WEEK - An international "good will" gesture during this period was the sending of 21 Care packages to Korea, totaling $210. For outstanding work during 1955, the club won an "Honor Award" from the Woman's Home Companion for being one of 250 clubs to reach this achievement.

For many years the club has been the oldest ladies of the community at a Christmas party of some kind, and this is one of the highlights of the club program, which continues.

In the closing period of our report the club has donated $5 to each of the new city schools for their libraries. They are the Sallie Zetterower and the Mattie Lively Elementary schools and the William James High School.

The club has sponsored the organization of "A Council of Civic Clubs" with Mrs. W. C. Cobb as president. The purpose of this organization is to study the needs of the community and assigning different projects to each organization in order that improvements may be carried out in unison.

There are many other wonderful things that should be recalled but it is not possible for our club to have had three district presidents, Mrs. R. L. Cone, Mrs. Alfred Dorman and Mrs. Buford Knight; second vice president of Georgia Federation, Mrs. E. L. Barnes; Tullulah School trustee, Mrs. Alfred Dorman and State Division chairman, Mrs. L. M. Durdan.

We have participated (both years since its introduction in the Georgia Federation Week, by having published in the local newspapers the departments of work and accomplishments of Georgia Federation, editorials were written on the local club by editors of the local newspapers also. Participated in a radio skit with members of the Junior Woman's Club, and this year compiled these accomplishments.

EXTRA GOOD

because it's NATURAL

CHILEAN NITRATE—WORLD'S ONLY NATURAL NITRATE

Whatever the crop—corn, cotton, tobacco, pastures, small grains, fruits, vegetables—Chilean Soda top-dressings and side-dressings give the best results, lowest costs, largest net profits.

Natural Chilean works fast. Corn responds bountifully at rates up to 500 pounds per acre or more, 40 to 50 days after planting. The nitrogen in Chilean is 100 per cent fast-acting nitrate—invaluable at the critical stage of crop development.

Natural Chilean boosts yields. On cotton, side-dressings of 300 pounds or more, 35 to 40 days after planting, produce heavy yielding, early-maturing plants. On pastures, too, it's a more efficient summer fertilizer than ammonia forms of nitrogen.

Natural Chilean contains sodium. Ammonia nitrogen is acid-forming and must be changed to the nitrate form in the soil, but every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone for destroying soil acidity.

Natural Chilean benefits crop and soil. It corrects acidity, improves potash, phosphate, calcium, magnesium and minor element availability. Chilean is one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers for side-dressing summer crops. Ask for Bulldog Soda. Look for the Bulldog on the bag.

J. H. Wyatt makes report to NFLA

Mr. J. H. Wyatt, president of the Statesboro National Farm Loan Association, has returned from Savannah where he participated in a district conference of officers and directors of 10 associations in the southeast region of Georgia. He was accompanied by Mr. T. W. Rowe, secretary-treasurer, and Messrs. R. Cone Hall, C. W. Southwell, G. B. Bowen and M. J. Anderson, members of the board of directors of the Statesboro association.

The district meet, which was in the nature of a workshop conference, was sponsored by The Federal Land Bank of Columbia.

Mr. Wyatt stated that discussions centered on operating problems and loan and improvement policies, designed to improve the making and servicing of land bank loans and handled by the Associations for the Columbia bank.

Rufus R. Clarke, president of the bank, gave a report on the 1955 operations and outlined some changes in the operations which will be made effective with the fiscal year beginning July 1. J. A. Nolan, chairman of the board of the Columbia Land Bank, J. R. Williams and C. S. Alexander, directors, and Porter Carswell, member of the district NFLA stockholder's committee, also participated in the conference.

The Statesboro association has farmer invested capital of $76,000.00 and handles approximately one million dollars of land bank loans in its chartered territory of Bulloch, Bryan, Evans, Effingham, Liberty, Long, McIntosh and Chatham counties. Press freedom suppressed in too many places

There is a great hue and cry all over claiming public indifference as the greatest danger to freedom of the press and freedom of speech.

During the recent fight in the Georgia General Assembly over the so-called "libel bill" it was the newspapers which carried the ball in the continuing attempts at suppressing the freedom of the press. There was little, if any battle put up by the general public.

Benjamin Franklin, back in his day, saw press freedom as the key-stone to liberty, and what makes man free is as vital today as it was to Benjamin Franklin.

Freedom's battle goes on and on, for in every generation there are men, some in high authority and well intentioned, who do not understand its fundamentals and move to weaken one or another of its vital glands.

In a recent address to the Benjamin Franklin society, a speaker said:

"In every generation there are men who do not understand what freedom of the press is all about, but who do not like it because it impinges upon their personal ambitions. The free press brings to public light things they would like forgotten, mistakes they would like to keep in the closet. In the world today, press freedom is suppressed in too many places."

In order to throw the light of publicity on exactly what our legislature did to the people's guarantee of a free press as set up in the First Amendment to the Constitution, we reprint on this page the Senate bill as passed and signed into law, hoping that our citizens will become alert to future whittling away at one of their most precious heritages—their guarantee of a free press.

Get the facts and get in the Guard

Is a member of your family a National Guardsman? And are you as proud of him as you should be? Or do you think he is playing "soldier" just for the little extra pay it affords him with a night away from home once a week?

Is one of your friends a member of the National Guard? And do you think of him as being a "sucker" to go out to the armory to drill or take instruction one night a week? Do you think he is a Guardsman in order to get away from home one night a week to be with the boys?

Then listen to us. Revise your thinking fast. For your safety and wellbeing may well be in the hands of these men who make up this volunteer citizen-soldier organization.

The future of our country as a nation may well be in the hands of these men who are working at staying in a condition of combat readiness.

On February 22 the National Guard of Statesboro and Georgia is to hold an intensive one-day recruiting campaign. Its purpose is increasing the strength of the Guard to help take up the slack caused by the reduction of our military forces.

So, at the request of Congress, and to meet a need for the particular kind of service which only the National Guard can offer, the Guard must increase its strength.

Appropriately, the day chosen for its big recruitment drive falls on the birthday anniversary of the founder of our nation. Thus is symbolized, if a symbol is needed, the essential character of the National Guard in the affairs of our country. Its recruitment campaign deserves our support.

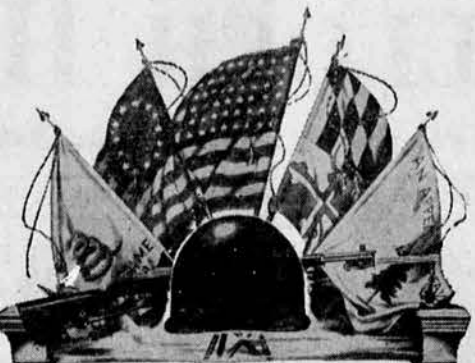

Get the facts, and get in the Guard.

AND TO THE SMALL Fry—Get your fishing pants all ready for the First Annual Fishing Rods to be held out at Robbin's Pond on U. S. 80. It is being sponsored by the Recreation Department and Robbin's Packing Company. April 28 is the date.

KEEP LOOKING for the rules and regulations to be announced later.

NOTE TO ROSE CROWERS — If you haven't pruned back your roses, better get it done this weekend or soon thereafter. (This is done from a strict amateur.) The book says to prune them back before the new growth puts out. With weather like we've been having, new growth is already putting out. If a freezing spell comes after you prune yours back and kills all the new growth, don't blame us. We pruned ours last week, and new buds are shooting out all over.

THINGS ARE turning green. We drove up to Dublin Sunday and we were happy to see how things all along the way are greening up. Small grain crops look lush. Ponds are sparkling. Little creeks are full and the water black and clear and cool looking. Gone is the dry, cooled appearance of the countryside of a few weeks ago. People are feeling better all over with the coming of the rains.

NOTE TO FISHERMEN—A House-approved bill to permit fishing on Sunday in Georgia has been killed in the Senate. Of course that will not keep those who have been fishing on Sunday from fishing on Sunday.

Our city engineers would win the approval of all motorists if they would make a survey of all street intersections and where they find vision blinded because of such plantings ask the property owners to trim the plants or change the planting, and offer to advise them. Where a new home is being built on a corner ask the home builder to consider his corner and the traffic when he designs his planting.

Homeowners of the city would win the applause of all if they themselves would survey their shrubbery and trees and if they find it blocks the view move it or trim it.

It's better to do it this way than for the problem to develop to the point the city will have to force the correction with an ordinance and police action.

Through the P's of Virginia Russell

With so much attention still focused on juvenile delinquency, we parents continue to search for some light on this problem. After the recent Atlanta case of the teen-agers, (of good families) who were sent to the state school for young offenders, no parent feels entirely comfortable.

In a recent issue of the New York Times magazine section, Dorothy Barclay speaks to parents on "What to Do About 'Wrongdoing'." The article gives some startling information.

A teacher of English in a New York high school chose the topic, "The Causes of Juvenile Delinquency," for a research project. The teacher suggested to his class that each member write an anonymous denunciation to the parents of the offender. Even the teacher was dumfounded over the results.

The particular class was made up of 10 girls and 16 boys—all 16-year-olds—who all had higher than average IQ's, they came from good homes, they (the students) were highly respected and responsible young people and held leadership positions. Let me quote Miss Barclay: "Four students described deliberate or unprovoked attacks they had made on others; six told of shoplifting in a five-and-ten or supermarket. Three reported taking cars without permission and driving them without licenses. Four related instances of entering empty houses and destroying property."

It Seems to me

By Max Lockwood

A SHORT FEW years ago a great American spoke to the people he loved so well. These are the words he used: "The only thing we have to fear is fear itself."

To all the people of the world who knew and loved Franklin D. Roosevelt, these words meant a great deal more than they mean today.

As we look at the situation in the world today we might well think on those historic words voiced during those perilous times. I believe that the American people are tired of the weak-sister attitude taken by our government toward the governments of the Communist and the Chinese and all those who have associated themselves with them.

I believe that the American people are tired of the weak-sister attitude taken by our government toward the governments of the Communist and the Chinese and all those who have associated themselves with them.

As we look at the situation in the world today we might well think on those historic words voiced during those perilous times. First issue of The Criterion was a 34-page paperbound booklet

EDITOR'S NOTE—in the last two issues of the Herald we published a brief account of the history of the Statesboro Academy and the Statesboro High School. This week we add to the history of the school using information furnished by Miss Elizabeth Sorrier, compiled from the school's yearbook, "The Criterion."

In May, 1910 the first annual of the Statesboro High School was published. Its format was a six inch by nine inch paperbound booklet containing 34 pages, and sold for fifteen cents. Fred Smith was the editor and Alval Hughes was the business manager. This must have been an isolated attempt at beginning a year book for 1913 "The Criterion" appeared as Volume I.

The 1913 edition of the "Criterion" carried the name "Statesboro Institute" on its title page and is listed as Volume No. 1. The faculty consisted of George E. Usher, Dreta Sharpe, and Harold D. Meyer. There were 30 graduates that year. Mattie Fletcher, now Mrs. Bruce R. Akins, was president of that year's graduating class. The editors of The Criterion were Herbert Kennedy, Horace Smith, Outland McDougald, Julian Quastelbaum was the business manager.

The 1914 Criterion, Volume II, listed nine graduates with Alva Gertrude Sharpe as president of the class. The faculty was George E. Usher, Maude Akins and Harold D. Meyer. The editors of the year book were Rufus Oglesby, Birdie Mae Hodges and Edgar Jones. Harry Smith was business manager. The 1915 Criterion listed the faculty as Mr. Meyer, Miss Ricketson, Miss Neal and Miss Elma Wimberly. John Zetterover was president of the class.

The 1916 Criterion listed the faculty as Mr. Meyer, Miss Ricketson, Miss Neal and Miss Elma Wimberly. John Zetterover was president of the class. The 1917 Criterion listed the faculty as Mr. Meyer, Miss Ricketson, Miss Neal and Miss Elma Wimberly. John Zetterover was president of the class.

Stilson News

Teen-agers make race track of section of Stilson-Hubert road

By Mrs. W. H. Morris

Last Sunday, enroute to Savannah, I saw something which makes me feel very sad, even now.

Very close to Stilson, that is between Stilson and Hubert, there were about 12 or 15 boys (I would say) and their ages would be estimated at about 16 to 18 years. Also there were three cars parked (a light green car, a maroon car, and a black car) and of course there was a race in the making.

I wonder if these boys even considered what could happen. Oh, I guess if they wrecked a car or two there was enough insurance to buy a new car and even if they had a wreck and to replace the old one. And most of all, what about facing parents who love and trust them and who didn't know their sons would get out and race. And after all, one could even get killed. But then such as that always happens to the other fellow.

Well, after all, nothing happened to this group at this time, but who knows when it will happen? I sincerely hope they will realize how foolish racing with cars actually is, and will STOP LOOK and LISTEN. There is one curve on this road that is very dangerous. During last year's school term, two boys who were attending high school at Stilson were going to Dixton, Blitchton and to be back to school real quick. They got back to the curve alright but they forgot their wings. They could not fly around the curve and so they turned over several times and ruined a new car.

Neither of the two boys were seriously injured. The car belonged to a brother of one of the boys and they were to use the car for a class project. Help out with transportation. Let's hope these boys won't try racing on this road any more.

Soil Conservation Service

Mr. P. W. Clifton and sons of Stilson are declaring war on soil erosion on their farms.

Last year's heavy rains coming in a short period of time caused severe damage to land that was once considered too flat to wash. Mr. Clifton is having a complete water disposal system installed on his gently sloping and in cooperation with the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District. The system includes broad-base terraces with proper outlets, sodded waterways, and a drainage system for water coming on his land from higher ground. It is very encouraging to see our farmers taking definite steps to prevent damage to our valuable land. Mr. Clifton is to be congratulated on his efforts.

Mr. R. P. "Bob" Mikell installed a fine terring system on his farm last year and has had real good results from it. He brought up a subject which all farmers with terraced land needs to consider. Mr. Mikell wanted to break his land all in one land then come back and plow his terraces up. Old hands at this game know this will ruin their terraces over a long period of time. Breaking across terraces where they will not take the water off properly. It is better, and less work also, to break the land and the terraces at the same time but with the terraces, changing the width of the land between the terraces each year and even plowing back to the center every few years to prevent following out between the terraces. In this way the terraces are maintained in the process of land breaking and not moved around.

I saw the results of breaking a big terraced field in one land above Clito last Sunday. This land was washed all to pieces just after breaking was completed and before the terraces could be plowed up. It was a sickening sight. Now the terraced field will need a major reworking to correct the drainage.

SPADE AND TROWEL GARDEN CLUB
The February meeting of the Spade and Trowel Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. Joe Robert Tillman with Mrs. John DeLoach as co-hostess. A beautiful church arrangement of red camellias in a marble urn was furnished by Mrs. Tilly Hill and Mrs. Curtis Lane. A nosegay arrangement of pink camellias, suggestive of Valentine, decorated the coffee table.

Mrs. Mark Toole presided over the business meeting at which time the plans for the tour of the C. P. Olliff Jr. home were announced by Mrs. W. R. Lovett, tour chairman for the club.

Mrs. Curtis Lane presented the outline for the planting of shrubbery at the Statesboro elementary schools and stated that the planting would take place immediately.

Mrs. Jack Wynn introduced as the guest speaker, Mrs. Hugh Turner who discussed the problem of pest control. In connection with the program, each member answered the roll call by naming her worst garden pest.

A dessert and coffee were served to the group by the hostesses.

Those attending were Mrs. Tilly Hill, Mrs. Frank Hook, Mrs. Julian Hodges, Mrs. Sidney Dodd, Mrs. Bill Keith, Mrs. Tillman, Mrs. George Byrd, Mrs. Curtis Lane, Mrs. Albert Braswell, Mrs. Mark Toole, Mrs. Lovett, Mrs. G. JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS PANEL DISCUSSION
The Statesboro Junior Woman's Club was called to order by the president, Mrs. H. P. Jones Jr. on February 9, with a good attendance. An inspirational devotional on prayer was led by Mrs. Z. L. Strayer Jr.

A lovely piano selection was played by Smets Blitch which was "Fantasia in C Minor" by Bach.

During the business meeting, the president revealed that the sale of "Fountain of Potosi" was very successful.

The communications department was in charge of the program and Mrs. Zack Smith, chairman, introduced the guests with an original poem which was very fitting to each member of the panel. "Our Newspaper" was the title of what started out to be a panel discussion and ended up a laughing, heart-warming exchange of pleasantries between the panel members and the audience. Leodel Coleman, editor of the Bulloch Herald, was the moderator for the panel and in his own inimitable style quickly carried the junior club women down the line of newspaper printing from one huge blank sheet of pulp paper to the finished product. Since Mr. Coleman is a collector of "errors in print," he really entertained everyone with some prize examples that have appeared in his paper and others.

The first staff member to be interviewed was Mrs. Ernest Brannen, society editor. Mrs. Brannen spoke on her ABC's of society column writing, inserting bits of her effervescent charm and wit and even getting back at the box as she explained how those few tragic typographical errors in her columns came about.

Mrs. Fielding Russell revealed some of her secrets in preparing her column "Through the Eyes of Virginia Russell." Drawing from her experience as a wife and mother, Mrs. Russell writes her human accounts of everyday happenings in average homes... homes whose members seek for a coating of culture and refinement, but who, still, like millions of other families have those incidents that call for that old cliché of "boys will be boys."

The newest member of the editorial page is Statesboro's recreation director, Max Lockwood. Mr. Lockwood states that through his column "It Seems to Me," he tries to put in print exactly how issues of state, local, national and international nature seem to him. He says it's like writing a letter and never intend to mail and afterwards you feel a whole of a lot better.

The meeting was then adjourned and the community affairs committee was on hand with delicious refreshments.

Film Library On Campus Serves Many Schools

How much do you know about the film library at Georgia Teachers College? Did you know it existed? Well, it does!

In the basement of the GTC library in 1950, the smallest of four state supported film libraries in Georgia began to operate.

The purpose of the library is to serve schools with educational films. There are approximately 5,420 films in the library and 2,880 film titles. Serving 185 schools in 28 counties, allowing the small schools eight films per week and the large ones 16 approximately 850 films are shipped from the office weekly. This cost the state $400 per month for postage alone.

The system of distribution is very unique because Georgia is the only state that pays postage for its films.

Last summer GTC used 850 films, now it uses between 100 and 125 films weekly. The use of films is free to the college because it gave the space for the audio-visual office and film room in return for the use of the films.

A real pitching problem faces Coach Clements. Only two proven pitchers, Alwine and Hall, will return. Both Hall and Alwine are right-handed, and aren't particularly fast, so a left-hander is needed.

Ed Abercrombie, who worked in the Atlanta library before coming to GTC, is now the state's director of postage along with P. S. Richardson and Roger Brown are shipping clerks.

'Miss Mae' Sharp As Razor, But Is Loyal Friend of GTC

By JANE JACKSON

Thoughts of homecoming usually bring to mind old friends and old times. I imagine thoughts of homecoming have for the past several years begun with sweet memories of a person who has been called by many, the trustiest friend Georgia Teachers College ever had.

GTC's most loyal friend is Miss Mae Michael, who served as secretary for five of our presidents and retired in 1952.

Miss Mae not only took pride in her secretarial job, but took it upon herself to look after students were deficient in some of their subjects, to try to manage the campus life, and to keep the paper thrown on campus picked up.

For instance, a person who was deficient in spelling was invited to Miss Mae's house for study sessions, and was given lessons on how to use the dictionary. While visiting of course, you would be properly fed. If at any time you came tired of dining hall food and got REAL hungry all you had to do was go to Miss Mae's home behind the home management house. She would get out her waffle iron, beat up the batter, and cook waffles as long as you could eat them. Miss Mae always thrilled over company as long as she was physically able to entertain it.

Miss Mae, they say, had a heart that would warm you on any occasion. Mr. Tully Pennington, an assistant professor of biology, told me about the first time he met Miss Mae. It seems he was a freshman and had gone to the library, which at that time was upstairs in the ad building. (A good place to make dates, he said.) A group of boys got together there and decided to go to girls apartments on back campus and get a date for that night instead of studying. All at once right in the midst of the conversation the whole group scattered — except Mr. Pennington, that is. The next thing he knew he was being lectured by a lady he had never seen before. He didn't have any idea who she was, when she said, "People are still sitting on the benches."

The only known battle Miss Mae lost was, managing the campus life. Any student seen sitting on a bench out on campus during class was called into her office, and she let them know then and there that if any love was made on campus it would have to be made to her. (People are still sitting on the benches.)

Miss Mae took great pride in her apartment and yard. Many afternoons she was seen out moving grass. She loved the out-of-doors and all the wild animals except squirrels. One summer Miss Mae bought some new curtains for her apartment and she was seen out in the yard, hanging them in a chest of drawers in the attic. In the spring when she decided to hang her new curtains, she found that squirrels had gotten into her chest of drawers, and she was seen why her kindly feeling toward squirrels lessened.

Miss Mae's only pet was a road frog. She kept it in a terrarium, and as most frogs do, she liked insects. She fed her pet his favorite meal by sticking pins in dead flies and letting him eat them from the pin.

Mr. Pennington said, "Miss Mae was back of anything for the betterment of GTC"; and as Aunt Sophie said, "She was one of the finest people on campus when I first came here and she stayed fine. So many people don't stay the same."

Before the Saturday night dances Miss Mae saw to it that the girls were taught to dance, and the boys as well as the pretty ones. And — at the dance, she saw to it that every

Dr. Henderson In Much Demand As a Speaker

By ELLEN BRANDON

The president of Georgia Teachers College, Dr. Zach S. Henderson, is a very busy man. He is much in demand as a speaker and represents GTC at many important occasions. A typically busy week may find him in Jacksonville, Fla., during the quarter. During the quarter he teaches Dr. Henderson is forced to turn down many requests, but when he isn't teaching, he does a great deal of traveling in Georgia. Often Mrs. Henderson and his daughter Ann, accompany him on his trips. Mrs. Henderson occasionally performs musical selections on her accordion.

Dr. Henderson speaks to many different kinds of clubs and groups in most of which are of interest to her. Among them are the Boy Scout group, Home Demonstration clubs, Jaycees, YPTA's, clubs on the campus, D.A.R.'s Rotary Clubs, and YMCAs. He also represents GTC at other colleges and on college day programs in high schools over the state. He is very interested in the Cancer Society and makes many talks for them.

He sees many prospective GTC students on his trips and makes personal contact with many through letters sent out from his office. His office is always glad to answer any requests for information about the college.

Dr. Henderson is an active member of the Statesboro Methodist Church and as a Methodist layman makes many talks at various church meetings. He teaches at many training schools held by the churches. His schedule for the quarter is a full one. He plans to teach at training schools in Jacksonville, Florida, in March, and Leesburg, Fla. in April. He will also visit the high schools in these towns. He will attend a meeting of the Cancer Society in February and the GEA in Atlanta in March. He also is scheduled to speak at the Chautauot Rotary Club and the Swainsboro chapter of DAR.

Eleven 4-H'ers named champs

There were 11 senior 4-H Club members named county champions Wednesday night in the annual elimination contest.

Bill Nesmith, the county 4-H Club president, led the way by again winning the public speaking for boys. Miss Jan Fitch, county vice president for the girls, was named public speaking winner for the girls. Miss Peggy Ann Blund, county treasurer, was again honored in improvement winner. Miss Maxine Brunson, county secretary, was dress revue winner for the third time.

Miss Betty Jo Brannen was senior talent and health winner. Miss Judy Nesmith won food preparation. Miss Irene Groover won dual honors in corn meal cookery and frozen foods. Johnny Dekle took tractor maintenance and Miss Bonnie Dekle, cotton and its uses.

These boys and girls will compete for district honors June 18-20 at Rock Eagle. Some 37 southeast Georgia counties are in the district. Our county winners will be named from project work later.

The junior boys and girls, or ones under 14 years of age January 1, will hold their county contest at the Recreation Center on February 22 at the regular play night period for 4-H Club members. These winners will also go to Rock Eagle in June.

The possibility of using milo in the farm program this year was discussed at all three of these meetings. It was pointed out that this grain sorghum could be planted with very little cost, did not take too much cultivation, it would flourish small grains well, and could be harvested with combines. There are a number of advantages to it.

So as they grow older, children should be treated in the same manner. Parents should come to love them — and if the youth feel loved they will respond to it — and where there are the strong ties of love, all problems can be solved. This hasn't come from the pay-icthoretariat but from a mama.

Emory DeLoach named secretary and treasurer at Denmark FB

Emory DeLoach was named secretary and treasurer of the Denmark Farm Bureau Tuesday night to fill a vacancy that existed in that office.

President Lester Waters reviewed the situation as far as membership renewals was concerned and the problems this brought up for serving committees for this year with the entire group.

They voted to have a covered dish supper in March and every other month the rest of the year and to have a "free supper" system the other months. That means, Mr. Waters pointed out, that a covered dish supper would be in order for March, May, September and November and the serving committees would prepare supper April, June, October and December.

Warnock met Wednesday as usual and serving committees named for the year. Mrs. R. P. Mikell had charge of the program of games, which included a guessing game on heart candies and a dressing contest. Carl Bird won the candies and a visitor won the dressing event, heating President Barney Rush on putting on overalls, shirt and jacket, topped off with a fancy hat and cap.

The Sinkhole held its meeting Thursday night with a general discussion of things that come to mind, especially telephone problems.

King Leads For Mon. Assembly Band Concert

Playing the most outstanding works from their recent concert in Washington, Georgia, the GTC concert band will appear in chapel on February 13.

Leading off with George Gershwin's far-famed "Rhapsody in Blue," Jack Brocock, assistant professor of music at GTC will appear as piano soloist with the group. In this piece, Mr. Brocock displays some of the colorful technique that makes audiences enjoy his playing so much.

The band, under Dana M. King, Jr., will then perform one of the most ambitious compositions in its present repertoire, Richard Rodgers' "Victory at Sea." The band will play a special adaptation for concert band taken from the original scoring of the TV production "Victory at Sea."

Turning to a more playful point on the program, the group will play "A Pair" from the "Folker Deck Ballet" by Palango.

The half-hour concert will close with "The Spiritual" from Don Gillis' Symphony No. 5, "The Symphony for Fun". This piece especially brings out the tone quality and balance of instruments which have helped label this year's band as an "improved" one.

PLANS FOR COTTON

Last year cotton was grown on 890,000 acres of Georgia land, and the crop contributed $1,132,269,000 to the state's farm income. This was 33 per cent of the value of all crops produced in Georgia. In an effort to integrate the efforts of all people in Georgia interested in cotton, as well as to plan a state cotton program for 1956, a meeting will be held January 20 at the State 4-H Club Center, Rock Eagle Park, beginning at 11 a. m.
