MONDAY OF THIS WEEK Bulloch County's two representatives, A. S. Dodd Jr. and A. J. Trapnell left Statesboro to go to Atlanta to meet with representatives from all over Georgia as they meet in the 1949 session of the Georgia Legislature.

With them they carried several bills to be introduced.

These bills were advertised in the official organ of the county during the month of December.

They are bills which will concern no other community in Georgia—just Statesboro and Bulloch county.

Another bill will amend the city charter so as to require all candidates for the office of mayor of Statesboro to pay an entrance fee of $25; and all candidates for the council to pay a fee of $15; it will require that the city registration books be kept open at all times during the year, with the exception of 30 days before an election; it will give the mayor and city council the right to variety or candidates for the council to pay a fee of $15; it will require that the city registration books be kept open at all times during the year, with the exception of 30 days before an election; it will give the mayor and city council the right to variety or read all the pretty garden magazines on culture, pruning, etc.
