Let's not tempt Him again

Last week a young boy was in an automobile accident. The car which he was driving was a complete wreck. Miraculously the teenage youth was not killed nor did he suffer any bodily injuries.

We don't know who brought her the news.

We don't know how the news was broken to her.

We can't know the cold fear that must have gripped her heart and soul when she realized what had happened to her son.

We do know that the tie which links mother and child is of such pure strength as to be never violated. It was that strength that must have carried her swiftly to the side of her boy.

Those who believe in God know that He works in a mysterious way in grace as well as in nature, concealing His operations under an imperceptible succession of events, and they keep us always in the darkness of faith.

So it could be that to those with children who do things beyond their age and experience, the miraculous escape from death and the incredible absence of bodily disfigurement to this mother's son are as warnings.

We are a people who become aroused to corrective action only after events explode in our face to focus our attention on the resigned indifference we hold for public ordinances and laws.

The death of a teenage youth on a motor scooter seemed necessary to crystallize action banning young boys, not yet of age, from operating that type of motor vehicle.

The death of one tourist and the mangled bodies of others and four terrific automobile accidents in one week seemed necessary to crystallize action correcting the traffic hazard on U. S. 301 at Pine Inn.

Must it take the death of a teenager operating a powerful automobile without proper experience and proper knowledge and proper approval of the law to shock parents of boys and girls into the realization that they must withhold permission from their children to drive these powerful vehicles?

Must it take the death of a teenager who ignored the legal requirement for operating a vehicle to bolster up the courage of our law enforcement officers to the point of hailing the teenager's parents into court for an accounting?

Cannot we read a warning in the miraculous incident which occurred in our midst last week? Let's not wait until it is too late.

Parents, teenagers, city officials, and law enforcement officers—get together, recognize that we've been given one chance—let's not tempt Him again!

Georgia water laws up for revision

Prolonged droughts in Bulloch county and Georgia have focused attention on our water resources and for the first time since 1897 a commission begins a study of water with plans for a revision of Georgia's water laws.

The group known as the Georgia Water Law Revision commission was named in April by Governor Marvin Griffin. Scott Candler, secretary of the Georgia Department of Commerce, has been named chairman of the commission which has a membership of 17 representing every interest in the state. Members met for their first official meeting yesterday in Atlanta.

With municipal demands the highest on record, the industrial expansion with its requirements for water growing daily; the farmers' need for irrigation mounting, thus is provoked the exclamation "there ought to be a law!"

The kind of law that will answer all of the problems relating to water resources is the task facing the new commission.

During the drought of 1954, Georgians turned to irrigation as an answer. Here in Bulloch county many farmers see it as an out, at least as an insurance against drought. Last year 27,000 acres of Georgia's farm land were placed under irrigation and consumed 160,000,000 gallons of water per day or as much as 1,300,000 people are using at a normal rate of municipal consumption.

Some of the answers which the law must give will be in relation to stream pollution, the right of industries to take water from streams, protection of the cities' supply, and the right to divert streams or change their flow. All of these questions are directly related to water resources. Whatever water law is adopted, its workability will depend in great measure on public understanding and recognition of facts relating to water, its sources, and the great variety of its uses.

Now is the time to think seriously about this problem. Talk about it at your Farm Bureau meetings, get the young folk to talk about it at the 4-H Club and FFA meetings.

And translate your thinking into action. Talk to your representatives so that he'll be able to really represent you when he is confronted with this problem in our Georgia legislature.

It brings the world to their homes

In the years it has been serving the people of Bulloch county it has become an institution—something a little like the magic carpet of mythology.

It brings the world to the doors of the peoples of our rural county. It brings delight, learning, inspiration, hope, into the lives of people who find joy in reading.

To many the coming of the library's Bookmobile is a major event. It's the weekly visit of the world into their homes.

To the citizens of Statesboro the Bookmobile is only important as a means of keeping an interesting turnover of books in our three school libraries.

But to the people of rural Bulloch it is something they want, something they need.

Let's not allow anything to jeopardize the fulfillment of that need.

DOGS — HIS NEIGHBOR'S best friend, but there are a maddening nuisance to him. They foul up his front porch. They use his front yard for a meeting place to play and fight.

We know our friend's problem. There's a lot of talk about "a boy and his dog" . . . how no boy should be allowed to grow up without a dog. We'll go along with that—but there's nothing in the talk and the sentiment about the boy's dog taking over the neighborhood. And when enough boys' dogs take over a neighborhood you got a nuisance.

Survey the dog situation in your home. Is your boy's dog, really your boy's dog, or is he the neighborhood nuisance? We have a dog sitting on the porch of a store. It takes time, talent, effort and courage to do what they are doing. Several times a year they bring us plays—well selected plays, well directed and well acted. And they bring them to us for almost nothing. We are just an old frustrated actor out of our youth was the time when as a member of the Riverside Players in New York City we played the part of the "Gendarme" in the play, "The Bishop's Candlesticks." We had a small walk-on part, but it was wonderful just the same. (The Riverside Players was a part of the recreation program of the big Riverside Church on Riverside Drive in New York back in the early 1930's). And since then we've fancied ourself an actor.

So tonight or tomorrow night take time off and attend a performance of "The Long Mirror" being presented by the Little Theatre at the Masonic Hall. Curtain time is 8:15. Admission is only 50 cents each. Jimmy Gunter has tickets at Bowen Furniture Store, and Mrs. Buford Knight has tickets at the Cross Roads Motel—other members of the group also have tickets.

Dean Zach Henderson told the graduates of the Nevils High School that to say "No" at the proper time is a difficult task for an adult and it's a test of "growth."

A. E. McDougald returned home on May 26 from a trip to Old Point Comfort, Va., where he attended a sales and advertising meeting of the American Oil Company.

Mrs. J. Edgar Parrish of Portia attended the graduation exercises of her brother, W. A. Shearouse, from Southern Dental College.

"The Last of Mrs. Cheney"

Every teacher is bound to wonder at the end of the year where she failed, who she failed and why she failed. The same teacher can also see some results of her labors, and this gives her a great lift.

But here is the summer and here are the children, still. What will become of them this summer?

Mothers and fathers ought to sit down and plan the summer for it is necessary to work out some plans if children are to have good experiences.

Every child should now be given a little more responsibility. The parents need to see that the boy or girl has a job to do and that he does that job well. This is training, that is as necessary as learning to read.

Parents, in general, already know that it is one hundred times easier to do any job than to get a child to do it well. But, of course, it is essential to the child's development to assume responsibility.

There ought to be some family picnics where the children can

It Seems To Me

By Max Lockwood

As I sit here at my desk and write this column on the date line is Memorial Day, 1955, 6 a. m. We who write do so at strange times and in strange places and while many will say we are not so important, we who write for small town papers and country weeklies, I would say to them that ours is a task that is not lightly taken. What could be more important writing than that which family folks will read, and neighbor and friend, those liked and those disliked?

How easy it would be to write for a large town paper where you reached thousands you would never see or hear. Thousands who don't care who you are. Thousands who could denounce you and you could laugh at them without feeling.

In the small town this is not true, and so it is not an easy task as one may think. There are millions of them, millions who fell during the two terrible world wars. Millions of every creed, of every race, of every belief and understanding. Millions who died that we might have the right, the opportunity and the freedom to strive in life to find a freedom which they have found in death.

In many homes today the feeling is one of bitterness as loved ones ask that same question over and over again. Why, why did it have to happen to us? For one do not want the job of explaining to those who have lost so much the reason for their loss. There are times when I can see the faces of those who stood around me and then in the twinkling of an eye had vanished into eternity.

Yes, here it is Memorial Day and with the peace yet un-gained in many lands where men and boys carried the torch to freedom, already they rearm for still another conflict. It is but a matter of a short while before we will again write at strange times, true, and we write in strange places for there are few of us who can sit down with a pen at any moment and transcribe to paper the thoughts which come to mind. We must have a feeling, and urge, a reason to write. We must think about

JUNE 4, 1937 Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Norris announce the engagement of their niece, Erma Jean Autry, to Wendell H. Burke. The marriage will be solemnized at an early date.

A general election was held on Tuesday, June 8. The ballot carried 28 constitutional amendments. The state was voting on the legalization and control of alcoholic beverages.

Our Roaming Reporter, the late Walter McDougald in his "Clipponeke. Cullings" wrote: "Some poetry lover sent us this during the week but we can't tell if it was C. J. Martin or Hobson Wyatt: "The melancholy days have come, The saddest of the year It's just too hot for whiskey straight, And the doctor says, 'No Beer.'"

"Come to think of it, it might have been Frank Simmons, as it came one cent postage due."

Funeral services for J. L. (Jack) Mikell were held Monday afternoon, May 31, from Middleground Primitive Baptist Church with Elder R. H. Kenney in charge of the service. The Statesboro Livestock Yards sold 510 hogs and 75 head of cattle at auction on Wednesday, June 2. The Bulloch State Yard sold 200 head of hogs and 35 head of cattle at the sale on Tuesday, June 1. The market ranged around $10.00 hundred pounds.

The Rotary Club supported Dr. A. J. Mooney, Allen Lamb and Byron Dyer on a committee to study the possibilities of a Rotary Club operating the Dr. man's swimming pool as a summer project for the young people of Statesboro.

H. R. Christian as owner of the Western Auto Store advertised garden hose at $1.00 electric fans, $1.25; baseball bats, 25 cents to 75 cents; Lilly's advertised cotton dresses at $1.00 and summer dresses at $2.95.

H. Minkovitz and Sons advertised 18 x 36 Canon toner at 9 cents each, 81 x 99 Ben-ton Sheets with four year guarantee at 89 cents each with pillow cases to match at 10 cents each. Men's Big Ace Overalls were going at $1.09.

HIGHER EDUCATION: "Travelers riding through the mountains met a boy who looked like a cross between a moron and an idiot. 'Any brothers and sisters at home?' they asked. 'Thirteen,' he said. 'And one brother at Harvard.' In pop-eyed amazement, the travelers asked, 'What's he studying at Harvard?' 'Boy replied, 'He ain't studying nothing. They're studying him.'"

MISUNDERSTANDING: High school boy limped to school, all bandaged up. He explained to inquirers: "I was tripping with my girl last night over at her house. An old man came in. He's deaf, couldn't hear the music and threw me out of the door."

Brooklet seniors dedicate first annual to late J. H. Griffith

By Mrs. John A. Robertson

One of the most outstanding chapel programs of this school year was presented Thursday morning in the high school auditorium. This is the first year in the history of the Brooklet school that the students have produced an annual, and the members of the staff, assisted by the faculty sponsor, Mrs. Marshall Hamilton, did a most excellent job on "The Devil's Tale" - 1955.

The annual is dedicated to the late J. H. Griffith, who for nineteen years was connected with the Brooklet school as agriculture teacher and then as principal. He died just a few weeks before the opening of the 1954-55 school term.

At the chapel program Thursday the first annual that was presented by the editor, Jackie Proctor, was the Griffith family, and was accepted by his son, Ronnie Griffith.

During the exercises the members of the staff presented a lovely gift to their sponsor, Mrs. Hamilton.

During the program the staff members recognized Mrs. F. W. Hughes and Mrs. John A. Robertson because of their long years of service in the Brooklet school, and the staff members honored them with lovely corsages presented to Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Robertson by

Friends of Mrs. Griner and Mrs. Hayes wish them fast recovery

By Mrs. W. H. Morris

Sick List

Mrs. W. A. Griner is on the sick list. Friends hope she will soon be feeling fine.

Mrs. Hayes is also improving after a short stay in the Bulloch County Hospital for treatment. Friends hope she will soon be feeling like new.

Miss Barbara Griffith, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Griffith, was among the honored students at "Hour's Day" exercises at the University of Georgia last week. She was one of the "upper ten" in the freshman class. She was also one of the six freshmen who recently tapped for membership in "Z" Club which recognizes outstanding achievement among freshmen women at the University of Georgia.

Miss Mary Ansel, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Ansel, has been declared winner of the annual cash award made by Mrs. Turner E. Smith, formerly Miss Lella Buncie of Bulloch county, for being the most outstanding Future Home maker in America in Bulloch county. This announcement was made by H. P. Womack, county superintendent. Miss Ansel rated high in her home projects, and community and church activities. In addition to the F.H.M. award she received a check for $50. Mary was one of the graduates Monday night in the Brooklet school.

Miss June Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Miller, has accepted a position as homemaker teacher in the Conyers High School for the 1955-56 school year. Miss Miller is a graduate of the Brooklet High School and will receive her degree from Teachers College June 6.

Miss Maude Sparks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Sparks, graduate of Brooklet School, graduated Monday, May 30, at Norman Junior College, Norman Park, Ga.

TO PREPARE WOOLENS

A simple way to prepare non-washable woollens for storage is to hang them on a clothes line. Then spray them lightly with DDT. Do not soak them. Too much of the spray will leave a white deposit after the spray dries. If this happens, a light brushing will remove it. Be sure treated woollens are thoroughly dry before storing them.

Register Young Farmers meet

Members of the Register Young Farmer organization are busy in the school shop Monday night of each week learning how to better repair and maintain their farm equipment.

A course is set up emphasizing electric and oxy-acetylene welding. Mr. C. T. Steptoe, Statesboro, Ga., who is an expert welder, mechanic and general repairman, is assisting in instructing the group.

Three complete outfits for welding with oxygen and acetylene gas, and one welder is set up in the shop. This along with other equipment on hand should make it possible for the group to learn a great deal about repairing farm equipment according to O. E. Gay, advisor to the group.

Mr. Phillip Rowland with the State Department of Education has assisted in organizing and setting up the course.

Those who have enrolled at the first two meetings are: Neal Bowen, Ollif Dekle, Herman Miles, Leodel Smith, Arthur James Riggs, J. W. Brannen, Bobby Jones, Carroll Rushing, Lamar Smith, Alvin Donaldson, Delmus Rushing Jr., Woodrow Smith, and Jerry Nevel.

Rickey Shurling spent last week in Savannah visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Sanders.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bowen, Miss Mary Abbott and Aubrey Abbott of Guyton visited Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Shurling and the W. H. Morris on Sunday at the attended church at the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Morris of Denmark visited Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morris Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Ila James and Mrs. Stella Lee of Savannah were visitors at Stilson Church Sunday.

Mr. M. A. James Sr. of Savannah spent several days with his daughter, Mrs. Levi Morris and Mr. Morris last week.

Mrs. M. C. Padgett and Mrs. Adean Howard entertained a number of friends with a Standeley party Saturday night.

Feeding hogs for profit was subject for discussion at West Side

Feeding hogs for a profit was the subject for the West Side Farm Bureau meeting on Tuesday night, Tom Leonard, assistant county agent, pointed out the importance of using a balanced feed for hogs that contained not only minerals but also protein supplement not only makes the hogs gain faster but makes the gains go further, as well. Mr. Leonard pointed out that one can discuss the various aspects that go into making a balanced feed for hogs.

Z. F. Tyson, Henry S. Blitch, president of that group, presented Miss Ann Cason a check from the community chapter for being their guest winner. Mrs. Thelma and Bobby Martin were given a check for winning the community talent show last month. The Bulloch Four, composed of Otis Hollingsworth, Carl Bishop, Bernard Banks, and Miss Christina Chandler, entered the Stilson group for $30 to 40 minutes Wednesday night with a group of spiritual songs. Lewis Hursay sang at the piano.

Portal Farm Bureau did not meet last week as scheduled but will meet June 2 instead.

Complete soil and water conservation plans have recently been prepared for the following cooperators of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District: Mr. J. O. Johnston, Statesboro, whose farm is located near Mid-ground School; Mr. M. P. Martin Jr. and Mr. M. P. Martin Sr., Stilson; Mr. F. C. Hozier, Brooklet; and Mr. John Cannon of Middleground. All these farmers are interested in putting all their land to work doing what it is best suited, whether producing and improving it at the same time.

I plan to be away from our fair city and county for the first two weeks in June for a little vacation. I hope the fish are biting and that getting my mind off my work will help me to do a better job of soil and water conservation on my return.

critical step in the preparation of vegetables for freezing is the scalding process. Scalding is necessary to prevent the loss of quality and to preserve the vitamin content of the vegetables. It brightens the color, shrinks the food, further cleans the product, and stops the action of enzymes.

Payoff in Prosperity ...for You!

More jobs for more people—that's the gauge of prosperity! And Central of Georgia's Industrial Development Specialists are constantly at work bringing new, job-creating industries to the growing Southeast... helping to build an economy that pays off in prosperity for you!

Here's what would happen with just 100 new jobs in your community: 296 more people would join your ranks; 174 more workers would be employed; 112 more households would be established; 107 additional automobiles would be registered; bank deposits would gain by $207,000; retail sales would increase $360,000 yearly; and personal income would rise $590,000 annually!

Since 1939, $400,000,000 in new industries have located along Central of Georgia and Savannah & Atlanta Railways' 2,100-mile, all-diesel system. And Central's Industrial Development Department had a big hand in bringing this multi-million-dollar gain to our region. Our industrial development specialists are working constantly — through national advertising and personal contacts — to attract more industry southward.

And our job only starts with the selection of a site. Immediately, Central's modern equipment... prompt schedules... and dependable freight handling become an essential part of the new plant's profitable operations. Together we grow in service to the South. And the final payoff is in increased prosperity for you!

Silent Flame The Tobacco Curer

You Can Depend On To Give You BETTER, Higher Quality Cures

The Silent Flame tobacco curer has been scientifically designed by our engineers to do a better job of curing your tobacco. Thousands of owners everywhere know that this is a tobacco curer that can depend on year after year to do a good curing job. We believe Silent Flame outells all others because it cures all others.

AUTOMATIC TEMPERATURE CONTROL

With this control you can cure your tobacco for less and you can do it automatically. Just set the control dial to the temperature that you want and the automatic temperature control keeps the heat right where you have it set, hour after hour. Two point control in the barn eliminates cold sides, too.

This control has been thoroughly tested by our engineers and by farmers in tobacco barns under actual curing conditions. It has proven that it can do a good job. This control can mean several hundred dollars to you in higher quality cures and oil savings.

INDIVIDUAL TRAPS FOR HEAT

When you own a Silent Flame, you do not need a dummy unit in the center of the barn that takes up space and can cause cold corners. On the Silent Flame you get a trap for heat on every single unit. This trap on every unit means greater oil savings and even heat distribution all the way around every curing unit. You get the same high quality cures all over the barn because you get even heat.

This trap for heat with the large 42 inch spreader that job done more efficiently. Temperatures a few inches above the curing unit are no higher than in the corners or center of the barn... proof that heat distribution is even!

FAMOUS ALLEN-LO-PILOT BURNER

You can depend on this burner for economical operation season after season. The cast iron pilot is guaranteed for the life of the burner. Silent Flame is the only tobacco curer that gives you this high quality, heavy duty burner. Located inside and out, the Silent Flame is designed and built to give you the best in tobacco curing equipment. For high quality, better cures that will bring higher prices, you can depend on this tobacco curer. See your Silent Flame dealer now and let him show you its many features.

Bulloch Herald wins GPA top award for general excellence

Last Friday the Bulloch Herald was awarded the Georgia Press Association's top award for general excellence in the weekly newspaper field.

The award was made at the annual awards dinner of the Georgia Press Association at the DeSoto Hotel by Kirk Suttles, president of the Georgia Press Association and the demand for quality newspaper production.

The Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor four youngsters to the Jaycee Junior Golf "Tournament" at Valdosta August 2-3-4. It was announced by Luke Anderson, president of the local Jaycees.

The entrance fee for the four golfers will be paid by the local club and the Valdosta Jaycees have arranged for free housing at the local college. Free evening meals will also be furnished by the Valdosta Jaycees. The rules require that to be eligible one must have attained his 18th birthday by August 15, 1955.

The Herald also received a certificate of award for second place for the best editorial page in the Georgia Press.

The Herald now holds 21 awards for newspaper excellence from the Georgia Press Association. These include two first awards, six second awards, four third awards and one honorable mention. The Statesboro newspaper also holds two awards in the National Editorial Association including an honorable mention in general excellence in 1954, and second place in 1953-54 for excellence in typography.

Members of the Herald staff responsible for the 1954-55 awards are Billy Carroll, Leo Brown, M. L. Hall Jr., and C. J. Jackson Jr., all on the mechanical staff; Mrs. Ernest Brannen, society editor; Mrs. J. W. Robertson, Brooklyn; Mrs. Edna Brannen, Portia; Mrs. H. H. Zetterow, Denmark; Mrs. Jim Rowe, Nevils, county correspondent; Mrs. Virginia Russell, Max Lockwood, Jr., Dyer, columnists.

A well-rounded program has been planned while the golfers are in Valdosta. For those who might want to go to Valdosta, a day early housing will be furnished. On Tuesday, August 2, registration will begin at 1 o'clock and the qualifying will count as the first round in championship medal play. All nighters will be played and trophies will be awarded. The top four winners will become eligible for a free trip to Columbia, Georgia where the Jaycee-International Junior Golf Tournament will be held this year.

Last year John Dekle and Dave Franklin represented the local Jaycees and Statesboro in the Jaycee tournament held at the Idle Hour Country Club in Macon, Georgia. It was their first participation in the tournament.

A. W. Stockdale of Statesboro announced this week that he has purchased the Ideal Shoe Shop on South Main St., located in the Sea Island Bank Building, Mr. Stockdale says that he is in the midst of some changes to make the shop more attractive.

13 SHS grads on honor list

Honor graduates of the 1955 Statesboro High School graduating class were announced recently by S. H. Sherman, principal, as follows:

Shelvie Jean Allen, Linda Beat, Wesley (Pete) Carroll, Ann Canon, Rena Dixon, Cary Donaldson, Mary Jo Hodges, Evelyn Jones, Ann Lamb, Lucy Melton, Carol Jean Patton, Jane Richardson. (The names are listed in alphabetical order.)

These students finished high school with a four-year average of 90 or above. Two students who were given honorable mention were Odell Bragan, who came to SHS from Nevils, and Elaine Chance who came to SHS from Denmark. She had only one year here but did not qualify as an honor graduate because of the rule which requires that a student be here for four years, though their scholastic record was high enough.

Other awards made at the special honor day program during the graduation ceremonies were: The Poindexter-Carley Waters Citizenship award made by Parish Elliott to Shovie Jean Allen; The Statesboro Club award, made by Mrs. Clark Knowlton, president, to Linda Beat; The Wolf Instruction Award by Ed Coughran, head director, to Ann McDougald; The Bosch and Long Science award by Miss Rosemary Ammons to Lucy Melton; The Gregg Shortland award to Shelvie Jean Allen and Mary Jo Hodges.

Silver megaphones were awarded to members of the cheerleaders including Jane Richardson, Ann Preston and Ann Fulmer.

Phil Campbell to speak at Rotary June 13

In the last of a series of special Golden Anniversary meetings the Statesboro Rotary Club will be host to more than 60 Bulloch county farmers at Rural-Urban Day on Monday, June 13. Phil Campbell, commissioner of agriculture of Georgia will be the guest speaker. He will be presented by Rotarian Hudson Allen, chairman of the Rural-Urban Day program.

Mr. Campbell, a native of Georgia, studied at the Georgia State College of Agriculture on a scholarship from the Atlanta Rotary Club. Then in 1938-39 he was one of five Georgia students sent to Denmark under a Rotary scholarship and studied at the International Peoples College in Elsinore, Denmark. During his trip in Denmark he became convinced that Georgia needed a better system of agricultural education, one that would lead to better farming.

Two years ago he was elected commissioner of agriculture for the state of Georgia.

To hear Mr. Campbell each Rotarian in the Statesboro club will invite a farmer friend in the county. The meeting will be held at the Forest Heights Country Club at 1 p. m.

Bloodmobile here on June 14; new blood program in effect

Paul Franklin Jr., chairman of the Bulloch County Blood Program, announced today that the regular visit of the Regional Bloodmobile is set for Tuesday, June 14, from 2 to 7 p. m. at the Recreation Center.

He reminds prospective blood donors of the new recruitment program which now is in effect in all the communities which participate in the Regional Blood Program of the American Red Cross.

According to the plan, Mr. Franklin pointed out, all persons donating a pint of blood will receive a white wallet-size card called a "blood entitlement card."

This card will entitle the donor and members of his immediate family to receive blood any time they need it within the following six month period, always depend, Mr. Franklin said, on the availability of the vital fluid.

In emergency cases Red Cross will receive most all blood needs—no questions asked. When the need for a transfusion is not an emergency, however, the person getting the transfusion will be asked to get a donor or signed pledge to donate each pint of blood he uses.

The person replacing the blood will receive an entitlement card so that he and his family will be protected too.

Mr. Franklin stated that he wishes to definitely understand that none is going to be refused blood when it is needed.

Mr. Franklin pointed out that he believes this new plan will provide a new incentive for citizens of Bulloch county to contribute whole blood to this vital program.

Bulloch county, for many months, has failed to provide its proper share of blood, and the demand for blood continues to grow.

Weather group makes first report for April

The first official monthly summary of cloud seeding operations by the East Georgia Weather Modification Corporation was made to the 12-county organization on Wednesday of last week. It shows operation detail and results for April.

Robert L. Krier, meteorologist, reported that "April was a fairly good month for cloud seeding in the Georgia area. Several good seeding opportunities occurred during the first half of the month. The second half of the month produced a striking change in the weather patterns and only relatively small amounts of precipitation occurred during this period. Temperatures averaged well above normal for the month and precipitation was generally above normal throughout the state."
