Who will the Teacher of the Year be?

Next spring Georgia's "Teacher of the Year" will receive a statewide salute.

And school teachers from Rabun's Gap to Tybee Light will be given public homage and praise as Georgia businessmen and lay persons recognize the wonderful part teachers play in our lives.

It's all a part of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce program to honor our school teachers.

According to the program a "Teacher of the Year" will be named in every local school system, then Georgia's outstanding teacher of 1955-56 will be selected from this group. All nominees will be honored at a Teacher Appreciation Day banquet to be staged in Atlanta next April. The whole thing is intended to emphasize the teacher's vital role in our life today.

And the fact that it's the businessmen of Georgia who are concerned themselves with this program that makes it important. It indicates that they are taking a closer look at our schools, our teachers and the role they play in our lives.

So it's a good time for us to begin thinking about whom Statesboro's Teacher of the Year will be.

Like a good argument? Come to the library

People who love good lively discussion, leading to friendly argument, are missing a good bet when they fail to attend the meetings at the Statesboro Regional Library on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. For instance, at the last meeting the group talked about the effect President Eisenhower's illness has upon the forthcoming national conventions. Next Tuesday night the group will talk about the North African problem.

If you love argument and like to get new slants on current world affairs, take time out next Tuesday night and come to the library and take part in the discussion. The meetings last only an hour and a half—that is the main part of the meeting. When the moderator closes the discussion those present often stand around and continue the arguments—it's that interesting.

They meet at 8 p. m.

Tree farming can be profitable

More and more farmers are coming to recognize trees as a regular farming crop with a good source of income when properly handled.

A recent story in the Atlanta Constitution told how Lehman Dekle out at Register turned a tract of trees into a steady income crop.

When land is abandoned for farming it can be turned into a money-making part of a farm, when no time is lost in planting it into trees. And when a land owner turns to pineplants as a crop he must take every opportunity to learn how to get the most from his tree crop in the way of forage for cattle, turpentine, pulpwood, saw timber, and other forestry products.

Something grand is happening in PTA

Something new is happening in PTA here in Statesboro. Before the new buildings for our elementary schools were completed and filled, attendance at our local PTA left a great deal to be desired.

But at the Sallie Zetterbrower and Mattie Lively schools something grand is happening. At the last meeting of the Sallie Zetterbrower school nearly 200 parents turned up representing nearly twice that number of children.

Don Coleman, principal of the school, said that it was a "wonderful meeting."

Our county agent is honored

County Agent Byron Dyer received an unusual honor last Friday night as all the Master Farmers and their wives entertained him and Mrs. Dyer at a special supper at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen. Except for Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith Sr., every other Master Farm Family in Georgia has been selected while Mr. Dyer has been county agent.

We think it a unique honor paid Mr. Dyer and we commend the Master Farm families upon showing their appreciation of our county agent.

One group satisfied another screams

Those who have been screaming about our sidewalks in the business section will soon be satisfied. The city continues improving the surfaces of the main street walks.

Now those who scream for sidewalks for their children who go to and from our schools can be heard. We hope the city can get to them soon.

We don't get it—but we're no politician

The Bulloch County Democratic Executive Committee met here Saturday, October 1, and set the county primary for Wednesday, November 16—one year and one and one-half months before those elected will take office.

By the time the winners take office we will have forgotten for whom we voted.

We don't get it. But then, not being a politician, we would not be expected to get it.

Just as a plain voting citizen it seems to us more sensible to hold the primary next year sometime not too long before the elected officials take office in January, 1957.

It Seems To Me

By Max Lockwood

These thoughts and that I believe there does not make them real or true. The pattern of all our thinking is developed along the lines of our own experiences.

The thoughts which I am about to mention are thoughts which have come to me through observation and through my own experiences with and association with the youth of today. These statements are not directed to any individual nor are they related with any personality in particular.

WHEN WE THINK of our children of today and of their activities and of their environment we immediately ask ourselves if they have too many interests. We say to ourselves, "they have too much to do." We say to ourselves, "we must limit the activities of our children and we think to ourselves, "the church has too much, the school has too much, our friends have too much, the Recreation Center has too much," and there seemingly is no end in sight to the whirl of living in which we have found ourselves.

Then we find ourselves trying to narrow down our problems and attempt to try to bring into focus all the many problems involved. Under these conditions most of us then try to decide in our minds which area of interest is the most important for our child. Should he stop some of his school activities? Should he stop some of his church activities? Should he stop some of his activities at the Recreation Center? Following this line of thinking we bring these forces into conflict in our thoughts and without realizing it we begin to play one against the other so that the problems involved become not a question of what is best for my child but rather, does the church have too much activity, or the school, or the Recreation Center. In an attempt to find the answer then to our personal problem we would curtail the activities of anyone of these agencies in the hope that this would bring a solution.

THIS OF COURSE would not do. You could close the church, you could stop any extra-curricular activity in which your child is involved and you could close the Recreation Center and still you would not find that your problems would amount to principally the same. It would be necessary for you to choose and to select the forces which you feel should play a part in the life of your child.

Now these things which I say to you are things which I believe. The fact that I speak

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

Comes once in a while, a news story of a hometown boy or girl making good in far-away places. This week we found a story in a Fairbanks, Alaska, newspaper with the headline:

UNIVERSITY OF ALASKA PROF. NO NEWCOMER TO ALASKAN AREA

And upon reading it found it was a story on Elizabeth ("Pud") Deal, daughter of Mrs. D. L. Deal ("Miss Lillie") Deal. We use the entire story just as it appeared in the Alaska paper.

"There is nothing foreign about Alaska to Miss Elizabeth Deal who has just joined the University of Alaska as professor of education. She has taught two years in the Anchorage public schools where she made many friends and where the trim figure of this girl from the deep South could be seen gleefully skimming down the near-by ski course daily."

"When asked if she learned to ski after coming to Alaska she answered with an impish smile and a soft Southern accent, 'I hope, learned it in Switzerland while playing hockey from school in Paris.'"

"Before coming to Alaska and while the UN (United Nations) was in session in Paris, France, Miss Deal was primary administrator of the American Community school there. The pupils of the school were and of other foreign and American diplomats."

"She has taught in Georgia, Florida and the South American schools in Caracas, Venezuela. She holds a BS and an MS in education from the University of Columbia where she is scheduled to complete the requirements for the Ph. D. next summer. While at Columbia she was awarded the Gen. Anderson Scholarship."

"She speaks Spanish and French and has a reading knowledge of German and Italian."

That's our "Pud."

"Witness that the Grantor for good and valuable consideration now paid by the Grantee to the Grantor (the receipt whereof is hereby by it acknowledged) doth grant, bargain, sell, alien, enforce, release, remise, convey, and confirm unto the Grantee, his heirs and assigns forever an estate in fee simple:

Now, too can become a land owner simply by going to your favorite grocery store and buying a box of cereal. I can't tell you the name of it because the box has been thrown away. But just browse through the cereal until you find one advertising some free land.

According to the poorest mathematician in our family it only takes 6,125,640 square inches to make an acre. If all of Statesboro put their deeds together there might be enough inches to sink a post on which we could erect a platform to hold a pup tent.

Get your deed, fellow townsmen, get it free and let's be come landowners together. We could send a representative to the Whitehorse to plant a tree on our inches.

Who says that the United States of America is not the greatest country in the world? And the land of untold opportunities?

Nylon stockings are made in many different designs and weights, the clothing specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service says. The lower the denier, the thinner the weight of yarn, the higher the denier, the thicker.

There is one bright thought which presents itself. There is one element which works as if by magic and when we deal with children we find that it helps to solve all our problems. This magic thing is simple time. These problems of today resolve themselves into the happy experiences of yesterday and many of the tribulations expected on tomorrow never come, oftentimes because they never existed save only in our minds.

FOLLOWING THIS LINE of thinking I feel that we parents have failed to accept the

W. C. Hodges reports on Georgia Farm Bureau convention in Macon

The agricultural picture is not too good from a legislative point of view, W. C. Hodges, county president, reports after attending the Georgia Farm Bureau convention last week. It is a good thing, he pointed out, that legislation is a small part of the farming story. Legislation is necessary to aid in many respects, but the major part of successful farming is left up to the individual farmer and his ability to plan and farm efficiently.

Mr. Hodges headed a delegation of some 25 members of the Bulloch county Farm Bureau that were in Macon at one time or another during the three days. Bulloch county was awarded $175 for winning the first place in the district activity contest and second place in the state.

Mr. Hodges expressed the hope that every farmer in the county would read the resolutions adopted at the convention when they are published in the Farm Bureau News next month. They will tell of the work to be expected from the Farm Bureau during the next 12 months.

J. A. Hart advised the group at the Ogeechee Farm Bureau Tuesday night that the place used for Farm Bureau meetings in the school house would also be used for holding the coming election, and miller elections.

George H. Miller presided at Ogeechee in the absence of their president. He awarded the door prize of a pair of scissors to Mary Jo Deal.

I. V. Simmons reported that 66 members had renewed to date.

Attendance at the last play-night was much better than the preceding one. There were among 250 members and adults present. A skit was presented by the county officers, and a few members on "How to Hold a Good Meeting." This was followed by folk games and stunts.

All junior 4-H'ers, remember the next play night for you will be held on October 28.

Strawberry plants should be planted in the fall, set about 18 inches apart and allowed to form runner plants.

These color slides were made on Mrs. J. E. Rushing's farm, at Henry S. Blitch's, the City Dairy farm, W. H. Smith and Sons, W. H. Smith Jr., Sam Nevils, Emory S. Brannen, R. L. Roberts, Clyde Mitchell, Cecil Kennedy, and E. C. Deal. Grazing second to none in the nation can be grown here in Bulloch county when the adapted plants are used, put in a good seed bed, and well fertilized.

The Single group held a general discussion of farm problems, including the status of the rural telephone program, preparing tobacco beds and such like Thursday night. A set of slides was of winter and spring grazing systems found here in the county last year were shown as the program.

Ogeechee and Warnock also used these color slides on Wednesday night, October 12. Playnight was held for both junior and senior members at the Recreation Center. Two nights a month had been acquired at the center for 4-H play nights. It was decided at this playnight on October 12, that the second Wednesday of each month would be senior playnight and the fourth Wednesday of each month would be junior play night. The time for each one is 7:45 at the Statesboro Recreation Center. The ages of the juniors range from 10 to 13. The age of senior members is from 14 on up. All advisors and leaders are always invited to attend both junior and senior play night.

The next play night will be on Wednesday night, October 26, at 8:30, at the Recreation Center. This will be the first junior play night.

JAN BROWN IS BRIDE OF MORGAN ANDERSON
Miss Jan Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown, became the bride of Morgan C. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson of Nevis, Friday evening, October 7, in a candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. J. M. Tidwell of Savannah.

The bride and groom stood before an improvised altar in the home. The lovely background greenery, combining palms and Oregon fern trees with tall cathedral candelabra, holding white burning candles, was enhanced by Grecian urns containing lovely arrangements of white chrysanthemums and gladioli, which completed the altar design.

Mrs. Delmas Rushing accompanied Delmas Rushing Jr. on the piano as he sang "I Love Thee" and "Because." Miss Joyce Mitchell played bridal music and during the ceremony played—"Still is the Night."

The lovely bride selected for her wedding a Lily Ann original opera blue suit, with which she used navy accessories. She wore a graceful sweep feather hat. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bride's mother wore a French lilac taffeta dress. The groom's mother was attired in a charcoal gray taffeta. Both wore pink carnation corsages. Immediately following the ceremony the wedding guests were served a buffet supper.

The guests were greeted by Miss Maude White.

The bride's table was exquisitely appointed. Overlaid with a linen cut work cloth, the centerpiece was a tiered wedding cake embossed with valley art and topped with a piece in all the rooms where guests were entertained. Each

Footed antique tiered centerpieces held dainty arrangements of carnations, tube roses, and pom-poms. Silver branched candelabra held lighted tapered and at the base of each candle were tiny nosegays of white carnations, tuberoses and tiny white satin streamers.

Mrs. H. H. Godbee cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Delmas Rushing poured coffee from a marble top antique coffee table.

Miss Sarahlyn Brown, Miss Carol Godbee and Miss Patricia Hall served chicken salad sandwiches, open face heart-shaped and ring sandwiches. Miss Sherman Brown and Miss Rachel Dean Anderson served punch.

Others assisting with entertaining and serving were Mrs. George Strickland, Mrs. Clinto George, Miss Lella White, Miss Lucille White and Mrs. Chaney Fitch.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER HONORS MISS BROWN

A color scheme of pink, green and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

Arrangements of gladioli, roses, dahlias, althea, tube roses, magnolia leaves and English ivy were grouped in artistic color harmony and placed in all the rooms where guests were entertained. Each

OUR HEALTH
By K. R. HERRING
MANY WOMEN SUFFER NEEDLESSLY
Many women suffer needlessly every month. Aside from the pain that must be endured, there is an upset of the entire nervous system. Irritability, melancholia, depression and headaches are some of the common symptoms.

The nerves which control the function and activity of female organs also lead to the muscles of the back, legs, and bowels and other organs in the vicinity. These nerve trunks emit from the spine in approximately the same place. Slight spinal or hip displacement causes irritation of these nerves with the attending combination of symptoms and trouble. That is why headache, fatigue or constipation are also associated with each period.

The chiropractor locates and removes nerve irritation through spinal adjustments and by so doing removes the cause of the trouble and nature does the rest.

Farmers in Stilson community taking a loss on peanut crop

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS

Farmers of this community are really taking a loss on their peanut crops. Out of few who have had their crop picked and sold, report as high as 18 per cent rot or damage which sold for about $103 to $107 per ton. Only a very few farmers have reported good grading and most of them report less pounds per acre than was expected.

So who knows what is best to do, I don't see how farmers will manage to pay their debts. If peanuts don't bring more than has been stated so far.

The Daughters of American Colonies organize chapter

Ten years ago mankind expressed its will to survive in a sane and decent world by creating the global institution known today as the United Nations. The founders held then and its 60 member nations hold now, the belief that the welfare of humanity is, in our time, a practical objective.

This is new, in point of time, but there are times in history that our forefathers endeavored to keep man free, to hold and maintain the sacred rights and to set a pattern of life that might prevail in dignity, in pride and in accomplishment.

Statesboro is signally honored that our town has been selected as the official place of meeting for the newly organized St. Philip's Parish Chapter of the Daughters of the American Colonists.

On Saturday, October 8, the state officers and chapter regents from throughout Georgia and surrounding states gathered here to assist in the organization. The history-making meeting was held at the lovely home of Mrs. J. B. Averitt.

The decor of the home was beautiful, with collections from England and France, and was more charming with the lovely flower arrangements used on the speaker's table, where lay an antique gavel, a gift to the chapter from Mrs. E. S. Prentiss. The yellow roses in boat containers, the Steubin luster, flag of the United States and the DAC flag colors accented in the flowers used.

The dining room was elegant with the table overlaid with

Junior Woman's Club hears expert on civil defense

The Statesboro Junior Woman's Club met at the recreation center October 13th with a wonderful attendance and program.

A lovely musical program was presented by Joy Hatcher and Gene Sanders who are attending Georgia Teachers College, each gave two vocal selections and were accompanied by Sara Connard, Mr. Josh Baldwin, who was in Statesboro last week promoting the membership drive of the Community Concert Inc., rendered two piano selections, Bourée by Bach and Clara de Laine by Debussy.

During the business meeting, an announcement was made by Mrs. Chic Jones Jr., president, that the Statesboro Junior Woman's Club is organizing and promoting the Swainsboro Junior Woman's Club. Also the main community project for the year was discussed and voted on which is, "The Prevention of Deafness of Bulloch County Children."

The guest speaker was Mr. Jack L. Grantham, Atlanta, state communications coordinator of the Department of Civil Defense. Mr. Grantham began by relating the serious position of the world that exists today and centered his talk around what each person can do to protect himself in case of emergencies.

One example he gave was that if 100 airplanes carrying the A-bomb or H-bomb were sent from Russia, our defense could only knock out 30 planes, thus getting 70 safely to their destinations. These 70 planes could bomb at least 40 of our largest cities killing one-third and injuring one-third of our population. He cautioned to always be on the alert for sabotage in the home because there will not be enough in the stores for everyone.

Mr. Grantham stressed the importance of a good civil defense unit in every town. He stated that safety could be promoted by showing safety films in clubs, organizations and schools; by making available to the public first aid home nursing courses, and by stockpiling medical supplies in schools or public buildings.

Fall Enrollment Ends; 750 is Near Record

Registration for the fall quarter at Georgia Teachers College is now officially ended and the latest figures concerning enrollment according to Miss Viola Perry, registrar, show a total of 750 students now attending. This is an increase of 6 over the figures released last week.

There are 365 men and 385 women enrolled, a difference of only 20, and a closer ratio than has been recorded here in a number of years. At no time in the history of the college have the men outnumbered the women.

According to classes there are 289 freshmen, 178 sophomores, 151 juniors, and 132 seniors.

Near Record

The number of students registered this quarter comes close to breaking the record of 768 set in 1949, the year when so many veterans were in school. This year 120 of the men are veterans.

Importance of an underground shelter. This should be made by allowing 3 square feet per person and deep enough for standing comfort. For example, a family of four should have at least 12 square feet. This should be covered with boards as a roof and at least 3 feet of dirt on top. A pipe should be inserted in the roof for ventilation with a cap to keep out the rain and packed with pads for filtration. An should be made with three or four turns because radiation will enter only the first two turns. Do not leave the shelter until an all-clear signal is given or someone contacts you and makes preparations to remove you from the contaminated area.

Mr. Grantham stressed the importance of a good civil defense unit in every town. He stated that safety could be promoted by showing safety films in clubs, organizations and schools; by making available to the public first aid home nursing courses, and by stockpiling medical supplies in schools or public buildings.

New Sections Added

A few classes have grown so large that extra sections have been added and a number of new courses.

Park Surveys Teacher Need

Dr. J. H. Park, chairman of the division of education, is conducting a state-wide survey to determine the teacher supply situation in the public school system.

The survey seeks directly the number of teachers authorized under the state salary plan, the number of additional teachers employed by systems with local funds, and what vacancies now exist.

Questionnaires have been sent directly to 1,265 school principals. Dr. Park said, and he expects to announce the results of the survey later this month.

School systems enlarge and expand enough each year to require about 2,500 new teachers, he said. Last year 19,000 teachers were employed in Georgia.

WEED COMPETITION REDUCES YIELDS

J. R. Johnson, agronomist for the Agricultural Extension Service, says weeds are taking an increasing amount of the moisture and fertilizer elements in small grain fields. In some fields of grain, they compete for space, moisture, and plant nutrients," he points out. "This competition causes reduced yields and a weed-infested crop."

George Ffarr, Agricultural Extension horticulturist, says the Blakemore strawberry is the most popular Georgia variety planted. Other varieties he recommends are the Missionary, Albrighton, Pochantus, and

Coach J. B. Searce Predicts Profs to Have Good Year

By GENE BASTON

There are no games scheduled with service teams this year, even though there were several games last year. In the past, there has been a difficulty in getting enough games scheduled with the college teams alone. This brought on extra games with the service teams. It is to be pointed out that the NCAA does not recognize these games.

This year's schedule calls for the NCAA maximum of 26 games. There is to be a Colleague Christmas Tournament at Quantico, Virginia in which Georgia Teachers College will participate.

The first home game is December 3 with Stetson University.

GTC to Be Host To NAIA Playoff

The new gymnasium at Georgia Teachers College will be the site of the District 25 NAIA basketball playoffs on March 2 and 3, 1956, according to J. B. Searce Jr., director of athletics.

District 25 consists of the four-year colleges in Georgia and Florida not considered as major colleges by the NCAA. Last year's champion, Fla. State University, is now rated a major college and will not be eligible for participation.

The Statesboro winner will represent the district at the national tournament at Kansas City on March 12-17, 1956.

GTC placed second at Tallahassee last year, losing to Florida State University 81 to 83.

Cash crops occupied 5,000,000 acres of Georgia land in 1950, but these crops were planted on schedule is tougher than last year's.
