Never Too Late To Learn

Cappy Miller's young son, Squint, is forever coming up with new ideas. Now they're not all world beaters, but Cappy is usually willing to give them a try.

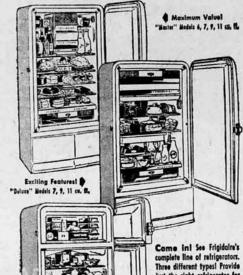

That's why things go so well at the Miller farm. Cappy is open-minded, tolerant of new filess and new ays of doing. He doesn't think his way is the only way.

Seems Squint found a new way to clear brush. They take two tractors, about thirty feet apart, and connect them with a heavy chain weighted down on the ground with old iron. First they both go parallel in one direction, then they go back over the same swath in the opposite direction and we composite direction and we composite direction and we can be composed to the composite direction and we can be composed to the composite direction and we can be composed to the composite direction and we can be composed to the composite direction and we can be composed to the composite direction and opposite direction and up comes the brush—roots and all. Worked fine and saved time.
