reorgia Homes NOW USE HALF AGAIN AS MUCH ELECTRICITY AS THE AVERAGE U.S. HOME!

Georgians can be proud of the fact that their homes use 50% more electricity than the average American home - because the use of electricity in the home is one way to judge the living standard. The greater the use of electricity, the higher the standard of living. On this basis, Georgia is way ahead of the nation—in healthier, happier, more livable homes . . . as a better place to live.
