District Meet Of 4-H Club Here July 24-26

Statesboro will host July 24-26 to one of six district project achievement meetings being sponsored by the Georgia 4-H Club. The project meetings being held to select district representatives to the state 4-H Club Congress which will be held in Atlanta this fall, according to W. A. Sutton, state club leader.

The achievement meetings, Mr. Sutton said, will assemble county champions in various 4-H club projects. These county winners will give demonstrations at the district meetings and the best demonstrators will be selected to represent their district. State winners will, in some projects, receive free trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

"While some of the projects carry cash awards, bonds, free trips and college scholarships, the real objective of the 4-H project achievement meetings is to build the character of the members," Mr. Sutton declared. "A member taking part in one of these meetings learns to stand before a crowd and learn to think while standing. We believe such activities help to promote character development and citizenship."

Projects open to senior girls include interior paint, public speaking, rural electrification, bread, health, home improvement, egg marketing, dress revue, dairy foods, rifle and forestry. Senior boys may take part in projects in livestock, exterior paint, public speaking, rural electrification, health, egg marketing, sweet potatoes, dairy production, rifle, forestry and farm fence.

Demonstrations open to junior members are dress revue, public speaking, muffins and home improvement.

Minkovitz and Sons; Miss Carolyn Bowen, sponsored by Hobson DuBois's Men's Furnishings; Miss Barbara Aldred Co.; Miss Imogene Bohler, sponsored by Donaldson-Smith Clothing Co.; Miss Margaret Ward Shop, sponsored by the Mary Dell; and Miss Pat Preterorius, sponsored by the College Pharmacy.

At least ten other business firms have expressed a desire to enter a contestant in the contest but had no official selection Wednesday afternoon. Here lie the remains of a driver who thought he could drink and still drive a car. Racing down the highway at a dangerous speed, his car swerved off the edge of the pavement, dragged on the sandy shoulder, and was wrecked into a spin. Drunken drivers are potential murderers of every other motorist who comes near them on the road. They were involved in more than 5,000 fatal accidents last year. National Conservation Bureau safety specialists say even one or two drinks slow up reactions, make judgment unsafe, increase chances of accident three to four times.

Statesboro Men Talk To Truman

First District Representative Prince H. Preston really knows his way around Washington. "Take it from me," says Preston, "I have just returned from a trip to the nation's capital. While in Washington they were shown about things they have been friends of long standing.

The legislator not only took them about the city, pointing out things of interest and showing them just how our government operates, but he did the almost impossible and took them in to see President Truman, with whom they had a fifteen-minute conference.

This is believed to be the first time in history that two Statesboro citizens have been in to see the President of the United States. Mr. Preston has often had business with the Chief Executive and has been in conference with him many times through Mr. Madison Shert, his Representative. But it is a rare occasion indeed for two visitors to be accorded the privilege of having a private conference with the President.

They reported the President was very pleasant and in a happy mood when they talked with him. He tried to make them feel very much at ease and talked in a friendly and personal manner. They remained with Mr. Truman for a quarter-hour.

As guests of Mr. Preston they were taken "behind the scenes" of the Senate and House of Representatives and were accorded many other special privileges.

So it's easy to see why they be lieve Prince Preston really knows his way around Washington.

Veterans Told Of Overpay On GI Bill

Several thousand Georgia veterans who have been overpaid subsistence allowances and who may not re-enter school or training under the G. I. Bill until they make satisfactory arrangements for retraining, were today given three choices for repayment, according to Jack L. Biles, officer-in-charge of the Statesboro Contact Office.

First plan offered is for restitution in full, within ten days. The second plan, for veterans who plan to re-enter training within three months, authorizes the VA to withhold all future subsistence payments due until the overpayment is liquidated. The third plan, which deals with cases of undue hardship, authorizes deductions from subsistence checks or other activities of the government.

All veterans who have received overpayments may now obtain a return which they can make from any Georgia Regional Office or sub-regional or contact office. If the proposed arrangement proves satisfactory to the VA, the veteran will then be eligible to re-enter school or training.

Army Air Forces Announces New Recruiting Plan

A new recruiting program for the Regular Army Air Forces was announced this week by Captain Jack McGeehan of the Statesboro recruiting station. Under the new program high school graduates may now apply and be selected for training in certain specialized Army Air Force courses of their choice prior to enlistment and without obligation.

Applicants should write direct to the Commanding General, ATTC Barksdale Field, La., giving full name, address, age, race, summary of previous military training (if any), a transcript of their high school record, and three letters of recommendation. They should list three training courses in order of preference from the list of available courses below.

The Air Training Command will review all applications and notify each individual of selection or rejection. Accepted applicants will receive letters which authorize entrance to the course they choose, provided they are found qualified for enlistment.

The following courses are available to 3-year enlistees who select the Army Air Forces: Fabric and dope mechanics; airplane woodworker; aircraft welder; airplane engine mechanic; control tower operator; parachute rigger and repair man; bomb sight mechanic; small arms weapons repair; airplane armorer; combined courses, remote control turret repairman and mechanic; radio general course; radar fundamentals; general course; radio fundamental; telephone and telegraph cable splicer; telephone and telegraph equipment repairman; telephone mechanic repairman and installer; repairman, weather observer; photolithographer (PT) photographer; center, draftsman and drafterman topographic, powerman, electrician, plumber, surveyor, refrigeration mechanic, water supply technician, construction equipment operator, construction equipment operator, automotive equipment mechanic, diesel mechanic, operating engineer, machinist, sheet metal worker, combination welder and blacksmith, tabulating machine operator, clerk-typist, cryptographer, technician and AAF military police.

For further information see the recruiting sergeant at the post office in Statesboro each Friday from 8:30 to 3:30 p. m.

Safety Tip Of The Week

Wait A Minute—
Did you have eggs for breakfast? Lots of people do. Eggs taste good, they're good for you, and besides, they're quickly prepared when you're late for work and time is precious.

Lives are precious, too. In the three minutes or so while you're eating breakfast, at least two pedestrians were killed or injured somewhere on the nation's highways—maybe in your community. While you were eating, another ten or more met with disaster.

Chances are 3 to 1 those victims were in a hurry—they took the short way across the middle of the block, instead of the safe way at the crosswalk. They stepped out suddenly from behind a parked car, instead of looking both ways—see if the road was clear, or waiting until the traffic light had turned green.

A National Conservation Bureau Safety specialists report impatience as the nation's Number One highway killer. Time is so precious—sure! But not enough to pay for it with a life.

'Nancy Hanks II' Comes To Town In Fine Style

The Central of Georgia Railroad's million-dollar streamliner, Nancy Hanks II, took to the rails in Savannah Wednesday, kicked up a little dust behind her heels, and rolled into Statesboro for a brief inspection.

A crowd estimated at some 150 persons met the sleek "Sunliner" at Dover Wednesday morning, and rode past Dover, through Clito, and on into Statesboro, where a record-breaking crowd of over 2,000 greeted the coaches for a first-hand examination. Official count of persons boarding the train placed the figure at 500 for trips through the diesel engine, and 1,881 through the four modern coaches.

Nine-year-old Linda Bean, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bean, was the first to step aboard the new train at Dover as she presented an official flower to R. E. Cummings, vice-president and general manager of the railroad. She welcomed the train and the 25 railroad officials to the community on behalf of the citizens and expressed the wish that every journey of the train would be a successful and safe one.

The doors of the car were opened and the gathered crowd and as soon as they were boarded two sharp blasts from the engine's powerful horn cut the air and announced the departure from Dover. The time was 8:42.

The big train moved slowly across the Ogeechee river trestle and continued to Dover. It moved slowly and majestically, with fields of tall South Georgia corn waving slowly in the morning air on each side. At houses along the Central's short-line route people gathered to gaze at the mighty monarch of the rails.

At Clito, once the site of much railroad activity and agricultural development, C. L. Smith, an engineer on the Central for thirty years, gave a long blast of his horn that sounded strangely unfamiliar to those aboard who had known only the steam whistle that used to blast through the hum of activity in that community.

Mill Creek trestle was passed with kids glancing at the windows to glimpse that famous swimming hole that has brought pleasure to so many. At 9:10 the streamliner pulled into Statesboro to be met by the High School band and a crowd of more than 2,000, who had come from Porterdale, from Milledgeville, from Metter, and from all the surrounding countryside to see this miracle of the rails.

Doors were opened and the long lines began to form as young and old filed through the train. Modern means of transportation. Literature was given out by railroad officials that pointed out that "Statesboro is the home of Georgia Teachers College and is situated in one of the State's most productive counties. The annual value of its farm products is more than six million dollars?" and that "it is an important livestock and tobacco center."

The train, at present, consists of four cars. The first is a deluxe coach-baggage car for colored patrons, seating 56. Commenting on this car, M. P. Callaway, trustee of the railroad, said this was the finest passenger car for colored passengers on any railroad in the South. Accommodations are almost identical with those of the cars for white passengers.

The second car is a deluxe coach seating 68 passengers. This car is divided into two sections in order to provide better accommodations. The third car is the grill-lounge coach with accommodations for 16 in the dining section, 6 at the snack bar, and 24 in the lounge. The fourth car is a deluxe coach seating 56 passengers. The most modern rest rooms and lounge facilities for men and women are included in each car. The train is completely air-conditioned for summer traveling and is heated in winter. It is soundproofed to the greatest extent possible.

A special feature of the deluxe coaches—to which the builders have given the name "Sunliners"—is the deflector system of lighting. Vanes, inserted in glass panels on the upper portion of each window, serve to project daylight upwards within the car to the baggage rack and the roof. In this way daylight becomes diffused in a soft and even glow throughout the car.

The new train is the second Central of Georgia train to bear that name. It was not, as many people think, christened after Abraham Lincoln's mother. In the year 1892, a famous bay mare called Nancy Hanks created a sensation by covering a mile in 2:04 minutes to set a world record. And when the Central Railroad and Banking Company of Georgia, a few months later, placed in service the fastest train ever scheduled for service in the South, it seemed only natural to name it after the renowned trotter.

The first Nancy Hanks, as many "old-timers"—and some not too old—in Statesboro will remember, was a handsome thoroughbred, painted a royal blue and trimmed with gold leaf. It carried parlor cars and maintained a schedule between Savannah and Atlanta that was phenomenal for its era, and is not often surpassed even in today's railroading. Eighty miles per hour was frequently registered on the first Nancy Hanks speedometer tape. The train was regarded with affection and pride by the citizens of Georgia, and an old Negro ballad of the day read:

"Some folks say that Nancy can't run;
But stop, let me tell you what the Nancy done;
She left Atlanta at half past one,
And got to Savannah at the settin' of the sun."

Today, 44 years later, the Nancy Hanks II makes the Savannah-Atlanta run in some five and one-half hours. There will be one trip each way per day, leaving Dover at 9:00 a. m. and arriving in Atlanta at 1:40 p. m. On the return trip the train leaves Atlanta at 6:00 p. m. and arrives at Dover at 10:22 p. m.

On "Nancy's" return trip to Dover from Statesboro yesterday, her oldest passenger was 84-year-old Mrs. D. D. Arden, of Statesboro, whose husband was, before his death, an engineer for the Central of Georgia. A cousin of the late Mr. Arden, Frank Arden, was an engineer for the original "Nancy" back in the 1890's. Mrs. Arden told the railroad

Men File 35% Of Claims For Unemployment

Only thirty-five per cent of the 14,000 state unemployment compensation claims filed in Georgia during May were made by men, Commissioner of Labor Ben T. Hulet pointed out this week in Atlanta upon releasing an analysis of the May operations of the Employment Security Agency.

The number of white claimants was seven times the Negro total. Approximately half the claimants were semi-skilled workers. Mr. Hulet said. Percentage of total claims as filed by other general occupational groups were as follows: Unskilled, 21.9; skilled, 11.6; clerical, 6.1; service, 3.9; sales, 3.1; managerial, 0.7; professional, 0.6; agricultural, 0.5.

Officials of her trips on the "Nancy II" and told about a trip from Savannah to Guyton which took five and a half hours, due to changing the tracks from wide to narrow gauge. When she arrived Mrs. Arden had with her a bouquet of red sweet peas, picked from her flower garden, and she presented them to the engineer, to be placed in the cab of the diesel.

She told listeners of the time her husband engineered a private member, was a handsome thoroughbred, painted a royal blue and trimmed with gold leaf. It carried parlor cars and maintained a schedule between Savannah and Atlanta that was phenomenal for its era, and is not often surpassed even in today's railroading. Eighty miles per hour was frequently registered on the first Nancy Hanks speedometer tape. ## A Verse For This Week

The loss of a friend is like that of a limb. Time may heal the anguish of the wound, but the loss cannot be repaired.—Southey.

Forward, Statesboro

Day by day, slowly but surely, we have financed and built a Statesboro that is moving ahead. We have needed to move for a long time. During the war we were too busy to think about progress. Now we can—and we are.

Let's have a look at a few of the things we are doing. We have nearly finished a new wing on our hospital. This will provide some twenty-five new rooms which are most urgently needed. It will give more space for the normal operation of the hospital. It will give us more opportunity for better health in our community.

We are ready to begin construction on a long-needed swimming pool. The pool project was passed about for several years from one set of hands to another. Everybody made plans but nobody acted. Now the Junior Chamber of Commerce seems to have stopped passing and started acting. Bids for actual construction will be in within a week and it looks as if we are going to get a pool. Perhaps it won't be ready for use this summer, but it's built and ready next spring a lot of kids will be happy—as well as we older folks.

We have organized a "Teen-Age Canteen" that really works. It provides wholesome recreation for the young people. The canteen isn't just organized play. It serves a need which has long been felt but has never been provided for. We have allowed our children to grow up with lack of places to go for entertainment. The "Teen-Age Canteen" has helped that and if we keep it going it will surely help more as time goes by.

We are paving streets, enlarging our sewerage system. We are building new homes by the dozens. We are moving ahead. We don't want to stop here. We need new grandstands for our lighted football field. We can use a lot more hospital space, even with the new wing. We have a lot more sidewalks that need paving as well as new streets.

We could improve our bus and train service. We can use an air-line. We can use more industries. But we are moving ahead. And that's encouraging.

Forward, Statesboro!

Highways For Motorists

Let's give our highways back to the automobile. If you have ever driven on a highway in Bulloch county at night you can't help but agree. Through Bulloch county we have three main highways which handle a large volume of traffic. At this season of the year tourist traffic is particularly heavy, bringing much business to our community.

But our cows are turning motorists away. And we don't blame the motorists a bit. Highways were made—at a large cost to you and to me—to provide a reasonably safe and rapid means of transportation from one point to another. We spend much money and time in planning them so as to eliminate natural hazards such as bad curves or intersecting roads. We make laws to give one vehicle the right of way and allow it to proceed at a legal rate of speed without stopping for vehicles entering from other roads.

We spend money for warning signs, for traffic lights, for building new and safer bridges. We spend money to repair holes in the road and repair worn pavements.

Yet we let our cattle roam the highways day and night. We let them lie on the highways, al-

Yesteryear and Today

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

The Almanac Says the Weather This Week On... TODAY, THURSDAY, July 10, will be fair. FRIDAY, July 11, will be rainy with thunder. SATURDAY, July 12, will be sultry. SUNDAY, July 13, will be stormy. MONDAY, July 14, will be clearing with winds. TUESDAY, July 15, will be hot. WEDNESDAY, July 16, will be cooler, with some rain.

But Don't Blame Us If the Almanac Is Wrong!

Others want different things. We try to hit a happy medium and give you a little of every type of news. The Herald goes to quite a lot of readers from Miami, Fla., to Honolulu, Hawaii, and we want to satisfy every one as much as possible.

Each week we have more news than we can print. If you call and give us some news we'll do our best to print it if we believe it to be of interest. We appreciate your calling very much. But many times we just don't have enough space to go around, so don't feel badly if we have to leave out your item occasionally.

We want you to tell us about what is happening. We appreciate your interest. But forgive us if it isn't always printed. STATESBORO IS GETTING SET for the tobacco market to open. The date has been set for July 24—Thursday. This will be a little early for a lot of our tobacco growers but, in spite of spotty crops and early markets, we still believe it will be a good season.

Sometimes we have to leave out things we would ordinarily print because we only have a certain amount of space available in each week's paper. We make an effort to print local news before we print "foreign" news and we try to make certain we never print anything just to "fill up space." We believe our readers would rather have white space than something that is of no interest.

DIFFERENT TYPES of news appeals to different people, however. Some readers would like to see every page of the Herald filled with society. Some readers would like pages of baseball news.

The time has come for us to decide what we want. Either we should require cattle owners to keep their stock off the highways and give the highways back to the automobiles—for which purpose the highways were built.

Or else we should close our highways and turn them into cattle grazing land. We can't afford to keep killing innocent motorists to satisfy a favored few. Highways are public property and should be used for the public good.

We realize there is grazing land along the edges of our highways. But we also realize Bulloch county has more than enough land to easily feed all our cattle and more.

We realize fences cost money. We know that a law to require cattle to be kept off our highways will incur the disfavor of some few who put personal monetary interests before public interest.

But we realize, too, that lives are pretty valuable things. Highways were made for automobiles. Highways were made to drive on, used as pastures.

It's time we got behind this thing and put our cows back where they belong.

Let's get a law to give our highways back to the automobiles.

By Margaret Charters Lyon
Boys and girls: Read this to yourselves! Try it for yourselves!
By Mrs. F. F. Baker

If you go to the college any afternoon a little before two, you will see a row of bicycles outside the gym. The owners are inside the building changing to swimming suits. Cars drive up letting out a load of children; boys and girls come walking up the road. On each week day from two until three the College pool is open to outsiders. School children pay 10 cents, grown ups 25 cents. Max Lockwood is swimming teacher and the lifeguard. He takes a personal interest in each young swimmer.

The Regional Library reports that there are over a hundred members of the Vacation Reading Club, and that nearly a dozen children already have stars for reading the required number of books. Did you know that the City Dairy Company is one of the largest dairies in Georgia? It may not have the biggest machines, but the milk has as much rich butterfat and as few germs as you will find anywhere. Our exploring trip this week is a visit to the plant on West Main to see how milk is pasteurized and ice cream is made.

A big can of milk just in from the country is poured into a separator. The cream is set aside to be pasteurized and put in bottles for sale. The skimmed milk goes into a big tank with hot walls, the pasteurizing machine. The milk sloshes around in there for half an hour while the germs are being killed. Then it is sucked up a pipe to the cooling machine. It pours in a thin sheet over cold pipes back into a tube that carries it to the bottle.

General Liu's suspicions of treachery are well founded and in fighting the Japs (in which the Chinese are victorious) von Hanau is fatally wounded. He has a short time before identified himself as an American from Wisconsin, and it is understood also that he is an intelligence agent.

The story ends with General Liu's army again on the march. Ryall, Alles and Farjohn traveling with them. "THE GOOD CROP"—by Elizabeth H. Emerson. A story of a Quaker family in Illinois, during the Civil War. "TERROR IN THE TOWN"—by Edward Romm. This story is all that the title implies. Murder strikes the little town of Easterly, and suspicion falls on a poor, dull-witted fisherman. The main question is: Who searched so frantically for the town libraries? What is the secret of the old whaling vessel? And the heroine's own question—is her husband involved?

This rates an "A" on plot, background, motive and characterization. "MISS AGATHA DOUBLES FOR DEATH"—by H. L. V. Fletcher. In different vein from the above, above mystery reviewed above, but no less interesting. Miss Agatha's cousin, Ann, (and her heirs) has her doubts concerning the person who will inherit in case of her death, and consults Miss Agatha. Here we have the murderer in the first chapter, but the problem is to prove it, which is done very neatly.

Verdict: Very good, in an out-of-the-ordinary way. Visit the Public Library.

TRAFFIC TIPS AND QUIPS

"- BUT I WAS RIGHT DEAD RIGHT."

"I was going into that intersection first. I had the right of way—that truck driver should have stopped when he saw me—I was right, dead right!"

"Yes dear—you always were right—the other fellow always wrong. That's why we're here."

You know the kind, you've met him on the road—and ducked. He always barges through traffic when it's a question of split-second judgment. Never anticipates other drivers' actions—just assumes that traffic will give way. Owns the road. Drives with his horn.

He may get away with it for a time, plus a few tickets, because other drivers are more careful, more conscientious. But his kind eventually steps on the gas once too often—and for the last time he is "right—dead right!"

4,000 people died last year because "know-it-all" drivers violated rules of the road and the courtesies of driving. Good drivers never need to hold cemetery post-mortems. They drive carefully and live longer.

DOUBLE RING CEREMONY

The St. Holy Trinity Catholic Church in San Pedro, Calif., was the scene last Thursday afternoon of the marriage of Ellen Garret, daughter of Mrs. Anna Fisher of Philadelphia, Pa., and Shepard Olliff, son of Frank A. Olliff, of Statesboro, when Father Gallagher read the double ring ceremony.

The bride was gowned in a light blue suit with white accessories, and a corsage of a dozen roses added to her loveliness. Her only jewelry was an Amethyst Cross.

Mrs. Frances L. Grover, of San Francisco, Calif., a sister of the groom, was matron of honor. The best man was Mr. E. D. Hill, an old shipmate of the groom.

A reception for thirty-five guests was held at the bride's home following the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom was the center attraction, with gladioli, dahlias and white asters used throughout the home.

The bride and groom will reside temporarily in San Pedro, pending Mr. Olliff's next navy assignment.

ALL'S FAIR

Plumes of crepe myrtle, both pink and white

Are now in full bloom—a lovely sight.

AND I BELIEVE the deepest pink and the loveliest white myrtles are those that practically embrace Lem and Eula Zetterow's home on Mulberry Street.

The watermelon-pink variety is to be seen on every street, but the white ones are rarer. Velvety red giant zinnias mark one border of Malvina Trussell's smoothly-cropped lawn. Full-blown red roses helped brighten the week end on the Levey Tyson's lawn.

And gay petunias gave a wealth of color at T. J. Morris', Lehman Franklin's and Sara Franklin's homes on College Boulevard. But a green green aV mCFH with a green retreat that tempted me with comfortable lawn chairs was on the south side of Josh Zetterow's home.

EVA LEE NEVILLS and daughter, Marilyn, were all set for a wonderful vacation in Chattanooga with Major and Mrs. Michel Lash, but a sudden military order sent the prospective hosts to Denver, Colorado, so there they were in Atlanta. Back home again, they plan this time to go to the beach.

Edna Mae Denard wore white swiss with red dots, trimmed with ruffles.

Carol Grover came out in a yellow broadcloth with brown applique trim and novelty brown buttons.

After the fashion revue we all slipped punch and viewed the baby dainties and gifts in the home shop and thought: "My, what a smart and talented woman!"

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

No "Smog" in Our Town

A lot of folks in our town had been writing letters to the Clarion, complaining about the "smog," or smoky fog, that sometimes blanketed the neighborhood, and made their eyes smart.

So we made an investigation and published a list of the contributory factors! The dump at the end of Maple Street; the canning factory; trash burned outside of home incinerators; and others.

Right away folks started taking action, voluntarily. Closed up the dump, cleaned out their incinerators, got the factory to put in new combustion units—fill there's not a trace of "smog" now.

From where I sit, there's another example of self-regulation. In a way, it's similar to the Brewster's Self-Regulation program. When they hear of a tavern that's causing dissatisfaction to the town, in any way, they see it gets disciplined or closed up. There's nothing like appealing to the folks themselves—if you want action.

Veterans Should Get College Applications In Immediately

Veterans who plan to attend college for the first time next fall under the GI Bill were urged today by the Veterans Administration to arrange immediately for entrance into schools of their choice.

Jack I. Biles, officer-in-charge of the Statesboro Contact Office, pointed out that VA officials forecast another peak registration at the beginning of the next school year. Veterans who wait until the last minute to apply for entrance are running the risk of being "shot out," Mr. Biles said.

The VA official also advised veterans who plan to start their educational training for the first time next fall to apply at once for their certificate of eligibility, and Boy Scout status.

VETERANS CORNER

(Veterans wishing further information than is contained in the below questions and answers may have their questions personally answered by visiting Jack Biles, VA Contact Representative at 21 1/2 East Main Street in Statesboro.)

Q. Do the veteran's rights to a loan guaranty extend indefinitely?

A. No. A guaranty may be had if applied for within ten years from the termination of World War I which has not been declared yet.

Q. In getting a guaranteed loan under the G. I. Bill, must my loan be secured by a lien?

A. Not invariably. Under most circumstances a lien will be required as security for a loan, but there are a few conditions under which a loan may be unsecured.

Q. How much longer can a World War II veteran re-instate National Service Life Insurance without physical examination?

A. The VA will pay for his tuition, books, supplies, fees, and other authorized expenses within certain limitations. A disabled veteran may receive a pension or compensation concurrently.

Q. How much longer can a World War II veteran re-instate National Service Life Insurance without a physical examination?

A. N. S. L. I. term policies may be reinstated without physical examination until August 1. Veterans who have let their policies lapse may reinstate by signing a comparative health statement and paying two monthly premiums.

Q. What benefits, other than subsistence allowance, is a veteran entitled to while pursuing a course of instruction under the G. I. Bill or under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act?

A. The VA will pay for his tuition, books, supplies, fees, and other authorized expenses within certain limitations. A disabled veteran may receive a pension or compensation concurrently.

Georgia Vets Have Borrowed 90 Million

More than 17,000 Georgia veterans have borrowed nearly 90 million dollars in government guaranteed loans since passage of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, according to Jack I. Biles, officer-in-charge, of the Veterans Administration Contact Office at 21 1/2 East Main St., Statesboro.

Home loans continue to set the pace, 1,042 approved loans having been made during the month of May, with a total valuation of $6,350,052. Business loans for this same period totaled 63, with a value of $208,058, whereas 39 farm loans, approximating $90,200, trailed the list.

Loan applications of Georgia veterans are currently being received at the rate of 75 a day, Mr. Biles said.

Twenty Scholarships In Agriculture Will Be Awarded FFA and 4-H

Twenty livestock scholarships, by Sears Roebuck Company, valued at $100 each, will be given to Future Farmers of America members and 4-H club boys who wish to enter the University of Georgia College of Agriculture in September. This was the announcement made this week Dean Paul W. Chapman of the University.

The awards will be based on scholarship character, leadership and general progress in work done in high school as members of FFA chapters or 4-H clubs. To be eligible for the award, each entrant must write a story and submit a summary report of his projects of poultry or livestock, according to the College of Agriculture head.

Application blanks may be secured by writing to Dean Chapman at the College of Agriculture. All applications for scholarships must be submitted by July 1, and all winners will be notified of their selection soon thereafter.

Dean Chapman emphasized that any boy who has studied vocational agriculture or participated in 4-H club project work in Georgia is eligible to enter an application for consideration by the judges.

Only one winner will be selected from any particular county.

New Injunction In Liquor Fight

A new development Friday in the attempt to call a "wet or dry" liquor election in Bulloch county postponed any decisive action on the question until July 25, and required the Ordinary to make a check of the petition for an election presented by the "dry" forces.

Arguments on an injunction granted three weeks ago which prevented the Ordinary from calling an election were scheduled to be heard before Judge Mel Price, of the Atlanta Judicial Circuit, in Ludowick Friday morning.

Judge J. L. Renfro of the Ogeechee Circuit Superior court had previously disqualified himself and placed the case in Judge Price's hands.

The original temporary injunction, granted to the Bulloch County Association for Legal Control, was granted on grounds that the petition was merely a random collection of signatures and did not constitute a true petition. Arguments as to whether this temporary injunction should be made permanent and the petition disqualified were scheduled to be heard Friday but an amendment to the original petition was presented to Judge Price, who postponed the hearing until July 25.

The amendment, filed by W. G. Neville, attorney for the Association for Legal Control, asked for a further restraint on grounds that the petition list was not checked with or against the list of qualified registered voters of Bulloch county. The amendment went on to point out that the Board of Registrars checked the petition only for the number of signatures and did not check the names to see if all were qualified voters.

It said, in part that "... it was not determined that the names... were those of bona fide qualified, registered voters of said county... and the petition (of the dry interests) as filed was not checked for errors, mistakes, or duplication..."

The complaint went on to say that the cards which compose the petition were "mailed without supervision and without any reliable person to vouch for the genuineness or authenticity of the signatures." It further stated that "the method was capable of being abused and susceptible to fraud."

The plea for granting the new restraining order was made up on the grounds as stated above and also that "said certificate of the Board of Registrars saying the petition contained the proper amount of signatures as required by law is not sufficient in law and equity."

Upon signing the second temporary restraining order, Judge Price set the new date as July 25 at 10:30 a. m. at Ludowick. He also instructed the Ordinary of Bulloch county to make a complete check of the petition presented by the dry force and to make a report to him as to whether the names therein were those of qualified voters.

The Ordinary, F. I. Williams, said a survey of the names would begin this week in compliance with Judge Price's order.

The plan for granting the new restraining order was made up on the grounds as stated above and also that "said certificate of the Board of Registrars saying the petition contained the proper amount of signatures as required by law is not sufficient in law and equity."

Swimming Pool Starts At Once

The Statesboro City council will be used and construction will proceed as long as money is available, with construction assured through the stage of getting the concrete bottom laid for the pool. The Jaycees will undertake to raise the remainder of the necessary amount once the construction has begun.

Horace McDougald, speaking as president of the Jaycees, said his group did not want to ask for contributions until work was definitely underway, pointing out that too much money was already "tied up in funds and doing nobody any good."
