in our republican form of government as established by our founding fathers.

And to insure that loyalty, the employees of the State of Georgia, including teachers, for years have been signing a loyalty oath swearing that he or she is not a member of the Communist Party and has no sympathy for the doctrines of communism. This is a strong one

Turning our town over to our youth good

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

Before our Bulloch Herald is published this week, our Statesboro High School will have sent another Youth Mayor and Council to town to act as mayor and councilmen for a day.

For some people, turning over our town to the youth would be a calamity. But to us, somehow, we feel it might not be such a bad thing. We believe in our youth. We believe they're getting better and better, day by day.

Certainly this youth program sponsored by the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. is a wonderful thing. It gives young folks an opportunity to see just how elections are held and afterwards the elected ones can experience the real thing by sitting in court, and later being sworn in as the whole workings of the city.

We understand the election was clean and sportsmanlike. That everyone had a good time was in evidence. We also heard that there were mighty fine tickets and that choosing the winner was a hard job.

We'd like to see more of this sort of thing in our schools. We can't give our young people enough training for understanding our government.

Of all the talk about our enemy, and all the investigations of all the searching for spies, surely none of these would do as much good as training our young people today to realize that we and they are the government, not a few people in Bulloch county, or Atlanta, Georgia or Washington, D. C.

Our youth govern us for a day

Youth sees government in operation. And it was a wonderful experience.

We commend Mayor Bill Bowen and the members of the City Council and the other employees of the City of Statesboro and the Statesboro High School Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs in their cooperative effort to make our youth feel that they too are important in the government of our community.

City Youth Day it was. A day during which Gene Newton, duly elected by his peers, served as Youth Mayor of the City of Statesboro with his Youth Council made up of Nancy Stubbs, Gordon Franklin, Shirley Akins, Robert Waters, and Charles Clements.

These "City Officials" sat in a regular meeting of the City Council with Mayor Bill Bowen, councilmen Rufus Anderson, Tommy Rushing, Osborne Banks, Inman Foy and A. B. McDougald.

The appointive "Youth Officials," Wiley Carroll, city engineer; Celsy Lanier, chief of police; Shirley Lee, fire chief; and June Carr, city clerk; worked with City Engineer James Bland, Chief of Police Sikes, Fire Chief Logan Hagan and City Clerk J. G. Watson.

During Civic Youth Day Statesboro High School students who have reached their 18th birthday were registered and "initiated" into the full status of voters of Bulloch county.

We believe that the future of Statesboro became a little more secure by what these "Youth Officials" saw during Civic Youth Day.

We believe that our city fathers received an inspiration from watching our youth that day. We believe that they became more conscious of their responsibility to our community and our youth by having been associated with them during that day.

And so all Statesboro benefits. It was a wonderful experience for us all.

A fisherman believes he has the answer

A Bulloch county fisherman came in our office Monday of this week and he says he has the answer to why the shad population in the Ogeechee River is declining.

He says take the nets out of the river so the shad can get by and there'll be plenty of shad.

According to our fishing friend two commercial fishermen are catching the shad in nets, so placed that the shad can't get by. And if shad which have been tagged are included in the net's catch these fishermen do not report them. According to our friend these fishermen want those who are making the survey to think that the shad are getting by in all the tagged shad they find in their

Have you answered the Red Cross roll?

The storm disasters which struck Georgia this month hit during the period when more than 150 Red Cross chapters in our state is asking financial support of their communities to carry on the Red Cross program in those communities throughout the year.

In some counties the response has been rapid and generous. In others it has dragged along. It would seem peculiar that a public that has grown accustomed to the always rapid and dependable re-

Know your County Forestry Unit's telephone number.

That's the advice of the county Forester Ranger Roberts, who this week pointed out that the quicker his unit is called to the scene of a fire, the quicker a fire can be suppressed.

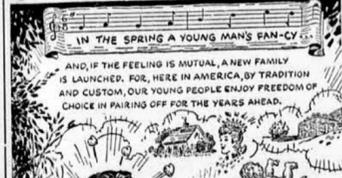

The Bulloch County Forestry Unit is 501-L," he declared, "and it's a good number to keep posted alongside your telephone. If a wildfire strikes your woodlot during these critical dangerous March days, when winds are often higher than normal, the fire can spread far more rapidly than during normal periods.

"Our men in the forest fire lookouts," he declared, "do an excellent job of detecting and reporting forest fires. There are many times, however, when atmospheric conditions such as heavy haze over the county, decrease the visibility range from the towers. During such times, our chief method of learning of forest fires, is by receiving call from the public reporting such fires."

The Ranger said that when forest fire strike at night, he or his personnel can be reached by telephoning 287-L.

"We also wish to appeal to the public to report forest fires they observe while driving along the highway in Bulloch county," Ranger Roberts said, "er ng numb eq4h

Ten steps on how to improve jaywalking

EDITOR'S NOTE—We ran across this piece on "Ten Steps to Better Jaywalking" written by Edwin P. Hicks and published in the April issue of FORD TIMES. Read it and then analyze your jaywalking habits to see if you can worsen them. Or do you think you'll do better by just obeying the traffic lights and the rules of ordinary courtesy.

No. 1—The graceful hop run: This comes naturally to me. The idea of course is to show everyone that I am a city resident and entirely aware that I am jaywalking. I begin a snick little trot, while the car bears down upon me and in the middle of the trot give a little hop. The hop shows the driver that I am conscious of his skill to stop before hitting me and it also takes a little more time than if I had just kept on trotting.

No. 2—The hop-step-and-jump run: This is very similar to the graceful hop run but is performed because it demonstrates beyond question that I still have the spring of youth in my feet, and that if the car gets too darn close I can really split the air.

No. 3—The waving-grin run: As the nearest motorist thunders on his brake and damns me, I grin good-naturedly and wave at him.

No. 4—The blind-dash: I suddenly remember, in the middle of cross traffic, how motorist told me back in 1910 to be sure to run across the street to avoid run-away horses. Cars come faster than runaway horses, so I must run faster still—head down and looking neither to the right nor to the left.

No. 5—The hesitation waltz crossing: This is one of my very best. I start, I stop, I weave forward and backward and the cars halt gently all along the line and a driver gets out and leads me patiently to safety—or does something else.

No. 6—The waltz retreat: This one is guaranteed to confuse the best drivers in the business. I run half-way across the street and then turn and dash madly back to the sidewalk just left. I sometimes reach the hospital before I do the sidewalk.

No. 7—The dare-you-to-hit-me stroll: I start out across the street in the middle of the block, glaring belligerently at the oncoming drivers with a "you so-and-so, don't you hit me" expression on my pan. So far it has worked, though they come closer and closer.

No. 8—The old-fashioned village saunter: I trot across over to Joe's milkshake parlor, diagonally from Corner A to Corner B, letting every car look out for itself. I wouldn't bump into a car for the life of me, therefore, I figure, no car will bump into me.

No. 9—The nonchalant waltz: By maintaining my measured pace I can just clear the middle of the street ahead of that car bearing down from the left. I pretend not to see the oncoming car, but out of the corner of my eye I have it transfixed. I'm ready to sprout wings if the driver speeds up, or doesn't apply his brakes, or appears to be ignoring me.

No. 10—The nightmare crawl: In a mentally somnolent state I have been known suddenly to awaken in the middle of an intersection with cars roaring in from every direction. There is only one thing left for me to do—get down on my hands and knees and scurry out of danger just as fast as I can. This method never fails to stop traffic.

There you have all ten of my tried and proved methods for expert jaywalking, but the really big thing is to know when to use which method. This knowledge comes only with consistent practice. When you are skilled enough to change from one method to the other in the middle of the street, then you are well on the way to the accident ward!

I speak for Democracy

says a voice of youth

By Mrs. John A. Robertson

Recently more than a million high school students throughout the United States participated in an essay contest on the subject, "I Speak for Democracy." The contest was sponsored by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

Sixteen-year old Elizabeth Ellen Evans of Buchtel High School in Akron, Ohio, was a national winner in the contest.

Here's her prize-winning essay. We believe it worth listening to. We believe that Miss Evans is speaking for the youth of America.

I SPEAK FOR DEMOCRACY

By Elizabeth Ellen Evans

I am an American. Listen to my words, Fascist, Communist.

Listen well, for my country is a strong country, and my message is a strong message. I am an American, and I speak for democracy.

My ancestors have left their blood on the green at Lexington and the snow at Valley Forge... on the walls of Fort Sumpter and the fields of Gettysburg... on the waters of the River Marne and in the shadows of the Argonne forest... on the battlefields of Salerno and Normandy and the sands of Okinawa... on the bare, blood-stained hills called Pork Chop and Old Baldy and Heartbreak Ridge.

A million and more of my country have died for freedom. My country is their eternal monument.

They live on in the laughter of a small boy as he watches a circus clown's antics... in the smiles and in the shadows of the first bite of peppermint ice cream on the Fourth of July... in the little tenderness of a baseball crowd as the umpire calls "Batter up!"... and in the high school band's rendition of "Stars and Stripes Forever" in the Memorial Day parade... in the clear, sharp ring of a school bell on a fall morning... and in the triumph of a six-year-old as he reads aloud for the first time.

They live on in the eyes of a young farmer surveying his acres of corn and potatoes and pasture... and in the brilliant glow of hundreds of acres of wheat stretching across the flat miles of Kansas... in the milking of cattle in the stockyards of Chicago... the precision of an assembly line in an automobile factory in Detroit... and the perpetual red glow of the nocturnal skylines of Pittsburgh and Birmingham and Gary.

They live on in the voice of a young Jewish boy saying the sacred words from the Torah: "Hear O Israel: the Lord our God, the Lord is One. Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy might"... and in the voice of the clear, sharp ring of a school bell on a fall morning... and in the voice of a Protestant boy singing "A mighty Fortress is our God, A Bulwark never failing..."

An American named Carl Sandburg wrote these words: "I know a Jew fishery down

Maxwell street with a voice like a north wind blowing over corn stubble in January.

"He dangles herding before the prospective customers evincing sympathy with that of Pavlov's dancing."

"His face is that of a man terribly glad to be selling fish and customers to whom he may call his wares from a postcard."

"There is a voice in the soul of every human being that cries out to be free. America has answered that voice."

America has offered freedom and opportunity such as no land before her has ever known, to a Jew fishery down on Maxwell street with the face of a man terribly glad to be selling fish. She has given him the right to own his pushcart, to sell his wares on Maxwell street... she has given him an education for his children, and a tremendous faith in the nation that has made these things his.

Multiply the fishery by 160,000,000—160,000,000 mechanics and farmers and housewives and coal miners and truck drivers and chemists and lawyers and plumbers and priests—all glad, terribly glad to be what they are, terribly glad to be free to work and eat and sleep and speak of love and pray and live as they desire, as they believe.

Guard names

promotions

By Mrs. John A. Robertson

The two Statesboro units of the Georgia National Guard received their annual federal inspection on 8 and 9 February of this year, by Lt. Colonel Robert C. Murchinson of Headquarters, Third Army.

Lt. Colonel Bethwell A. (Smag) Johnson, battalion commander, announced that each of the units here was rated excellent by the inspector on the basis of their "continued improvement and outstanding leadership."

On a recent Monday night the National Guard Army was the scene of much activity as in addition to the regular drill and process and new recruits. During the drill and as part of their training the cooks of each unit prepared refreshments which were served to everyone at the end of the drill.

Those enlisted in Headquarters Battery that night were: Raymond and Roger Hagan of Statesboro and James Lamb of Twin-City. Those enlisted in Battery A will be announced later. A prior enlistee in Battery A is Ansel S. Parrish Jr. of Brooklet. Battery A has recently acquired a new officer who is well-known in this area. He is Lt. Wm. Cash Harper who works for the local forestry commission. Lt. Harper has been active since and was a reserve officer until his transfer to the Guard. His military training and experience will be a big help to the battery.

Recently 9 men of Battery A were promoted from Pvt-1 to Pvt-2. They are: Jimmy H. Brant, Clifford W. Bryant, Martin T. Cowart, Lester D. Kelley, Albert L. McCoy, Wayne G. Parrish, Joseph B. Riggs, G. Thomas and Charles T. Walker.

A picture in the Sunday paper of Mrs. Owen K. Robinson was of interest to many of us here. They are the parents of Mrs. Prince Preston. They celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday a week ago. The table was centered with a three tiered cake flanked by arrangements of snapdragons and yellow roses at each end. Receiving with their parents were Mr. and Mrs. Prince Preston, Mrs. Albert Lindsey of Royal Oak, Mich.; Lawrence N. Robinson and Clyde H. Robinson. Mrs. Preston was accompanied by Savannah by her daughters, Ann and Kay, and Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Morris and their daughter, Jane.

MORE ABOUT ANNIVERSARIES—Friday night at 8:00 Shirley and Vaughn Dyer celebrated their First Wedding Anniversary, March 19, Shirley says, "We served heavenly punch, which was what we served at the wedding. They had saved a gallon of pineapple sherbet and kept it frozen. They also saved ginger ale to mix with it). The individual party cakes were up to date, but there

Farm Bureau

H. Futch reports that he was nearly at 100-bushel corn meet

It was nice to attend the 100-bushel corn meeting in Statesboro recently but it was not as interesting as the one held at Bulloch, J. H. Futch reports from the Eda Farm on Tuesday night.

Futch stated that some growers had as many as 88 bushels of corn growing in this section of Georgia.

Most of the corn growers in this section of Georgia had 18 or 20 bushels of corn growing in their fields. All of them did well and had good yields in the field.

Futch reported that the record in the old Dublin road was set on Monday, mapping it and grading and surfacing it. Denmark to Burnsville.

There will be a community meeting this year. Several meetings have been held and the final count is made of those that will be made at the April meeting.

W. Allen outlined the record of the bloodmobile at Cross at Nevis Wednesday night. He pledged for support of these two organizations and enumerated the good features of their work.

Dr. Rufus G. Brannen announced that the bloodmobile will be at Nevis on April 5, 6, 7 and 8 p. m. She reported that many of the J. D. Fletcher, local cross field worker, and Dr. Shumans, Claxton, were at Nevis.

John Hendrix, the Nevis queen, announced that the county queen and talent show would be held at the Statesboro Hotel, county school women chairman of Farm Bureau and who is in charge of the county queen and talent show.

Stilson

By Mrs. W. H. Morris

We had a very good crowd to ride the Stilson Presbyterian Sunday School bus to Statesboro this week, to the services Dr. Daniel Iversen conducted at the First Presbyterian Church. Last Sunday I sent this list of names to the Bulloch Herald to be printed, so at this time I am going to tell you the names of those who attended each other night the bus ran. Monday night 24, and Wednesday night a record of 44 and Friday night 35 represented Stilson. I think everyone received a blessing from each service and I especially want to tell you

A brief report on the 100-bushel corn meeting in Athens recently and the ton-per-acre peanut meeting in Triton last week were a part of the three programs. Bulloch was better represented at Triton on the peanuts when the county had 11 of the 44 in the state that grew a ton or more of peanuts per acre.

Those present were also urged to gradually shift from the present large type of hog to the meat type that the packers are begging for so that they would not suffer a severe penalty in price when hogs become plentiful in a year or so from now.

There will be a community meeting this year. Several meetings have been held and the final count is made of those that will be made at the April meeting.

about one little boy, Clarence Wilson, age about 12 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Piez Wilson, (who have never attended Sunday school or church regular). Friday, he had not yet got home from school at the time we called by with the bus to take everyone to church, we didn't know this child intended to go to church, so we stopped at his home and picked up his daddy and the rest of the family who wanted to go, and went our way. So Clarence goes home dressed for church and goes by bicycle or walks some half or three-fourths of a mile and catches a ride with a man in a truck, and very soon we see him sitting next to the front row in church. He had not failed to go each night the bus ran and after he made an effort of this sort to get to church we should all be inspired by the effort of this boy, in getting to church (although I do not believe in a boy catching rides), but it goes to show that he really enjoyed these meetings.

Don Coleman named a VP

Announcement was made recently at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., that Don Coleman, of Statesboro, has been elected vice president of the Peabody Elementary Council, which is the Peabody Branch of the Association for Childhood Education, devoted to the promotion of better educational opportunities for children. Mr. Coleman also was named alternate delegate to the national meeting of this organization to be held in St. Paul next month.

Mr. Coleman has been teaching industrial arts in the Statesboro High School. Last fall he entered Peabody college to secure a higher degree in education. He expects to return here to resume his teaching this fall. Mr. Coleman is working in the department of surgery at Vanderbilt University Hospital.
