A Verse For This Week

Chance and change are busy ever;
Man decays, and ages move;
But His merry wench never;
God is wisdom, God is love. —Browning.

The Dream Can Come True

It's a big, drafty building. It's on a back street. It's hard to heat in the winter, and hard to keep cool in the summertime. But it could be made into an ideal home for the veterans who make up the membership of the Dexter Allen Post of the American Legion.

The "Old Army" as it is known to the people of Statesboro and Bulloch county is being sought by the Legionnaires of Bulloch county to be made into a permanent meeting center.

For years the veterans here have been dreaming of a home with that vision before them they have raised approximately $12,000. That money was contributed by combat veterans while they were still in combat zones, by the people of Bulloch county, mothers and fathers, wives and sisters of veterans of both wars.

Now more than 400 veterans are members of the local Post. They want and need a place to meet—a place to call their own.

And now comes an opportunity to realize their dream. At a meeting of the Post last Thursday night a resolution was presented and adopted, requesting that the Military Association of Bulloch county convey, by deed of gift, the Statesboro Army building subject to any indebtedness against it which is understood to be in the approximate sum of $5,000.00; and that if said request is granted the officers of the Post or custodian of the building fund, be authorized to retire the indebtedness against the Army and use all or any part of the remained said building fund or any other fund on hand to remodel and equip said building to the end that it will be most desirable as a permanent home.

The "Old Army" is owned by the members of the old National Guard unit who called themselves the "Bulloch Military Association of Bulloch County."

And now comes the American Legion with a proposal that if accepted will bring about the realization of the dream of many years.

We can think of no more fitting and worthwhile use for the "Old Army." It could become a living memorial center for the veterans of Statesboro and Bulloch County.

That is the way "Tater" put it. Statesboro has withered with negroes all his life and "I've never had trouble with them. They deserve justice—they eat, sleep, pray, raise youngins, work, pray, attend to the same feelings that we do.

Many years ago "Tater" worked in Columbia, South America. He poured concrete in one of the biggest docks in that country. There was a time when he made his cash with which he made his start in Bulloch county.

THERE'S NEWS this week on the hose situation. From Washington comes an announcement that silk stockings will be on the market next week, but they will be very expensive. Japanese silk is again beginning to flow into the country and hosiery makers expect that probably 5,000 bales of silk will be sold by the end of this month and 40,000 bales by the end of the year. Another news item is that the OPA has fixed the retail price ceiling of 95 cent a pair for 162,000 pair of women's new rayon stockings declared surplus by the armed forces. They

IF THERE IS A MAN in Georgia more anti-Talmadge than "Tater" Tucker, then that man is still to be found. And "Tater" makes no bones about his feelings for Talmadge, nor is he timid in expressing his dislike for the "Gal-lus-Snapper."

"Tater" wants to know one thing. What's Mr. Talmadge going to do when the Day of Judgment comes and we all stand before the Maker. He says, "You reckon when Talmadge sees some negroes over on this side, will he shout, 'come here you nigger—shine mah shoes, 'ere you gittin' my missy and sees she darn mah wife's stockings'."

Some objection has been raised because the United Nations Security Council's meetings are not opened with prayer. It is understandable why this formality is omitted. All people of the world do not pray in the same fashion, nor even to the same God. One type of public prayer might be offensive to those of another faith. But there is no bar to individual prayer. Each may invoke divine guidance in his own way. Moreover, it is not the United Nations organization—evidence of a world desire for peace—in itself a prayer?

Good Books Are True Friends

In the best books great men talk to us, giving us their most precious thoughts, and pour their souls into ours—C. S. Lewis.

A book that everybody is talking about is THE SNAKE PIT by Mary Jane Ward (Random). The book of the month club chose it as a consolation for April.

A new Elizabeth Seiferl novel on medicine is OLD DOC (Dodd). The major part of the income from feeding cattle is from the actual sale of the finished steers.

A book of non-fiction along the same line is DOCTORS OF THE MIND by Marie Ray (Little Brown). Today the physicians of sick minds offer their patients as good a chance of recovery as do the physicians of sick bodies.

THE HORIZONTAL MAN, by Helen Eustice (Harper) is quite a tale of murder—a psychological novel one face to face in the draft. The New York Times Book Review said, "Here is a book you will read and those who have not seen the picture will find the Gros set & Dunlap Film Classic novel and those who have seen the picture will enjoy the retelling of this memorable story in the film class."

Having an ambition to be of service to the people of the county and feeling that I am qualified to fill the position, I hereby announce for one of the places in the General Assembly of Georgia, subject to the rules and regulations of the Democratic Primary, the place now held by Mr. L. M. Mallard. I shall not have the time to see each voter personally, but will appreciate the vote and support of everybody.

J. BRANTLEY JOHNSON JR.

TO THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY:
I hereby announce my candidacy for Representative in the coming primary, to succeed myself, after having served one term, and experience gained, I feel as though I am better qualified to represent the County than before.

DR. DEAL ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY
At the urgent and continued request of many of Bulloch County citizens I again offer myself as a candidate for the office of representative of Bulloch County in the General Assembly of Georgia subject to the rules and regulations of the Democratic Primary.
My candidacy to fill the place recently made vacant by the Hon. Hoke S. Brunson.

A WORD TO THE PEOPLE
I deeply appreciate the confidence you have shown in me as a representative of the people in the past and my candidacy now stands on my record of service as the representative of the people of Bulloch County and as Senator, representing the people of the 49th Senatorial district.
At the present time there are problems of grave importance before the General Assembly of Georgia, and the experience of service there is of inestimable value in the fight to retain the rights of the people.
It requires years to learn the political "lay of the land" and a thorough acquaintance with the attitudes and intentions of the powerful interests that are ever present.
Through my period of service I have fought steadfastly to keep the rights—even the small rights—of the people within their own hands.
People will do well to retain their rights. The watch dog attitude within our law making bodies is frightful necessary at this time. Too many of our rights have already gone the way of bureau cracy and more will go unless you send men to represent you that can and will fight for you.

TO THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY:
I hereby announce my candidacy for Representative in the coming primary, to succeed myself, after having served one term, and experience gained, I feel as though I am better qualified to represent the County than before.
If elected, I promise to do my best for my County and State.
Respectfully,
L. M. MALLARD

DR. LYON ADDRESSES SWAINSBORO KIWANIS
"Indications of Draft Rejections for Civic and Educational Guidance" was the subject discussed by Dr. Ralph M. Lyon, Teachers College director of research, at a meeting of the Swainssboro Kiwanis Club Tuesday evening of last week.
Based on statistics compiled from induction examinations of the first 100,000 men, Dr. Lyon said that more rejections were made for defects that were highly correctible. Figures for the entire United States were studied with special emphasis on those of Georgia inductions and rejections. In view of past experiences Dr. Lyon discussed the role of the civic and educational agencies in the correction of these defects.

It has come and gone, and with it thousands more of our fine young men of America. I have never relinquished for one instance the fight for self-respecting rights for our young veterans, who went to battle from in foreign fields to defend the "American Way of Life."

I have "gone to bat" for them in all the legislation passed in the Georgia General Assembly in the past four years and the people fight for them whenever and wherever their welfare is at stake so long as I live and where I can pull for them.

I stood directly for the legislation that secured for Bulloch county 28,000.00 more funds for the county's financial program than it has ever had before. I have fought steadfastly for the schools of the state, for I believe that only through the education of our youth can Georgia become truly great. I believe that the schools of the state should be the centers of community life and that the voice of the people should be the controlling voice in school affairs.

For every problem confronted in the General Assembly, I have acted truly as your representative, not as an individual.
I feel that I can serve you to your advantage and to your satisfaction.
I shall feel greatly honored for you to express your confidence in me by sending me to the General Assembly as your representative in the coming election.
Respectfully,
D. L. DEAL, M.D.

FOOD NOTE
A quarterly meeting of the Georgia Nutrition Council is scheduled for Athens, June 18 to 20, according to an announcement this week by Miss Larline Collier, chairman of the committee and State home demonstration agent. Assisting in the emergency food program, the nutrition committee is urging all State homemakers to save what an odd, use non-critical alternate foods, produce all food possible and t buy foods wisely.

GARDEN VALUES
Nutritionists agree that gardens tend to improve eating habits by increasing consumption of vegetables. It has been proved by numerous studies that people who raise their own almost always eat more vegetables than people who don't, according to agricultural leaders. People who raise gardens say they eat more vegetables than they did before they had a garden. A child who does not like vegetables will probably eat those he helped to raise.
There is no question that gardens tend to improve eating habits by increasing consumption of vegetables.

FORESTRY SCHOLARSHIPS Georgia 4-H club boys who have carried out forestry projects as a part of club activities and who are interested in taking up forestry as a career are eligible to compete for two scholarships to the Univer- sity of Georgia School of Forestry, according to State 4-H club offi- cials. Each scholarship will be for a four-year course. Local county agents have complete details con- cerning the contest.

Supply of poles is at present one of the bottlenecks in rural citi- zation, according to REA offi- cials. REA cooperatives are find- ing it hard to buy poles and get them treated with preservative chemicals needed to make them last. For the next five years, the REA estimates that local coopera-tives will need about 3,000,000 poles each year. After this period of most active extension, the estimate is that the co-ops will need to continue buying nearly as many poles (about 2,500,000 a year in the 50's)—mainly for replacements. REA does not buy poles. But it is in- terested in seeing that borrowers are able to buy their supplies as needed and at reasonable prices.

FOOD PER DAY The average American gets about 3,360 calories of food each day, the Extension service discloses. The average European now receives less than 2,000 calories each day.

LESPEDEZA HISTORY Lespedeza, which is now recog- nized as one of the Nation's great- est soil building legumes, was first noted as a "harmless weed" about 100 years ago, the Extension Ser- vice reveals.

Following the spray ac'dequate with recommended materials pro- vided profitable to Bulloch county to- bacco growers this year.

Farmers that sprayed and cared for their beds during the epid- emic of blue mold had ample plants to set their acreage on time. Those that did not spray in most cases, did not have plants or they were late.

In the Sinkhole community 10 percent of the fellows that sprayed had plants on schedule, and in most cases had considerable plants to sell. In fact they sold so many plants this spring, that they jok- ingly referred to the matter as hav- ing already sold a large part of their tobacco crop. At the present time, it shows very conclu- sively they had plants early.

Those men used formate as per the experiment station recom- mendation.

R. T. DeWitt, director of men's physical education at the Teachers College, announced today that the college swimming pool will be closed to the public until the be- ginning of summer school. This has been necessitated because of the heavy schedule of intercollegiate swimming being conducted among Witt and Miss Edith Gull.
