This Thanksgiving

TODAY'S the Thanksgiving. We owe our Independence Day our first Thanksgiving, and our right to use the name "Thanksgiving" for the first Thanksgiving. We should all today pledge ourselves to do for others what the first Thanksgiving was designed to do for all.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

THE EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BULLOCH HERALD is allowed to express its views on matters of public interest, and in doing so, it may occasionally upset some readers. This is not intended to be offensive, but rather to encourage thoughtful discussion.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concern about the increasing amount of litter on our streets. As a community, we should all be responsible for keeping our environment clean. I would like to see more education on the importance of litter prevention.

Sincerely,

ROCKWELL TRAINING PROGRAM

To meet present and future needs for better qualified personnel to operate plants in the United States, Rockwell is entering an area where it expects to have a program, to be called the Plant Engineering Department of our company. The company will be responsible for training engineers in the field of plant design and engineering.

On the job training will be given at the plant in the engineering department of any of the manufacturing departments. Five days a week, formal classes will be given in each area of Georgia Technical College by Mr. Donald Hefley. He will also be responsible for teaching the course in plant design and engineering, which comprises such subjects as shop work, shop theory, drafting, mathematics, and economics. Additional instruction will be provided by the methods commonly used by the company.

In addition, an excellent wage will be paid for the part-time job. This program is designed for students who are interested in the engineering field and who wish to receive a formal education in the field.

Rockwell is an Equal Opportunity Employer and welcomes all qualified applicants.
