A Verse For This Week

If you lend a person any money, it becomes lost for any purpose as one's own. When you ask for it back again, you may find a friend made an enemy by your kindness. If you begin to press still further, either you must part with that which you have intrusted, or else you must lose that friend. —Plautus.

We Wanted to Sit Down

We wanted to sit down. But there was no place to sit. We wanted to see the football game. But the game was in front of us. But many people were standing in front of us. This is a common complaint on Friday nights at home-game football games when the Statesboro High School plays a visiting team on the local gridiron.

There are few seats and they do not look too substantial. A loyal supporter of the High School Blue Devils likes to attend all the home games. It is a compliment to the team that large crowds do turn out to see them play. But something should be done. There is space near the high school to build a lighted field. The team for years has drawn crowds large enough to warrant the school planning and building a lighted field with stands large enough to seat the average attendance. But we can't see that it's best. And the place is near the school. Other schools have done it. From every angle it would be better than spending more money on the present field.

The football boys want the field near their school and gym. Practice would be more effective. They would be near their showers, an dressing room, on game days and nights players would be more comfortable at half time. Visiting players would appreciate it.

In Case of Fire

We are now in the middle of "Fire Prevention Week." According to the records of the National Board of Fire Underwriters over a five-year period the big majority of fires occur in residences or places where people live—home fires.

Approximately three out of four fires, of known causes, are due to carelessness of the person in charge of the premises. Careless use of matches and smoking are found to cause more fires than any other known cause. Defective electric wiring and appliances, or misuse of a fan's greatest servant, electricity, is the next greatest cause of fires. Lack of care, inattention and carelessness in use of cooking and heating stoves, run third; and carelessness with kerosene lamps, candles, and open lights of all kinds; kerosene stoves and misuse of gasoline and other inflammable liquids for cleaning and other dangerous purposes is fourth.

Fire Chief Hagan makes the following suggestions on what to do in case of fire.
First he suggests that all home day in your home.

Hall to the Georgia 4-H Health Champion—Jack Brannen! Jack Brannen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus G. (Doo) Brannen, was selected as the healthiest 4-H Club boy in the state of Georgia. Sharing honors with him is Eliza Marie Johnson, age 15, Savannah who was selected as the healthiest 4-H girl in the state. Young Brannen, age sixteen, says he drinks "quarts and quarts of milk and stays out in the open a lot."

Convenient arrangement of kitchen drawers will save time and energy in locating kitchen items when needed. Even in kitchen drawers, little improvement add to great convenience.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

The Almanac Says the Weather This Week On...

THURSDAY, October 10, will be unsettled. Fishing no good.
FRIDAY, October 11, will be unsettled and stormy. Fishing no good.
SATURDAY, October 12, will be unsettled and rainy. Fishing bad.
SUNDAY, October 13, will be rainy. Fishing still no good.
MONDAY, October 14, will be unsettled. Fishing bad.
TUESDAY, October 15, will be unsettled and rainy. No fishing.
WEDNESDAY, October 16, will be just like yesterday.

... But Don't Blame Us If the Almanac Is Wrong!

... 30 days hath September, April, May and November... No! That's not right... let's start over... "30 days hath November, June, July and December..." Oh well, where's a calendar? Ever try to figure out the months with 31 days and the months with 30 days, using that little diary?
Then you have the same trouble we have. We not only cannot remember what months have how many days, but we can't even remember the little diary that is supposed to remind us.
All of which brings us to the point of this week's Uneasy Chair. In a recent issue of Collier's, a magazine of national distribution, a young man named Willard E. Edwards, presents a calendar which is so simple that we are sure it will never be accepted for general use.

First of the calendar should appear to the superintendent of schools. If there would be no FRIDAY, THE THIRTEENTH!
For those who wake up on January 1, after New Year's Eve, the new calendar would be a life saver for those who NEW YEAR'S DAY—well now there is a New Year's Day, but it isn't January 1st. It's a holiday, it's always a holiday. But then, with Leap Year birthdays... they can celebrate birthdays like their friends—for your family knows how many days there is no LEAP YEAR. In leap years a second day apart, called, amazingly enough, Leap Year Day, is observed.

BREEDERS TRYING TO FIND FASTER GROWING CHICKENS
Chickens that grow faster on less feed may soon be a possibility if poultry breeders and hatcheries competing in the Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest are successful. Arthur Gannon, poultryman of the Georgia Extension Service, declared this week.
The breeders are trying to develop meatier chickens that will grow faster on less feed, and 17 of the 18 Georgia entries are from the north Georgia broiler areas. Breeds represented include New Hampshire, Barred Plymouth Rocks, New Hampshire-Barred Rock cross and White Rock-Barred Rock cross.

Each entry of 50 to 200 chicks is brooded out separately for a period of 12 weeks. During the first week in December each contestant will select 15 cockerels for shipment to Gainesville for killing and dressing. The dressed birds will be judged on meat qualities. The contest will be repeated each year for three years. A large prize will be awarded to the National winner the final year.

NEW EQUIPMENT
Farm people are eager to buy new farm and home equipment that is coming on the market. Careful study should be made before purchasing new equipment for the farm and home.

CLOTHING COSTS
It will take careful planning to keep family clothing costs down this year. Increased clothing costs will push the family budget higher unless something is done to combat these increased costs.

VETERANS CORNER

The right of veterans to obtain guarantee or insurance of loans is to continue for 10 years after the officially declared termination of World War II. No veteran should use the right until he is convinced he has a good buy, advises the Veterans Administration.

Further, the veteran should use only so much of the guaranty or insurance benefit as is necessary to obtain the loan he wishes. The loan guaranty provision of the GI Bill is a valuable asset. Don't squander it.

A loan guaranteed or insured is not a gift. The money must be repaid. The veteran should take proper precaution to make sure that the loan will be a benefit and not a burden to him.

Some of the most frequently asked questions about veterans loans follow:

Q. Can a veteran get a guaranteed loan under the provisions of the amended Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 to pay off a debt in good standing?
A. Yes. A veteran can get a guaranteed loan to pay off a debt that is past due.

Q. Can a veteran get a guaranteed loan to pay off a debt that is past due?
A. Yes, under certain conditions. For full information see your lender.

Q. What papers should a veteran take to the lender when he goes to apply for a loan?
A. Original discharge papers and their beautiful and successful mother, the author has created an absorbing situation of conflicting desires.

This is how A. Milne describes his new book, CHLOE MARR (E. P. Dutton): "A portrait of a gay, young woman in a year between the wars, done from the outside, so that the reader must form his own judgment of her: so do her friends in this book, and all of us of each other in real life. Of her friends the reader will learn something from the inside, which may enable him to know them better, and so to see Chloe more clearly through their eyes. If in the end, she still remains something of a mystery, he should not be surprised; for every human is a mystery, and nobody knows the truth about anybody else. This, however, does not prevent us from enjoying the company of a beautiful woman of the conversation of an amusing friend, wherever such is to be found." The publishers have added: "This is the story of Chloe Marr, beautiful, desirable and elusive—of the men who are in all her life. Never quite in love, but always in the heart of things, never first with love with her. The scene is London and Mr. Milne's characters move with elegance and grace through Mayfair and the publishing and theatrical worlds. USE YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY. PHONE 488."

GOOD BOOKS ARE TRUE FRIENDS
In the best books great men talk to us, giving us their most precious thoughts, and pour their souls into ours—Charles Sumner.

FICTION GUIDE TO NEW BOOKS RECEIVED
NURSE BARLOW by Lucy Agnes Hancock (Macrae-Smith) Disillusioned by the faithlessness of her fiancé, Natalie Barlow, a beautiful young nurse, breaks her engagement, resolving that men will have no place in her life. But her beauty and charm as well as her outstanding ability in her chosen field, attract men to her. Soon her life is complicated by the ardent attentions of the doctors with whom she works, and of handsome Eben Stark, member of a wealthy family, and by the return of her former fiancé, from overseas wounded and repentant. An entertaining story of the heartaches and triumphs of Nurse Barlow against a background of hospital intrigue.

TOMORROW WILL BE FAIR by Rosamond Dalardin (Macrae-Smith) is another light romantic story featuring the lives of two sisters. It seemed to Sherry that she had always been an outsider. Marr, beautiful, desirable and elusive—all her life. Never quite in love, but always in the heart of things, never first with love with her. The scene is London and Mr. Milne's characters move with elegance and grace through Mayfair and the publishing and theatrical worlds. USE YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY. PHONE 488.

SIX TONS OF DISHES WASHED IN AVERAGE HOME ANNUALLY

Accelerated Salvaging of Household Fat Makes Possible Present Supplies of Soap for This and Other Household Chores
It has been calculated that every American housewife discards approximately six tons of dishes every year! Add up the accumulation from 365 breakfasts, luncheons, dinners and in-between snacks and the total would fill six trucks, experts say. Staggering as the task of washing six tons of dishes sounds, imagine how much more impossible the job would be without soap! The prospect of a soap-less life is not on the horizon, however, as long as housewives keep up their present rate of salvaging fat.
Department of Agriculture authorities point out that if it had not been for salvaged fat in 1945 housewives would have had 13 percent less soap. Even so there are not enough industrial fats and oils available to meet the demand for soap and other goods the public wants.
Help Yourself
Every time you turn in a pound of fat to your meat dealer you are actually helping yourself and your neighbors by relieving the shortage of soap but also of scarce items like table linen, draperies and floor coverings, even possibly some more nylon.
Food experts too are urging fat conservation! Use and reuse every drop and ounce of beef, bacon and even lamb fat when you're cooking, they say. Then, when you've had all the food value of your fat, turn in the drippings and scrapings for salvage.
The 800,000,000 people starving in Europe and Asia are scavenging in garbage cans for great quantities of fat. Fats are scarce everywhere. We, as a nation, must be careful not to waste material which if properly used would save human lives in some other country.

The City Manager Plan

Editor's Note—This is one of a series of informative articles on the "Council-Manager" plan of city government being promoted by the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce.

THE WEAK MAYOR PLAN
Under it there was elected a council elected by wards, usually under a large council. Then there was an elected mayor, a treasurer, a city attorney, and other officers. Sometimes separate boards were elected for good measure to do this, that, or the other—they usually did the other.

A few cities of this type still exist though one very bad feature is the least efficient method of municipal government and usually is completely controlled by politicians. Log-rolling between wards is rife and it is impossible to know who to hold responsible for a city or to keep track of every elected official or to elect a man to hold office.

The mayor and other executives have political debts to pay after election and use their appointive power to pay them. For a man almost disappeared for it is truly a thing of mags and tangles, this form has been largely superseded by the form known as:

THE STRONG MAYOR PLAN
The mayor is the dominant figure. He has practically all the appointive power and confirmation.

This was put into operation as an emergency measure in Galveston, Texas, in 1900, which suffered from a tidal wave. It is of interest that, strictly speaking, there is nothing in this form of government which resembles that prime necessity of a democratic government—a representative body.

The plan is very much more satisfactory than the weak mayor plan and if a capable man can be elected to run and can then be elected the plan succeeds fairly well. The difficulty is in persuading men of real executive ability to run. Such men are not as a rule good "campaigners." Besides, they know they have a short term and cannot be sure they will have time to work out a policy thoroughly. Rarely does even a good executive if he gets into the office find him self perfectly free to make appointments solely on the grounds of efficiency—politics hampers him.

The five really first-class men who have overcome all the handicaps are so few and far between that we can safely say that when it does work well it is an accident and not because the plan can usually be depended on to work out well.

If the mayor and the council find themselves at loggerheads a situation arises known as the "deadlock." This furnishes the opportunity for the political machine to work out a deal.

All the members of which are almost disappeared for it is truly a thing of mags and tangles, this form has been largely superseded by the form known as:

THE BULLOCH HERALD, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1946

OF SAID COUNTY.

The petition of Stothard Deal, W. E. Jones, F. C. Parker, Jr., Maurice Brammen and A. W. Stockdale, each of the County of Bulloch and State of Georgia, respectfully sheweth—

That the petitioners desire to obtain a charter for a private corporation, the object of which is pecuniary gain or profit and hereby pray the petitioners be and they are hereby created for a term of thirty-five (35) years, with its principal office in Bulloch County, Georgia, and the privilege of operating branch offices elsewhere in said State, and with authority to issue one hundred shares of capital stock of the par value of fifty dollars ($50.00) each, and to carry on the business set out in said petition and to exercise and enjoy all the rights and powers given to like corporations by the laws of this State now existing or hereafter enacted.

The amount of capital with which said corporation will begin business is twenty thousand ($20,000.00) dollars, ten per cent being paid in, for which it is proposed that stock be issued in the same amount, in shares to-wit: One hundred ($100.00) each, and two hundred (200) shares of the par value of fifty ($50.00) each, but authorized stock of the total amount of capital stock from time to time.

3. The Post Office address of said business will be in Statesboro Bulloch County, Georgia, under the name of STATHESBORO ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION, INC., having been presented to me in vacation, and it appearing that same is legitimately within the purview of the laws of this State, it is hereby ordered and adjudged that said petition be granted, and that said corporation be and is hereby created, for a term of thirty-five (35) years, with its principal office in Bulloch County, Georgia, and the privilege of operating branch offices elsewhere in said State, and with authority to issue one hundred shares of capital stock of the par value of fifty dollars ($50.00) each, and to carry on the business set out in said petition and to exercise and enjoy all the rights and powers given to like corporations by the laws of this State now existing or hereafter enacted.

At Chambers, this 1st day of October, 1946.

J. L. Renfroe,
Judge of the Superior Court, Bulloch County, Georgia.

WASH DAY PROCEDURE
Careful planning will help save time and energy on wash days, home management specialists of the Extension Service point out. One-dish dinners served on wash day will save time and yet provide satisfying food. Every member of the family can do odd jobs in the home to take part of the load off the housemaker.

Use of paradichlorobenzene or ethylene dichloride is recommended for effective control of the peach tree borer. Peach tree borers do widespread damage to the base and roots of peach trees.

QUIET DIGNITY
Those who attend services here never fail to remark on the serenity which results from the quiet dignity and smooth efficiency with which we carry out every funeral plan.
