Carnival Spirit Prevails At Bulloch Birthday Party

This is no attempt to evaluate the Bulloch County Sesqui-Centennial held here last week. His-Jane quite heartily revelled in the crowds that thronged the scene of festivities, and exhibits; the carnival spirit that prevailed, the gay abandon that is possible only when folk cast cares and problems to the four winds and surrender to the charm of by-gone-days.

The sun hit Jane smack in the face Friday morning with the order to "Get up, Get out of Bed," and as the percolator perked and the toaster toasted, a small radio, the hastily plugged in on top of the stove, set right at 1490 on the dial brought the call letters "W WNS" and coffee and toast were forgotten as she listened to the broadcast that started the Pony Express on its way from the Savannah Post Office to Statesboro. This Pony Express idea sounds like it might have originated in the mind of a Hollywood director. It really focused attention on the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the birth of Bulloch. The program was splendid and a new star was born when Col. Albert Deal who rode the first lap of the Express with the mail pack, projected his voice and personality over the air lines. His assurance to an anxious wife, who more than anyone else, remembered that, after all, Albert is 78 years old and that most anything can happen these days, "The mare is behaving herself," he said, "Tell the

TC Makes Plans To 'Fight Fire' Cone Is Winner In City Election

The Georgia Teachers College is doing something about its fire hazards.

Monday of this week during a chapel program, Dr. Marvin S. Pittman reviewed some of the horrors of the Wincoff Hotel Fire in Atlanta last week in which over 100 people were burned to death and over 100 injured. He reported to the student body that the number of one of their college mates, Wilton G. Gordon, Ga., was among those who died in the fire.

"All young people of Georgia," youth like you were among those to die in the hotel, supposedly fireproof," he told the student body. "This brings to us a shock—a challenge," he added.

He stated that this week is designated as "Fire Prevention Week" at the college. Committees have been appointed to organize the students and faculty. The Industrial Arts Club volunteered as a fire brigade.

Yesterday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock all activities at the college were suspended while the students in all the dormitories organized to clean the buildings.

Dr. Pittman stated that the fire prevention program for the college will consist of four phases: The first is "fire prevention." "We must be careful," he said. Then provisions made for escape in case of fire. "We want every dormitory organized to the last individual, so he will know exactly where he will find the outlet. We must remove all rubbish from the exits, keep in good condition, and last, fire drills to be sure that the dormitories can be emptied.

J. Gilbert Cone was elected mayor in the city election held here on Saturday of last week. Mr. Cone received 489 votes and Mr. Alfred Dorman received 394 votes. 882 votes were cast for Allen R. Lanier and Inman Foy for councilmen.

Mr. Cone makes the following statement upon his victory: "I would like to take this opportunity to express my profound gratitude for the honor—the people of Statesboro have shown me in electing me mayor of the city. I shall constantly strive to justify the vote of confidence afforded me in Saturday's election. On behalf of myself and each member of the City Council I solicit the good will and cooperation of every citizen in the responsibility of working for the common interest of our community."

At the meeting of the City Council Tuesday night, A. B. McDougald was named a member of the Georgia Power Company; one in front of the Jockey Hotel and one in front of the Post Office Building.

Statesboro Music Club and Church Choirs to Present Christmas Music

The Statesboro Music Club, assisted by the churches of Statesboro, will present a program of Christmas music at the First Baptist Church on Sunday evening, December 15 at 7:30 o'clock.

There will be congregational singing of Christmas carols led by a choir of more than thirty voices. The choir will be made up of representatives from each of the churches in the city.

Mr. Ronald J. Neil, Mrs. J. Gilbert Cone, and Miss Betty McLemore will be presented in solo selections. Miss Sullivan will play the organ and the collection will go to local charities. Rev. Claude Pepper will read the Christmas story from Luke, Rev. Serson and Rev. Jackson will take part in the service.

County Library Now Has $21,000

In a report made to the Regional Librarians' Conference held in Atlanta December 5 and 6, Miss Beahel Sorrier, librarian of the Bulloch County Library, told the progress made by the library here.

According to Miss Sorrier more than $16,000 has been raised during this year for the library building planned for the county, making a total of $21,000 raised in addition to a building lot valued at $3,000. She told the conference that there are ten bookmobile routes in the county, with five deposits in homes and fourteen school stops.

Her report shows that the library now serves a population of 32,298 on an appropriation of 23 cents per person.

While at the conference Miss Sorrier attended all the sessions at the Piedmont Hotel. The conference included the area supervisors of the State Department of Education staff, as well as the regional librarians.

Old Maid's Convention To Be Held Tonight At SHS Auditorium

Questions that have been bothering the people of Statesboro for the past several days are: Who are the women eligible for matrimony? Who are the bachelors and widowers eligible for matrimony?

These questions will be answered at the presentation of the Old Maid's Convention at the Statesboro High School auditorium tonight (Thursday). The play is sponsored by the mothers of the members of the Junior Class. The scheduled at 7:30 p.m. at the high school gym. The admission will be 25 cents for students and 35 cents for adults. College students will be admitted for 25 cents.

Stores to Close On Wednesday; Thursday For Christmas Holiday

It was announced here this week that the stores and business houses of Statesboro will be closed on Wednesday and Thursday, December 25 and 26 in observance of the Christmas holiday.

It has become an annual custom for a group of singers made up of members of the Statesboro High School Band to sing Christmas carols on Christmas Eve before the homes of people who are not well. The group is directed by Mr. George Shearouse, director of the band. The Bulloch County Hospital will be included in their tour of the city. Homes where there are sick persons will be visited if there is a request made. Superintendent S. H. Sherman will receive these requests by phone at his office in the high school.

Christmas Carol Singing to Bring Joy to Bedridden On Christmas Eve

On Monday, December 23, the high school band will give a Christmas concert in the high school auditorium at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

On Friday, December 20, the high school will observe its annual "White Christmas" ceremonies at the regular chapel time. The program will be directed by Miss Carmen Covart of the speech department. That same day the grammar school will hold its "White Christmas" ceremonies in the grammar school building, directed by Mrs. Francis Trappell and Miss Carole Deal, seventh grade teachers.

Mr. Sherman invites the public to attend all these programs.

A Verse for This Week

Do you think that a man is renewed by God's Spirit, when except for a few religious phrases, and a little more outside respectability, he is just the old man, the same character at heart he ever was? —Charles Kingsley.

Let's Do It Now

A tragic reminder! More than 100 dead and more than 100 injured—in the most horrible fire the nation has known when the Hotel Wincoff in Atlanta burned last week.

Many of those perished were the friends of you and you and you... people from Metter, Claxton.

While the horror and indignation of the Wincoff fire are still with us, the people of Atlanta are trying to approach intelligently the task of preventing its recurrence.

Statesboro, and every home-owner and every building owner—should take their cue from Atlanta. For the safety and protection of us all, we must insist upon a searching investigation of fire hazards in Statesboro. We don't want it to happen to us. The cliché "It Can't Happen Here" is not enough. We too, must take definite and intelligent action and we must not put it off.

What about our hotels? What about our schools? Our churches?—our auditoriums? What about our business houses?—our homes?

Every year, according to the National Fire Protection Association, well over 2,000 fires occur within school buildings—approximately seven fires a day. Many of these happen at Christmas time.

Since 1924, 45,000 fires have occurred in schools. One such fire resulted in the death of 36 persons. We can't have this happen to our schools. Attention has been focused on the Georgia Teachers College. Yesterday (Wednesday) they began doing something about it. The students set aside time for a thorough fire drill. Emphasis is being put on fire prevention, and provision for escape and provision for fighting fires.

With bonds voted for the improvement of our city schools, attention should now be focused on the vulnerability to fire of our school buildings. The question should be asked to what extent do we go to protect our children from the horrors of fire.

Now is the time to act on the suggestions of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Recently they made certain recommendations which we repeat here:

- 1. Require the fire chief to attend all special Fire College courses in Georgia and pay his expenses for the course.
- 2. Purchase a 40-foot extension ladder.
- 3. Equip the fire trucks with red flashing warning lights.
- 4. Check with the Georgia Rating Bureau of Atlanta as to what would be necessary to entitle citizens to a reduction in insurance rates in Statesboro.
- 5. If this investigation would result in saving the people of Statesboro money, then comply with the findings.
- 6. Give the fire chief authority to condemn and demand the cleaning up of all fire hazards.
- 7. Demand that the chief of police exercise his authority to enforce the cleaning up of fire hazards.
- 8. Instruct the fire chief to inspect all fire hazards and fire exits in all hotels, rooming houses, theatres, schools and other places of public assembly at least once a month.
- 9. Require the superintendent of both white and colored schools to hold fire drills once each month.
- 10. Instruct the police to rigidly enforce all traffic laws pertaining to the fire department—that is the failure to stop at the sounding of the fire signal; the following the fire apparatus; crossing fire hose; and parking near fire hydrants.
- 11. Require all business houses and offices in the city to have at least one two and one-half gallon fire extinguisher.
- 12. And let the city purchase uniforms for the fire truck driver to be worn on duty.

Let's not put it off. Let's do something NOW!!

The Almanac Says the Weather This Week On...

TODAY, Thursday, December 12 will be cold and dreary. FRIDAY, December 13. Frost. U. S. Government moved to Washington, 1800. SATURDAY, December 14, will be fair and warmer. U. S. fliers bomb Athens, 1945. SUNDAY, December 15, will be warmer. Yanks capture Cleeburg, France 1944. MONDAY, December 16, will be fair and warm. Amansion reached South Pole, 1911. TUESDAY, December 17, will be stormy. WEDNESDAY, December 18, will be rainy. Ember Day.

... But Don't Blame Us If the Almanac is Wrong!

Now that Thanksgiving and the Sesqui-Centennial is laid in the shades of yesterday, the next big event—and the biggest of them all—on the calendar of waning years, although he could do but very little during the war period.

Let us urge you to get in the "Christmas shopping spirit," and do your shopping now.

As usual, the Yuletide season, although widely heralded, always comes before many people are actually ready for it. However, Statesboro merchants are advising local shoppers to do their shopping early and get it over with, and postmaster Arthur Turner is urging early mailing of Christmas parcels and greeting cards.

A check with many of the local merchants revealed that their stocks this year offer a wider selection from which to choose than since prewar days.

Especially is this true in the toy line. For instance, did you know you have fun with Junior's electric train, that is if he hurries and buys one, because the inventory on this particular item does not give too heavy a count right now.

And then there are rolls; skates back again. Many new plastic toys are on the market, plus many other various items, too numerous to mention.

For the past week Statesboro merchants have bedecked their stores and windows with Christmas decorations and gift selections. There are many "select" items available for all members of he marries Mary, who, unknown to him, is the great-granddaughter of one of his former slaves. When a new church is founded, the Church of Love, Anthony fights it, and seeks to gain control of it, a situation which leads almost to a revolution. Anthony calls out the National Guard, with secret orders to kill all the leaders.

This is a long novel, a fantastic procession of great people and small, good and bad, politicians, priests, movie stars, ballet dancers, newspaper men and hired killers.

All the characters are as entangled as a group of puppets, with Anthony as the motivating force, to pull the strings.

Another interesting book is "MISTRESS MASHAM'S REPOSE" by T. H. White. A very different type of story, which might be called a fairy tale for grownups. It tells of a little girl, Maria, who finds the descendants of Gulliver's Lilliputs, in a deserted corner of her great neglected estate in England. Her parents are dead, and she has as guardians a governess and the vicar of the village, who are trying to cheat Maria out of her inheritance.

Her only friends are the cool, and a very learned but absent-minded professor. Maria's attempt to keep her guardians from capturing the Lilliputs, and the little people's attempts to help Maria, make very good reading. In the end, Maria gets her property back (Thanks to the professor) the Vicar and Governess are punished and everybody lives happily ever after. An amusing little fantasy, just right for holiday reading.

Among the other books now ready are:

"GREEN DECEMBER FILLS THE GRAVEYARD," an excellent mystery, good characterization and plot. "TO SEE AFINE LADY," by Norah Lofts. A psychological romance, by an ever-popular author. "THE OTHER PASSENGER," by John K. Cross. A collection of short, eerie stories. H. "ROMELLE," by Whit Burnett and-billed mystery. "THE DOCTOR TO THE DEAD," by John Bennett. A collection of weird Charleston folk-tales. "ON THE CHILDREN'S SHELF—MANY MOONS," by J. Thurber, a beautifully written fairy-tale. "THE ROOSTER CROWS," by Mand and Miska Petersboro. A collection of rhymes and songs for children. This book was awarded the Caldecott Medal. "PUPPET MAN," short stories for children from 7-8. "SMOKE JUMPER," a story of the Forest Fire Control Service for older boys. USE YOUR PUBLIC LIBRARY.

With Bulloch County in the lead with 2160 family memberships, the Georgia Farm Bureau Federation announced from Macon headquarters today that the total 1946 enrollment of the organization reached 45,922 at the close of the fiscal year, November 30. Records compiled today show an increase of 46.8 percent over the 1945 total of 31,276.

Following close to Bulloch, Laurens county reported a membership of 2,081 with several counties exceeding 1,000 for 1946, among them being Screven, 1,253; Treutlen, 1,005; Mitchell, 1,148; Dodge, 1,010; Washington, 1,029; Berrien 1,010. The First Congressional District led the other districts of the state with a total membership of 9,029, followed closely by the 8th District with 8,289. The Eighth District led the state in the percentage of farmers enrolled in the farm bureau.

At the beginning of the fiscal year on December 1, 1945, each district in the state set a quota for the year with the following results shown by figures released in Macon today: First District reached 130.8 percent of its quota Second District, 88.7; Third District, 105.7; Fourth District, 77.1; Fifth District, 22.1; Sixth District, 122.9; Seventh district, 75.4; 8th district, 115.7; Ninth district, 30.0 Tenth district, 103.6.

More than 80 Georgians are in San Francisco, California, this week where President H. L. Wingate will report the progress of the GFBF organization to the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Ulmer Knight Heads Brooklet FB; John Olliff at Middleground

Ulmer Knight was named president of the Brooklet Farm Bureau and John H. Olliff president of the Middle Ground chapter at community elections Wednesday and Thursday night, respectively.

Mr. Knight has been a member of the Brooklet chapter for several years and helped materially to build it into the largest community organization in the county. He succeeds T. R. Bryan who has been president for three years.

Mr. Olliff has served as vice-president of the county organization and helped materially in the early days of the organization. He has never missed a county or state convention. Mr. Olliff was one of the first 15 members of the Georgia Farm Bureau, known then as the United Georgia Farmers. He expressed his belief in the proposal enough to join, for two years to start with. He succeeds J. H. Metts.

Brooklet named W. W. Manas as vice-president and John C. Cromley a secretary and treasurer.

Poultry Sale to Be Held Here Thursday, December 19 at 8 A. M.

The pre-Christmas cooperative poultry sale will be held Thursday, December 19 at the Statesboro Ginney.

Ralph E. Moore, local dealer, is the successful bidder with the following prices for this sale:

Colored hens 20 cents per pound
Leyburn hens 28 cents, roosters 18 cents, and fryers 35 cents per pound.

No satisfactory price could be procured for turkeys for this sale. The sale will start at 8 a. m. and close at 1 p. m.

Middle Ground elected Homer Smith vice-president and H. D. Deal secretary and treasurer. This community has for eight years boasted of having practically every farmer in the area enrolled. This comparatively small community has 124 members this year.

Brooklet community leads this year with some 260 members. This is an increase of some 75 members.

Music Concert at Teachers College Friday Evening, December 13

A concert combining the various groups of the Division of Music of Georgia Teachers College will be presented in the college auditorium on Friday evening, December 13, at 8 o'clock. Appearing on the program will be the College Band under the direction of Mr. Jack W. Broucek, the Boys' Choir under the direction of Miss Earle Epling, and the College Philharmonic Choir under the direction of Dr. Ronald J. Neil. Soloists with the choir will include Betty Hineley, Billy Holland, Bobby Holland, Betty Jones, Sarah Ann May, Ruth Quarles, Margaret Sherman, Hoke Smith, and Miriam Todd.

The climax of the program will be a performance by the Philharmonic Choir of the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah," accompanied by the college orchestra with Miss Mary Alice Sullivan as concertmaster, Miss Epling at the piano, and Mr. Broucek at the organ.

The public is cordially invited to this program which closes the work of the Music Division, for the fall quarter.

Rev. T. Earl Serson Speaks to Members of Statesboro AAUW

The American Association of University Women met on December 10 at the home of Mrs. Henry J. McCormick, Mrs. W. W. Edge, Rev. T. Earl Serson. He spoke of Mrs. Ronald J. Neil, and Mrs. John Erickson were the hostesses with Mrs. McCormick.

"What Are the Needs of Today's World?" was discussed by Rev. T. Earl Serson. He spoke of three needs he considers paramount in today's world: "Knowledge, Willingness to share that knowledge, with the rest of the world, and the great love of God's world and everything in it."

The Bulloch Herald, Thursday, December 12, 1946

Mrs. Ronald J. Neil was chairman of the program.

Andy's Breach of Hospitality

Every now and then a carload of whooping revelers comes through our town—from a nearby county where Prohibition has brought back bootleg booze and hip-flask drinking. But they never stop at Andy Butkin's Garden Tavern—though it's the only one on Main Street. Maybe it's because Andy's place is pleasantly lighted, clean and quiet—not like the smoky, illegal hideouts they've used to back home. And haven't you ever noticed that when people are ashamed of themselves they stay away from decent places?

Even if they did show up, Andy wouldn't serve them. He means to keep his place orderly, and law abiding—according to the brewers' platform of Self-Regulation, by which tavern keepers maintain decent standards or face the loss of their licenses.

From where I sit, Self-Regulation, unlike Prohibition, has given us temperance and respect for law. Andy's tavern doesn't appeal to hip-flask drinkers and that's just the way he wants it!

PARITIES CONTINUE FOR MISS HENDRIX

On Wednesday night, Mrs. Dedrick Waters, Mrs. Don Brannen and Mrs. Frank Richardson entertained with a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Mary Hendrix, whose wedding occurred on Sunday. Thirty-five guests were present each presenting a useful gift for the kitchen to Miss Hendrix. Bingo was played during the evening and each winner would draw his gift from a loaded basket. Cherry pie, topped with whipped cream, coffee and salted nuts were served.

LUNCHEON FOR MISS HENDRIX

On Friday, Miss Hendrix was honored again with an o'clock luncheon at the Norris Hotel by Miss Inez Stephens, Miss Virginia Akins and Mrs. Sidney Lanier. Eight guests were invited and a turkey course dinner was served. Miss Hendrix was presented with a plate of her matching china.

YOUNGER SET ENTERTAIN

With a dance for her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Guardia entertained Genovese, at the Woman's Club Saturday night from eight to ten thirty. Sixty of her friends from the eighth, ninth and tenth grades were invited.

The club room was beautifully decorated with a winter scene motif. Pine was very effective dusted with snow, icicles hanging from cardboard were on the wall, and they too, were dusted with snow. Blue and white on the lights made the scene seem real.

REHEARSAL PARTY FOR HENDRIX-BRANNEN WEDDING

On Friday night after the rehearsal of the Hendrix-Brannen wedding which took place at the home of Rufus Hendrix, of Portal, Mrs. Hazel Smallwood, Mrs. E. Y. DeLoach, Mrs. James Thomas and Mrs. W. S. Wikerson, Jr. entertained the wedding party at the home of Mrs. Smallwood on Jones Avenue.

A variety of lovers was used in the living room and dining room. There were twenty guests present, and apple sauce cake, topped with whipped cream and coffee was served.

DINNER PARTY FOR MISS HENDRIX

Mrs. Lloyd Brannen entertained with a dinner party Friday night at her home honoring Miss Mary Hendrix, whose wedding occurred Sunday.

Mrs. Brannen's house was beautiful with Christmas decorations and bowls of home grown carnations.

On the dining table was a lovely cut work, centered with a large bowl of carnations. The red candles were lighted and covers were laid for eight. A chicken dinner was served with cherry pie a-la-mode for dessert.

Those enjoying the dinner were Mrs. Mary Hendrix, Emerson Brannen, Harold Waters, Virginia Akins, Mr. and Mrs. Chatham Alderman, E. A. Kennedy, and Mrs. Louise Smith. Miss Hendrix was presented with a knife and fork of her silver by Mrs. Brannen and a tea spoon by Mrs. Louise Smith.

MRS. DANIEL AND MRS. SMITH ENTERTAIN

Mrs. Bird Daniel and Mrs. William Smith entertained with ten tables of bridge at the home of Mrs. Smith on North Main St. Thursday afternoon.

For her decorations, Mrs. Smith used gladioli and chrysanthemum throughout the house.

For high, Mrs. Jimmy Collins was given an after dinner coffee cup for floating. Mrs. Ralston Williams a cook book for cut. Mrs. Sidney Dodd, Yardley bath powder and for cut Mrs. C. E. Rosenmuff, a triple set of lip stick.

Mrs. Fred Blitch, a recent bride was given a breakfast cloth. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Daniel served their guests a salad course with coffee.

FOR LADIES CUT, Mrs. Lester Brannen, Jr. was given candy.

A fried chicken supper, with pecan pie topped with whipped cream and coffee was served.

PARTY FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McAllister entertained their Sunday School classes of the Baptist church with a joint picture show party Monday night, with the picture "The King o' Slime" being shown. Fifteen boys and girls met Mr. and Mrs. McAllister at the show and afterwards they went over to Gimco Restaurant where a special prepared table with red and green decorations, lighted red candles waiting them. The boys and girls enjoyed ice cream and cake. Christmas favors were given them by their teachers.

MISS HENDRIX BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. BRANNEN

In a simple but impressive ceremony Mary Ella Hendrix became the bride of Floyd Emerson Brannen, Sunday afternoon, December 8, in the presence of the immediate family and a few close friends at the home of her brother, Rufus P. Hendrix, The Rev. Vernon Edwards, officiated.

A program of pre-nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. H. C. Bland, Miss Margaret Sherman sang "Be Cause" and "I Love You Truly". The vows were spoken before a background of ferns, ivy and baskets of white gladioli. The candles were lighted by Carl Hendrix, nephew of the bride.

The bride entered with her brother, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a two piece gray suit, with black accessories. Her corsage "was an orchid, and flanked by white candles, holding tall lighted tapers.

Mrs. Pearl Edensfield, best of the bride's book. Others assisting in serving were Inez Stephens, Virginia Akins and Mrs. Fannie Lanier.

Mr. and Mrs. Brannen left immediately for a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Statesboro. Mrs. Brannen is employed by the Central Gas Co. and Mr. Brannen by the Ellis Grocery Co.

SISTERS MARRIED IN LOVELY DOUBLE WEDDING CEREMONY ON NOV. 27

Miss Mary Lee Jones, daughter of Mrs. J. A. Jones, of Metter, became the bride of Mr. Bill Tucker, son of Mr. John Tucker, of Pulaski; and Miss Julie Dell Jones, younger daughter of Mrs. J. A. Jones, became the bride of Mr. J. D. Forehand, son of Mrs. Rosa Forehand of Metter, in a beautiful double wedding ceremony at the home of their mother on Wednesday afternoon, November 27 at three o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Elder Henry Waters.

An improvised altar was beautifully decorated with white candles, palms, ferns, white chrysanthemums, and white gladioli. The candles were lighted just before the ceremony by little Martha Faye Webb, niece of the brides.

The grooms chose for their best man, Robert L. Jones, brother of the two brides.

The brides were given in marriage by their brother, P. Edward Jones.

Miss Mary Lee Jones wore a becoming suit of aqua wool, with a corsage of pink carnations, and brown accessories and the other bride, Miss Julie Dell Jones, wore a lovely suit of winter white wool with brown accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations, and brown accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker will make their home in Statesboro, where Mr. Tucker operates an automobile service station. Mr. and Mrs. Forehand will make their home in Metter.

one could see every type of costume and it was apparent that the ladies were really getting a kick out of their assignment. Marian Agan, like some one right out of Vogue, year 1912, had her hair combed down to her shoulders, and gowned right down to her ankles in a chiffon broadcloth coat suit, ermine trimmed. Her shoes, visible only by accident, were high topped buttoned affairs which, because the button hook was lost, made her and the "Preacher" sweat for about forty minutes before they could accomplish the difficult task of "buttoning-up". Miriam says the suit, originally, was worn first to a Georgia-Ten football game in Athens in 1912.

Eula Zetterower wore a gown velvet gown featuring a bustle. Ostrich tips nodded vigorously over the brim of her matching pone bonnet. A huge lace jabot added elegance to her appearance, which, Lavonia Floyd and Lena Belle Hanner rated a movie scene, we understand. Lavonia's frock, a "Come With The Wind" model had a red and black plaid taffeta hoop skirt with red velvet top and leg-O-mutton sleeves. Lena Belle in a period dress of royal blue taffeta also had leg-O-mutton sleeves. They failed to recognize the strolling movie photographer so they may never see their brilliant performance. Martha Johnston wore a quaint and most becoming lion dress, once the property of the late Minnie Brannen (Mrs. Harvey Brannen) and now the property of Lucy Donaldson. Broad bands of hand made lace trimmed the sleeves and the high collar and was used at the very tight waist line.

On display in the Woman's Club Building were rare patterns of old china, antiquated butter churns, sausage mills, and cheese servers. Interest was centered on the huge open fire place with hanging kettle, huge iron pots, skillets and spiders, and the built-in Dutch oven. In contrast there were examples of the modern electrically equipped kitchen and the modern gas equipped kitchen, clearly proclaiming the story of progress in the woman's part of the home.

Hattie Powell's display of old newspapers and valuable data go back to the year 1820. The County Library is just ten years old. The exhibit showed the history of the library's ten years of growth; from 2,500 books in 1936 to 22,784 in 1946; from a circulation of 6,883 in 1936 to 87,381 in 1946; and from no books available in the county to the present bookmobile which serves the entire county, bringing books to all who would read.

In the Religious Building old and modern buildings of the various denominations were shown. An old Bible now in possession of Steve Sewell and once the property of his great-grandfather, Kennedy, was of interest because of the vast difference in phrasing when compared with the modern versions.

The Negro Buildings was one of the most interesting of the Exposition, we were told, but by the time we were ready to go in, the background pine trees and the exhibits, Julia Bryan, herself a descendant of the Cherokee tribe, said to safety. "Parson" Earl Sereno was one of those who worked hard at making that exhibit the fine horse, though someone said it was one it was, H. W. B. Smith exhibited.

Superintendent S. H. Sherman learned he was not on the "Arkansas Traveler" when his horse assumed a perpendicular stance and "Bill" as he is fondly known would require a lengthy roster of names. Merely suggest that should you want an enormous task executed perfectly call on our County Commissioner, Fred W. Hodges.

The Bulloch Herald, Thursday, December 12, 1946

All day the air was filled with music—fiddling the violin—if you get what I mean—John Prosser's group really handed out the hill billy tunes. He said his left-handed fiddle came to town so seldom he guesses he'd have to tie a black handkerchief over his eyes to keep him calm when it came time for him to perform.

The negro school chorus and the prisoners from the county camp came in for well merited praise.

And to prove that romance was very much alive in the good old days, there was the ardent love letter on exhibit which implored: "If you don't answer this for my sake, answer it for God's sake."

As ever, JANE.

P. S. It is clearly obvious why Jane has failed to designate individuals responsible for the truly wonderful work done in each building at the Sesqui-Centennial, but the list of Workers, Co-Workers would require a lengthy roster of names. Merely suggest that should you want an enormous task executed perfectly call on our County Commissioner, Fred W. Hodges.

Savannah City Editor Defines News to Rotarians

Editor's Note: The following is the speech made at the Rotary Club here Monday at noon by William C. Harris, city editor of the Savannah Morning News, and former Combat Correspondent of the U.S. Marine Corps. Mr. Harris is well known in Statesboro and Bulloch County. He was profuse in his praise of this community, commending it on the outstanding manner in which the Sesqui-Centennial was presented.

"It is an honor and a pleasure for me to appear before this splendid, a highly representative group of Statesboro citizens, and at the outset I wish to express my gratitude for this opportunity to visit with you.

"I consider Statesboro one of the most progressive communities in the entire southeast. It takes progressive citizens to bring to a community the various institutions and enterprises which contribute to the wealth and employment opportunities afforded here. It takes a lot of financial backbone to encourage diversified production by banking those who pioneer.

"It takes wisdom and energy to fill our banks with the money that represents the fruits of progressive agriculture and commerce, such as Bulloch county has. The people of this county are indeed fortunate to have at the helm of private and public affairs men and women who dare to lead their people along the roads to progress and material and spiritual happiness.

"These advances are so generally known that it would be gilding the lily for me to stand in front of you pioneers and appear to break the news to you. I merely wish to remind you that your pioneering is recognized and appreciated. And, as one who materially profits from your efforts, I wish to express my personal appreciation.

"In explaining his topic Mr. Harris stated that he was no orator and that he was going to talk about the thing he knows best—news. "I will confine myself to that subject," he said.

"It is fair to ask: What is news and how is it gathered and produced. First, I should like to define what I, as a city editor, believe news to be. You have often heard, no doubt, Dana's definition of news: 'If a dog should bite a man, that is not news, because it is commonplace; however, should a man bite a dog, that's news.' I should like to disagree with that conception of news. I believe it is inadequate because it does not provide an equation, or a method of determining value.

For instance, Mr. Dana would have never been in a carry position to support his definition should Pala have chewed upon Uncle Joe Stalin at Yalta or taken the seat out of Churchill's bristles in the White House.

"The point is, therefore, that news is 'All according.'"

"And 'All according' to what? Names make the news. But even names don't make the headlines unless those names are associated with the unusual or a community enterprise. Of course, the news columns are filled many times with what some of you consider trivial matter. In about 100 percent of such cases the editors will agree with you. However, most of that material is generally under the heading of "Policy" matter, which is a good word for propaganda for the general improvement of the community. An even better definition probably is: Public Service matter, whether it be type or pictures.

"News gathering is an art. Recognition of news is an instinct with which to few are blessed. For instance, I know of numerous persons in the newspaper business who wouldn't recognize a news item if it slapped them in the face. I know a reporter, a tea-sipping kind of fellow, who was ordered to drop by the Chamber of Commerce and pick up a news item left there by the secretary. He returned without the item. Asked "How Come" by the city editor, he replied: "The secretary was out and only his lady stenographer was in the office."

"Well," demanded the editor, "didn't you get the story from the stenographer?"

"Gosh, no," the alleged reporter replied. "I haven't been introduced to her."

Needless to say, the reporter's next order was to drop by the cashier's cage and pick up his check.

I know of another case where a brand new journalism school graduate was sent to report a football game in a neighboring town. He returned late and then informed the editor that there was nothing to write up, because the game had been called off.

"Why did they cancel the game the editor asked.

"Well," replied to cub, "the bleachers fell in, killed eight people and they called it off."

Just another casualty of this game nearly every one believes he can star in.

I have so many people tell me that they would just love to be a reporter or a city editor. "Because it's so thrilling."

Well, I must confess that I have had a lot of thrills in this business, but I have also spent nearly a quarter-century working about 12 hours a day, often seven days a week. When I was a reporter there was no 40-hour week and no time and a half for overtime as it is now. As a straw boss now I am immune from the 40-hour week.

Good "newspapering" is drudgery. The best reporters are far removed from the motion picture romances who cusses out the boss and stays all drunk up. Of course, we have our share of the drunks in the newspaper business, but they are the drifters who get fired every time they get canned up.

I say there is a lot of drudgery in the newspaper business because it is an unending job of checking and double-checking and still we make some of the most stupid mistakes.

Our job is the daily publication of a book, recording the matters of general interest to the community and matters of specific information for special groups. This news of general and specific interest. For instance, not all readers are interested in the stock and bond markets or in the cotton and naval stores exchanges. Thousands of our readers never glance at the sports page. Those who consistently read the sports pages seldom give a second glance at the editorial page. Our society columns cater to special groups and so on through the paper.

Thus, the newspaper business is the organization of information, the marshalling of facts. The editors are the generals who determine what events or persons are qualified from the standpoint of community and specific interest to participate in the news parade, and to determine what position they shall take in the calvaude of history.

The editorial writers are the staff officers who study the parade and interpret the march of time through the editorial columns.

This every day publication of a great newspaper is the world's greatest example of continuous and consistent teamwork. It is organized confusion. When the press begins its grind, that's the roar of the crowd for a job well done—

Bulloch County Has Largest Farm Bureau Membership in Years

Bulloch county Farm Bureau enrolled 2160 members for 1947, according to the report filed with the state organization Saturday by C. M. Cowart, secretary.

This is considerably the largest membership the county has ever had. The 1946 membership was 1,484.

R. P. Mikell, president, stated he was leaving for the national convention in San Francisco, that the unusually large membership was due to the efforts of lots of people, especially the community officers of the various 19 organizations in the county and to the morale support of the business and professional people of Statesboro.

Congressman Preston has played a major roll in helping by visiting the many chapters and enumerating the dire need for a stronger farm organization.

Mr. Mikell personally enrolled near 400 members. Membership committees as a whole did an excellent job in contacting their neighbors and discussing their farm problems with them and explaining how a militant organization fighting for farm people could help solve these problems.

Mr. Mikell, Mr. Cowart, E. L. Womack and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith left the first of the week for the west coast and will return from the national farm bureau convention December 17.

The coaches were made up for Georgia members. These some 100 people will join others in Memphis to make up special farm bureau trainees for California.

Annual Election of Masons to Be Held Here December 17

The annual election and installation of officers of the Ogeechee Lodge F. & A. M. will be held at the lodge rooms Tuesday evening December 17, on Monday evening December 15 at the Statesboro High School the annual Ladies Night will be observed with a turkey dinner.

John D. Lanier, Jr. is the Worshipful Master of the Lodge and Josh T. Nesmith is the secretary. The election of new officers will take place at the regular meeting of the Lodge.

At the turkey dinner, Monday evening, Rev. Henry F. Collins, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of South Carolina will be the principal speaker. He will be introduced by B. B. Morris, Past Master. B. H. Ramsey will act as master of ceremonies and Rev. T. E. Serson will give the grace. A toast to the Ladies will be given by D. B. Turner and the response will be made by Mrs. W. W. DeLoach. A male quartet will furnish music.

Many prominent masons from throughout the state are expected to attend the annual affair.

James Brett Is At Arlington

Funeral services for Captain James Brett, of the U. S. Navy who died of a heart attack in Philadelphia on Tuesday of last week, were held at Arlington National cemetery in Washington, D. C., on Saturday morning of last week.

Captain Brett, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brett of Statesboro, was one of the heroes of several Pacific battles and had been cited on numerous occasions. He was assigned to the Lexington "Queen of the Flat-tops," when that ship went down. He was a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy and had been in the Navy more than 15 years.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Miss Judith Brett; two sisters, Mrs. Bill Brown, of Newnan; Mrs. George Franklin, of Metter; one brother, Major Billy Brett, of the U. S. Army Air Forces; and his stepmother, Mrs. Georgia Brett of Statesboro.

JIMMY POWELL CELEBRATES THIRD BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Albert Powell entertained with a party Saturday afternoon at her home on Oak St. in celebration of the third birthday of her son, Jimmy. About a dozen little friends enjoyed the set and other toys in the back yard. E. W. Powell in serving ice cream cake and coca-cola, while miniature Mrs. Powell was assisted by Mr. Santa Claus's were given as favors. Pictures were made throughout the afternoon of the children at play.

The best soil for strawberries is a sandy loam that retains moisture.

EXTRA WORKERS URGED TO GET SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER

With the Christmas holidays approaching, many employers will be taking on extra help. Martin J. Johnson, district manager of the Social Security Administration, urges all employers to be sure that they get a record of the Social Security Account Number of each person the first day that employee goes to work. The employer's reports to the Bureau of Internal Revenue cannot be cleared, and the employees cannot be credited with their earnings unless the employer does report each employee's wages with his name and Social Security Number.

There are over 85,000,000 Social Security accounts already set up by the Administration. Any name or any combination of names you can think of is duplicated many times in these records. There are more than 1,250,000 Smiths alone, and there are 13 different ways of spelling that family name in the Administration's records.

Mr. Johnson urges employers taking on anyone without a number to have that employee go to the local post office, obtain an application blank for Social Security number and submit it immediately to the Social Security Office, 204 American Building, Savannah.

Bulloch Gins 7,132 Bales of Cotton From 1946 Crop; 6,965 in 1945

Bulloch county has gined 7,132 bales of cotton of the 1946 crop prior to November 14, according to an announcement made this week by H. D. Anderson, special agent of the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census.

For the same period in 1945 Bulloch gined 6,965 bales.

TO THE Ladies (BLESS 'EM)

AND WE DO BLESS THEM, with all our hearts, because Georgia women really appreciate The Constitution . . . daily and Sunday, and what a good buy it is. Quick in realizing the value of a few cents well spent, the ladies know that in no other newspaper can they get such wonderfully entertaining and informative features as in The Constitution.

There's the American Weekly every Sunday, a complete, exciting magazine good for hours of fascinating reading—there're many, many comics, highest rated in the nation (for grown-ups and the kids too) and columns of suggestions for better health and greater beauty . . . and also . . . styles and fashions illustrated for every pocketbook. And the younger girls like Elizabeth Woodward's tips on behavior . . . because she's snazzy and not a drip.

You can trust the good judgment of Mother, Wife and Sweetheart. They know! That's why we say again, TO THE LADIES . . . who find thrills and pleasure reading the newspaper DESIGNED to appeal to the fairest sex.

VETERANS CORNER

What is the largest loan on household furniture that a veteran can get a government guarantee? Can a veteran change the beneficiary of his National Service Life Insurance without letting the beneficiary know anything about it?

Here are the answers to these and other questions frequently asked by veterans:

Q. Will a veteran be able to get a guaranteed loan indefinitely?

A. No. Application must be made within 10 years from the official end of the war.

Q. What is the largest amount a veteran can borrow and the loan be guaranteed?

A. The size of the loan depends on what the lender is willing to lend with the amount of guaranty; there is no limit upon the amount a lender may lend. However, the maximum guaranty by the Veterans Administration may not exceed $4,000 on a home loan, or $2,000 on a business loan.

Q. Can a loan to purchase the beneficiary of his NSLI at any time without the beneficiary's knowledge or consent by notifying the VA?

Ninety percent of the fires that destroy farm buildings at the rate of one every 15 minutes could be prevented by constant vigilance.

Veterans wishing further information about veterans' benefits may have their questions answered by visiting the VA Contact Office of work goes up in smoke in at 21 1/2 East Main Street in a few minutes due to failure to exercise ordinary care.

Q. No.

Q. How can I arrange to have my National Service Life Insurance premium deducted from the disability compensation checks I receive from the VA?

A. Visit any Veterans Administration office and fill out a form authorizing VA to make the deduction.

Q. I have been turned down by a lending institution for a GI guaranteed loan to buy a business. Does this mean that I can't get a GI guaranteed loan to go into business?

A. No. If one lender turns you down, try another one. The fact that one lender is not interested does not indicate that your proposition is unsound.

Q. Can I change the beneficiary of my National Service Life Insurance without letting the beneficiary know anything about it?

A. Yes, a veteran may change the beneficiary of his NSLI at any time without the beneficiary's knowledge or consent by notifying the VA.

WMU EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING

Mrs. O. L. McLemore, newly elected president of the WMU of the Baptist Church, invited executive board to meet at her lovely home on Savannah Ave. Wednesday afternoon, December 10, at 3:30 to make definite plans for the year's work.

Prayer was offered by Mrs. Fred Fletcher. Mrs. McLemore led an impressive devotional, and made a most sincere appeal to her officers for loyal service.

The five circle chairman drew names, after which a social hour was enjoyed. The home was beautifully decorated in red and white, the color scheme was carried out in the delicious refreshments, consisting of strawberries, whipped cream, cake, salted nuts, and mints.
