Good housekeepers

One of the admirable qualities of Statesboro is its cleanliness, its neatness, and the city authorities get a great deal of the credit for that quality.

While the city sleeps huge street sweepers are going about their business of keeping house. Regular garbage collection prevents unsightly islands of ugliness from developing.

And during recent weeks the ripping up of the old cement paving blocks used on the sidewalks of the city has been going on to be replaced with wide expanse of smooth cement walkways.

Underbrush and rotted trees have been cleared out of the several "branch" areas within the city limits.

All this makes for the development of a cleaner, neater community in which it becomes more and more of a pleasure to live.

We commend our city fathers upon their close watch over our housecleaning. It's a sign of progress, it's a sign of good administration.

Buy a broom

So you don't need a new broom! But you'll be buying more than just a new broom. You'll be buying something good for your soul. You'll be buying a satisfaction that goes with helping those less fortunate than you.

Sounds like a riddle? Not at all. For tonight and tomorrow night (May 31 and June 1) the entire membership of the Statesboro Lions Club will be calling at the homes of Statesboro offering new brooms for sale with the proceeds to aid the blind and visually handicapped of Statesboro and Bulloch county. This is an annual project of these Statesboro business and professional men and one worthy of your consideration.

So when a team of Lions ring your doorbell tonight or tomorrow night, invite them in and buy one of their brooms. Not only is the broom worth the price you pay, you can know that what you pay means better sight for those to whom vision is something more than wonderful.

We welcome them

Because we have delayed the welcome, do not mean that we had forgotten—it only indicates that we had some home matters that had to be attended first.

This week we welcome Clyde Hollingsworth and his son, Dixon Hollingsworth, and Phil Buckheit of Spartanburg, S. C., into the fold of Georgia newspaper people.

For you see these people recently purchased the Sylvania Telephone over in our neighboring county, Screven.

We've known the Hollingsworths for a long long time. We know them to be citizens who sincerely desire to serve the community in which they live—which is the goal of every newspaper publisher.

While welcoming the Hollingsworths to First District Newspaper circles, we feel a deep regret upon losing the Norman Chalkers who have been running the Telephone for 13 years. Mr. Chalkers' editorials have always been provocative. He has published a good newspaper for the people of his community and he can leave with the sure knowledge that he leaves a work well done.

We wish for him and the new publishers every success as they go their respective ways.

We say Godspeed

There are many mothers over this section who read the news with a twinge of regret.

"Aunt Sophie ends GTC Career"—the headline read.

To the mothers of sons who will enter the freshman class at our college here "Aunt Sophie" will not be at GTC makes room for some worry on behalf of her son going off to college here.

For the hundreds of boys who entered the freshman class at our college here "Aunt Sophie" was a mother away from home. To the mothers of these hundreds of sons Aunt Sophie represented something more than just the dean of men and house director of a dormitory. "Aunt Sophie" was an angel to look after their sons while away from home and mother.

For twenty three years this fine woman has been a part of the college here. During these years many young men came under her influence to become better citizens in our great state.

We too called her "Aunt Sophie" and we too came under her influence and are the better for it.

And now to her we say "God-speed."

Use more care

During April six wild fires were reported in Bulloch county. These six fires burned over 241 acres of land. In Georgia 957 wild fires burned over 37,126 acres.

Investigations have definitely proven that most of these wild fires are the results of carelessness on the part of persons who use the forest lands of our county.

This wanton destruction of our forest resources is without reason. With summer upon us more and more care must be exercised by those who use and enjoy our forest areas.

In 1955, 2,158,000 persons were injured in motor vehicle accidents.

Speeding on U. S. streets and highways last year killed 12,700 men, women and children.

In 1955, 8,130 pedestrians were killed in U. S. traffic accidents.

In there a trend toward dryness in Bulloch county and Georgia? Records furnished us by Mr. W. C. Cromley, official weather observer of the U. S. Weather Bureau indicate that if there is a trend it has been in effect since 1908, when records on rainfall in Bulloch county begin.

Of the 48 years since 1908, through 1955, the rainfall in 31 years was below the normal of 47.55 inches per year. Only 15 years were the rainfall normal or above. (There are no records for the years of 1948 and 1949.)

In 1908, the first year of the records, there was a good wet year with 59.12 inches of rain. Then followed three years of little rain—1909 with 40.41 inches, 1910 with 41.10 inches, and 1911 with 39.49 inches.

It was in 1912 that the rains came—70.04 inches. Then during 1913 it dried up to only 37.34 inches, 10.21 inches short of normal. In 1914 the clouds dropped 32.28 inches.

The period 1915-1918 the "trend" was to dryness again with 47.17 inches (near normal) in 1915, 39.42 in 1916, 40.21 inches in 1917, and 42.34 inches in 1918.

1919 brought 55.95 inches and 1920, 49.36 inches. The next three years the dry trend was back upon us again with 38.32 inches in 1921, 42.91 in 1922, and 46.37 in 1923. We almost saw normal these years.

In 1924 the rains jumped over normal with 51.81 inches, 47.58 (just over normal in 1925, and 56.59 in 1926. In 1927 it dried up to a mere 36.74 inches, and in 1928 there came a soaker with 63.04 inches to wet the lands good.

RECORD RAINS DURING 1929 It was in 1929 that the clouds really unbanded themselves, and dumped 137.53 inches of rain. It was this year that a month's record was set when 24.34 inches fell in September, and on September 26, 1929, 4.06 inches fell. Then the next day, the deluge—12.75 inches of rain fell the day of September 27, 1929.

Strange sights might have been seen about last Friday when school buses pulled out from the various schools. Teachers who appeared "dignified, sedate and settled" might have been seen racing each other down the halls or jumping up in the air or dancing.

THIS FEELING, mind you, was mutual. Just the mention of vacation to the children drew cheers upon cheers! Then Friday came and passed on or dragged by. There is that feeling on both sides that most of the learning is finished for this year (whether it be conscious or unconscious) when the last week comes, so it is hard on the pupils and teachers alike.

With the passing of Friday the only thing left for the children is the return to school for closing exercises and the report cards!

FOR THE TEACHERS it is a long weekend of completing test papers, compiling, averaging, writing down, yes, those eternal grades. The joy goes out of the teacher when she must (and this is not intended to sound sacrilegious) play the "Almighty" and write down grades by the children's names. It would be so much easier to

Meditation for This Week

By THE REV. J. W. GROOMS

THE FALL OF A NATION—TEXT: "And Zedekiah said that which was evil in the sight of the Lord." 2 Kings 24:25. Zedekiah was the youngest son of King Josiah. He began to reign at the age of 21. He reigned 11 years in Jerusalem, and "did which was evil in the sight of the Lord." Because of this God has sent Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon to take the city of Jerusalem and carry his himself winged into captivity. Jeremiah had counseled Zedekiah to surrender the city, assuring him, by the word of the Lord, that if he would surrender, he would be spared, and that the end would be the burning of the city and the king's death.

BUT THE KING did not listen to God's preacher. How sad! So now commences the afflictions of Zedekiah. His sons were put to death before his eyes, to put an end to his rule. His daughters were carried into captivity. Zedekiah was tried and found guilty of breaking his oath of allegiance to the king of Babylon.

This destruction of Jerusalem and the carrying off of the king and his chosen people, into captivity—yet it was not final. It was God's chastisement. Its purpose was to save the nation, if possible, and as many of its citizens as possible.

A CONSIDERABLE remnant of the poorer people were left on the land to keep it in tillage. Those taken into captivity were told that the punishment would be of limited duration, but they had to pay, and while she has never given birth to a child she has been more than a mother to the thousands who have called her home. "There have been times when sadness filled your life as you watched some young man fall himself but oh how many more times have you seen them grow straight and tall and true, both to themselves and to those who loved them."

"Some of those you loved have long since passed away. Some fell a hero's death on some distant shore and as they fell your name was among the loved ones which passed their life back into the earth from whence it came."

Only God can measure that which you have given here at this college and somehow I know that He is pleased with the way you have used your talents.

"Thank you Aunt Sophie, God bless you for what you mean to me."

Then there was with this a sad disregard of their religious duties. This is serious, so now, and how sad it is! Nothing is more dramatic than the struggle between the prophets and students. Tully, Pennington, biology instructor and one of Aunt Sophie's "boys" gave the main address.

The speech, entitled "Aunt Sophie is a Bird," was a humorous account of some of the experiences Aunt Sophie has had through the years. Using his personal relationship, Mr. Pennington described her as many is evolutionary and in spite of her variety of characteristics there are none we want to change.

At the close of the address Mr. Pennington on behalf of the faculty, presented Aunt Sophie with a white-gold Hamilton watch from the faculty.

Alumni Present Five alumni who once were Aunt Sophie's pride and joy presented her with a bound book of letters written by men who know and love her. They were Palmer Edendell, a Wadley banker; Kenneth England, professor of English at Georgia State; Horace Odom, director of South Georgia Trade School at Americus; Carlton Carruth, a Methodist minister at Metter; and Max Lockwood, Statesboro typographer. In closing he pointed out that Aunt Sophie recreation director.

SERVICES HELD FOR 14-MONTH-OLD VICKIE LYNN WILLIAMS

Funeral services for Vickie Lynn Williams, 14-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Williams, who died Monday morning, May 29, in the Bulloch County Hospital after a brief illness were held Tuesday morning, May 30, at Calvary Baptist Church. The Rev. J. W. Grooms conducted the services, assisted by the Rev. G. W. Greer. Burial was in the Friendship Baptist Church cemetery.

She is survived by her parents; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hodges of Statesboro; and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Williams of Statesboro.

Palbearers were J. Allen Williams, John M. Hendrix, Johnnie Kirby and Billy Freeman. Smith-Tilman was in charge of the arrangements.

It Seems to Me...

By Max Lockwood

There are some things in life which are created in eternal goodness. There are some things in life which having been so conceived will endure for all eternity. Of such things was so created and in like manner has she lived her life.

She is a great and wonderful woman. She has given her life, the greater portion of it, to less than the words which I name. All over this great country of ours this day there are men and women who give tribute to this great and beautiful woman. As I pause with them I would have these words to say:

"AUNT SOPHIE JOHNSON: To know you is to love you. This is a simple statement of it. It is one which is shared by the many hundreds who have found it to be more than true. "I hope you can find it in your heart to forgive me for being sad on this occasion. "I hope you will forgive me for being selfish enough to want you to continue on the task. "How much I wish that I could reach into my heart and bring forth the words which I would like to say to you. Much happiness would be mine if only my heart could speak to express to you my love, my appreciation for all you have meant to me, to those who come before me and for those who continue yet to come. "There have been times when sadness filled your life as you watched some young man fall himself but oh how many more times have you seen them grow straight and tall and true, both to themselves and to those who loved them."

"Some of those you loved have long since passed away. Some fell a hero's death on some distant shore and as they fell your name was among the loved ones which passed their life back into the earth from whence it came."

Young men are urged to join National Guard

The importance of basic training for a young man in the National Guard was emphasized in a statement today by Lt. Col. B. A. (Snag) Johnson, officer of the 101st AAA Battalion of the Georgia National Guard, in which he urged young men of Statesboro and Bulloch County to join the National Guard and take the six months of basic training with the active Army provided by the Reserve Forces Act of 1955.

A man who enlists in the National Guard before he is 18 1/2 years old will be deferred from induction into federal service until age 28 so long as he performs satisfactory guard service and he is not required to take active duty training. However, he may volunteer for the six months of basic training and thus reduce the time he must serve in the National Guard from "until age 28" to a total of eight years of service.

What this means, Col. Johnson explained is that a young man who enlists when he is 17 years old will finish his period of reserve military service at age 25. In other words, Col. Johnson stated, this young man can chop three years off his total military obligation.

With an increase of interest in the development of a strong reserve force to back up the active Army, Navy and Air Force, it is important that young men of this community and their parents be fully informed on how a young man may volunteer for such service in the National Guard, the unit commander declared.

Col. Johnson continued, "By enlisting in the National Guard a young man can plan his future, whether it be in school or in business, and he can reduce his period of required military service to the minimum by taking the six months active duty training. A young man with his eyes on the future not only wants to know where he is going, but for how many years he may have a military obligation."

"The six months training is an adventure to a young high school graduate who might want a taste of Army life, but not want to sign up for a full enlistment. He can fit the period in between the time of graduation and the time he settles into a job. The training will round off his high school education with a period in which he will receive training in how to live with other young men and how to take care of himself under field conditions. It will give him training in leadership and in the later phases, he will receive technical training that could be helpful to him in civilian life."

"Upon completion of the six months of training, which is given at a number of army training centers, a National Guardsman returns to his local National Guard unit to complete seven and a half years of guard training. This consists of a weekly training period in the way, and further information is available for interested young men."

Col. Johnson said the local army at the air port is open daily and further information is available for interested young men.

DeMolay honors Cherry Newton

The Ogeechee chapter of the Order of De Molay honored Miss Cherry Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Newton of Statesboro, and her runners-up for the title of chapter sweetheart at a lovely party given at the Statesboro Community Center last Saturday, May 19.

Runners-up for the chapter title were Misses Ann McDougal, Penny Rimes, Ardella Rushing, Maxine Brunson, and Bonnie Woodcock. The chapter sweetheart and her court were elected at a recent meeting of the Ogeechee chapter, and the occasion marks the beginning of an annual custom with DeMolay chapters throughout the world.

Miss Newton was crowned in an impressive ceremony followed by a regular ceremony performed at all DeMolay meetings, by Dennis DeLoach, deputy commander of the Ogeechee chapter. The sweetheart and her court were conducted to the center of the room by their escorts where they received their acclaim in front of a giant heart surrounded with colorful floral decorations prepared by Mrs. Bill Holloway. Decorations and other arrangements for the ball were handled by committees from the Mother's Circle under the direction of Mrs. Gladys DeLoach, president. The theme of the decorations followed the hearts and flowers motif.

JUNE ALLYSON starring in "YOU CAN'T RUN AWAY FROM IT" produced and directed by DICK POWELL

Take a tip from the Dick Powells...

...take a trip with Samsonite Streamline. You'll find as the Powells have—Samsonite is the strongest and smartest! In fact, it's strong enough to stand on. More, its "better-than-leather" finish resists scuffing and wipes clean with a damp cloth. Its special tongue-in-groove closures seal out dust and dampness. Its sleek non-tarnishing draw-balls work like a charm—never jam shut, never fly open accidentally.

And, like June Allyson, you'll love the high-fashion Samsonite finishes. There's Admiral Blue, Bermuda Green, Rayvish Finish, Colorado Brown, Saddle Tan, Alligator, and London Grey. Take your choice—they're all choice!

Byron Dyer receives highest award in U.S. agriculture field

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A Georgia county agent Tuesday received one of the highest honors the U. S. Department of Agriculture can bestow upon its employees. He is Byron Dyer of Bulloch county.

Dyer was presented the department's Superior Service Award in ceremonies at the Sylvan Theatre on the Washington Monument grounds here. He was one of 22 federal, state, and county agricultural Extension Service workers so honored.

County agent at Statesboro since 1932, Dyer was cited "for cooperative plan agricultural programs, then to use improved practices in executing the programs, with the result that the agriculture of Bulloch county is unusually effective."

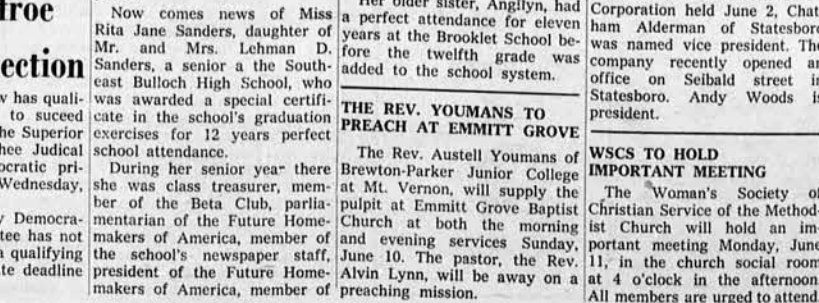

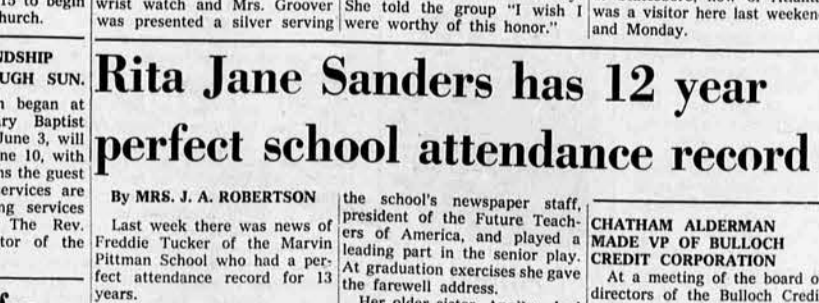

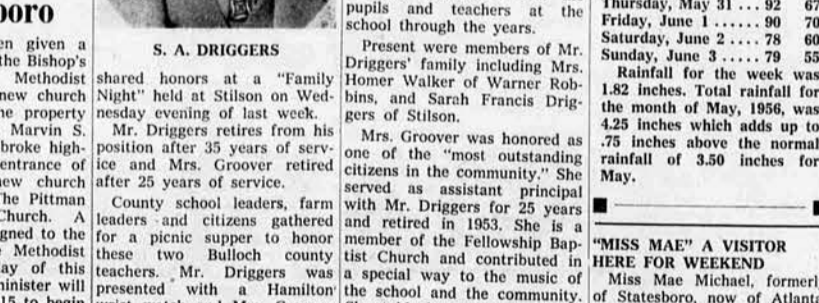

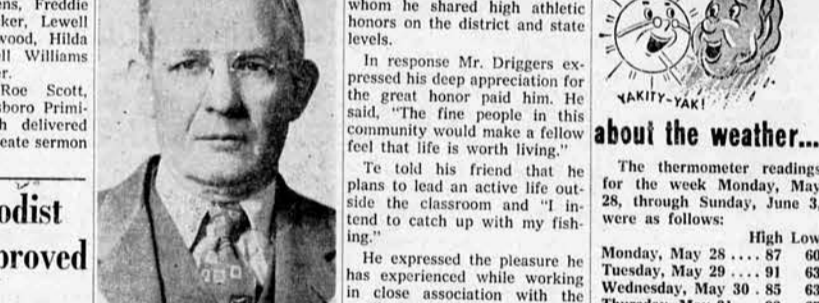

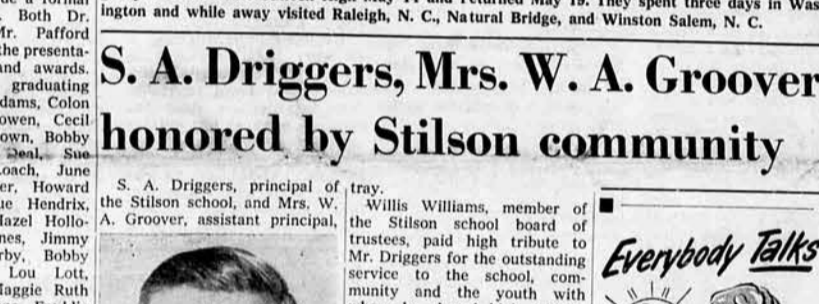

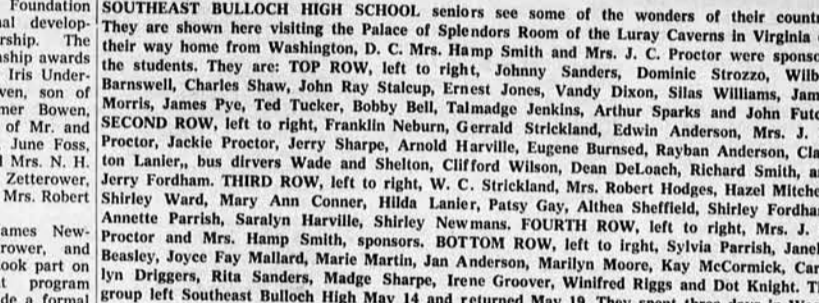

Bob Thompson of Radio Station WWSN was master of ceremonies and presented Mr. Groover a gift on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce and then a few moments later received a gift himself.

Mrs. Jackie Rowell, executive secretary of the organization, R. Lanier, southeast district agent for the College of Agriculture Extension Service, University of Georgia.

Announcement was also made at the ceremony today that the Whitfield county Extension staff has been chosen for the award. Made up of County Agent H. B. Scoggins, Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Ruth L. Wilson, and assistants J. C. Mahaffey, C. H. Herring, and Miss Kate Callaway, and Miss Ava Rodgers, the group is one of the two county units throughout the country to receive the recognition.

Presentation of the award to the Whitfield counties will be made at Dalton on a date to be announced by W. A. Sutton, director of the Agricultural Extension Service, and S. G. Chandler, North Georgia district agent.

The Rev. Wood, a graduate of Davidson College and has held pastorate at the churches of Barnesville, LaVonia, and Hebron in the Presbyterian Church of Statesboro. The Rev. Miles C. Wood Jr. began his ministry at the church here on Sunday morning, June 10. At a later date he will be formally installed by a commission of the Savannah Presbytery.

School board reviews progress since 1950

With overcrowded conditions already existing and the condition becoming more and more acute in the Statesboro High School and elementary schools in the county the Bulloch County Board of Education felt that a survey of the county's school needs should be made.

The decision to ask for a survey was made at the board meeting on April 3, and the survey was made by Dr. Joe Williams of the University of Georgia; Dr. J. D. Park of the Georgia Teachers College; Knapp Bodiford, superintendent of Screven county school; G. N. Baker, Georgia State Department of Education; Oscar Jolley, State Department of Education; C. W. McGuffey, State Department of Education; Robert L. Cousins, State Department of Education, in charge of Negro education.

According to J. H. Wyatt, chairman of the county school board, this group spent three days in an intensive study of the school plants and situation in the county.

In announcing the request for the school survey the board members reviewed the progress made in the county since a similar survey was made in 1950, when the following recommendations were made:

The merging of the Statesboro city school system and the county school system, the consolidation of Leffield with Brooklet and Stilson elementary schools, the building of a new high school at Brooklet or near to receive the recognition. High and Statesboro high schools, West Side elementary school, Stilson and Nevils high school, Brooklet, Stilson, Nevils, Milledgeville and Register elementary schools to be maintained in their present locations, the Warnock school to be consolidated with the Laboratory School. Part to be maintained as a permanent elementary and high school center. The Register High School to be consolidated with the Lab High and Statesboro high schools, West Side elementary and high school to be consolidated with the Statesboro elementary and high schools.

"Willie Wrethand" Says

GEORGIA IS BLESSED!

Settlement of the disposition of Clark Hill power opens the way for a new source of electrical energy for the state of Georgia. Clark Hill is one of the largest hydroelectric installations in the Southeast.

The people of Georgia are richly blessed with electric power potential. Buford Dam is almost completed, Lake Lanier is filling, and electric power will soon be generated here, too.

Other projects soon to come into production of electrical energy also, are Hartwell, Fort Gaines and the Jim Woodruff Dam. Georgia's mighty rivers are being harnessed to bring more wonders for the people.

Georgia's 41 Rural Electric Cooperatives have long recognized that our state has the natural resources and rivers to produce an abundance of low-cost electric power to all consumers. They have always supported construction of the facilities on our great rivers which would mean economical electric power for the citizenship.

For 21 years now, the Rural Electric Cooperative of our state have promoted low-cost electricity for the home, farm and industries of Georgia.
