A Call For Help Goes Out to You

By WORTH McDOUGALD

Barbara June's tragic story started almost three years ago. It began on a chilly November day back in 1946 when she first came into the world, victim of that rare heart condition, which keeps her blood from getting all the oxygen it needs.

Barbara June was a "blue-baby."

I first saw her Monday afternoon. How our meeting came about and why this story is being written is something I think you will be interested in.

Several days ago, in the morning mail, came a letter. This was no ordinary letter. There were two green bills with the letter. It read like this:

The Editor
The Bulloch Herald
Statesboro, Georgia
Dear Sir:

This is a request for you to give some publicity towards starting a fund for an undertaking which I feel sure the people of this county will be most happy to contribute to.

As you possibly know, Bulloch county has a "Blue Baby." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josh Smith Jr. An expensive heart operation is necessary if she is ever to live a normal life.

Mr. Smith is a young farmer and veteran, and would, no doubt, have to go heavily in debt to finance this operation for his daughter. Other counties and cities have come to the aid of their "Blue Babies," and it would be most worthy undertaking for you to make known, through your paper, the needs of this family.

Enclosed please find a small contribution to start this fund for this unfortunate child.

Yours truly,
A HERALD READER.

This letter was typewritten, postmarked from the Statesboro post office. We do not know who it came from. But we do know it came from some generous, kind, and thoughtful person—someone whom we would all do well to be like.

The letter set off a stir in the Herald office. We thought at first that a state agency would bear the expense of such an operation and would provide all the necessary funds for the mother and father to accompany Barbara June to the hospital.

In this case, we thought wrong. No such fund is available.

There is only one hospital, doctors tell Barbara June's parents. It is Mrs. Josh Smith Jr., of RFD 4, Statesboro—where such a delicate operation can be performed. This is Johns-Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland. Such a trip will take money... the kind of money that few of us have as individuals.

Let's look back for a moment at the situation:

Let's look back for a young man, with his wife, the former Miss Louise Anderson, and their two children—Barbara June and her three-month-old sister, Mary Carroll. Josh has seen months of service in the Navy during the war as a hospital corpsman.

Returning home, he borrows money to finance a small farm. It's a struggle to make the payments, but he has the makings of

Lions Club Horse Show to Open Sept. 1

At least seventy-five—and possibly more—outstanding horses from over the Southeast are expected in Statesboro next week for the Third Annual Lions Club Horse Show. Mr. and Mrs. Olliff Boyd, show managers, announced final plans for the show, which will take place during two nights—Thursday and Friday, September 1 and 2.

The show will be held at the airport stadium, on U.S. Highway 301, just north of Statesboro. Proceeds of the show will go toward the Lions Club Eyesight Preservation fund. This fund is used to purchase glasses and cure medical attention for underprivileged children in the county.

Some $1,500 in premiums and trophies will be awarded and a large assortment of gate prizes will be distributed, the show managers said.

Frank Hughting will provide music both nights with his electric organ. The show will feature exhibits on how to ride correctly, how to jump a horse correctly, and one of the highlights will be an "old-fashion" harness race, featuring at least six horses.

Some 3,000 persons are expected to crowd the stadium as judges get underway. H. O. Davis, of Montgomery, Ala., one of the South's foremost horsemen, will be the judge. Monk Colquitt, of Macon, will act as master of ceremonies.

Reserved and box seat tickets are on sale now at the City Drug Co. on East Main. Tickets will also be available at the gates on show nights.

Many outstanding horses are expected for the show. Following are some of them, together with the names of their exhibitors: W. W. Majors of Moultrie will exhibit his trotter, "General Flaxer."

Nolan Stables of Atlanta will show their fine harness horse, "Sweet William," and their three-year-old, "Honeysuckle Rose," ridden by Ruth Ann Nolan.

L. H. Avertit of Columbus will show a fine harness horse, "Sunshine."

Sylvia Hiers of Waycross will enter "Jeanette MacDonald."

Valliere Johnson and her brother, Alton Johnson, will enter three horses. Valliere will enter "Night Storm" and "High Jinks," both three-year-olds. Alton will enter his "Princess Pat."

Ruby May Harper of Waycross will have her entry, "Here's Hoping," in the running.

A group of twelve entries are expected from the S.H. Stables in Savannah. These will be jumpers and gaited horses.

Gray-Chris Farms of Palm Beach, Fla., will enter "Blue Dare's Choice."

Beth Nevils will enter "Miss America" from Savannah.

Amy Dale Gabriel of "Whitehall Plantation" near Savannah, will bring "Cock of the Walk" for entry in the show.

Pilots End Season; Blood Bank Drive

Glennville now moves into the upper division of the playoff, and will meet Wrightsville, the other playoff winner.

Glennville took three of the four games played with Statesboro.

Miss Watson will teach education next year at Georgia Teachers College in Statesboro. She received her bachelor of science degree from Georgia Teachers College and her master of arts degree from Peabody College. For her doctorate degree she majored in education and minored in history. During the war, Miss Watson served four years in the armed forces. Prior to this she taught twelve years in the public schools of Georgia.

School Children Age Limits Set

County School Superintendent H. P. Womack announced this week that children entering school for the first time this September must have reached his or her sixth birthday on or before December 1, 1949. This complies with the state rule that the child must become six years old within the first 60 days of the new school year.

Parents of children entering school for the first time are urged to bring the child's birth certificate on that first school day. "This will make it easier on all concerned," Mr. Womack said.

Judge Renfroe Orders The 'Green Frog' Closed

Superior Court Judge J. L. Renfroe on Tuesday of this week ordered that the Green Frog, dance place on U.S. Highway 80, just outside the city limits, be closed, and gave Dick Allen, operator, until Monday, August 29, to dispose of and remove "any and all property which he has in the building."

The hearing was held in the Bulloch county courthouse Tuesday morning of this week.

Solicitor General Walton Usher of the Ogeechee Judicial Circuit represented the state, and W. G. Neville represented Dick Allen, lessee, and Strick Holloway, leasor.

Testimony took two hours and Judge Renfroe gave his decision immediately. Thirteen witnesses were called by both sides. Mr. Neville sought to exclude Strick Holloway from the case, contending that Mr. Holloway was the owner of the building and had nothing to do with the operation of the Green Frog.

Sheriff Stothard Deal, County Police Edgar Hart and Moss Sowell, and City Police Chief Bill Loft told details of two raids on the Green Frog.

Other witnesses testified that the general reputation of the place "was unfavorable," "not so good," and "bad."

Allen revealed that the Bulloch County Health Department had given him "A" rating on his business. He contended that he had tried to run a "nice" place, that it was no worse than a lot of other places.

He stated that he had had a federal liquor license.

In his summation, Mr. Neville stated that Georgia collects from 15 to 19 million dollars a year in liquor taxes, and that it all did not come from the 26 wet counties. "Practical every county in Georgia is wet," he said.

It's a Small World ... In Football

It looks as if Statesboro men have football in this area all sewed up.

Bernard Morris, of Statesboro, will coach at Metter this year. Harold Waters is coaching at Sylvan, and Marvin Prosser is at Waynesboro.

In the opening games these Statesboro young men will get to compete against each other. Morris' team meets the Waynesboro team in the first game of the year on September 16, and then meets the Sylvan team, coached by Mr. Waters, the following weekend.

There will be "dinner-on-the-ground" and the group is expecting many fine quartets from over the area.

Delmas Rushing is president of the convention, while Carl Bishop is vice-president and Otis Hollingsworth is secretary-treasurer.

PEANUT GROWERS! STAY WITHIN YOUR PEANUT QUOTA!

DON'T DIG MORE THAN YOUR ALLOTTED ACREAGE!

IF YOU DIG MORE THAN YOUR ALLOTMENT, THE GOVERNMENT WILL IMPOSE A HEAVY PENALTY (ABOUT $90 TO $120 PER TON PENALTY) ON PEANUTS FROM YOUR EXCESS ACREAGE, AND WILL NOT SUPPORT THE PRICE ON ANY OF YOUR PEANUTS.

WE WANT YOU TO GET THE BEST PRICE POSSIBLE FOR YOUR PEANUTS. THE ACREAGE CONTROL LAWS MAKE IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR US TO PAY YOU THE TOP PRICE UNLESS YOU STAY WITHIN THE ACREAGE QUOTA THAT HAS BEEN ALLOTTED TO YOU.

Marketing quotas on peanuts are in effect this year and each grower will be required to produce a marketing card at the time he sells his peanuts. Quotas are based on an acreage basis, meaning that a grower will be permitted to sell all he produces on his allotted acres. A grower who does not dig and harvest more than his allotted acreage is a coöperator. A grower who digs and harvests more than his allotted acreage is a non-coöperator. The penalty is not for over-planning—it is for over-harvesting.

We do not recommend that any producer endeavor to dig and market peanuts produced on any acreage which is in excess of his allotted acres. We urge that each producer, before he digs peanuts, to make sure that he is harvesting no more than his allotted acres, because the consequence of over-harvesting in dollars and cents makes it too expensive. Under the law, there will be a penalty equal to 69 percent of the support price on peanuts marketed from excess acreage. If the support price on such peanuts be $200 per ton, the penalty would be $100 per ton on such excess peanuts. Furthermore, shellers and crushers must handle excess peanuts separately and there might be other penalties in price because of extra expense, handling, etc. Therefore, any grower, under present conditions, will realize more value from peanuts produced on excess acreage by hogging them on the farm than by trying to market them.

We repeat that every peanut grower should make it his purpose to get a white marketing card and to become a coöperator under the program. We recommend that every grower consult his County P.M.A. Office, County Committeemen, Community Committeemen, County Agent, or our office for the necessary information to enable him to secure all of the benefits which have been provided under the price support program.

THIS SHOULD BE DONE BEFORE THE GROWER BEGINS DIGGING HIS PEANUTS

EAST GEORGIA PEANUT COMPANY

Statesboro, Georgia

Let's Remedy This Right Now

ALMOST EVERY week we have had something to say about the "peanut boys." Perhaps you readers are getting tired of reading about them. But we have one more thing to say this season.

And it is this: Let us publicly insist that our policemen keep these boys out of the street. One sunny morning or afternoon is going to be a sad day for some family. For one of these kids is going to be hit by an automobile and it will be his own fault.

A Note On Her Passing

ANYTHING we could say here in these columns would only serve to echo the noble and beautiful tributes that have already been written about one of the South's best loved writers.

This, only, might be said: The establishment of a permanent, lasting "Margaret Mitchell Memorial" is one in which all Georgia, all the South, and all the Nation will want to join.

Save Your Own Life

"LIABILITY INSURANCE rates go up Monday in New York State on automobiles operated by drivers under the age of 25 because of the bad accident record of youthful drivers."

The above sentence is taken from a news dispatch which appeared recently in the daily press. Perhaps it isn't of great interest because it is taking place in New York State—not in Statesboro, Georgia.

Here we have a sad situation. These young men and women, in the prime of life, in what should be the best physical condition, with the sharpest vision, the keenest hearing, and the most intense perception, are causing nearly one-third of all the fatal accidents in the state.

Where will we find that solution? In better education in driving practices. In more careful attention to who is licensed to drive. In more stringent enforcement of highway rules and regulations, speed limits, and other safety requirements.

Drive more carefully, as if everyone else on the road didn't know how. Make sure that your children know how to drive before they get behind the wheel, alone, on the highway. Make sure your automobile is in good physical condition—no loose steering connections, good tires, and other features.

High insurance rates hurt everybody. But keeping you and your children alive is more important. Take time to think about being safe on the highway. Take time to be safe. Taking an extra minute may save a life.

It may be your own. Don't Overlook This

THIS WILL be our shortest editorial of the season. We have but one thing to say. Nothing else need be said.

A Good Thing

A GOOD thing, we say, is the Lion's Club Horse Show. These young men are energetic in promoting, for this third time, an event which draws hundreds into our city and county for the two nights of honest, clean sport.

This is no circus side-show affair either, but fine sportsmanship on every hand. The money goes to one of the charitable causes in our midst—that of providing eye glasses and eye care for the underprivileged children of the community.

We like these men who are undertaking this event for the third year in a row. They work hard at it, knowing full well there is no pay—and little credit. They take this in stride.

We Like You

WE LIKE you. We like our readers, for, after all, the main purpose of this newspaper, like all others, is to be read.

Patience and fortitude conquer all things. A good woman is the loveliest flower that blooms under heaven; and we look with love and wonder upon its silent grace, its pure fragrance, its delicate bloom of beauty.

Things unhelped for happen oftener than things we desire. The Italians have this proverb: In buying houses and taking a wife, shut your eyes and commend yourself to God.

Give me a chance, says Stupid, and I will show you. Ten to one he had his chance already, and neglected it.

Take all the pleasures of all the spheres, And multiply each through endless years, One minute of Heaven is worth all of them.

A Verse for This Week

"Wake in our breast the living fires, The holy faith that warmed our sires; Thy hand hath made our Nation free; To die for her is serving Thee."

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

One of the most attractive published items to come across our desk this week is a 16-page booklet, printed in two colors, promoting Georgia. It is produced by the State Department of Commerce and is designed to be mailed out to parties requesting information about our state.

THE ALMANAC SAYS THE WEATHER THIS WEEK— TODAY, August 25, will be fair. TOMORROW, August 26, will be hot. SATURDAY, August 27, will be dry.

Next week Editor Coleman himself will occupy the "Uneasy Chair." We're taking a few days off for a trip to Minnesota in connection with our new job. But we hope to be back in this same space week after next.

THINKING OUT LOUD... We suppose we can say it all began when the kid told Dick Russell, "I'll never let you down!"

And his Daddy and Mother were proud of him. And his Daddy had known Dick's daddy, back when, up in Northeast Georgia.

And this month the daily papers carried an account of a rough assignment which Lieutenant Commander A. J. Rucker Jr. carried out successfully, resulting in letters of commendation for him and his plane crew.

Commander Rucker was given the assignment to fly a seaplane over and pick up the sailor. The sea was rough when he arrived at the ship. He had difficulty in setting his plane down in the rough waters. Finally he dumped 600 gallons of gasoline over the side to make his ship lighter—though his plane still weighed 45,000 pounds—and managed to set the plane down.

Commander Rucker is based in Japan and is now flying American citizens out of Hong Kong. When reference is made in the newspapers of a plane flying Americans out of Hong Kong to Manila you can know that a hometown boy, son of Mrs. Rucker and "Tater" Rucker, is at the plane controls.

LESSON IN THE SWAMP Several weeks ago, my mother and brother came down to spend the day with us and after a satisfying meal at a restaurant, we set out to see Okefenokee Swamp Park.

The entrance to the park is about eight miles from Painesville, and a huge, shaggy, black bear sits chained there by the highway. A lone road leads through desolate country to the central building where cold drinks, assorted crackers and souvenirs can be purchased.

The boat used by Dana Andrews in "Swamp Water" is there for sightseers to view and out in the middle of this wild and silent swamp is a skull perched atop a pole in the water with this verse underneath it:

"I was once alive as you are now, But I complained and hollered anyhow; So love each day—and don't pass it by, Sooner or later, you too, will die."

Our guide pointed out a wading heron and showed us islands which are nothing more than dense vegetation on top of the water. The Seminoles Indians named the swamp "Okefenokee," which means "marshy earth."

By far, I believe, the majority of our business men in Statesboro are men who have pulled themselves up by their own bootstraps. They started out years ago with only a "shoestring," and by good business practices have established themselves into what they are today. That's the American system. That's the way it should be.

Next week Editor Coleman himself will occupy the "Uneasy Chair." We're taking a few days off for a trip to Minnesota in connection with our new job. But we hope to be back in this same space week after next.

4-H Boys Buy Purebreds Through PCA, C of C

Some 30 Bulloch county 4-H Club boys have purchased purebred gilts through the Production Credit Association and Chamber of Commerce "better hogs for Bulloch county" program.

The entrance to the park is about eight miles from Painesville, and a huge, shaggy, black bear sits chained there by the highway. A lone road leads through desolate country to the central building where cold drinks, assorted crackers and souvenirs can be purchased.

Buying Hampshire hogs with their business buddy were Richard Covart and Charles E. Cone; Jimmie Adams and B. Turner; Roger and Raymond Hagan and Allen R. Lanier; Edgar Deal and Alfred Dornay; Johnnie Dekle and Henry Ellis; Charles Howell and Josiah Zetterower; Foy Hotchkins and Dr. John Mooney; Thomas Deal and A. C. Bradley.

Those buying Durocs were J. S. Gladdin and J. H. Bradley; Billy Ross and W. G. Cobb; Jerry Rushing and Lannie F. Simmons; Paul Akins and Dr. Waldo Floyd; Earl Edensfield and Walter Alfred; Robert Hudson Williams and Reuben Rosenberg; Emil Alfred Jr. and Fred S. Hodges; Jappy Akins and H. R. Christians; Robert Chester and Dr. Laldo E. Floyd; Jimmie Deal and Leodel Coleman, and Terrence Nesmith and J. T. Martin.

Spotted Poland, China purchases were Bob Thompson and Alfred Durman; Jimmy DeLoach and Ike Minkovitz; James Harris and D. B. Turner; William Earl Deal and Dr. Ben A. Deal; Ray Hollingsworth and Dr. Deal; John Roger Akins and Sidney Lanier; Edwin Tocker and Robert Donald.

The swamp is comprised of 500,000 acres of wild scenery, 40 miles long and 20 miles wide. It drains through the St. Mary's to the Atlantic and the Suwanee to the Gulf.

When we returned to the landing and firm ground again, we started toward the small group of buildings. Chained outside under a small shelter were two wild cats, which Beth wanted to "pat."

CCC WILL INITIATE COTTONSEED SUPPORT

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the Commodity Credit Corporation will initiate a program to support the price of 1949 cottonseed at levels to reflect 90 percent of the August 1 parity price, according to Mr. M. L. Taylor, chairman of the Bulloch County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

The program will be designed, says Mr. Taylor, to give producers of cottonseed a minimum price protection similar to that already available to producers of other major oil seeds. Farm income from cottonseed for the 1947 and 1948 crops amounted to approximately $350,000,000 for each season.

Prices received by farmers averaged $58.90 per ton for the 1947 crop and $67.40 per ton for the 1948 crop, as compared with a current parity range of around $53.00. On the basis of the cottonseed parity level for recent months, 90 percent of the August 1 parity price is expected to be in the neighborhood of $50 per ton.

Details of the program, which will be based primarily upon the customary loan procedure in effect for other farm commodities, will be developed as soon as possible, according to Mr. Taylor.

Representatives of State Production and Marketing Administration farmer committees from leading cotton producing states will meet with PMA officials in Washington July 28 to discuss and develop program details.

Preston Urges Stronger Farmer Organization

W. H. Smith Jr., a member of the board of directors of the Farm Bureau Federation, this week released a statement by Rep. Preston J. in which the First District congressman emphasized the importance of a greatly strengthened farm organization "to maintain a price based on a high percentage of parity." Congressman Preston's statement was in connection with the forthcoming observance of statewide Farm Bureau Week, Sept. 13-19, proclaimed by Gov. Herman Talmadge.

"In order to obtain a high percentage of parity," Mr. Preston said in his statement, "the American Farm Bureau Federation will have the greatest fighting force and it can be won only by a strong delegate representing the farmers of the State at the National Convention. An increased membership in Georgia and other Southern states is vital to the problem."

"I strongly urge," the First District Congressman said in a continued, "that Georgia farmers support the Farm Bureau during the coming statewide membership drive to the end that even greater things can be accomplished for our farmers."

A. M. Norman, Dover, also a member of the GFBF board from this district, and Mrs. Willett Robinson, district director of the Associated Women, together with Director Smith, are making plans to assist each county in the district in perfecting an organization to contact all farmers during Farm Bureau Week in order to reach the state quota of 90,000 memberships this year.

The First District quota for 1949, Mr. Smith said today, is 13,000.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Now I'm Going Back To High School!

When I saw lights burning in the High School auditorium last night, I looked in to see what went on. About twenty people were listening to Buzz Ellis, the electrician, talk about television.

I slipped into a back seat and asked Ray Thomas what was up. Ray told me it was the new Self-Improvement Club. I stayed to listen—and learned a lot. Buzz really knows his stuff.

Turns out this club meets every Friday night. Each member gives a talk on the subject he knows most about. I joined on the spot because learning new things is one of my favorite hobbies.

From where I sit, it's willingness to learn from the other person that makes Americans tolerant towards so many different viewpoints and tastes in things. Just because Buzz Ellis goes for chocolate malteds, while I prefer a mellow glass of beer, doesn't mean I'm right and he's wrong. Incidentally, next week I'm going to talk on how to run a newspaper.
