A HOLE IN THE GROUND This "Hole in the Ground" represents the unfinished Swimming Pool.

The FFA Hold Our Future

We are now in the middle of F.F.A. Week. To us here in Statesboro, F.F.A. Week is just another of the many "weeks" which are observed in communities over the state and nation.

But to the farm youth of Bulloch County and nation, F.F.A. means more than just Future Farmers of America.

It means a way of life. It means enriching the living that comes with working close to the soil.

And it means that the rural youth of America is accepting the challenge of the future.

In Georgia it means that Future Farmers of America owned nearly 14,000 purebred or improved livestock—2,182 dairy cattle, 3,202 bred cattle, and 8,861 hogs.

Georgia F.F.A. youth raised 334,368 chickens as part of their supervised projects. F.F.A. boys seeded more than 6,000 acres of winter grazing crops, using new and scientific methods together with new and approved types of seed.

These future farmers established 4,776 acres of permanent pastures. Several additional thousands of acres of land have been improved by disk, clearing and mowing.

These sons of Georgia farmers have planted in our state 4,771 acres of cotton, 16,651 acres of corn, 1,494 acres of winter legumes, 1,732 acres of oats, and 800 acres to gardens.

With an eye to beautifying the homes in which they live and intend to live they have set out 27,867 shrubs, 1,084 of these young boys have painted their homes, and 1,385 did needed home repairs.

To these youths we can take off our hat. To their supervisors, the Vocational Agriculture Distributors, we say, "Well Done."

In them and their love for the land and home we trust our present and future.

Do They Get An "A"

School is out. Which is the way a kid would express the adjournment of the Georgia Legislature last Saturday.

It has been called "one of the hardest working, most harmonious sessions in modern times."

It set new records with its huge appropriations bill and the highest new tax proposal ever suggested.

More than 900 bills and resolutions were poured into the legislative hopper.

Here is a sort of "report" on what our representatives did:

An all-time appropriation bill, consisting of $108,574,026 in the regular budget, and $45,588,000 in the contingent budget to be financed by new taxes if the people so vote in a referendum on April 5. The legislature will convene in special session to pass these tax measures if the people so express their desire.

The Minimum Foundation Program for Education which provides that any deficiency in appropriations will be shared equally between common and vocational school groups.

A constitutional amendment extending the county unit system to the general election. To become effective this must be passed by the people in November, 1950.

Bills which abolish the present registration list of voters and provides for re-registration between now and May, 1950. The new list will be permanent, but a voter who cast no ballot in two years would be removed from the list. The voters' bill incorporates 30 questions which will be asked of illiterate applicants, and if such applicant answers 10 he will be qualified. Literate applicants will be asked to read and write any portion of the Constitution selected by the Registrars. These Registrars will be chosen by Superior Court Judges from a list recommended by the grand jury.

A pre-marital health examination. Under this law no person can be married in Georgia unless he presents a certificate showing that he has passed such an examination.

Placed a number of state departments under the merit system, including the Department of Public Safety, the Highway Department, all Public Welfare institutions, Department of Audits, and the Public Service Commission.

Created a State Depositories Board composed of the Governor, Comptroller-General, and Treasurer which determines what banks shall have state deposits.

Bills reducing the retirement age for Superior Court judges to 65, and providing for the retirement of Solicitor-Generals.

Reorganized the State Milk Control Board by reducing membership to five and naming the director as Chairman of the Board.

Abolished the Agricultural and Industrial Development Board, replacing it with a Department of Commerce with five members appointed by the Governor.

Set up $3,000,000 to match Federal and local funds in building rural hospitals. This was one of the principal planks in Governor Talmadge's 1948 campaign.

Set up a commission to study cerebral palsy. Requiring all highway contracts to be let by public bid, thus preventing negotiated contracts, which has been one of the major complaints against previous state administrations.

Repeated the libel law that permits publications to retract incorrect statements and thus avoid punitive damages.

Abolished the Veterans Educational Council and assigned its duties and responsibilities to the Veterans Service Department.

Exempted gasoline used exclusively for agriculture from taxation.

Established a state soil conservation committee.

Permitted county boards of education to subdivide their counties into school districts for bonding purposes.

Granted free hunting and fishing licenses to persons over 65.

Set up a system of statewide forest fire protection and replaced the Department of Forestry with the State Forestry Commission.

Increased the per mile rate from five cents to seven for State employees using their private automobiles on state business.

Passed almost unanimously a bill giving free drivers and chauffeurs licenses to veterans.

Adopted legislation requiring the use of the secret ballot in all elections.

Required persons found at fault in a motor accident to take out liability insurance or forfeit their driver's license.

Gave a political party the right to be sole judge of the qualifications of its nominees, and made the General Assembly the sole judge of the qualifications and election of a governor. These are the "Succession Bills" which administration opponents criticized as giving Governor Talmadge the right to succeed himself. The Governor, however, has maintained all along that under the State Constitution he can legally run again if he so desires.

Provided that accounts receivable shall be taxed at the same rate as intangible taxes instead of at the personal property rates. This bill will cost Atlanta and Fulton County a great deal of revenue, but is expected to bring many new industries to Georgia.

Passed a bill permitting Sunday movies and athletics in any city or town where the governing authorities will license them. Refusal of the license can be overcome by a vote of the people.

Exempted radio stations from responsibility of libelous statements unless made by their own employees.

Repealed the requirement that persons applying for delayed birth certificates must advertise their application in local newspapers.

Preserved certain portions of the Marshes of Glynn as a memorial to the poet Sidney Lanier.

Several hundred other general and local bills were passed by the Assembly, but space limits their listing.

One of the last and least conspicuous moves, the assembly required a loyalty oath of all state employees and officials, specifically calling for a stand against the Communist Party.

The Middle Ground group ordered a carload of fence post at their meeting Thursday night.

John H. Oliver, president of the local chapter, announced that the PTA planned to serve supper at the March meeting. E. S. Lane gave a report on the nation Farm Bureau convention. J. W. Roberts, county forest ranger, gave a report on the equipment now in the county for fighting forest fires and asked the landowners to

But Don't Blame Us If the Almanac Is Wrong!

THIS WEEK'S PROVERB — A MAN'S HAPPINESS IS TO DO A MAN'S TRUE WORK. (Greek)

This morning we got a big batch of mail—2 per cent went immediately into the trash box, which is to say we dropped it on the floor to be swept out in time.

But there was one eye-stopper in the batch!

This morning being Saturday and dreary outside—looks like rain—this piece of mail was a real attention compeller.

A firm in Paterson, N. J., got hold of our name and put it on its "sucker list" to receive its "messages."

This firm was not trying to sell an idea.

They were just selling. Enclosed in the envelope was a long letter, single-spaced, memorandum, a return enveloped, self-addressed (no stamp), an order blank, an offer to send me FREE the famous Equine Girl desk calendar for 1949. . . . If I bought five of my neckties, and then the attention compeller! Thirteen beautifully colored pictures of the neckties they are trying to sell me.

It's too bad they did not know me before they mailed all that stuff down here in Statesboro, Bulloch County, Georgia.

It would have saved them postage, all the printed matter, and all that beautiful color work used in illustrating the neckties. They could have saved themselves a lot of tie and trouble. But they just didn't know. I'm color blind!

Farm Bureau

DENMARK FARM BUREAU

Every family in the Denmark community that wants a telephone will be lined for service this week if plans made at the Farm Bureau meeting Tuesday night are carried out as per instructions of E. N. Williams, the president.

Mr. Williams asked a committee to contact all those that were interested and to collect the $12 deposit necessary to procure service.

BROOKLET FARM BUREAU

The Brooklet Farm Bureau set up a contest on corn and cotton this year, with prizes of $25, $20, $15, and $5 in each contest for first through fifth places. Each member entering will have to have five or more acres in the project in one body. F. C. Rozier, the president of the local chapter, explained that this was the minimum acreage for the field but no limit was on the number of acres in the body. However, only one five acres of each will be considered on each farm. The group voted to close entries in the contest March 15.

Alex Norman, a member of the state board of directors of the Georgia Farm Bureau, was also on the program at the Brooklet meeting Wednesday night. Mr. Norman cited the influence of the Farm Bureau now as compared with its rating when it only had a few members. This effect can be increased in direct proportion with the increase in membership, he stated.

Franklin Lee, a junior member of the Brooklet chapter, gave a tree thing demonstration as a part of the program.

MIDDLE GROUND

The Middle Ground group ordered a carload of fence post at their meeting Thursday night.

John H. Oliver, president of the local chapter, announced that the PTA planned to serve supper at the March meeting. E. S. Lane gave a report on the nation Farm Bureau convention. J. W. Roberts, county forest ranger, gave a report on the equipment now in the county for fighting forest fires and asked the landowners to

Industrial Survey

Here Is Your County

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles on the Industrial Survey made recently by the Georgia Power Co. on Statesboro and Bulloch County. Last week we presented a discussion of population in the city and county. This week we present a discussion on the findings in agriculture.)

barley, rye, wheat, soybeans, cow peas, peanuts, hay, cotton, sweet potatoes, tobacco, and sugar cane, together with several minor crops. Of these the largest crops included, corn, $1,493,730; peanuts, $999,001; cotton, $1,266,948; tobacco, $1,385,061.

This figures out on a per capita (1940 population) of $245.60. It is noted that the 1945 cotton acreage was reduced by nearly 43 per cent, the output was reduced by only about 26 per cent, and that for corn unit production as increased from 9.9 bushels per acre to 10.3, as against a rather low state average of only 12 bu. per acre.

Tobacco production per acre was stepped up from 788.5 to 891.2 pounds to compare unfavorably with a state average of 949.6 pounds, while on the other hand peanut output went from 764 pounds per acre up to 856 pounds, a production greatly above the state average of only 677 pounds per acre.

Rates of production, however, do not create wealth. Only volume of production does that.

In Bulloch county there was 148,535 acres of improved land as compared with only 142,808 acres in 1945.

Using figures set forth in the 1945 U. S. Census, Bulloch County, of the State's 159, ranks as follows in various respects: Completed areas of crop and pasture land, 3rd; number of farm workers, 9th; corn, 4th; pecans, 5th; pears, 7th; tobacco, 8th; cotton, 15th; sugar cane (syrup) 20th; peanuts, 22nd; Irish potatoes, 24th, and all others below 24th.

Bulloch county shines in livestock and livestock products, poultry and poultry products being 1st in the state in value.

In forestry products Bulloch stands 19th.

(Next week we will continue presenting "Here Is Your County.")

DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Womack entertained with a delightful dinner party at their home last Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Del Ponte, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Heady, and Miss Dossie Woods, of Savannah; Miss Joyce Parrish and Mr. A. H. Goldsmith, of Augusta; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Parrish, Mrs. J. C. Parrish and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Womack.

MISCELLANEOUS TEA

A lovely compliment to Mrs. Arthur L. Del Ponte was the miscellaneous tea given last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. E. Parrish, with Mrs. Parrish, Miss Joyce Parrish and Mrs. R. C. Roberts entertaining.

Attractive decorations throughout the home were composed of white narcissus and carnations.

Mrs. Parrish received guests and presented them to the receiving line, composed of Mrs. Arthur Del Ponte, Mrs. E. L. Womack and Mrs. J. C. Parrish. Mrs. R. C. Roberts presided over the bride's book and guests were ushered into the dining room by Miss Joyce Parrish.

Miss Sara McLean and Mrs. Rex Trappell presided in the dining room, where a delicious dessert course was served by Miss Sara Taylor, Charlotte Hendrix and Alberta Kitchens.

Mrs. Fred Miller and Mrs. Paul Parsons directed guests through the gift room.

"Doll" Foy

Doll Still in Switzerland

(Editor's Note: Two weeks ago we left Doll Foy in Switzerland. We had just arrived and have been doing the town. We had hired a car and were going up in the mountains near Lucerne. So here we are back in Switzerland.)

We arrived at Atdorf village where we saw the statue of William Tell and his son. The legend has it that William paroled and released from prison where he was about to shoot an apple from the top of his son.

The village was swarming with people riding bicycles. I've never seen so many bicycles. We were told that in the country of Switzerland there are over one and a half million bicycles.

Along the way into the mountains we passed through a tunnel eight miles long.

The drive was perfectly beautiful. Flowers everywhere on all mountain sides. Switzerland's official flower is the Edelweiss, a wild alpine rose of deep rose color grows profusely along the way.

It was on this trip that we saw formidable military fortifications in which huge amounts of ordnance are stored. Doors are made of thick iron, of heavy rock opened and closed by electricity.

In Switzerland there is compulsory military training and every boy serves four months out of a year between the ages of 18 and 25, and then three weeks of each year until his 48th birthday.

The longest railroad in the country is only 165 miles.

We arrived at the "Furka Pass" in the Grotto and Rome Glacier. It is 7,500 feet high. The snow furnishes the water for the Rhone and the Rhine rivers. We walked through the glaciers along blue ice tunnels near the top of the mountain. It was bitter cold and we all nearly froze.

We next visited the "Grimsel Pass, and saw the lake that was four miles long. This is where we saw the largest power dam in Europe. At the hotel here we were served a picnic lunch.

Next week we go with Doll to Interlaken, still in Switzerland.

ALL'S FAIR

Just fresh off the wire—not Western Union, but the wire on which I peg a little bit of this or that. I see where I have ignored eight very important young ladies who coaxed and coaxed Ruth Beaver into taking them to Savannah, all at one time, and for a whole day. None but the exceedingly brave of heart would have undertaken it, but just a few Saturdays ago, Ruth tucked Jane Beaver, Jo Attaway, Margaret Ann Dekke, Betty Jean Allen, Jean Martin, Lila Ann Grunier, Mary Jon Johnson, Sybil Grinner into a station wagon and merely went on their way. They stayed the whole day and took in all the town. . . . Another scrap I've found is one of those gems of wit and wisdom coming from Ethel Rushing, she quipped, "When Tommy gave Virginia away he had his fingers crossed." And right now let me publicly state why North Main feels the loss of the Jack Tillmans. In the few weeks that they were up here, June had fed all the invalids she could locate. I was disturbed by a noise bearing some resemblance to a tornado or an air raid. Upon investigation I discovered June on the porch with a pretty plate held high and her Boxer pup was straining at the leash to see that his misnomer didn't go around giving away perfectly good food. In this instance the food was slices of love and delectable cake from Jack's Valentine cake—a chocolate heart-shaped affair iced in green with an old time Valentine sentiment spelled out with red candy hearts. . . . Neighbors are after her recipe for pineapple ice box cake. . . .

up in his little bed and asked what was all that racket. He was told that the frogs were calling for rain. . . . What about frogs? What were they like, etc.? queried the youngster, not yet two years old. Then he demanded to see the frogs, and for a while it looked as if Zolzie would have to take Chris frogging at two o'clock in the morning. . . . In these days of falling stocks and shaky futures it's nice to be CERTAIN. Sunday afternoon a car drew up at the curb and we observed some very attractive people, a nice looking couple and a cute little trick named Donna. The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Certain, and baby Donna had spent the weekend in Savannah and were stopping here to call on friends before going to Columbus. Mrs. Certain is better known here as Elizabeth Rainey. . . . ALL ON A SUNDAY AFTER-NOON — Innumerable azalea bushes at the L. E. Tyson home and other shrubbery in artistic profusion. And at Eunice Lester's such masses of luxuriant azaleas—and at so many homes — low azalea bushes and camellia bushes bloom as bravely as do the larger plants. . . . Starting down South Main I spied Roger Holland Jr. and after a bit of persuasion I got a peek at his new and strikingly up-to-date office. Now I hit a snag. There's Opticians, Optometrists, and all these technical names, but I have to fall back on the common expression eye-doctor. I may have trouble with my eyes, but I could see enough to appreciate the beauty of Dr. Holland's office. The reception room combined beauty and comfort. A sectional sofa upholstered in burgundy plastic was flanked by sturdy tables, the high steps held red hued chairs, one canary yellow, the other pearl gray, were attractively finished with hammered brass nailhead effect. Gray rubber tile was used on the floors and the walls throughout were gray green. A small gadget in the ceiling slightly resembling a modern airon furnished both ventilation and heat. Lila Brady, as receptionist, has her own office equipped with a modernistic desk. The chairs were exceptionally lovely and though sixty years old and were one part of Mrs. M. M. Holland's dining room suite, they more than held their own. The oak rubbed and polished and the seats newly covered with red duran. . . . Though I was fascinated with the instruments that were for my benefit called spectrometers, or machines to aid you in reading problems. My eyes fairly popped as Roger pointed to his chair. No chair rigged up like this one has ever seemed pretty to me. I think they must have been dreamed up in the days of Inquisitions. Pointing at his piece of furniture to which I am extremely allergic he said, "There is my automobile." Now I know Roger at one time had a Pontiac, and the resemblance between this chair and those objects that swung about it at the slightest touch was not even describable. He had sold his car to buy the unit. He displayed with pride his very fine set of fine lens, the collection formerly used by his uncle, Maxey Grimes. The lens were now in a beautiful new case. I came out wondering if maybe I shouldn't do something about my

The Bulloch Herald, Thursday, February 24, 1949

"They are burning the wind and not moving an inch." You know that give me a queer feeling. Instead of squirrels being like people, maybe we're like squirrels—burning the wind and not moving an inch. Lily says she thinks Mike should call a halt though. He and I understand some red ones are on the way. Now we have squirrels all over town that simply fly from tree to tree, but Mike Bland's squirrels are another story. Why Mike's pets are almost human. You should see one hold a pecan in his paws and with nimble paws find its weakest spot and faster than any machine he peels off the shell and has the nut picked out perfectly. Should he care to store it, he punches it in the dirt with his nose and covers it expertly in no time at all. Pee Wee, the cutest one of all, was temperamental. Mike has constructed ladders, swings and all sorts of exercising bars for his squirrels. They keep wheel flying, and Lily Deal who looked over the back yard fence said,

As ever,

NEWMAN-NEWMAN

Miss Eugenia Lucille Newman, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Newman, became the bride of Dermon J. Newman, only son of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Newman, in a quiet ceremony at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the home of the bride's parents, with Elder C. E. Sanders officiating in the presence of the immediate families. The living room was decorated in pink carnations. Miss Leona Newman, only sister of the bride, played the wedding music.

The bride wore a navy suit with an ice blue blouse and navy accessories. Her hat was of blue felt with navy dotted veil. Her corsage was white orchids.

After graduating from the Stillson High School Miss Newman attended Georgia Teachers College.

Mr. Newman is a graduate of the Stillson High school and attended Abraham Baldwin College.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for a tour of Virginia and the Carolinas. He holds a position with the Military Service Company of Birmingham, Ala.

STUDENTS' MEETING

The Stillson High School of Georgia Teachers held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night of last week at Lewis Hall.

Mrs. J. E. Hargrove introduced Dr. W. D. Lunquist, Bulloch Co. commissioner of health who spoke on the nutrition of the child, from pre-natal to pre-school age. When he completed his discussion, he held an informal question and answer period.

Mrs. Bill Fordham and Mrs. Ernest Weeks served ice cream, cake and coffee, assisted by Miss Mamie Veasy.

Besides the members of the club, Mrs. Marvin Pittman, the Club sponsor, and Miss Kay Shaw were present.

HOMEMAKERS CLUB

Week before last the Homemakers group of the Ga. Teachers College Laboratory school met under supervision of Miss Delia Jernigan for a demonstration in pie making.

Miss Sam Jossey served the group cocoa, collas and crackers. Each guest present received two pieces of pie to take home.

Besides the regular members, Mrs. J. E. Parrish, supervisor of the county home economics work, was present.

Friday night the group met for a demonstration in cake baking by the county supervisor, Mrs. Parrish.

Miss Jernigan served fruit juice with the cake and jelly roll which, Mrs. Parrish baked.

Others present were Mrs. Douglas Daniel, Mrs. Homer D. Foreman, Mrs. Ellis Hargrove, Mrs. William Tyre, and Mrs. J. E. Sorrell.

Table setting is the topic for the next meeting which will be held Thursday night.

MRS. DEAL HOSTESS

AT AFTERNOON PARTY

Mrs. A. M. Deal entertained informally Thursday afternoon at her home. Several contests were enjoyed and original prizes were awarded.

LUNCHEON FOR BRIDAL PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Atkins was the scene Wednesday of an elaborate luncheon honoring Miss Virginia Rushing and Lamar Trappnell whose marriage Wednesday evening was an important social event. Hostesses on this occasion were Mrs. E. L. Atkins, Mrs. A. J. Trappnell, Mrs. George King, Mrs. Nattie Allen, Mrs. Jones Allen, Mrs. Hudson Allen, Mrs. Francis Trappnell, Mrs. Allen Trappnell, Mrs. Ray Trappnell, Mrs. Bobby Adams, and Miss Penny Allen.

A color motif of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Garlands of ivy extended the length of the table and at intervals, tall yellow tapers were used in low holders. Bows of yellow snapdragons and white gladioli enhanced the beauty of the brideluncheon. Gold wedding bands were attached to the place cards with white ribbons.

Much sentiment was attached to this intimate gathering of the two families. The wedding was taking place on the forty-first anniversary of the groom's parents, and in one sense it was a celebration for them.

Covers were laid for fifty which included members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

On Wednesday morning Mrs. Josh Nesmith was hostess to Miss Virginia Rushing and Lamar Trappnell and members of their wedding party at a lovely breakfast at her home on Oliff street.

Mrs. Nesmith used a Valentine motif in the decorations and table appointments. Red carnations and red tapers were used on the table and the place cards were old fashioned Valentines, red hearts on paper lace. The grapefruit was encircled with red candy hearts, the second course was toast with creamed eggs and ham and tea biscuits and strawberry jam followed by date nut loaf topped with cream cheese and cherries, and coffee.

A heart-shaped booklet was filled with a "heart full" of good wishes. The hostess presented her honor guests with a plate for serving deviled eggs. Breakfast guests were Miss Rushing, Mr. Trappnell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tillman, Mrs. Bob Biglin, Mr. and Mrs. Dock Brannen of Savannah, and Mrs. Bobby Adams of Athens, Virginia Durden, Miss Dorothy Jane Hodges, Miss Betty Tillman, Eddie Rushing, Billy Rushing, Bobby Stephens, Frank Simmons, and Emory Nesmith.

Others present were Mrs. Douglas Daniel, Mrs. Homer D. Foreman, Mrs. Ellis Hargrove, Mrs. William Tyre, and Mrs. J. E. Sorrell.

Table setting is the topic for the next meeting which will be held Thursday night.

IDLE LAND ON YOUR HANDS?

You are losing money unless all of your non-productive or low-productive acres are growing pine trees!

Pine trees produce profitable crops of pulpwood, for which there is a steady cash market. And you can grow trees on land which will not grow other crops at a profit.

In other words, you are not getting all you should from your lands unless you put these idle acres to work for you. After trees are planted, nature will provide most of their care. Your big job is to protect them from fire.

To help combat forest fires, Union Bag conducts an extensive fire prevention and educational program. Among its activities—designed to promote sound forestry practices—are the printing of booklets for landowners and schools, sponsorship of an annual camp for 4-H Clubs, and the awarding of college scholarships and fellowships to young Georgians.

Write for free booklet "Pulpwood—Key to Sustained Forest Income".

COL. MRS. L. J. THOMPSON INSPIRES MANY INFORMAL PARTIES WHILE HERE

Col. and Mrs. L. J. Thompson, former residents of Statesboro, have been the inspiration of many informal parties this week. Col. Thompson was, during his stay here, head of the local National Guard, and is now retired from the U. S. Army. He and Mrs. Thompson now have acquired a home in a suburb near Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Arundel and Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Arundel have been their hosts on their visit.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bland entertained in their honor with Open House at their home on Savannah avenue. Azaleas and pastel flowers were artistically arranged throughout the lovely home. The guests were served chocolate eclairs, coffee, and nuts.

Assisting Mrs. Bland in serving and entertaining were Mrs. Waldo Floyd, Mrs. J. W. Averitt, Mrs. Thad Morris, Mrs. William McGee of Atlanta, Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mrs. Brad Ataway, Mrs. Devane Watson, Miss Hester Newton, Mrs. Hal Macon, Mrs. Loyd Brannen, Mrs. Levy Rushing, and Mrs. Cornelia Foy.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Morris were hosts at a steak supper Friday for Col. and Mrs. Thompson. Other guests were Mrs. William McGee and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ollitt.

On Saturday evening Col. and Mrs. Thompson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Averitt at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack ning ladies' cut, received a plastic refrigerator bottle. Bill Keith won a desk and calendar pad for men's high, and men's cut, a dog paper weight, went to W. C. Hodges.

Other players were Mrs. George Hitt, Mr. and Mrs. Gene L. Hodges, Miss Liz Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brannen Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Thayer, Miss Maxam Foy, Mrs. Sara Miller, Dr. Hiram Jackson, Dr. John Jackson, Dr. Roger Holland, Fred T. Lanier Jr., and Mrs. Bill Keith.

DUTCH DANCE CLUB
Hostesses for the Dutch Dance Club at the Country Club last Tuesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Bland, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Edna Neville, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carlton. The table on the terrace was centered with a lovely arrangement of pink carnations and snapdragons. The guests were served assorted sandwiches, cut-apes and hors' d'oeuvres. Music was furnished by Emma Kelly. Forty-two couples were present.

FAMILY DINNER SUNDAY AT COUNTRY CLUB
Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Ziegler, of Nashville, Tenn. who are visiting their daughter, Mrs. H. P. Jones Jr., were hosts Sunday at dinner at the Forest Heights Country Club. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jones Sr., Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jones Jr. and son, Paul, and Mr. and Mrs. Esten Cromartie.

LADIES AUXILIARY
The Ladies Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Al Sutherland on Mulberry street with John McCroan as co-hostess. Both circles were pres-

FORTNIGHTERS WITH THE ALBERT BRASWELLS
On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Albert Braswell entertained the Fortnighters Club. Spring flowers were used in the decorations, and a dessert course and coffee were served.

For ladies' high, Mrs. F. T. Lanier Jr. won a set of plastic glasses. Mrs. Gerald Groover win-ent. Mrs. T. L. Harnesburger was in charge of the program. Mrs. J. J. Blank of Thomaston was a visitor.

MR. TILLMAN LEAVES FOR EMBALMING SCHOOL
E. Grant Tillman Jr. (Bud) Mass.

left this week for Boston, Mass. where he will attend the New England Institute of Mortuary Science. Mr. Tillman was accompanied by his wife and small son, Grant, who will make their home with her parents at Wister, Mass.

VOLUME IX County Fair Is Set for Sept. 19

The Bulloch County Fair has been scheduled for Sept. 19 to 24. H. E. Allen, general chairman for 1949. Mr. Davis pointed out that he did not have a mid-October date and Mr. Allen insisted on a date that would not likely run into cold weather.

The county PTA has been offered the privilege of putting on the exhibits as well as the business part of the fair. Mrs. Leroy Akins, the county president, has talked with some of the officers of the county council but has not given the committee an answer yet.

Mr. Allen traded with the Royal Exposition Shows for the side attractions. His committee tried again to procure a rodeo but was not found a company that was willing to work on a percentage basis.
