He has held all the offices available in the county and he has been an outstanding clubber with cattle, hogs, poultry, and field crops. He just naturally learned to drive a tractor in the field, actually farming, but when he had a chance at the district contest, and the rodeo part of tractor driving, he made a special effort to learn the methods of fancy driving. Roger Hagan and Bobby Thompson will be the regular delegates from Bulloch county for the boys and will have the authority to do the voting for the boys. Miss Brannen and Patsy Edenfield, another council officer, will represent the girls in the voting and the discussions. A special honor for Bulloch county is also on the program for next week. The district talent winners at Tifton in July were Jimmie and Martha Clark. They will also be competing for state honors and will try to beat the winners from the other five districts. The county farm and home agents will go with these clubbers Monday and all will return to Bulloch county Friday.

National Guard Honored At Big Community Ceremony Tuesday

Statesboro and Bulloch County met in Memorial Park on Tuesday night of this week to pay tribute to members of the local National Guard and their families and wish the men of the unit God-speed. More than 700, including Guard members and their families, gathered at the Community Center for a chicken barbecue at 6 o'clock. At 8 o'clock they gathered for a west side of the football stadium, where they heard community leaders wish them well. They were presented silver cigarette lighters as a token of the community's esteem. Mayor Gilbert Cone, as master of ceremonies, presented Edw. V. F. Agan, who gave the invocation. C. B. McAllister, representing the veterans of World War I, and the National Guard, representing the veterans of World War II, spoke briefly. Mayor Cone, speaking on behalf of the citizens of the city and county, expressed the community's feeling of concern for men of the Guard. He wished them to know that the people are grateful for the sacrifices they are making. Lt. Colonel Henry J. Ellis, speaking for the men of his unit, said that the citizens were giving them something more than money, but simple, "a memory" he said. He pledged the units very best for the community and for the nation. The Herald's record since 1940 includes the following: In 1940 it was awarded the Hal M. Stanley Trophy for the best editorial page; in 1941, 1942, 1943 and 1944 it was awarded the Hal M. The air show originally planned by the National Guard will be sponsored by the Statesboro Lions Club. This local civic organization assumed the responsibility of staging the show when the National Guard was mobilized for active duty. At least 12 acts will be featured in the closely-knit show. Pilots and stunt men will take to the air in rapid-fire order to the end that something interesting will be going on every minute of the two-hour program. One of the professional parachute jumpers signed to perform in the nationally famous Bud Thrasher. He will leap from an airplane flying about 10,000 feet altitude and plummet earthward through space as fast as a human body can fall. During the two-mile descent, he will let out a trail of white substance which will mark his speedy path. When within just a few hundred feet of the ground, Thrasher will pull the safety device on his parachute and attempt to land on a predestinated spot on the airport runway in full view of the crowd. Present, also, to give their series of thrilling airplane-automobile coordination acts, will be the Serson Circle with Mrs. J. B. Everett; Service Circle with Mrs. J. L. Johnson; Loyalty Circle with Mrs. R. L. Prosser; Friendly Circle with Mrs. E. L. Anderson.

Contract Let For T. C. Building With a bid of $294,000, the Coite Somers Company, of Vidalia, has obtained the contract for construction of an annex to the laboratory high school, building at Georgia Teachers College. The project, financed by the state, University System Building Authority, will begin within 60 days and is scheduled for completion nine months later. Bids were opened last Thursday in Atlanta, and the award was announced today by President Zach S. Henderson. Quotations were higher than expected and ranged up to $375,000. Dr. Henderson said. The structure will house the college elementary school and provide additional facilities for high school and the college division of education. It will adjoin a building erected in 1939. The present elementary school building will be used by the college music division. College officials have also asked priorities from the University system for a second men's dormitory and an arts building. These, they say, would relieve congestion caused by a growing student body which this summer has numbered 1,344. HOME GUARD MEETING IN MACON AUGUST 20 The meeting of state officials to study establishment of the Georgia Home Guard will be held in Macon August 20, Joe Woodcock, commander of the local American Legion Post, was notified this week.

Herald Receives Congratulations The Herald's record since 1940 includes the following: In 1940 it was awarded the Hal M. Stanley Trophy for the best editorial page; in 1941, 1942, 1943 and 1944 it was awarded the Hal M. Stanley Trophy for the most attractive typographical appearance; in 1945 and 1946 it was awarded the Hal M. Stanley Trophy for the best editorial page; in 1947 it was awarded the Hal M. Stanley Trophy for the best editorial page; in 1950 it was awarded the Hal M. Stanley Trophy for the best editorial page.

National Guard Boys Working Hard As They Complete Mobilization I almost did it! Come up to attention and give the man a snappy salute, that is. But then I remembered that I almost fell for it and caught our eyes before we could snap to attention at the order—and Col. Ellis softly ordered "Carry on." Coast beef and onions, cabbage, mashed potatoes, bread, brown gravy, tea, and ice cream was the menu. The kitchen is spic-span, despite the fact that they are using the stove left in the building. Tables borrowed from the American Legion are set and span. E. D. Newton, with a big white chef's cap on, had six or eight men working about him. Henry E. Cone and Cannon Donaldson are the mess sergeants. Recruits outside the hall had the oil stoves going, heating water to the boiling point to sterilize mess kits of the men before they serve themselves. We crossed the road and there was Lt. Enell Bailey giving instructions to 50 or 60 men in a cool spot under the pine trees near the radar section. All dressed in army dungarees and caps. Then to the radar section where Lt. M. E. Hodges, just married, was giving instruction in radar. In the armory building is the headquarters battery. Capt. Frank Proctor, busy finishing up paper work that smoothes the activation of such units as the National Guard. In the building is a small "PX" where the men may buy drinks, candy, tobacco, and cigarettes. "Battery A" headquarters is in the same building, and Warrant Officer (J.G.) Tom Forbes, recently promoted from sergeant, in the same building, and Warrant Officer (J.G.) Tom Forbes, recently promoted from sergeant, in the same building, and Warrant Officer (J.G.) Tom Forbes, recently promoted from sergeant, in the same building. The morale is high. The boys are pitching in and doing a bang-up job. There is the air of an objective to be obtained in the actions of the men there. A guard is kept 24 hours a day. Col. Ellis, veteran of World War II, says he has never seen a newly-inducted man so anxious and willing to do what is best for the outfit.

Board Clarifies Student Status Mrs. Ida Metz, Bulloch County Selective Service Board clerk, this week clarified the policy of the board regarding the status of college students. Mrs. Metz said that "pending the development and adoption of such other policies as might be necessary with respect to college students, local boards may consider the following conditions when all three exist in the case of any registrant as warranting consideration for deferment": (1) The registrant has completed at least one academic year of a full-time course of instruction at a college, university or similar institution of learning. (2) The college or university at which the registrant last completed an academic year of a full-time course of instruction certifies that the registrant's scholastic standing placed him among the upper half of his class. (3) The local board is satisfied by the record of the registrant's actions in making normally required arrangements that he had fully intended prior to August 1, 1950, to enroll in a full-time course of instruction at a college, university or similar institution of learning for the academic year ending in the spring of 1951.

Dear Leode! Having just read Jack Tarver's article on the editorial page of the Journal-Constitution, I want to congratulate both you and G. C. Fr. With the world in such confusion I wish for a continued success and hearty congratulations. Mrs. Frances Morton Messingale, Atlanta, August 13, 1950. Sylvania, Ga., Aug. 15, 1950 Dear Leode! Congratulations on the splendid paper you are getting out. I am so glad that the Press over the state has recognized what you are doing. My prediction is that you will continue to go places. Sincerely, C. D. HOLLINGSWORTH. Dear Mr. Coleman, Congratulations. I would like very much to see the results of your efforts for what you received these awards. With best wishes, I am, DR. P. J. THOMAS. Savannah, Ga. August 13, 1950. Continued on Page 8.

The Credit Is Yours

WE HUMBLY THANK everyone who called us or saw us or wrote us congratulating us on The Herald's winning the three top awards of the Georgia Press Association for 1949-1950.

Of course, it all makes us feel wonderful.

But we wish it definitely understood that the credit does not belong to us.

The major credit belongs to Statesboro and Bulloch county—to its citizens, its churches, its civic organizations, its businessmen, its schools. Just Statesboro and Bulloch county.

We are only the medium through which the community speaks. And if Statesboro and Bulloch county were not the wonderful community it is, and were it not made up of wonderful people who make their home and life here, The Bulloch Herald certainly could not have qualified for the awards given it by the Georgia Press Association convention held in Atlanta last week.

The awards are the best evidence that the citizens of this community are receiving a newspaper it deserves—one of the best in Georgia.

We pledge to continue our efforts to keep it in the high place it has attained.

It is your newspaper, operated only for the best interest and highest objectives for the citizens of this community.

A Spiritual Step Forward Proudly We Hail

ANOTHER STEP in the spiritual progress of Statesboro was made on Sunday of last week when Primitive Baptists from this section and their friends joined in dedicating the new Bible Study building of the Statesboro Primitive Baptist Church.

For some time members of the church and their young people have been gathering in various sections of the church auditorium to hold their Bible Study.

In 1947 the new building was dreamed up and the efforts of the church were concentrated on raising funds to materialize the dream.

On Sunday we saw the Primitive Baptists with a new, modern Bible Study building which takes it place with the best of them.

Statesboro is a better community for its churches and it is to the glory of our God that another phase of our spiritual welfare has been enriched.

It's For Your Own Good

HAVE YOU joined the Chamber of Commerce yet?

Here it is beyond the mid-year, and there are many businessmen in this city who are not members.

We cannot see how these businessmen can conscientiously observe our community's progress and yet remain apart from its while enjoying the benefits.

The Chamber of Commerce is a vital part of a community and is essential to its progress.

It is now launching a greater service than ever before and needs the support of every businessman in the city.

Friday of this week the finance committee will make its final drive for members. When they come to see you, join up. It's for your own good, and the good of the community.

At Least It's Money Wasted

THIS WEEK END a visitor in Screven County had a new automobile damaged and was fortunate in escaping injury himself when he struck one of the Screven County cows which wander aimlessly about our highways.

Not only was he out the money it will take to repair his car, he remained here several hours attempting to locate the owner of the cow so he could pay for that, too.

Frankly, the time has come when it no longer makes sense to say that a cow has more right on a paved highway than the motorist whose tax money built the road in the first place. If people are not going to keep their livestock off the highway, to pay for any damage done to them, they surely should not expect motorists

There are those who might say the motorist was careless in striking the cow. He may have been but chances are, he was not to blame. Anyone not familiar with the mentality of a South Georgia cow would expect one grazing on the side of the highway to stay there, and not deliberately turn right into the path of an oncoming car. People who live here know there can be no dependence on a cow, and govern their driving accordingly.

As valuable as livestock is to this country, it just doesn't make sense to let it wander about the highways. Even if the motorist is required to pay for damage done, it is an economic waste which could be avoided.

—The Sylvania Telephone

Editor's Uneasy Chair

EDITOR'S NOTE—This week we give our Uneasy Chair to Jack Tarver, Jack's column in Sunday's Atlanta Journal-Constitution proved chuckle-provoking and, being of a nature to share chuckles with our readers, we pass it on. For the most part, it is all true. He was a little wrong about the $15. It was $27 we started with. They had intended, so one story goes, to call it The Statesboro Sentinel or Star but there weren't enough capital S's in the type they wanted to use and so they compromised on The Bulloch Herald. At any rate, the first issue, which was scheduled for a Thursday, finally got out the following Monday. Fortunately, no one suggested the need for a slogan. If so, it would almost inevitably have had to be "Better Late Than Never."

Like a squirrel frenziedly putting away acorns against the coming winter, he secreted G. C.'s breathing accomplishment in preliminary and quarter-finals in type cases.

For want of even the proverbial shirttail of type, The Herald for the first year or so was printed in the plant of The Vidalia Advance which had recently hired, for the over-generous sum of eighteen dollars a week, the editorial and job-printing talents of one J. Tarver, recently graduated from Mercer University, where he was voted the student most likely to be garlanded.

The Herald, incidentally, is probably the only paper in the history of journalism which was in type and roller tracks and under paper stack all over the shop. I understand when The Advance moved to new quarters twelve years later, they came across pieces of copy slugged "Herald—sports—must" in unsuspected niches. There was no accounting for the gin-rimmed genius of that operator.

I never saw him laced but once. He took great pride in the freedom from errors of the type he set. And, except when he was drinking, it was amazingly clean. But, on one occasion, he printed a booklet for a church group and the lady who read the proof for the organization sent it back marked simply:

"RESET WHEN SOBBER."

Despite such early tribulations, The Bulloch Herald survived and prospered. Ultimately, it was able to buy its own plant and Leode's brother, Jim, quit his job in the advertising department of The Constitution and came back to Statesboro to put lineage in The Herald.

All three of the brothers enlisted in the early forties and The Herald got its slogan "The Newspaper That Went to War." Leode, the eldest, was with the Marines in some of their toughest going; G. C. was in the paratroops and Jim was in the infantry. They came through it unscathed, except of course financially, and then, just as they had gotten The Herald going again, Jim was killed in an automobile wreck.

Leode, however, carried on magnificently. He has won the Dean trophy for the best editorial in the Georgia Press Association for four of the last six years. This is an even more remarkable accomplishment than might seem in view of the fact that contest rules provide that no paper can win for two consecutive years. And Thursday night, in addition to the Dean trophy, The Herald got the J. C. Williams cup for the best editorial page and the Hal Stanley award for the most attractive typography.

The Herald, in short, has come a long way from its first hectic issues. I hope Leode, G. C. and, yes, Jim, will pardon the proprietary pride I take in its accomplishments.

How did you like the Open House at the Sea Island Bank? Such lovely office furnishings and folks of high rank. There were bank officials from Savannah to Atlanta, beautiful flowers—dahlia, glads, mums, and roses, with Henry Clifton snapping John Money in dozens of poses. As Mr. Statesboro, Doc stopped at his car, met the dignitaries from all the towns.

And then shock hands with executives and continued his rounds. There was venerable Dave Turner and courteous Billy Wells, silver-haired McAllister and a group of young fellows, President Charlie Clift, Alfred Dorman and Hinton Booth, attorney; Kermit Carr and Billy Wells escorted us on our journey. We were entranced by soft green walls and floors of muted grey—Oh, it was a honey!

Office machinery, really uncanny and a puzzling telephone—All of a sudden it dawned on me—I hadn't seen any MONEY!

FOR Elizabeth Kingery, the Open House almost coincided with the seventeenth anniversary of her connection with the Sea Island Bank. Herbert Kingery wrote in the guest book, "Beautiful, modern—a great improvement over 1913," when Herbert worked there.

When I asked C. B. McAllister for a comment for this column, he came up with this. Like most things in this column, it really happened. Bill Adams said to Mr. Mac: "I'm sorry I won't get to the Open House. I can't get back from the ball game in time. Are you giving away any souvenirs?" This was Mr. Mac's reply. "No, I'll tell you what we're going to do. Anybody who has a note here we'll mark it paid in full and return it to him." Bill said, "I reckon I'll have to miss the ball game."

AGNES BLITCH and Billy Kennedy, practically next door neighbors, whose romance is of long standing, were married quietly on Friday, August 4, at the bride's home. The wedding had been scheduled for September, but so many "notices" were being sent out that they decided to move up the date a bit. But the honp was exquisitely decorated... the bride as lovely in her traditional gown of bridal satin, and the groom as well talaried as if they hadn't been breathlessly getting last-minute touches.

FOR THE TEA at the Forest Heights Country Club on Friday, August 4, honoring Joann Peterson of Alley, lovely fiancée of Valdo Floyd Jr., Miss Peterson was beautifully gowned in an apple green chiffon frock with portrait neckline fashioned from black shadow lace. A short pepum on the skirt was edged with lace and repeated at the top of the deep ruffle of the skirt. She and her mother, Mrs. John C. Peterson, who wore a gown of powder blue crepe with pink gossamer, looked like twin sisters instead of mother and daughter. Their hostesses, Jo Blitch, Toots Jennings, and Ruth Waters, joined their talents in decorating the club parlor.

THE LUG LUG Louise Simmons gave us a very modest account of just a little outdoor supper for Joann and Waldo, we have since learned of the clever charades and menu.

Second Just Over; Third Coming Up?

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

THE DOOR BELL RANG and the door opened. Each in the light revealed two young men in officers' uniforms. Immediately, the school teacher at our house turned to the student of last week of the class of 1939. The other officer was introduced. Soon a pot of coffee had been brewed and a ball session was in full swing over coffee cups.

These young men in their early thirties were at Camp Stewart for two weeks' training. They are officers in the active reserve. They were very anxious to talk about their families, homes, and work.

Each was married, had three children and each was buying a home. One was considering adding a room to his home since it was crowded with his three children and each was buying a home. One was considering adding a room to his home since it was crowded with his three children and each was buying a home.

Each had a garden even though they were in the service. Each liked his work. Life was just pretty good for these boys. It was downright cruel to bring it up—the war! Oh, they don't want to think about it. They had hardly settled themselves since their return from the other war, one from the European theatre, the other from the Pacific theatre. Of course, it looked like it was inevitable and they were ready to do their duty when the time necessary.

As we sat talking I remembered another young man from out of town who had expressed himself in the same manner only a few days before in the same living room. I remembered a young man who had expressed himself in the same manner only a few days before in the same living room. I remembered a young man who had expressed himself in the same manner only a few days before in the same living room.

He was eighteen and had spent three years of his early manhood in the Pacific, finally reaching home in 1945. He had just returned from the front and was in the freedom from errors of the type he set. And, except when he was drinking, it was amazingly clean. But, on one occasion, he printed a booklet for a church group and the lady who read the proof for the organization sent it back marked simply:

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Zetterover, at the Baptist Church, told how the different Europeans asked when we were going to drop the atom bomb. This was no shock since we had heard the broadcasts, tune in and hear what Russia is broadcasting to the world about the American people. You won't recognize us. Mr. Malik and his comrades have spread vicious propaganda. They are continuing to spread it, using every possible incident, misconstruing and distorting, as they tell the world about Americans.

At first one is enveloped in pessimism. We have been asleep too long. Even if we win this war what good can come of a terrible conflict? America will be reduced to poverty. Generations will be taxed to pay the bill. We will never know this same life again.

The other side of the picture is brighter. Look at America, made up of all peoples of the earth; made up of little people and big people. They live in about the kind of house they want or they have made up of young folks, small houses and some big houses. As a whole, they aren't an envious people. They like America, these Americans do. They'll fight to preserve it's way of life and our intentions to improve it. We'll avoid that suffering will give us beauty of the spirit. If we're made of the right stuff. Let us begin to pray as others have prayed—not that God will be on our side, but that we will be on God's side.

We can remember, in the days to come, too, what one minister said: "Courage is just as common as fear."

MARTIN-VALENTINE

The Statesboro Primitive Baptist Church was the scene Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock of the marriage of Miss Alva Mae Martin, of Statesboro and Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Martin, to Charles R. Valentine, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Valentine, of Jacksonville, with Elder V. F. Agan officiating.

Altar decorations were tall white standards with altar vases of white gladioli and white dahlias and ferns interspersed with seven-branched candelabra holding white candles against a background of stately palms and ferns.

James Donaldson and Ned Jones lighted the candles.

Mrs. V. F. Agan, pianist, played a medley of wedding music. Miss Patty Banks sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love Thee."

Sam Arline, of Bainbridge, was best man and the ushers were T. T. Cox, of Jacksonville; Kenneth Parker; James Donaldson, Statesboro; and Ned Jones, of Reidsville.

Mrs. Ned Jones, her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, wore a ballerina length dress of pink nylon embroidered marquisette. Her headpiece was a bandeau of pink net and flowers. She carried a nosegay of pom pom chrysanthemums in pastel shades.

The bride, entering with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, was lovely in a street length dress of white eyelet embroidery with a basque waist, round neckline and cap sleeves. A roll of white velvet ribbon was used at the waistline and fell in streamers to the hem of the gracefully flared skirt. Her bandeau was of net and orange blossoms.

Her wedding bouquet was centered with white carnations and showered with tuberoses and white satin ribbons. Her only ornament was a string of pearls.

The mother of the bride wore a printed berberg with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The groom's mother wore aqua crepe with lace top. She wore a large black summer straw and her flowers were orchid gladioli.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Donaldson street.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Arthur Howard, and in the line were Mrs. L. A. Martin, Mrs. L. M. Valentine, the bride and groom, and Mrs. Ned Jones.

Decorations used throughout the home were arrangements of white gladioli and white dahlias. The bride's table, lace covered, was centered with a tiered wedding cake embossed in roses. Gladioli and white dahlias extended to the branched candelabra and pink maine bows tied the miniature bouquets to the arrangements.

Misses Martha Toole and Betty Mitchell served punch, cake, and minis. Betty Lovett kept the bride's book on the porch. Mrs. Charlie Howard and Mrs. Harold Sapp assisted in serving.

Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Mildred Arline, Mrs. Sam Arline, Miss Joann Kelly, of Athens; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Williams, Dick Williams, Roy Gregory, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Betty Jo Dixon, Young, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Valentine, Miss Deloris Sonson, Clinch Newsome Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER GIVEN FOR RECENT BRIDE

Miss Alva Mae Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Martin, whose marriage to Charles Valentine, of Jacksonville, Fla., was an event of Sunday afternoon, was the inspiration of a miscellaneous shower given by Misses Elaine West and Betty Lovett at the Lovett home on South Main street.

A light green, upturned umbrella, filled with the colorful packages, was part of the decorations. Summer flowers were used in other places.

In clever games, Miss Betty Jean Mikell won stationery, and note paper was awarded Miss Nell Bowen.

Guests were served tuna fish salad, pickles, olives, crackers, creamed cheese sandwiches in heart shapes, green cupcake squares and iced tea.

DONALDSON-KEA

Miss Betty Jean Donaldson, of Statesboro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Donaldson, of Register, and Donald Mathew Kea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kea, of Augusta, were married Sunday morning, August 15, at Allendale, S. C.

They were accompanied to Allendale by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keel. Miss Donaldson wore a dress of eggshell crepe with navy accessories.

Mr. Kea is employed at Womack's Grocery. Mrs. Donaldson will continue as secretary for the Soror Insurance Agency. They have an apartment at 125 North Main street.

Minick Family Holds Reunion at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith

By MRS. JOHN A. ROBERTSON

Members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Minick Sr. held a family reunion Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith at Savannah Beach. Those attending from Brooklet were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Minick Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Tyrell Minick, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Minick, Mr. and Mrs. James Lanier, Robert Minick, Jerry Minick, Misses Madge and Carline Lanier, and Jimmie Lanier. Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jake Minick and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Hendric and family, Mrs. Mivee Kustner and son, all of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Warnock and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Teets and family, Mr. and Mrs. Von Minick, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith and family, and Guy Minick, all of Savannah; and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Smellie and daughter, of Statesboro, S. C.

Bankers Attend S.I.B. Open House

Among prominent bankers who attended the informal open house of the Sea Island Bank on Sunday, August 6, when the remodeled quarters were opened to the public, were:

William Murphy, of Savannah, chairman of the board of the Citizens and Southern National Bank; Reuben Clark, president of the Savannah Bank and Trust Company; Jesse C. Shieler, vice president of the Fulton National Bank of Atlanta; John C. Beasley, of Glenville; William Hoeh, an assistant secretary of the Georgia Bankers Association of Atlanta. More than 30 out-of-town bankers attended the open house. The registration book revealed that visitors came to see the remodeled bank from Savannah, Swainsboro, Claxton, Greenville, pines, then 10 acres could be irrigated. Color slides were used at the meeting to tell the story of irrigation. Ogechee and Warnock met on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, respectively. They discussed the possibility of a rural telephone program comparable with R.E.A. for the county, how to control boll worms, and the use of cyanamid in removing leaves from cotton so that dust could be put on worms and weevils. Many farmers are using about 15 pounds of powdered cyanamid on cotton now, which will remove about two-thirds of the leaves. The sun can also get down to the bolls and cause them to open faster.

Soil Conservation News

Friday morning, August 11, twenty-five farmers living in the West Side and Port communities and cooperating with the Ogechee River Soil Conservation District, assembled at Pat Moeck's store in the West Side community for a pasture tour.

Visits were made to the farms of Paul Nemethy, Henry Blitch, and Fred Blitch. The first stop was made at Paul Nemethy's farm. He explained to the group how he planted, fertilized, and cultivated a field of coastal bermuda grass. He stated that in days after the grass was planted, approximately three cows per acre were put on the grass and had been grazing continually most of the time since. Henry Blitch explained how he harvested approximately one ton of hay per acre while the cows were still grazing on the coastal bermuda. Old trees left on cut-over areas often interfere with growth of the next crop of trees, forestry leaders say.

When you shell a hard-cooked egg while holding it under running water, the water cools the egg and also helps ease off the shell and any bits of shell left on the white.

Both collards and sweet potatoes are available in Georgia over long seasons and are inexpensive foods in comparison with the nutrients they offer.

Bulloch County Farmers Can Increase Income With Irrigation, Says Expert

Bulloch county farmers can add to their income with irrigation under many conditions, Robert G. Bennett, extension irrigation specialist from Athens, stated to the Sink Hole Farm Bureau on Thursday night of last week. Mr. Bennett toured the community during the afternoon prior to the meeting and knew the type of ponds, wells, and pond sites the group had to work with. He recommended that where a dependable source of water, from creek, pond, or something of this nature, was available that every farmer in the community try some irrigation on the more remunerative crops, such as tobacco and truck

Teachers College Graduates Largest Class In History As 125 Get Degrees

The largest class ever to be graduated at Georgia Teachers College will receive the bachelor of science degree in exercises at 10:30 a. m., Wednesday, August 30.

Dr. Mark A. Smith of Macon, superintendent of Bibb County Schools, will give the baccalaureate address. The services will be held in the college auditorium and will close the Summer Quarter, in which the college has attained an enrollment of 1,244 students.

Dr. Smith is a former president of Kiwanis International and of the Georgia Education Association and Georgia High School Association. A native of Turberville, S. C., he came to Macon in 1941 after serving for 22 years as superintendent of the Thomson schools. He is a graduate of Clemson College and holds the honorary doctor of law degree from the University.

Class members and their guests will be feasted at a dinner at 7 p. m. on Tuesday. Afterward they will perform the traditional Lantern Walk, in which seniors parade the campus, darkened except for their lanterns, and reflect on college experiences.

Candidates include Reba Wood Barnes, Jack I. Biles, Willie Ed Jones, Nina Stubbs Kennedy, Willie Robert Leggett, J. G. Martin, Geraldine Parker, John Patrick Quattlebaum, Fronia Olliff Rosch, Oulie Martin Sherman, Charles William Taylor, Paul Emory Bohler and Melba Williams, Register; Iris Lee, Stilton; Jessie H. 11 Proctor, Brooklet; Mary Dean Rushing Wynn, Nevils; and Zella Mikell Williams, Savannah, formerly of Statesboro.

In a statement made after the meeting Miss Gabriel said that she had recently conferred with Governor Herman Talmadge and had presented to him her idea. He referred her to the Jaekel Island Monument Company, Statesboro, which is the owner of the island.

Miss Gabriel suggests that citizens who are interested might write Mr. Blalock before September 1 and urge him and his community to activate her proposals.

Later the best 18 players in the league will be divided into a Blue and a White All Star team and will play each other Saturday morning in Memorial Park.

The team is made up of Joe Olliff, first base; Tommy Anderson, second base; Bill Stubbs, third base; Hubert Roberts, shortstop; Fee Wee Street, left field; Jerry Anderson, center field; Ted Firer, right field; Don Anderson, pitcher; and Sidney Dodd, catcher.
