Constitutional Amendments to be voted on November 2

House Resolution No. 243 Resolution Act No. 199.

A RESOLUTION
Proposing an amendment to Article XV, Section 1, Paragraph 1, of the Constitution, relating to home rule, so as to authorize the General Assembly to provide for the self-government of municipalities; to provide for the submission of this amendment to the voters for ratification or rejection; and for other purposes.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1.
Article XV, Section 1, Paragraph 1, of the Constitution, relating to home rule, is hereby amended by striking the provisions of Paragraph 1, hereinafter amended, and inserting in lieu thereof new provisions to read as follows:

"Paragraph 1. The General Assembly is authorized to provide for the self-government of municipalities; to provide for the submission of this amendment to the voters for ratification or rejection; and for other purposes.

SECTION 2.
When the above proposed amendment to the Constitution shall have been agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to each of the two branches of the General Assembly, and the same has been entered on their journals with the 'Ayes' and 'Nays' taken thereon, the Governor is hereby authorized and instructed to cause such proposed amendment to be published as provided in Article XIII, Section 1, Paragraph 1, of the Constitution of Georgia, 1945, as amended, for two months previous to the time of the general election at which the above proposed amendment shall be submitted to the voters as provided for in said Paragraph of the Constitution.

The ballot submitting the above proposed amendment shall have written or printed thereon the following: "For ratification of amendment to the Constitution so as to authorize the General Assembly to provide for self-government of municipalities; to provide for the submission of this amendment to the voters for ratification or rejection; and for other purposes."

"Against ratification of amendment to Article III, Section IV, Paragraph 1, of the Constitution so as to authorize the General Assembly to provide for the self-government of municipalities."

All persons desiring to vote in favor of the above proposed amendment shall vote for ratification of the amendment, and all persons desiring to vote against the adoption of the proposed amendment shall vote against ratification of the amendment.

If the people shall ratify such amendment by a majority of the electors qualified to vote thereon, the amendment shall become a part of the Constitution of Georgia, and the Governor who shall, if such amendment be ratified, make proclamation thereof.

FRED HAND, Speaker of the House; JOE BOONE, Clerk of the House; MARVIN GRIFFIN, President of the Senate; GEORGE D. STEWART, Secretary of the Senate.

House Resolution No. 225
Resolution Act No. 183
A RESOLUTION
Proposing to the people, for ratification or rejection, an amendment to Article VII, Section 1, Paragraph 1, of the Constitution of the State of Georgia, adding a new section relating to education.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF GEORGIA AS FOLLOWS:

Article III, Section IV, Paragraphs I and III of the Constitution of Georgia, relating to the term of office and the meetings of the General Assembly, so as to provide for the same of the members of the General Assembly; to provide for the submission of this proposed amendment to the voters for ratification or rejection; and for other purposes.

SECTION 1.
That Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Georgia be amended by adding thereto a new section, to be numbered Section XIII, as follows:

"Section XIII, Paragraph 1. Grants for Education; Notwithstanding the provisions of this Constitution, the General Assembly may by law provide for the submission of this proposed amendment to the voters for ratification or rejection; and for other purposes."

SECTION 2.

Salute to Georgia Counties

Fulton County

CENTENNIAL FESTIVAL
SEPT. 27-OCT. 2

One hundred short years ago, Atlanta and Fulton County grew from a few pioneer families living along a wandering cow trail into an important rural center. Northern forces captured Atlanta and the railroad in 1864 and burned the city, but the city was reborn in 1867 as a metropolis of more than 60,000 citizens and the South's largest financial, distribution and communications center. Bobby Jones, Coca-Cola and the Hambling Wreck from Georgia Tech are among "institutional" attractions there.

Classes at GTC to begin; new teachers named

Georgia Teachers College classrooms open for first classes Friday at 8 a. m. as the new year gets underway with the school boasting an increased enrollment and six new faces on the faculty.

Latest enrollment estimates from college officials this week indicate that the final registration will reach or exceed the 600-mark, a considerable increase over the 543 registered last fall. Registration will be closed Thursday.

Prof. Jack Averitt of Statesboro, who has been on leave of absence since the fall of 1950, returns to the college after a year in England where he was a Fulbright scholar. Mr. Averitt, who has been an instructor on the GTC staff in 1946, did graduate study at the University of Rogers in England for three years before going abroad.

President Zach S. Henderson announced faculty replacements as follows: Helen G. Duncan, a native of Cameron, Mo., succeeds Miss Ida Long Rogers as Dean of Women. Miss Rogers resigned this summer to accept a position at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. Miss Duncan, who holds degrees from the University of Cincinnati and Ohio State University, comes from the University of Florida where she has been a resident hall counselor last year.

Dr. James Duward Park, Groveland, Mo., succeeds Dr. Groves, S. D., as chairman of the education division and director of the Laboratory School. Dr. Park comes to GTC from the University of Tennessee where he served as graduate assistant in education and where he completed work on his doctorate degree. He has taught in schools in Texas, Arizona, and Colorado. Dr. Little resigned in July to accept a position with the Richmond, Va., city schools.

Mr. Stephen B. Homick, Hopkinsville, Ky., succeeds Dr. Cannon F. Brenneath as chairman of the division of business education. He was last year on the faculty of State Teachers College, Troy, Ala., last year and has taught at Berea College, Peabody College, and the University of Tennessee. Dr. Brenneath resigned in July to accept a position with the U. S. Department of Education and an overseas assignment.

Also from Troy State Teachers College comes Mrs. Waddell Wells. She succeeds Miss Marjorie Kenon in the division of business education. A native of Dothan, Ala., she received her B.S. degree from Alabama College and her M.A. degree from Florida State University, Princeton, Ala., has been added to the faculty of the school. Mrs. Wells will be in charge of the school's business education program.

Miss Nita Graham, Princeton, Ala., has been added to the faculty of the school. Mrs. Graham will be in charge of the school's business education program.

Billiard who left last year. She holds a B.S. degree from State Teachers College, Florence, Ala., and has done graduate work at Peabody College.

Charles Simms at Rec. Center

The Statesboro Recreation Department announced today that Charles Simms of Statesboro has been named director of the sports activities at the Recreation Center on Fair road during the fall and winter months. Mr. Simms received a B.S. degree from the University of Georgia and was a member of the U. S. Navy.

Reading habits of BGC club members studied

A recent survey of the members of the Home Library Club, 13 clubs with 184 members reported in the weekly report showed that 154 members read at some time or other during the past year and 50 per cent used their library.

Forty-nine members receive book service and 26 additional members receive book service from the traveling library. They go to the library to get books and report that they have a wide selection of materials. Recreational reading was slightly more popular than other types of books. Other uses made of the library were for planning club programs and for social and religious purposes.

Neighbors and drugstore news stands. One hundred and sixty-three reported newspapers in their homes. 95 take both papers and 153 receive daily newspapers from the cities. The report showed that 154 members read at some time or other during the past year and 50 per cent used their library.

Blue Devils whip Alma 26-0; B Team to play tonight at 7:45

Statesboro High, playing the first game of the season and the first in Class A ball, won a 26 to 0 victory over Alma here last Friday night.

Coaches Ernest Teel and Ray Williams put a small but aggressive Statesboro team on the field that held Alma's yard lines during the first half and allowed only two first downs in the second half, while they picked up thirteen first downs for themselves.

Playing in a light drizzle during the first quarter, the Blue Devils of Statesboro scored when George Franklin Buckner over from the two yard line after Bobby Deal, Joe Hines and Coley Cassidy had run the ball from the Alma 40-yard line to the 15.

In the second quarter, the Blue Devils came up with another score this time taking advantage of an Alma fumble on the 18. James Cassidy made five to the 15, then Coley Cassidy kicked the extra point from the one yard line and Al Allen went over from that point.

Statesboro made two touchdowns in the third period, the first coming after Ray Wilson had run for 20 to the Alma 40. Then Hines added 10 yards on the next play. Coley Cassidy passed to James Cassidy for the 15.

The same passing combination that has been so successful for Statesboro in the past week, Cassidy then passed to Sidney Dodd to lead the Blue Devils to a 26-0 victory over Alma.

The B Team will play tonight at 7:45.

TC freshmen to meet faculty

Georgia Teachers College Freshmen, who began their first week of school Monday on a busy schedule of orientation, will formally meet the faculty and other students at the annual student-faculty reception Friday night at 8 o'clock.

This year, for the first time, the formal affair will be held in the new president's home on back campus. The beautiful new residence completed last spring, was occupied by President Zach S. Henderson and his family this summer.

Freshmen arrived on the campus Sunday and began a busy first week of orientation. They were guests of the merchants of Statesboro at a "Welcome to Statesboro" party and dance at the Recreation Center Wednesday night.

CABARET PARTY AT COUNTRY CLUB SATURDAY NIGHT

Clint Anderson, manager of Forest Heights Country Club, announced today that Johnny Phillips' Orchestra will play for Cabaret Dance at the club Saturday night, to begin at 9 o'clock.

BASKETBALL OFFICIALS TO MEET SEPTEMBER 24

Members of the Statesboro Basketball Officials Association will meet at the Jaekel Hotel Friday, September 24, at 7:30. All who are interested are invited to attend.

Bulloch retail sales for May hit $1,412,171.00

Retail sales for May in Bulloch county amounted to $1,412,171. Retail sales for June totaled $1,222,986. These figures were released this week by the Georgia Chamber of Commerce based on official sales tax figures provided by the Georgia Department of Revenue.

Announcement is made this week that the revival service will be held at Emmitt Grove Baptist Church on Monday evening, September 27, at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Clifford Davis, pastor of the church, will conduct the services. Evening services will be at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Clifford Davis will be in charge of the revival service. The revival service will be held at Emmitt Grove Baptist Church on Monday evening, September 27, at 8 o'clock.

Bishop Moore will Preach here Sun.

Bishop Arthur J. Moore, resident bishop of the Georgia area of the Methodist Church, known throughout his church as the "Missionary Bishop of the Statesboro Methodist Church. The occasion which was completed and ready for dedication three years ago. The visit of the bishop marks a great day for the local church.

Mrs. Moore, who will accompany the Bishop on his visit to Statesboro, famous in her own right as a great Christian leader, will speak to all adults and older youth of the church during the Church School hour, in the sanctuary. A person of deep spiritual faith and conviction, Mrs. Moore has greatly furthered the cause of Christ by her appealing messages and the strength of her own life.

Georgia Methodists always speak with pride about Bishop Moore. Born and reared and educated in Georgia, Bishop Moore has come to a position of responsibility in his church that has carried him into every section of the world. He has served as bishop of the church for a number of years that he has carried a normal load of responsibility. Added on to his work in this country have been churches abroad in the world.

It is therefore a great honor for the Statesboro church to have this leader and great Christian in its pulpit Sunday morning. The congregation anticipates with joy his visit and his message.

Taking part in the service also will be the Rev. John S. Lough, the pastor of the church when the paragon was built and completed, and the present pastor, the Rev. Frederick Wilson.

Immediately following the service of worship in the church, the congregation will go to the spacious yard of the paragon, and Bishop Moore will lead in the service of dedication.

In the afternoon of Sunday, September 27, the church will open house at the paragon so that members of the church and other residents of the community may have an opportunity to see the residence of the pastor and his family.

Golf tourney begins October 6

Golfers interested in qualifying for a place in the annual golf tournament at the Forest Heights Country Club were warned that they must qualify before September 29, and that 29 have already qualified. There are only three places to be filled in the four flights which will make up the tournament. The tournament begins October 6.

The trophies which will be awarded are now on display at the country club.

Women asked to do jury duty

Trains played great part in lives of many

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL
Trains once played a great role in the lives of many of us. The children in our family and many other families can not realize just how important trains used to be.

Aside from the fact that trains used to be about the only source of transportation they were our only means of amusement.

The mail came in several times a day to my little home town. Sometimes it was thrown from the fast trains and at other times it came on the two or four trains that stopped. Everything that came into town came in on the trains. Produce, what little there was, came by freight. Furniture, farm machinery, fertilizer, coal and what was available in those days got there by train.

Santa Claus traveled by train when I was a child. I shall never forget the Christmas that Santa Claus got mixed up and sent my little brother's toy train to Buford on the train and left the little Buford girl's beautiful doll for my brother.

Another great crisis came in our family and a train was involved. My young sister was at death's door and my father had telephoned a doctor in Atlanta to catch the first train to Buford. The doctor missed the train and almost everyone seemed to resign himself in the inevitable. But I remember well kneeling in the dining room and praying. It was the most earnest praying I had ever done but it was a simple, childish prayer. I was begging God to let my sister live. Before the next train was due to leave Atlanta my sister had passed her crisis, as people used to say and the doctor was called not to come. I knew, of course, that it wasn't a cure but just an answer to my prayer.

The train took many of us to high school in Atlanta and even more young people attended Oglethorpe University and rode the train.

This particular commuter's train was known as the "Belle" and all the employees were an important factor in my young life. The engineer's name was "Belle" and he was on hand he pulled the train off very slowly so I wouldn't be left. Young people in our family love to hear about the "Belle" because they think it a part of our imagination. They who have had a wonderful Recreation Center with a fine swimming pool, who have had picture shows, a skating rink, etc., can't conceive of our limited amusement. It is true we went swimming in the river when my father could spare the time to take us or we did sometimes dam up a swimming hole. We also could skate at a certain time of the year when the stock ate up all the hay from a certain section of the barn that had a fine floor for skating.

For the most part, though, the finest amusement we had was "Meating the Belle." All ages of people met the "Belle." In the summer the afternoon nap preceded the bath. After dressing all the young girls would meet and together we went to "meet the Belle."

It's a sign of age to reminisce, but sometimes the "aged" get the feeling that the young people ought to be reminded of things that were important to their parents. On all this day a train has a tremendous effect on my emotions. Trains have meant so much to my life.

HERE'S WHAT THE ALMANAC SAYS THE WEATHER WILL BE:
Today, Sept. 23 — Fair
Friday, Sept. 24 — Warmer
Saturday, Sept. 25 — Hot
Sunday, Sept. 26 — Squally
Monday, Sept. 27 — Fair
Tuesday, Sept. 28 — Fair
Wednesday, Sept. 29 — Fair
BUT DON'T BLAME US IF THE ALMANAC IS WRONG.

Now it is up to the other publishers in the business to follow Mr. Gaines' example. But there still remains the need for constant vigilance on the part of parents.

(APEG). APEG begins where the Minimum Foundation left off. Georgia Education Association sponsors the APEG plan, but Georgia's educational leaders and parents in this community will be the doers, the ones to implement this forward, far-reaching program. We will follow the development of APEG, reporting to you its workings, and contributing our talents to its success. Education, we know, is good business. We don't know of a better business for investment than our young people.

OUR DEMOCRACY—SPADEWORK

OUR PIONEER FOREFATHERS KNEW THE LITERAL MEANING OF SPADEWORK IN PREPARING THE GROUND, ONCE CLEARED, FOR PLANTING OR FOR BUILDING.

IN AMERICA TODAY, MACHINERY HAS REPLACED THE SPADE EXCEPT IN SMALL JOBS—PREPARING FAMILY GARDEN PLOTS, FOR EXAMPLE. BUT IN ALL OUR AFFAIRS—FROM STARTING A CAREER OR BUSINESS, TO PLANNING FOR FAMILY HAPPINESS AND SECURITY—WE RECOGNIZE THE NECESSITY OF APPROPRIATE PREPARATION. THE EFFECT OF THIS IS SHOWN IN THE "SPADEWORK" LARGELY INFLUENCES THE RESULT.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

WE LIKE THE WAY the Blue Devils looked last Friday night when they defeated the Alma High School football team 26 to 0. We liked the way the kids went at playing the game. We kept hearing Coach Ernest Teel saying to me, "Football is still a game." And that night the kids seemed to be enjoying the game.

This year the Blue Devils are playing class A football, which means that their competition will be tougher from here on in. As long as they are playing a game, the competition only adds zest to the schedule. We only hope that the fans keep this in mind—that after all they said and done, football is still just a game.

LAWN KEEPERS HAVE been hot of riding out this summer. With the long dry spell lawns did little growing and needed mowing. Last week's rain changed all that and now lawns all over town are putting the power lawn mower boys back into business.

ONE DAY LAST WEEK more than sixty families in Statesboro got hotdogs for one meal. Charlie Robbins put on a fund-raising program at the Rotary Club on Monday of last week in which he gave to every member present a package of Roggins Red Brand skinkies.

I Remember ... Leslie Williams
A day or two after the recent election, I overheard a conversation between two men whom I did not know. They were talking about another man of whom I had never heard. After listening for a good little while, I intruded to ask one or two questions. The nature of the subject prompted me to join in. The subject was concerning the counting of the ballots in the election. Two men had sought the same office. The margin of victory was four or five votes. The loser had the right to ask for a recount of the ballots. I was told that it would be very unwise for him to make this request; that it would not set well with all the people who had served at the polls; that such a question about their work would mean that the loser would be dead politically for the rest of his life.

Perhaps there were some local factors about which I did not know. But to save my life I could not see why a man could not have the privilege of having the votes counted again. To me the integrity of the workers was not at stake. This was not integrity but accuracy. Apart from the loser and his interest, every voter in the county had some share in this problem.

IT SEEMS TO ME... Max Lockwood

There is just a touch of fall in the air and it seems to me this is the time of year when one's mind begins to wander a little and it is difficult to concentrate to follow one theme of thought. The pennant race is about over and we all look forward to the world series which is being played in the excitement that it always brings along with it and in just a few weeks following closely on the heels of a beautiful Indian summer the winter will be upon us.

Now more than any other season of the year seems to bring with it a peace and quietness such is known to us during no other season. The dogs become impatient for the hunt and the hunter becomes impatient for the kill. The leaves turn and fall and float gently back to the earth from which they came, carrying with them the last few thoughts of summers past. Falling with a beauty and gentleness as one would portray them in a lovely waltz.

It is hard to realize that elsewhere in the world this peacefulness is still blundered for by the shouts and the clamor for war. It is hard to realize that our men still die in foreign lands for causes long since lost and forsaken by all those who have no desire to fight, not even for their homes or those they love.

Immediately following the last great war it would have been difficult indeed to find an American who believed in the isolationist policy. We were all convinced that we must take a leading role in world affairs. Now the tide has turned and no longer are we convinced this is the better policy. No longer are we convinced we can afford to pay the terrible price required in human life and material resources. The past few years have taxed our strength beyond endurance and from it our grain has been pitifully small and of little consequence. Our secretary of state, a few will deny the great man he is, has run from continental to continental, friendly shore to friendly land and has tried to no avail to convince the world that it is the time to take a stand. Now is the time to show the communist world that we stand for peace and freedom for all the people of the earth and to show now do we wonder if we can yet carry on under the ever increasing load which has been continuously added to our already heavy burden of world responsibility.

Our greatest mistake has been to trust those who frame. Those nations of the world who have helped to bleed us of our natural and our human resources and have called themselves our friends only to prove time and time again that they were not. One friend and one love which is for their own survival and growth. Their own interest is the only concern that is manifest in their relations with the forces in the world and it is needless to point out that they have had considerably more experience in the art of diplomacy than has our younger republic.

OUR YOUTH... Kemp Mabry

Recently when several hundred teenagers listed their complaints at a youth conference, they expressed their concern of what constitutes the essentials of mature personality. Their questions resolved themselves in five areas which we classified as self adjustment, home influences, characteristics of mature personality, religion, and group associations. The students recommended that they and other teenagers strive to adjust themselves to their environment and resolve their own individual differences through efforts to pattern their habits after the desirable traits of some respected leader, maintain a friendly attitude toward everyone, work out a balanced social, educational and work experience, take advantage of courses in family life, human relations, and finally, don't cheat. They felt that there is something in the youth conference, much emphasis on grades. Nevertheless, the kids said, don't cheat as you are cheating yourself most.

They suggested more home activity and recreation for the whole family together. They felt that parents should recognize the degree of maturity of their teenage children before punishing them. Above all they wanted their parents to have confidence in them as an aid to helping them develop their own personalities. Parent-youth forums, panels, and other discussion methods were recommended. Boys and girls listed several traits or characteristics they considered important in developing mature personality. Here they are: Unselfishness, open-mindedness, loyalty to ideals and persuasion, consideration, honesty, basic virtues, responsibility, faith in yourself and God, stability, and the ability to accept criticism and profit by it. We know some adults who could improve themselves by application of this list. In fact, we are working on it now. Youth is concerned about the difference in right and wrong and whether they need a code more than the Golden Rule. Should they carry on their own religious programs? They come through to recommend that they and other teenagers develop Christian attitudes and standards, with faith in God, and they thought that

Stilton News Peanut digging and picking underway in Stilton community

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS
The peanut diggers and pickers have started their work since the rain has stopped. Others are starting their digging again. Others are planning on picking peas as soon as they are dry enough to pick.

The members of the Stilton Primitive Baptist Church enjoyed the talk given by Mr. Don Meekins on "Christian Growth." His own interest is the only concern that is manifest in their relations with the forces in the world and it is needless to point out that they have had considerably more experience in the art of diplomacy than has our younger republic.

Let us not kid ourselves that we have made no mistakes. Let us not try to maintain that our policy has always been the best when we must look at our record, both in the past and in the present and consider at some of the seemingly impossible positions in which we have placed ourselves.

WHAT MAKES A HAPPY HOME
Happy is the home where God is there, and love fills every breast; then one the wish, and one their prayer, and one their heavenly rest. Happy is the home where Jesus' name is loved; these children early list his name, and parents hold him dear, happy is the home where prayer is heard, and praise is wont to rise; these parents love the sacred word, and live but for the skies. — Selected.

Continued From Editorial Page of war. How can we possibly believe that we have the right to take the position we have taken concerning Formosa. Here we protect an island with our navy and our air force from men who all belong together. How people of the same land fight, each with weapons that have been furnished in years past by our own government, and where our own men die from bombs that are dropped from planes made in the United States. Then back to Europe we turn our eyes and watch history repeat itself. The conventional Germanys once again returns from the role of the defeated to a position more in favor than those who won the battles. Still those of us who are unsmiling and of little consequence can only wait and hope and pray that in some yet undiscovered way we may yet emerge from the depths of despair and find the answer which somehow must be found.

CIVIC GARDEN CLUB
The Civic Garden Club met Thursday, September 23, at the home of Mrs. Henry Blitch with Mrs. Charles Olliff Sr. and Mrs. H. P. Jones Sr. as joint hostesses for their first fall meeting. Lovely dried arrangements were used in the decorations. The Magnolia Garden Club, which was sponsored by the Civic Garden Club, was invited to attend. The theme adopted by the club is "Make Statesboro more beautiful by starting with your own homes and gardens." Mrs. Alfred Dorman brought an appeal to the club as one long associated with the Bulloch County Library, she suggested that the club help buy a new desk for the library. This was without approval and the club voted to give $50 toward the purchase of an appropriate desk. There was a large attendance of club members present and an enthusiastic group present from the Magnolia Club.

BRIDGE GUILD WITH MRS. SIMMONS
On Thursday morning Mrs. Lennie Simmons entertained with two tables of bridge at her home on Savannah avenue. A bowl of mixed summer flowers was in the entrance hall. ENTERTAINMENT PLANS FOR BRIDAL PARTY
The visit of Bishop and Mrs. Arthur J. Moore to Statesboro will be the occasion for two enjoyable social affairs planned for Saturday evening. At the home of Mrs. Waldo Floyd Mrs. Moore will be presented to the ladies of the church who will call between the hours of 7:30 and 9 in the evening. A committee of ladies representing the entire church has made plans for this occasion to honor the charming wife of the Bishop. At the same hour a representative group of men selected by the official board of the church will have supper with Bishop Moore in the private dining room of Mrs. Bryan's kitchen. Modernistic flower arrangements and sandwiches at Bishop Moore will talk informally to the men about the affairs of the church, both local and world-wide. Mrs. J. B. Johnson, chairman of the official board, is in charge of the details for this event.

Your Family -- And God

is doing in the home on Monday the things that are preached in our pulpits on Sunday. "Without God" And so frankly, we have modern methods, employed by modern parents, in a modern age, resulting in old-fashioned sin. Parents, if a so-called modern world calls it old-fashioned to let God build our homes, then let's be old-fashioned. If it is old-fashioned to put to practice in the home on Monday what we hear in our churches on Sunday, then let's be old-fashioned. If the family altar with its open Bible, the sacred moments and precious memories that may carry our children through the dark waters of life—if these are old-fashioned, then let's be old-fashioned. Dads, if it is old-fashioned to let our children hear our voices lifted in prayer for them, then let's be old-fashioned. Mothers, if it is old-fashioned to influence your children for God and for good, for Christ and His church, before the world influences them, for sin and Satan, then God help you to be old-fashioned. Parents, remember—it may be called "old-fashioned," but except the Lord build the home, they labor in vain that build it. And yet these are the very conditions that are so prevalent, if not more so, than ever. Indeed these conditions seem to characterize our "modern age," with all its culture and increased enlightenment (?). There is a grave danger in these innocent sounding platitudes of which we hear so much these days: "Let's be up-to-date." "I won't influence my child." "I'm a modern mother."

MOST PEOPLE GUESS HUNDREDS TOO HIGH BECAUSE

- a FORD is V-8 powered
- a FORD is styled over its price
- a FORD is more comfortable than its price indicates
- a FORD is built better than its price indicates
- a FORD is worth more when you sell it, too

It comes down to this: nothing at the price compares with the '54 Ford. It is the only car in its field offering a V-8 engine. And that V-8 is the industry's most modern: a 130-h.p. Y-block V-8! Ford is the only car in its field with a truly modern suspension... Ball-Joint Front Suspension. No car without it can ride so comfortably... handle so easily. Ford is also the only truly modern-styled car in its field. You can see that at a glance. Because no other car in Ford's field can offer these features until later on, your '54 Ford will be up to date when competitive makes are old hat! That spells extra trade-in value.
