The First Mechanical Picker In Bulloch

Cotton picking in Bulloch is easier now to a lot simpler and costing for three growers this year. Shown above is the first mechanical cotton picker to be purchased for use in Bulloch. It is owned jointly by W.H. Smith, W.H. Smith, Jr., and L.P. Joiner. The three men decided each had not enough cotton to warrant a picker but together they saw their way clear to purchase the machine which will pick some fifteen bales per day. The picker was manufactured by International Harvester Corp. and is pulled by a Farmall tractor and was sold by the Statesboro Truck and Tractor Co. And—before we forget—the pretty young lady sitting in the drivers seat atop the machine is Miss Susan West runner-up for the title of Miss Statesboro and third runner-up for the title of Miss Georgia.

Elizabeth Donovan Finds Men's Attire Is Necessary

(Editor's Note: Friends of Miss Elizabeth Donovan, a former resident of Statesboro when she was connected with the Georgia Teachers College here, will be interested to read the following article written by Luke Greene, public relations director for the State Department of Education.)

It seems that while she was in Germany Miss Donovan was shuttled here and there in planes of the Army Transport Service, which is rather particular about regulations, one of them being that all passengers must wear parachutes at certain times, making it necessary that the ladies don slacks.

"This particular incident, however, happened just before Miss Donovan returned home and she had shipped all her slacks ahead and was rushing to Berlin to make a plane connection back to the States.

When she walked up to the desk in the air transport terminal, the enlisted man handling reservations told her if she planned to get on the next plane she would have to get into a pair of slacks, and pretty quick at that. She tried to explain her plight, pointing out that her only slacks had already been shipped home and that she just had to go on that plane.

The reservations clerk listened patiently, finally agreed to summon the pilot who would have the last word.

Finally the pilot arrived and, after surveying her critically, shook his head.

"No," he said, "the regulations say slacks and that's what you'll have to have if you get on my plane."

A rather large gentleman standing in line immediately behind Miss Donovan had listened patiently to the arguments and when he saw the Army man's regulation, he stepped forward and said to the pilot: "I'll be glad to lend them to you so you can make the plane."

Miss Donovan, who was slightly flustered by this time, thanked him sweetly and departed hurriedly to conform to regulations. Although the trousers were several sizes too large, she managed to make the necessary adjustments with safety pins and when the Army transport zoomed across the field a few minutes later Miss Donovan was on it.

Biles said he was advised by Owen that a decision as to which officers were to be closed was reached only after a careful study of geographical location and previous workload.

Personnel in the offices being closed will complete with other VA employees in comparable work for retention rights. Under Civil Service Commission regulations, retention rights are based on the nature of the appointment, whether temporary or permanent; whether an employee has a veteran's preference; the last efficiency rating; and total length of federal service.

Contact offices presently being closed in Georgia are located at Americus, Dublin, La Grange, Louisville, Lawrenceville, Mil-

Group Petitions For Armory Control

A petition in equity asking appointment of a receiver to dispose of the building and property formerly used as a National Guard armory has been filed in Bulloch Superior court.

The petition was filed in the names of Clarence W. Brack, J. A. Wynn and Henry Waters, against the Holding Committee of the Military Association of Bulloch County, composed of J. B. Averitt, W. E. Floyd, and Henry Ellis, and against Horace Z. Smith and the E. A. Smith Grain Company.

It sets forth that a military organization was established here in 1930 and that members paid money taken from their drill pay into a fund to secure an armory. Such a holding was subsequently secured and a holding committee formed to administer the use of the building.

It further sets forth that by virtue of their membership in the military association the plaintiffs are part owners of the armory and that this property was used by the National Guard until its activation in 1940.

Since that time, the petition sets forth, none of the members of the military association have used the building and, the holding committee has directed the course of action for the property without consulting a majority of the members, that the committee has assumed "arbitrary authority over the buildings and over monies of the association. It states that the holding committee has leased the building and granted to H. Z. Smith and E. A. Smith Grain Company an option to purchase the building and the property.

The plaintiffs are requesting the court to force the holding committee to produce all documents, bank accounts, options to purchase, and other papers of the administration before the court for examination and to turn these papers and control of the money and property over to a receiver appointed by the court.

It also requests the court to cancel the option to purchase, to require the receiver to liquidate the holdings of the association and distribute them equally, to prohibit the present holding committee from interfering with the operation of the receiver appointed, and to require E. A. Smith Grain Company to pay the plaintiffs $2500 restitution for damages allegedly sustained to the building while it was under lease.

The case is scheduled to come before the court at the October term.

A Verse For This Week

"Many men and women enjoy popular esteem, not because they are known, but because they are not."—Chamfer.

The New Jail

Bulloch county is contemplating building a new jail. The present structure has served the county for a long time and in its day was certainly modern and up-to-date, and a credit to the community. Age, however, has taken its beauty—and its ability to provide the people of the county with the type of jail they need.

Time and lack of repairs have given us a jail to be ashamed of. A recent grand jury declared it "not fit for human habitation." Credit for this is not to be placed upon the Sheriff, for, with the meagre funds allotted for the upkeep of the structure, he has done remarkably well.

We heartily commend this action on the part of those who are responsible. Few projects of a civic nature are so pressing and so demanding of immediate attention.

As we plan for this undertaking let us not plan blindly and without careful thought. The building constructed will be expected to give long years of service.

The Herald would like to publicly take the lead and go on record calling for a consolidation of the city and county jails.

We are NOT calling for a consolidation of the city and county police systems, but only of the jails. Both police systems would remain separate, as they now are.

We are not calling for city prisoners and county prisoners to be thrown together. The plan we advocate is to allot certain spaces in the new jail for city prisoners and the remaining spaces for county use. Fingerprint files, identification files, scientific police equipment, and other equipment could be installed jointly for joint use.

With two systems working so closely to achieve the same purpose we can see no reason for duplicity. One well-equipped crime laboratory in Bulloch county would adequately serve both systems. Separate office spaces for police officials could be established. The pressing need for a juvenile division of the jail could be taken care of and would serve both city and county.

Cost of the jail could be divided between city and county on the basis of the average number of prisoners and the space allotted to each.

The plan, as we see it, is a good one. The jail is to be constructed near the location of the present structure. Two sites have been proposed: The first is the space next to the city hall, now used as a parking lot. The second is the vacant space to the rear of the present building. Either site seems well suited for the structure. One official has stated that use of the lot immediately behind the present jail would, due to its location on a hill, enable the structure to have leading spaces and garages under the sides of the building, which would provide enclosed spaces for loading and unloading prisoners. The Herald thinks this an excellent suggestion.

Since either location is near the city hall, it would provide no great inconvenience to the police force of the city to operate from headquarters in the jail.

This is only one argument in favor of a combination city-county jail. There would be a large saving in the care and feeding of prisoners. The county now pays the Sheriff a set amount per prisoner per day. City prisoners must be fed by ordering food from a restaurant, the small number of city prisoners not being large enough to warrant the building of kitchen facilities. Consolidation would put all prisoners eating the same meal with the city prisoners, thus saving the county for the number of meals served.

The city-county police radio system which is to be installed soon could function much more efficiently if a joint jail system were installed.

Greater safety for prisoners could be insured. More comfortable and sanitary facilities would be possible. The city jail as it now stands is hardly a fit place to keep a person for any period of time.

The Herald is strongly in favor of a combination city and county jail. We can see many factors in favor of such a move.

And we recommend it to the County Board of Commissioners and the City Council.

A Man Of Vision

One of the speakers at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting last Thursday said an old man was a man of dreams and a young man was a man of vision. He told his listeners very definitely that he preferred to be called a man of vision.

And to us, the speaker—Superintendent of Schools S. H. Sherman for the progress our city makes—is an outstanding example school has made in recent school campus, improvements in

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

The Almanac Says the Weather This Week On... But Don't Blame Us If the Almanac Is Wrong!

TODAY, THURSDAY, August 28, will be hot with showers.

FRIDAY, August 29, will be fair.

SATURDAY, August 30, will bring thunderstorms.

SUNDAY, August 31, will be stormy.

MONDAY, September 1, will be some cooler.

TUESDAY, September 2, will be fair.

WEDNESDAY, September 3, will be fair and warm.

IN OUR DAILY WANDERINGS in search of news we often run into items that we feel are of definite interest but are not sufficiently newsworthy to include on our front page. Often these items find their way into the Uneasy Chair column. And this week is no exception.

In talking with Mayor Gilbert Cone we learned that our observations concerning the courthouse did not go completely unheeded. We pointed out two weeks ago that a friend had suggested painting the outside of our mid-town structure. We disagreed, calling for care of the inside but leaving the outside just as it is. We felt that the courthouse had a sort of charm and beauty that can scarcely be found these days. We wanted to leave it.

The Mayor told us of a tourist, visiting in the city, who came to his business establishment and remarked that the courthouse was one of the most beautiful architectural examples of "southern charm" he had seen. The visitor apparently a professor of history in some northern university, pointed to the good fortune of Statesboro in having such a structure located in the city.

He told the mayor that in his travels he had seen very few buildings that had the "old-time Southern atmosphere" our courthouse possessed.

As we talked with the mayor concerning the courthouse he told us of a plan afoot to save the structure and yet at the same time provide an efficient and modern structure to carry on the functions of county government.

His plan, which he believes will have the approval of the County Board of Commissioners, is to completely remodel the interior of the courthouse, air-conditioning it entirely, or, if that is not practical, air-conditioning the court room.

He pointed to the size of the court room and commented that it should be cut down in size to provide room for more office space and less room for spectators. We agree with him fully here.

Our courthouse is an asset to the community, we believe. As had brought home something on the mayor said, a person can go to the industrial arts department, and others just as progressive in nature.

One of his visions is a commercial department for the high school, so well equipped and staffed that a graduate can step into an office trained and ready for a position as secretary or stenographer.

It is visions like these, backed by drive and hard work, that push us forward. Superintendent Sherman has these qualities. He is an asset to the community and the progress of the school speaks his capabilities.

Fun at Home Good Books Are True Friends

By Margaret Charities Lyon
Boys and Girls: Read this to yourselves! Try it for yourselves!

Do you think that you know all about Georgia Teachers College, the pleasant school on a hill just outside Statesboro? Well, try yourself on this test!

TEST
What classroom is painted rose and green?
Under what will you find the best tool shop in this part of Georgia?

Where can you hear fine records for children and grownups?
If you made a perfect score you can stop reading right now; if you failed, go out to the campus for a visit some time soon.

An airplane view of the College would show that it is laid out like a bicycle wheel, with a fender to which a coon tail is tied. The wheel is oval, around which most of the buildings are laid. The fender is the second street that runs behind the "old campus," with a long tail of road over to the new high school.

You would really enjoy a room-by-room visit through the buildings; a student or faculty member would be glad to take you almost any time. Let me suggest a few sights that you might not find alone.

Anyone would have to feel cheerful in the elementary school, for it was completely repainted this year in a rainbow of colors. Most of you have been in the auditorium of the Administration building. But do you know what you are sitting on—I mean, under the floor? In the basement are two art rooms that make you want to be an artist if you only step inside!

Anderson Hall, with kitchen and dining hall in the basement, students' rooms on the second floor, and classrooms on the third, has more curious things to see than any other spot. In the kitchen are an ice-crushing machine, big stoves that easily cook food for five hundred people, and dish-washing machines that dry dishes, too. Up outside stairs are the many tiny rooms of the music department and a mechanical drawing room with tall tables and skylights for windows. Another building with a surprise is the gym; walking around to the side facing the lake and you will see a door leading to the industrial department, with thousands of dollars worth of metal and wood-working tools.

I haven't even mentioned the skeleton that lives in the science building, the attractive living rooms in the dormitories, or the room where movies are shown and records are played in the basement of the library. You must discover some things for yourselves.

"Yes, the P.T.A. does need you, for child welfare is the one goal of P.T.A. and nothing is more important or essential than the welfare of children and youth. This, then, is an invitation to YOU from the Statesboro Parent-Teacher Association to join it and to participate fully in its program of work. And, Fathers, this is a very special invitation to you, as this year we hope to interest you in becoming an active member of our association which has as its goal the welfare of YOUR child. We are planning three evening meetings during the year so that Fathers and others who wish to attend afternoon meetings may have an opportunity to do so.

"The first meeting of the year will be held Thursday, September 11th, at 8 o'clock in the evening. A short informal reception for the faculty will be held in the lunch room immediately after the meeting. Won't you come and meet your child's teacher? And won't you join our organization? The membership fee is fifty cents, but (and we emphasize this), together with your fifty cents we want your active participation as a member, and you cannot be active unless you attend meetings.

"Meetings will be held regularly each first Thursday of the month unless otherwise stated.

"Yours for a successful P.T.A. for the coming year.

"ROSA"—by Marjorie Sinclair; taken up with his self-pitying musings.
He goes to Kentucky to go in the oil well drilling business with two brothers and, while there, finds a friend in Dr. Wade O'Leary, a Mormon missionary. Dr. O'Leary changes Frank's attitude somewhat, but he becomes even more bitter when O'Leary is killed by mountain moonshiners, and his partners steal all his savings.

Frank goes back to "Bison," and after some ups and downs he becomes an author and presumably marries Jessica, a girl he once met as a child, but never forgot.

"AN ERNIE PYLE ALBUM"—by Lee G. Miller.
Contains 137 pages of photos of Ernie, each with an explanatory paragraph.

"THERE WAS A TIME"—by Taylor Caldwell.
It seems to me that the author has gone in for quantity, with a resulting loss in quality. It is hard for me to review it, but it is not like it.

"Mystery of the Week"—by Shelley Smith.
Mrs. Jolly never would have killed anyone just for the sake of killing, but it was so easy to do. Briefly, it concerns a boy, Frank Clair, English by birth, but brought up in "Bison" (Buffalo, N. Y.). His parents don't like America, and become misers in their attempt to save up money to go back to England. Frank is unpopular in school, both with teachers and pupils, and grows up to despise his fellowmen. He has this attitude all through the book, and there are whole pages devoted to it.

And, then, when her cash was running low, it was so easy to befriend Florence Brown, who had a little money in the postoffice. You must read it for yourself, and find out how Mrs. Jolly's career was brought to an end. Verdict: Excellent, and un- working tools.

Statesboro PTA Campaigns For Support, Ideas, Interest

BROOKLET NEWS

By MRS. JOHN A. ROBERTSON

"To Every Parent, Teacher and Civic-Minded Adult of Statesboro School:
The Statesboro Parent-Teacher Association needs you! It needs you because it needs your ideas, your interest, your zest, your strength, your support and your cooperation. You are needed in our P.T.A. because: Children's needs won't wait. It doesn't take long to grow up, and growing up under undesirable conditions means tragedy to the child and loss to the nation. By joining hands with those who care about what happens to the rising generation of America, you can help to overcome these unwholesome influences.

"Many heads are better than one. The P.T.A. is a democratic organization, charged throughout with democratic principles. As a member YOU will have a chance to pool your thinking with that of others who are giving useful service to a noble cause. In the P.T.A. you, as an individual, COUNT and are counted upon."

"By joining hands with the others who are working for better homes, better schools, and better communities, you can hasten the coming of a better future for all children."

"The P.T.A. provides a niche opportunity for a child's parents to share his school life—to know his teacher, and to become familiar with methods and activities used in the classroom. In this way, teachers and parents work together to build a mutual understanding of the problems of home and school.

"The P.T.A. helps its members as interested taxpayers and loyal supporters of the school, to keep abreast of changes in the school's curriculum, to know and understand its personal policies, to secure information about its financial needs, and to study the laws that govern public education.

"Yes, the P.T.A. does need you, for child welfare is the one goal of P.T.A. and nothing is more important or essential than the welfare of children and youth. Final Plans For Opening City Schools
City School Superintendent S. H. Sherman announced final plans this week for opening of the city school system.
Mr. Sherman said he would make a fifteen-minute radio address tonight over WJNS, beginning at 6:00, and would explain to the public about the new 12-grade school system which begins this year in the city system.
Registration for students will begin Monday morning at 9:00 and continue until every student is registered. The superintendent said. Classes in both elementary and high school will get underway Tuesday morning at 9:00 and continue through the week.
The school lunchroom is scheduled to open Thursday, September 11, and is expected to remain in operation from that time on, Mr. Sherman said.
He advised parents who have children entering school for the first time to furnish the first grade certificate or with evidence attesting the child's age furnished by the County Health Department. The requirement of the state law regarding age limits of children beginning school will be strictly adhered to this year, Mr. Sherman said.

Tobacco Market Will Reopen For Short Sale
The Statesboro tobacco market is expected to reopen at an early date, according to word received here this week. More than 300,000 pounds of the golden leaf remain unsold in this area and Sleppey's Warehouse reports they will seek sufficient graders they will permit the market to reopen for this period.
No definite date for the reopening has been announced but it is expected in the near future.

Gen. William Brougher Speaks In City Tuesday
Brigadier-General William E. Brougher, commanding general of Camp Gordon and hero of the Pacific, will speak in Statesboro Tuesday.
General Brougher, who has filled more than a hundred and twenty speaking engagements since his release from a Japanese prison camp, will come to Statesboro as guest of the Lions Club and will attend a luncheon at noon at the Rushing Hotel given in his honor. Heads of the Senior Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber, Rotary Club and other distinguished guests will join the Lions at the luncheon. At 1:45 the General will speak at the Georgia Theatre where he will be presented by Congressman Prince H. Preston. The program is open to the public and high school students of Statesboro High and Teachers College will be special guests.
General Brougher, though a native of Mississippi, calls Decatur, Georgia, his home. In 1941 he was assigned to command the 11th Division and was made a Brigadier-General. In December, 1941, the 11th Division engaged in combat with the Japanese. After the surrender of Batjan, General Brougher was taken prisoner. He spent his time by writing a book of verse, "The Long Dark Road," which is an emotional history of prison camp experience in poetic interpretation.

The First Baptist Church of Statesboro, together with 20 other Baptist churches in the Ogeechee River Association, are sponsoring the series of tent-meetings as a climax to the "Ogeechee River" Association For Christ" campaign which has just been completed. Burton's Ferry Highway Now Officially U. S. 301

Thirty years of working and dreaming paid off this week as the Burton's Ferry Highway Association was officially notified that the highway had been granted U. S. Number 301.
The announcement came in a letter to Hoke S. Brunson, secretary of the Burton's Ferry Highway Association.
Early in July of this year the American Association of Highway Officials approved the numbering of this route as a federal highway with the provision that the South Carolina Highway Commission approve the designation for a portion of the road which passes through that state.
Previously, all other State highway boards had approved such action but the South Carolina board withheld action pending a decision on some possible change in the route.
At a meeting held Thursday however, the group gave its stamp of approval to the project and now the highway is officially "U. S. 301." Mr. Brunson said his group was "very happy" over winning approval of the federal number and said the first step will be to get the white and black highway markers in place all along the route.
The route has its beginning at Baltimore, Md., and continues through Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and into Georgia where the Burton's Ferry bridge near Sylvania, from Sylvania to Claxton, Claxton, Jesup, Nahutta, and on into Florida.

Mr. Brunson said civic leaders from cities along the route would meet in Statesboro at an early date and discuss plans for a celebration to be held in Statesboro to officially "open" the route.
In addition to Mr. Brunson, two other officials of the Burton's Ferry Highway Association are from Statesboro. They are Alfred Dorman, president of the group, and Fred Hodges, treasurer of the organization.

Age Limits For School
Bulloch county schools this year will strictly adhere to state regulations regarding ages of children entering school, W. E. McElveen, county superintendent of schools, announced this week.
In a joint statement issued with Miss Maude White, visiting teacher for Bulloch schools, the county superintendent warned parents that state regulations are printed in each school attendance register and that they would be carried out. He asked parents not to embarrass the principals or the teachers by asking special favors in letting an underage child enter school.
State regulations require that a child must become six years old before entering school or within 60 school days after the opening of the term. The regulations require teachers to accurately register each child, including his or her true age.
With school opening September 8, children who become six years old after December 2, 1947, will not be eligible to enter school this term, the announcement said.
The statement pointed out that a policy had been adopted by school officials requesting that all children entering school for the first time present a birth certificate to the teacher upon parents' day. They also called upon parents to cooperate in sending children to school who are of the proper age.
