FOR JUDGE SUPERIOR COURT To the People of Bulloch County: I am a candidate for Judge of the Superior Courts of the Ogeechee Judicial Circuit, subject to the rules of the forthcoming State Democratic Primary.

As your Solicitor General for twelve years, I undertook to render an energetic, fair, and honest service to the people. For the past seven years, and since my service as Solicitor General ended, I have been engaged in the general practice of law, making known during these years, my intention to ask for your support in this race. I feel that my experience as a lawyer and the contacts with the people of this circuit, qualify me for the duties of this office; and I pledge to you a faithful and efficient administration of it.

May I depend upon you for your help, support, and vote in my campaign. Thanking you, I am, Sincerely yours, W. G. NEVILLE.

STATEMENT FROM EDITOR

We know that you will want to give our society editor "the work" this week. You whose party or personal was left out of the Herald are going to feel discriminated against and will want to get it out of your system. Please don't call our society editor. There just wasn't enough advertising to publish eight pages, and too much society to get in six - so there you are . . . Our phone number is 421 - call us . . . We can take it!

THE BULLOCH HERALD DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF STATESBORO AND BULLOCH COUNTY VOLUME VIII Statesboro, Georgia, Thursday, March 18, 1948 Number 18

TYPICAL OF SOUTH GEORGIA farmers is Henry Hodges, shown on the porch of his home off the West Side school road, just beyond Bethlehem Church, looking out over the wet and soggy fields that need to be tilled that his crops for this year might be made. Mr. Hodges cultivates 55 acres of good land. Right now, he and Mrs. Hodges are half-sick with colds. He says that he had finished up about half of his work and "it looks like I'm going to have to do it all over again." Not more than one-third of the land in this section is broken. Normally, farmers would have been through and had their corn planted by the 15th, and cotton by the 25th of this month. (Cut Courtesy, The Atlanta Constitution.)

Brief...But News

DONALD FLANDERS IN SPELLING BEE Donald Flanders will represent the Statesboro High School at the annual Spelling Bee to be held here this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the high school. Young Flanders is an eighth grade student and was the winner in the Statesboro school in an elimination contest. The county winner will compete in a district contest to determine who shall go to Atlanta for the finals in the state contest. The county prize is a $25 bond.

MARGARET SHERMAN SINGS AT BLUE KEY When Governor Melvin E. Thompson was installed as a member of the Blue Key National Honorary Fraternity at the University of Georgia on the evening of March 14, Margaret Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Sherman, entertained the fraternity with two songs. Francis Allen, also of Statesboro, is president of the fraternity and presided at the installation ceremonies.

AMERICAN LEGION AUX. TO MEET MARCH 23 The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held Tuesday evening, March 23, at the Jockey Hotel. All members are urged to attend.

EASTER MUSIC AT METHODIST CHURCH The annual program of Easter music will be presented Sunday evening by the Methodist choir in the service beginning at 7:30. Mrs. Roger Holland is director of the choir.

FIRE ALARM CORNER There is no fire alarm corner this week. Fire Chief Logan Hagan reports a quiet week this week, with no alarms turned in. For the same period last year there were no alarms turned in.

SARA NEVILLE TO REPRESENT STATESBORO Sara Neville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Neville, will represent the Statesboro High School in the First District literary meet to be held here April 16-17. She won the preliminary contest held at the high school last week.

Service Coach Line Asks For Higher Rates In Fares The Georgia Public Service Commission announced this week that Service Coach Line, Inc., which operates through Statesboro, has filed a petition asking the commission to increase its bus fares from the present rate of two cents per mile to two and one-fourth cents, and that matter has been assigned for hearing before the Commission at the State Capitol in Atlanta on Tuesday, April 6, 1948, at ten o'clock.

Chairman Walter R. McDonald said that the Commission will hear testimony from any interested party at the hearing on April 6th.

Blue Devil Band Parades for Irish

W. O. W. to Meet At Masonic Hall Tonight at 7:30

The Statesboro Camp of the Woodmen of the World will hold its regular meeting in the Masonic Hall tonight at 7:30. Rufus Anderson, local commander of the Camp, urges all members to attend.

The Protection Degree will be conferred upon a large class of candidates who have been elected to membership in the fraternity.

Red Cross Drive Short Of Quota

H. R. Christian, chairman of the 1948 Red Cross Drive in Bulloch County, announced yesterday that this county is falling behind in raising its quota.

"About 50 percent of the $4,500 quota is raised," Mr. Christian said, "with less than two weeks to work."

Mr. Christian suggests that those who have not been given an opportunity to contribute through the regular channels mail their checks to Mr. L. D. Collins or to him.

Bulloch county has always been in the "quota filled" column in heart appeals and, certainly, we cannot let 1948 be an exception.

With the world in such a state of agitation it is easy to realize that we, in communities like Statesboro, are blessed—and it is part of our responsibility to help the nation relieve the sufferings of others less fortunate.

Visualize, if you can, the world without the Red Cross. The prospect is frightening. Misses Maude White and Marie Wood, of the Laboratory School, attended the State Visiting Teachers Conference held in Atlanta last week.

The Portals girls' team won the girls division of the district tournament.

"DEAR GOD, IF IT BE THY WILL" - prayer citizens of Bulloch county as they gathered at the Bethlehem Primitive Baptist Church on the West Side road last Thursday in a general prayer and fast meeting to ask for sunshine in this section, and for peace among peoples of the world. (Cut Courtesy, The Atlanta Constitution.)

H. J. McCormack Named County Hospital Manager

Mr. Henry J. McCormack, of Statesboro, has been named manager of the Bulloch County Hospital.

Mr. James Bland, city engineer, this week announced that West Main Street from College Street is to be improved.

Plans call for curb and gutters, sidewalks and the widening of the pavement. Work will begin as soon as the steel forms arrive.

Negro Singer Sings Spirituals at Monday Rotary Club Meeting

On Monday of this week local Rotarians heard the mid favorite spiritual, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," sung with the equivalent of the "new look."

John Redding, negro singer of Thomasville, Ga., sang a program of spirituals, including a special version of "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." Other songs on the program were "Swanee," "Old Adam Had No Mammy," "Make Heaven My Home," "Old Black Joe," and a novelty number, "Hole in the Ground and the Green Grass Growing All 'Round."

The negro singer has appeared before 211 civic clubs in the state and has sung in every city in Georgia except Savannah.

C. B. McAllister in Washington, D. C., on Anti-Inflation Meet

Mr. C. B. McAllister, president of the Georgia Bankers Association and executive vice-president of the Sea Island Bank here, is in Washington, D. C., today to attend a meeting of all state banking association presidents and secretaries in the United States with officials of the Treasury Department.

The meeting is called by the Treasury Department to consider the cooperative program to hold down inflation in promoting the sale of Series E bonds.

Then...What of Our Teachers College?

WE HERE in Statesboro are prone to take for granted the assets we possess—Georgia Teachers College.

Remember when it, as a part of the University System, first faced the educational field of the nation, and it was rumored that our neighbor, Savannah, wanted the college moved down there, and we got pretty upset about it.

Well, that time it worked out OK. The University System was readjusted into the good graces of the accreditation of colleges, and today our college is as good a teachers college as there is in the country, and we are justly proud of it, even though we do take it too much for granted.

Like a precious possession, we must guard it with our lives.

There is an agitation now being maneuvered in Savannah that could just as easily as be deprived of our Georgia Teachers College being denied of its reasons for existence.

We are not given to crying "Wolf...wolf" but consider these facts:

The citizens of Savannah are beating the drum for the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia to hold an open hearing over the transfer of Dr. Glenn W. Sutton from Georgia Teachers College to the University of Georgia back to the campus at Athens.

Regardless of all the points made by the various interested groups in Savannah, there appears to be only one real issue—whether Savannah is to have a permanent four-year branch of the University System or not.

We all know that Savannah wants a four-year college. They recognize it as the great asset it can be. It is only natural that our neighbors should desire such a college financed by the state. But we must admit that many other cities would immediately put in their bids if the regents were to announce that new branches were to be established.

To us, it is highly questionable for local groups to high pressure the regents into deviating from their settled policy of trying to strengthen the various units already established.

Our neighbors are pointing out the Federal Government has given the regents sufficient buildings for a new college. This is far from the case. The plant at Hunter Field used by the Savannah Branch of the University of Georgia is not well suited for a permanent educational institution. It was built as an army air base and planned as a temporary installation to serve only for the duration of the war. If the regents were to conclude that the First District needed another four-year college, millions of dollars would be required to build a permanent physical plant. This expenditure is out of the question when the various units of the system are struggling to meet the demands of rising operational costs. In fact, the services of the system are sufficient without the additional burden of building a new branch.

And suppose Savannah should be successful in her agitation, and gets a permanent four-year branch of the University System, with its accompanying outlay of more than a million dollars. Then—what of Georgia Teachers College?

When Georgia has found it possible to sustain the University System as it now exists in a manner in which all citizens can take real pride, then will be time enough for consideration of undertaking the additional financial burden of establishing new branches.

And suppose Savannah should be successful in her agitation, and gets a permanent four-year branch of the University System, with its accompanying outlay of more than a million dollars. Then—what of Georgia Teachers College?

And Now for the Little Girls

About two weeks ago we "lifted" Harold Martin's column from The Atlanta Constitution on "What Makes a Boy Tick." We have no intention of making a habit of "lifting" Mr. Martin's columns for use in our paper (though it is an easy way to fill these columns), but he almost makes it impossible to ignore this one on the little girls. So, with a word of appreciation to Mr. Martin, we "lift" his column on the little girls. We are using it just as we used it, with his asides in parentheses.

THAT PIECE HERE a few days ago, about what makes little boys tick, inspired several folks around town to do a similar treatise on little girls. The following is from the smooth-flowing typewriter of Mildred Austin Finch, 525 Hardenford Ave., with comments, in parentheses, by me which something in the nature of rebuttal. I trust that Mrs. F. will not be angry with me for losing up a pretty good job of writing. Anyway, introducing Mrs. Finch:

"A girl baby begins to learn in the first few minutes of life that the way to get what she wants is to cry for it." (The trouble is nobody under the sun knows what a girl baby wants, or any other baby for that matter. Or any female of any age, while we are on the subject. Females like to cry just because a good cry makes them feel better.)

"After that," Mrs. Finch resumes, "tears are produced at just the right moment, in the right amount, to gain anything she may fancy under the shining sun... or moon, either, for that matter." (I know one who doesn't cry for what she wants. She slugs whoever has it until he hands it over to keep from getting his ribs caved in. She has the face of an angel off a valentine, the temper of a wildcat, and a right hook like the kick of a horse. That's what comes of having tough little 5-year-old boys and sweet little 4-year-old girls in the same family. The little girls get tougher, but the little boys don't get any sweeter, so far as I ever noticed.)

"A girl is mother's little helper from age six months to six years, during which time she plays dishes three feet high on the kitchen table and smashes half of them the first try... leaves her gum on the living room chairs and entertains guests by showing off the wonderful, and sometimes startling—things that are stored away in dresser drawers." (Grits are daddy's little helpers, too. They spend hours tying knots in his shoestrings, and they help him to smell sweet by pouring a bottle of Mama's perfume into his shirt drawer. They also love to throw his hairbrush—well, any plumber knows where girl babies like to throw hairbrushes. Though this is not confined to girl babies, come to think of it.)

"By the time she is tall enough to see over the kitchen sink and wash dishes, or strike a match without setting the house on fire, she discovers she is a princess who was born only to look beautiful and be loved. But not work." (This transformation does, indeed, take place, and the strange part about it, instead of her father automatically becoming a king as she attains royal rank, he becomes, instead, a humble and loyal subject. Or she expects him to, anyway. Sometimes he becomes an old man who does not like to be languid young princesses around the house. Then another use is found for the hairbrush.)

"About this time she begins to imitate her mother in many things because she thinks if mother is right daddy she must be a pretty wonderful pattern to follow." (But she secretly feels that if she doesn't catch something better than daddy, she will throw him back.)

"A girl is crafty and inventive. When there is work to do she suddenly discovers there are less-sons which she forgets. And then you find her flat on her stomach on the floor, reading a comic book, or cutting horse pictures out of magazine ads.)

"If she needs money for anything, from an ice cream cone to an evening dress, she can always resort to her first trick... big, diamond-drop earrings." (And if both these fail she has another weapon, that look of patient martyrdom, which she wears around the house like some tragic actress of the old school, pointedly ignoring her father, and being excessively polite and distant if he tries to draw her into conversation. This is worse than either tears or flattery, and sends a man stomping from the house sometimes, swearing that he is not going to play straight man to a 13-year-old tragedienne. He generally comes back, bringing whatever it was she wanted in the first place and the joint is all sunshine again in a flash.)

"If there were no little boys to cut hearts from trees, any little girl would be reluctant to keep clean. While she was still in her cradle her Fairy Godmother whispered: 'Opposites attract, my dear... keep yourself clean and beautiful and you will never lack male admirers.'" (While she was at it, Fairy Godmother might have mentioned something about going around in blue jeans rolled to the knee, with a bunch of bubble gum protruding from her kisser, and a yo-yo darting out in all directions, endangering the front teeth of any young male admirer who might come within range.)

"Little girls have tongues tied in the middle and loose at both ends, to cover up the silences of those first bashful beaux..." (And to keep the telephone tied up so long that the neighbors on the party line break in with language that no little girl should hear.)

"Every time a baby girl is born we are reminded again that God said in the long ago: 'It is not good for man to be alone,' and he made Eve to keep Adam company... and to give him something to blame things on." (No rebuttal to that one, Mrs. Finch. And thanks for writing.)

It might be quite coincidental—it is not for us to say—but it is entirely possible that God answered their prayers, for we cannot deny that since Friday of last week until this was written on Monday the sun has shone warm and beautiful.

In that service the elders admonished their peoples—"let us be unceasing in our prayers"—

"Oh Lord, Thy will be done." "If it be Thy will, let there be sunshine."

More than 125 citizens of Bulloch county—farmfolk with their future at stake—met at the Bethel Primitive Baptist Church to petition their Lord.

In deep humility, quiet sincerity, and in God-fearing seriousness, these people laid their petition

The Almanac Says the Weather This Week On...

TODAY, Thursday, March 18, will be unsettled. 1st Quarter moon.
FRIDAY, March 19, will be cooler.
SATURDAY, March 20, will be fair.
SUNDAY, March 21, will be fair. Palm Sunday.
MONDAY, March 22, will be stormy.
TUESDAY, March 23, will be rainy.
WEDNESDAY, March 24, will be cooler. FULL MOON.

... But Don't Blame Us if the Almanac Is Wrong

Best power of sunshine! genial day. What balm, what life are in thy ray! To feel thee is such real bliss. That, had the world no job but this, To sit in sunshine calm and sweet, It were a world to exist. For man to leave it for the gloom, The deep, cold shadow of the tomb.

—MOORE.

Last week Bill Boring and Hugh Stovall, of The Atlanta Constitution, spent two days in this community. Mr. Boring is a staff writer for the Constitution and Mr. Stovall is a photographer. They attended the prayer service at the Bethlehem Primitive Baptist Church on Thursday of last week.

Mr. Boring and Mr. Stovall told us that they had never attended a service so impressive in its simplicity, its sincerity and its seriousness. Their story and pictures appeared in Friday's and Sunday's papers.

While here, we let Mr. Boring occupy the Editor's Uneasy Chair and we present here a story he did of Mrs. Olliff Boyd, of Statesboro.

HORSE TRADING "SHARPENS WITS"
Pettie Mrs. Olliff Boyd had rather sit in a bull session of horse traders than gossip over the backyard fence.

In this city where some folks still prefer horseback to the automobile, she is recognized as one of the shrewdest horse traders in the business.

Most any day you can find her at the Boyd Stables—jodup-lead, whip in hand, and perhaps looking into a mare's mouth.

She married into the trade, she says, 10 years ago. "I'd like to see anybody marry a horse trader," she says, "and fall to learn all about his business."

But she loves it! Loves its dust, its noises and even its smell, which, she says, eventually gets to be about the same thing as Evening in Paris.

"First thing I do when I go to another town," she says, "is hit for the stockyards—just to look over what they've got. Incidentally, if the place is new to you, you pick up new friends. People who love horses are all sort of members of a great fraternity."

Mrs. Boyd says that a woman who loves horses, loves bridge and loves music can always make friends anywhere she goes. She loves all three.

Horse trading fascinates her, she says, because it's like a game—"you try to hide the faults of your own stock and play up its values."

At least, she says, that's the technique when you're up against a professional trader. In average selling, such as a mule sale to a farmer, it's straight over the board. You let the man know exactly what he is getting for his money. "It has to be that way," she says, "because your business keeping in mind at all times that it should be "Lord, Thy will be done."

You'll seldom find a cheater among them, Mrs. Boyd says. Telling an animal's age is one of the simpler arts of horsetrading, Mrs. Boyd says. The skill comes in judging where an animal is mooned (blind at certain times of the moon), has good legs and good wind.

More Pilots Send In Contracts For 1948

C. B. McAllister, president of the Statesboro Athletic Association, this week stated that every consideration is to be given the Teachers College baseball players and that they will be given preference over out-of-state applicants, provided they can play ball as well.

Since last week, contracts have been received from four more players, including Nicholas Galano, of Middleboro, Mass., who has played with the Middleboro "Ramblers" in the Twilight League; Joseph A. Perico, of Elrose, Park, Ill., 160 pound, 5' 7" player, who claims 18 home runs in 18 games (he played with the Camp Stewart club during 1944); Charlie Thompson, who is now at the University of Chattanooga, with experience in the Industrial League, New London, Conn.; and Joe Kratzer, of Middleburg, Pa.

"Sinky" Hall's contract was in Mr. McAllister's file last week and this week Statesboro fans can be assured that "Sinky" will be back with the Pilots this year.

According to Mr. McAllister, several players want to come here. One is James Dillon, who played with the Air Corps team at San Antonio, Texas; the other is Bill Yensil, of Dayton, Ohio, now at Miami University, who received his baseball training at Jack Rossetter's baseball school at Coco, Fla.

Vidalia has withdrawn from the Ogeechee League and league directors now have an application from another city to join the league. No action has been taken yet on this new application.

TO THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY
I am a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly of Georgia, subject to the rules of the Democratic Party, in the State Primary, to be held September 8, 1948; and I shall appreciate your support in my race. Every consideration will be given to agricultural, business and school interests of our people should I be elected.

Respectfully yours,

All's Fair

WELL, FOLKS, after a little visit, Jane is back on the job. I will not bore you with the grueling, grisly or gory details of my trip and will dismiss it curtly by saying I didn't have a good time, nor were my expenses paid. However, out of respect for my hosts on said occasion, I went to them uninvited, they were as cordial as one could expect under the circumstances and, upon reflection, I admit they showed amazing patience with a guest who stubbornly clung to a light cord and pulled it frantically upon occasion. Now, since I have an amazingly good-natured boss (just hold it, Leode), that the kind of psychology John Mooney fed me out where I've been) I'm going to express my appreciation for the lovely courtesies, flowers, magazines, candies, lingerie, and handkerchiefs, oh so lovely cards, etc., that were showered on me while away and that have continued to arrive since my return to 125 North Main Street (Somehow that has all the pompous sound of No. 10 Downing Street.) I close this episode by saying that I am quite well, thank you, and I hope to see you soon.

A LITTLE NOTE reached me last week from Norfolk, Virginia, saying, "Look what we've got! You'll think we're only brought! Or exaggerating! Maybe, but just know there never was a cuter baby! Baby's name is Cheryl Jane and her birthday was March 2, 1948, and her proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Macon, Jr." That makes grandparents of Bill and Fanny Macon who made friends while living here.

FANNIE SMITH, with Marian Olliff, Lena Belle Foy, Maxanne Foy and Fay Smith, entertained at an elaborate tea for Addie Dunnaway, was called to Thomasville a few days before because of the illness of her brother, Harvey Trice. Wednesday afternoon about time for the first of over 200 guests to arrive at Fannie Mae's, she broke the news to them that she had walked out on her own party. That night, Liz called her mother and in the course of the conversation said, "Mother, there were seventeen vases of flowers."

WHEN WILLIE MATHEWS and Ester Barnes had a bridge party for the bride and groom-elect, places were marked by clever descriptive verse. Addie's read: "Next Thursday night you'll wear a fine train, let's hope by then it ceased to rain." Addie collected all the place cards and had them autographed for her scrapbook.

SUNDAY P. M. I almost had a relapse. One caller told about marriage that had, just taken place and would only add that they were quite important people. Fortunately, my next caller lessened the tension by revealing that Chuck Mathews and Mrs. Kennedy were quietly married. They had attended both Sunday School and church services and Brother Seron's comment was, when called to perform the ceremony, "You surely kept straight faces at service for people contemplating such a step." Before the "I do's" had been made, Dub Lovett was on the phone calling Horace McDougald and the gang collected to follow the popular couple as they headed South for Florida and sunshine.

UNIVERSITY NOTE: Dekle Banks appeared at the "Sleazy Dance" modestly clad in red flannel underwear, a tux coat and black face. Billy Kennedy was a chubby boy in short pants and a bow tie.

MARGARET SHERMAN again backs in honors, she has been elected to the National Music Fraternity, Sigma Alpha Iota.

"TAINT FAIR," My dog got run over while I was away and Doc and Dorothy Caroline Mooney had an addition to their dog family, a lovely black cocker spaniel, and how tie.

BEAU GESTE, Jean Cone's (Mrs. C. E.) had difficulties this wet weather. Again and again he tried to bury a leftover, but each time the water bubbled up as he dug. Finally, he looked up at his mistress as if to protest, "This is a fine state of affairs when a dog can't even bury a bone!"

As ever, JANE.

BETA SIGMA PHIS SPONSOR SPRING FASHION SHOW
A style extravaganza calculated to introduce the new look in such eye-catching manner that you get overboard and array yourself like one of Solomon's lilies, will be presented by members of the Beta Sigma Phi Thursday evening, March 25, at the Statesboro Woman's Club, according to Miss Imogene Flanders, publicity director for her sorority.

The feminine coterie of models who will fashion beach-wear, afternoon frocks and dine and dance lovelies are Inez Stephens, Virginia Akins, Charlotte Ketchum, Imogene Thigpen, Mrs. Buddy Barnes, Mrs. Hal Macon, Jr., and Mrs. Lehman Franklin.

Stores sponsoring them are Henry's, Minkovitz, The Fair Store and Brady's Department Store.

Men models whose modestly evident accounts for the announcement will display men's fear for Heisenberg, Men and Boys' Store, Donaldson and Smith Clothing Store and Henry's.

The club room will, for the evening, assume the appearance of a swanky night club and high school majorettes will serve as cigarette girls. Door prizes will be given. The proceeds of this interesting entertainment will be donated to the city-wide recreational program.

Others invited were Dr. and Mrs. Judson Ward, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kennedy, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jones, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Winburn, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Averitt and Miss Frieda Gerant.

FOUR-TABLE LUNCHEON HONORS BRIDE-ELECT
Mrs. Ronald J. Neil and Miss Sara Hall honored Miss Addie Dunnaway at a luncheon-bridge Friday at Mrs. Neil's home.

White and pink camellias were used throughout the rooms and the dining table was especially attractive with its blue bowl full of white camellias in the center and candelabras with blue tapers on either side. The individual tables were decorated with blue candles in low brass holders which were surrounded with pink and white camellias.

Attractive cards marked each guest's place and after they enjoyed the lovely luncheon, they played several rounds of bridge.

Miss Dunnaway's gift was a pair of handmade outwork pillowcases. Miss Bill Adams won a pair of handmade, hemstitched pillowcases for high. Mrs. Bob Winburn received a linen roll cover for cut, and Mrs. Sam Rice was awarded a set of three linen kitchen towels for low.

Miss Dunnaway wore a striking alphabet print dress with a large picture hat and a corsage of pink perfection camellias.

BRIDE, GROOM-ELECT ENTERTAINED AT BRIDGE
Mrs. E. L. Barnes and Mrs. C. B. Mathews entertained in honor of Miss Addie Dunnaway and Jack Averitt with five tables of bridge at Mrs. Barnes' home Thursday evening.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out, using camellias and gladioli. The place cards were unusual in that they had no names on them, and guests found their places by searching for verses on the place cards that fitted them.

The hostesses' gifts to the young couple were two Grand Baroque bread and butter spreaders.

Mrs. Ronald J. Neil won a candlewick mayonnaise set for ladies' high. Mrs. Jack Broucek received

MR. AND MRS. OLIN SMITH ENTERTAIN AT BREAKFAST BROTHERED COUPLE
Miss Addie Dunnaway and Jack Averitt were guests of honor at a breakfast given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Smith Thursday morning.

The rooms were decorated with pink camellias, gladioli and gladioli, and in the dining room a green and white scheme was carried out. The dining table decorations centered around a miniature bride and groom elevated on a pedestal, beneath which there was an arrangement of white camellias, white flowering peach, and snow drops.

At each place, there was a nosegay tied with white satin

VETERANS WIVES' PROGRAM CENTER ON SOUVENIRS
Mrs. Marvin S. Pittman entertained the Veterans' Wives' Club Thursday evening at her home. A large bowl of jonnis and baby's breath sprigs adorned the table at the far end of the spacious living room and the other tables were filled with war souvenirs which was the subject of the program.

There was a business meeting led by the president, Mrs. Hal King, after which the members displayed their souvenirs and gave explanations about the origin of each item.

Among the displays were silk tablecloths, kimonas, mandarin coats, figured fans, fragile tea sets, lacquerware, jade figures, embroidered sandals, uncut stones and scenes of pagodas and gardens from China and Japan; hammered silver pins and bracelets from Peru; handmade gloves from Germany and France, a Mauer automatic pistol, a hand-crocheted sweater, large swastika flag, Hummel figurines, and a Rosenthal china demi-tasse set from Germany.

There was an opal bracelet, wool vest coat and beaded evening bag from India, rhinestone and topaz bracelet, topaz pendant and pin from Czechoslovakia, bracelets of British coins, woven Russian house slippers used to save scarce leather shoes and man yother exquisite hand-made pieces. These trophies were passed around for all to examine.

Mrs. Pittman served ice cream covered with chocolate syrup and sprinkled with nuts, assorted home-made cookies and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Winburn, man were special guests for the evening.

Members present were Mrs. James Griffith, Mrs. Robert Woodall, Mrs. Tom Dykes, Mrs. Charles Wireman, Mrs. E. E. Bolton, Mrs. Homer L. Foreman, Mrs. Cecil Hawley, Mrs. Albert Odom, Mrs. J. U. Bulloch County Farm Bureaus

JOHN R. COLE IS WEST SIDE FARM BUREAU SPEAKER

Indications are John R. Cole, the director of pecan research work at the Albany experiment station, will be the speaker at the West Side Farm Bureau Tuesday night, Paul Nesmith, president, announces.

Mr. Cole stated to Mr. Nesmith he planned to be at West Side if approval from his organization could be procured. Mr. Nesmith had invited Mr. Cole to the West Side meeting because of the interest there in spraying and fertilizing pecans. However, Mr. Nesmith stated any pecan growers in the county would be welcome as guests to the meeting. Mr. Cole is considered the outstanding authority in the state on pecans.

The meeting will be at the West Side club at 7:30 p. m.

W. C. Cromley, who has kept and maintained the rainfall for Bulloch county since 1908, will also be on the West Side program.

Mr. Nesmith stated his group was interested in finding out the rainfall by months, especially during the growth season.

The Sinkhole Farm Bureau set up corn and cotton contest this week. Each man entering either of the contests put up $5 as part of the premium money with the understanding that the three highest producers would get the money in the end.

J. R. Bowen, Delmas Rushing, C. D. Rushing, H. H. Godbee, H. G. Brown, Jim H. Strickland, and G. B. Bowen all entered the cotton contest. They also plan to enter the state five-acre contest.

Those entering the corn contest were C. D. Rushing, Delmas Rushing, G. B. Bowen, J. V. Anderson, George Strickland, H. G. Brown, Cleve McCorkle, H. H. Godbee, Jim H. Strickland, J. R. Bowen, and J. R. Bowen.

W. L. C. W. ZETTEROWER ENTER CORN CONTEST

The Ogeechee Farm Bureau added W. L. Zetterower and C. W. Zetterower to their list of corn contestants to bring the total in that chapter to 14. They also made plans at their meeting Tuesday to operate the canning plant this year. The free supper system was set up to start at their April meeting with J. A. Hart, Herman Deal, and W. L. Zetterower as host.

Warmock chapter added M. M. Rushing, C. I. Wynn, W. P. Anderson, and Elmer Yarbrough to their list of cotton contestants to make a total of 10. Several were added to their corn contest, including Mr. Yarbrough, Harold Wynn, W. P. Anderson, Otis Groover, Billy Simmons, Madison Nesmith, and Randolph Deal. They have 17 in this contest.

179 DEEP WELLS DRILLED IN BULLOCH COUNTY IN RECENT MONTHS

That Bulloch county citizens are interested in improving health conditions may be seen in the fact that during recent months 179 deep wells have been drilled in the county.

Lester Nesmith, local well-driller, says that perhaps there are many others in the county, but that he can account for this many as he has a list of them. He says he is drilling more wells all the time, just as fast as he can get to them.

G. L. Johnston, extension engineer, found only 56 homes with running water in the county in 1935, but in 1945 this had increased to 514 homes. Mr. Johnston says this figure would probably be near 1,200 homes with electric pumps and windmills at the present.

Most of these homes with deep wells, or with running water, have installed bathrooms and kitchen facilities to take advantage of this health and labor-saving convenience. Mr. Nesmith thinks that at least 224 or more have wells 300 feet or more deep.

This trend toward deep wells is also an indication that Bulloch county livestock growers are making an effort to supply cleaner drinking water for their hogs and cattle. Veterinarians have expressed the belief that many of the recent losses in hog herds have been due to contaminated water. The state veterinarian expressed the belief that most of the recent outbreak was due to mud and filthy watering places.

With some 160 ponds in the county, the running streams, the wells being drilled, these livestock men are doing something about the contaminated water condition for their hogs and cattle.

FRENCH KNOTTERS CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. CONE

The French Knotters Sewing Club met with Mrs. Charles E. Cone Tuesday afternoon of this week. Mrs. Cone used hycanthus, jonquils and camellias, mixed with spirea, for decorations.

Mrs. J. W. Cone was a guest for the afternoon and helped serve cherry pie with whipped cream, nuts and coffee.

Other ladies present were: Mrs. Fred T. Lanier, Mrs. R. L. Cone, Mrs. J. A. Addison, Mrs. C. P. Olliff, Mrs. Lester Brannen, Mrs. C. B. McAllister, Mrs. A. M. Braswell, Mrs. L. M. Durden, Mrs. Howard Christian, Mrs. Rufus Brown, Mrs. Lowell Mallard and Mrs. Max Derieux.

THE DECKERS CLUB MET WEDNESDAY

The Deckers Bridge Club met Mrs. Hal Macon Jr.'s home last Wednesday with Mrs. Thomas Smith as co-hostess, and they served a salad plate with coconuts as refreshments.

Miss Inez Stevens won a bird bowl for high, Miss Dot Flanders received a candy dish for low, Mrs. Buddie Barnes was awarded a party apron for cut and Mrs. J. G. Altman received a set of lead tea glasses for the floating prize.

Others playing were Mrs. Emerson Brannen, Mrs. Dock Brannen, Mrs. Bernard Scott, Miss Betty Rowse, Miss Pat Green and Miss Gwen West.

A.A.U.W. MET MONDAY NIGHT

The American Association of University Women met in the audio-visual room at Teachers College Monday night. Each meeting invited a visitor, and in addition to these guests, students and speakers who had assisted during the year were also invited.

Mrs. L. D. Collins was in charge of the program and presented three motion pictures: two on Poland and one on Czechoslovakia. After each reel, the audience discussed the film, and Mrs. Collins led the discussions.

There were about forty people present and after the program they all enjoyed punch and cookies. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Charles Olliff, Miss Lelia Stevens and Mrs. Ralph Lyon.

INFORMAL BUFFET SUPPER FOR BETROTHED COUPLE

Mrs. D. H. Remington and Mrs. Bruce Atkins were co-hostesses at an informal buffet supper honoring Miss Addie Dunaway and Jack Averitt Wednesday night at Mrs. Remington's home.

DR. TRUSSELL ENTERTAINS AT INFORMAL SUPPER

Dr. Malvina Trussell entertained Dr. and Mrs. Judson Ward, Miss Addie Dunaway and Jack Averitt, and Miss Frieda Gernant on Monday night. The supper was in honor of the bride and groom and for the Wards, who will be leaving Statesboro soon.

The centerpiece on the dining table was made up of pear blossoms.

Dr. Trussell took her guests to see the play, "Elizabeth, the Queen," following the supper.

AT HOME TO FRIENDS SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jones, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jones, Jr., sent out invitations to the bridal party of Miss Addie Dunaway and Jack Averitt wedding which will take place later this month.

The invitations read: "At Home, 5:7." About forty-four people were invited, including husband and wives of those in the bridal party.

The dining table was covered with a magnificent lace cloth and a tiered arrangement of silver comotes held camellias, ranging in color from rich pink in the lower one, to very white blooms in the top one. Eight silver candlesticks with white tapers were placed around this arrangement and two candlesticks were on the sideboard. Pearl blooms and other flowers were used in other bouquets.

A dessert plate consisting of ice cream, decorated cakes, salted nuts and coffee was served, and as favors, each plate held a book of matches with "Addie and Jack, March 18" inscribed in silver on the green backs.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS THURSDAY, MARCH 18

The regular meeting of the Statesboro Woman's Club will be held March 18 at 3:30 p. m., at the club house.

A musical program will be presented by the Fine Arts Committee, of which Miss Gilbert Cone is chairman and Mrs. E. L. Barnes is co-chairman.

Bill Bowen, student at G.M.C., Milledgeville, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bowen.

Mrs. Perry Kennedy and son, Perry, Jr., spent the week end in Midville.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON TEA HONORS BETROTHED PAIR

Mrs. J. E. Guardia and Mrs. D. L. Thomas entertained over 100 guests at a tea at Mrs. Guardia's home Saturday afternoon in honor of Miss Addie Dunaway and Jack Averitt. The faculty members of Georgia Teachers College and their families were special guests at the occasion.

Mrs. Guardia's lovely home was beautifully decorated with vases of red, baby's breath spirea and spring bulbs. The large mantle in the living room was banked with rose camellias.

Mrs. Thomas met the guests at the door and directed them to the receiving line where they were greeted by Mrs. Guardia, the guests of honor and Mr. and Mrs. Barney Averitt.

A large bowl filled with spring flowers and pink carnations was in the center of the dining table, and pink candles in tall silver containers held other arrangements of pink camellias.

Mrs. Ronald J. Neil poured coffee in the dining room and three junior bridesmaids, Virginia Lee Floyd, Ann Remington and Genevieve Guardia assisted her in serving. Others who helped with the serving were Miss Frieda Gernant, Miss Hasie McElveen, Mrs. Fielding Russell, Mrs. Bob Winburn, Miss Marie Wood and Mrs. Bill Keith.

Mrs. Waldo Floyd arranged the music which consisted of solos by Mrs. Jack Brockus, Dr. Donald J. Neil and Miss Marie Wood.

Miss Dunaway wore an aqua dress, elegant in its simplicity, and a deep rose corsage.

RELCHEE-ROBINSON

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Belcher, of Auburn, Ala., this week announced the marriage of their daughter, Doris to Corporal John C. Robinson, Jr., of Fort Benning and Statesboro. The marriage was solemnized at the post chapel at Fort Benning by Lieutenant Colonel Wallace M. Hale Saturday afternoon, March 6, at 4:30 o'clock.

The young couple is now visiting Corporal Robinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Robinson, of Statesboro.

In the nation, it is estimated that a farm building burns every 15 minutes.

Feeding tests show that younger animals produce more beef per hundred pounds than older cattle.

ENTER THE CHAMPION HOME TOWN CONTEST! $3,500 IN CASH--TWO $1,000 TOP PRIZES!

There's hardly a town, a crossroads village, in all of Georgia that isn't working toward community betterment. And here's a contest that gives you an opportunity to cash in on those civic improvements—to win honor and fame for your town by proving it a CHAMPION HOME TOWN!

Very briefly, the contest facts are:

- $3,500 in cash will be awarded as prizes—$1,000 first, $500 second and $250 third prize.
- Identical prizes are offered in TWO GROUPS—towns under 1,000 population, towns with 1,000 to 20,000 population, located in the area served by this Company. Cities over 20,000 population not eligible. (All based on 1940 Census Report.)
- Contest period is from March 1st to October 31st, 1948, but Official Entry Blank may be sent in up to May 31st.
- Awards will be made to the towns that show the greatest accomplishments during the contest period—these activities to be filed in one report submitted by the town's General Committee.

This contest is really easy! It's fully explained in a Contest Leaflet that is yours for the asking. So get a copy of the leaflet, which also contains the Official Entry Blank—talk it over with your club group—help your town to enter, perhaps to win the championship.

Remember: $1,000 top prize, and the honor of being a CHAMPION HOME TOWN—worthy rewards for worthy Georgia towns!

INTEREST YOUR CLUB IN THE CONTEST. GET FREE LEAFLET CONTAINING DETAILS AT YOUR POWER COMPANY STORE--OR WRITE ADDRESS GIVEN BELOW.

BULLOCH COUNTY COMMISSIONERS By: Fred W. Hodges, Chairman

THINGS ARE NORMAL AGAIN.—Sheriff Stothard Deal had to lock the doors of the county jail last Saturday night, for you see, he now has a "guest." The photo shows Sheriff Deal wondering what to do with his keys, for from Monday to Saturday of last week he could have thrown them away. The jail was empty and the doors all remained wide open. The Sheriff could not remember when such a condition ever existed in the county. "But it's a credit to Bulloch county that its jail could have remained wide open for any period of time," he said. Dottie Hargrove Easter Is In Air... A Dream Come True

Statesboro's churches are all dressed up in their spring duds. Have you noticed the blowing daffodils, blossoming trees and greenery that are popping forth? And is there any grander music than the songs you hear in the churches on Easter? Wouldn't it be nice to be able to hear every choir's selections this Sunday? That Easter is the greatest Christmas festival—greater even than Christmas, because Christmas represents the Dawn of Hope, but Easter is a Dream Come True.

It is comforting to realize that the Resurrection came so soon after the doubts and darkness of that awful Friday. Here's part of a poem, "One Day Apart," that gives me a lift when I need it: "One day of weeping at a cross, all sorrow and dismay, Then with the Resurrection morn the stone was rolled away. Remember when a blinding grief tears at your breaking heart, That Calvary and Easter Day were just one day apart; Each life has its Gethsemane; our years their Calvarys bring.

"Number 95" Is Caught In the Ogeechee River; Long Way From Home

"Number 95" was caught a long way from home—how far away no one knows yet. "Number 95" is a shad fish caught at Rufus Terrell's landing on the Ogeechee River by Mr. Willie Shuman, who lives on U.S. Route 80, in Bulloch county.

When Mr. Shuman was admiring his catch he noticed a bright object in the fish's mouth which proved to be a button, similar to those worn in men's coat lapels. One side read: "1 reward. Bureau of Fisheries, Washington, D. C."

Mr. Shuman forwarded the button to the State Commissioner of Wildlife Informing him where the shad had been caught.

Sale of Easter Lilies Saturday

All over the state Georgians will be wearing Easter lilies in their lapels this Saturday for Georgia's crippled children.

In Bulloch county the young ladies and matrons of the Junior Women's Club, headed by Mrs. W. R. Lovett, will join the annual Lily Parade so that 3,000 of Georgia's physically handicapped boys and girls may receive treatment that will help them to overcome their afflictions.

The sale of Easter lilies on the streets will be the final direct appeal made to the public in this year's Easter Seal Sale for Georgia's crippled children. Kermit R. Carr, local chairman, emphasized. It will give those who have not yet contributed an opportunity to help those less fortunate than themselves.

Last year, through funds raised in the Easter Seal drive, the Crippled Children League of Georgia was able to provide direct service to more than 2,900 physically handicapped youngsters in the 149 counties in the state. It is imperative that we reach even more this year, and through the generosity of Georgians everywhere, we will do so.
